Lancaster Growers Confer with Statesmen

Secure Pledges from Penrose and Cassel to Oppose Reduction in Tobacco Tariff. Congressman-Elect Griest Participates.

On Thursday last a number of Pennsylvania's tobacco growers went before Senator Penrose in his office in the Arcade Building and presented arguments against the admission of Philippine tobacco free, or even under a much reduced duty.

The delegation consisted of B. Ezra Herr, President; M. L. Greider, Vice President, and George L. Hibschman, Secretary, of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' Association. Mr. Greider is County Commissioner of Lancaster. They were accompanied by Congressman H. Burd Cassell, of the Lancaster district, and Congressman-elect W. W. Greist.

Stress was laid upon the ease with which Sumatra tobacco can be smuggled into the Philippines, repacked there and then exported to this country and entered here as the Philippine product if the duty were removed from the latter. It was declared that the whole armed force of the United States could not prevent this being done.

Senator Penrose informed the delegation that he felt assured that as a member of the Finance Commitee of the Senate he would be able to see that they were properly protected. He said the reasons which they gave for continuing the duties on Philippine tobacco were unanswerable. Incidentally, he declared himself also as opposed to any change in the sugar schedule that would militate against the independent beet sugar industry in the West.

REPEATED BLOWS TO THE INDUSTRY.

Mr. Herr, in the course of his argument, said:

"By the result of the Spanish War three tobacco countries came into our possession—Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. We made many concessions for them in many ways by the lowering of duties in their favor. We tobacco men suffered severely, not only from the lowering of duties on their products, but by the lowering of duties on Sumatra tobacco. We were then raisers of wrapper goods, but the lowering of the duty on Sumatra drove us completely out of that field. We then changed our modes and are now producing fillers, in fact, the only field left open to us. By the lowering of duties on Cuba and Porto Rico tobacco we were again assailed in our standpoint, for from raising fillers we have no retreat. There is nothing left us lower than that in the tobacco field.

"Now comes this attack, proposing the lowering of duties on Philippine tobacco. This reduction would affect the great States of Pennsylvania and Ohio more than any other in the Union, for their chief tobacco crop is fillers. So is the crop of the Philippines. Give them a lower duty and our industry is ruined.

MAGNITUDE OF THE INTEREST.

"We are no small producers. Between the years 1860 and 1907, a period of 47 years, our crop in Lancaster county has varied from 35,000 to 75,000 cases per annum, grown on from 14,000 to 18,000 acres, and has brought into our country $80,000,000 in cash—a larger sum of money than was ever realized from tobacco in the same area in any country in the world except Sumatra. The ninth internal revenue district, of which ours is the chief portion, has in the last seven years paid to the Government in the tax on tobacco $17,377,343. We manufactured in the year 1906 801,399,420 cigars. This is the banner cigar manufacturing district in the United States.

"Is this industry not worth protecting? Verily it is, and that is why I am sent here by my fellow farmers to enter our solemn protest against the lowering of this duty.

WOULD STRENGTHEN THE TRUST.

"We have been made a promise that trusts, especially the Tobacco Trust, shall be held in check. Reducing this tax will give them the field in the Philippine Islands, and they have the whip hand over Pennsylvania and Ohio. They can snap their fingers at us and say they can get fillers elsewhere. You see the condition of affairs in Kentucky. Tobacco can scarcely be raised there now at a profit. If you lower this duty thousands upon thousands of my fellow farmers will be in the same condition. I am sure my constituents had no idea when they gave Judge Taft 16,000 majority that the reduction of duties would be on those things which compete with what we produce from the soil. It was the manufactured article that was to be made cheaper.

"Again, if you grant this reduction of duty what will prevent Sumatra from smuggling tobacco into the Philippine Islands and passing it here free as Philippine tobacco? The present army of the United States is not large enough to guard those islands in such a way as to prevent it."

LANCASTER'S PROTEST.

The formal protest of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' Association was presented by Vice President Greider.

Senator Penrose said to the delegation, after the arguments had been presented:

"I think you must exert every influence that you can among these hundreds of thousands of people who are interested in the tobacco industry to see that the proper representations are made to their Senators. I was disappointed last winter that so little interest was manifested in this subject when it was before the Philippines Committee. The brunt of the fight seemed to be entirely left to the Connecticut tobacco growers.

"The arguments presented here have been clearly set forth and are, in my opinion, unanswerable."

New England Tobacco Men Again Consult

Further Action Taken on Tariff Revision. Senate and House Petitioned to Maintain Present Duty. Resolutions Forwarded.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 31.

A meeting of tobacco men living in New England was held this week on the invitation of Fred B. Griffin, of Poquonock, acting in behalf of the Connecticut Valley Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade. Members of the New England Tobacco Growers' Association, of the Hartford County Tobacco Growers' Protective Association and of various organizations were present. There were also present growers not actively associated with any tobacco organization.

The meeting was held in the Supreme Court room, and Jos. C. Mitchelson presided, occupying the chair of Chief Justice Baldwin. President James S. Forbes and Secretary William K. Ackley of the Hartford County Tobacco Growers' Protective Association, sat at his left. Hector Chapman, of Glastonbury, United States Senator Morgan G. Bulkeley and four others sat at the Supreme Court bench. The attendance was fully 200.

Mr. Mitchelson gave an explanation of why the meeting was held, calling attention to the necessity of a duty on the Philippine tobacco which should protect the great tobacco crop and trade.

He called on Mr. Griffin, who acted as secretary, to read a resolution which had already been passed at a like meeting held the Friday before Christmas and which in a slightly changed form was before the gathering.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Marcus L. Floyd of Tariffville, offered a long preamble and resolution. The preamble started off with the following:

"The incoming administration is pledged to a revision of the present tariff and for the purpose of ascertaining from various industries of this country the views of those engaged in the many branches of enterprise, the Committee on Ways and Means of the United States Congress have fixed and given special days to the hearing of those interested in industries affected by import duties."

The preamble goes on to tell about hearings which the committee held, and it concludes with the following:

"Be it Resolved, That we do most earnestly request that our Representatives and Senators use every legitimate means in their power to maintain the present rate of duty on all tobacco imported into this country, and endeavor to defeat any measure looking to the free introduction of Philippine tobacco."

The preamble and the resolution are practically a copy of those passed by the Connecticut Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade at a meeting held December 18.

The meeting proceeded to organization on the motion of John A. DuBon, of Poquonock, and Thaddeus Graves was selected as chairman.

DISCUSSION.

Colonel Ellsworth N. Phelps, of Windsor, moved that the preamble and resolution be taken up and discussed. The first article and in fact all of the preamble were explained as introductory to the resolution which was read anew.

Colonel Phelps said that he understood that the Committee on Ways and Means had closed its hearing and that the resolution might not get before the committee.

Mr. HILL CALLED ON.

Congressman E. J. Hill was present. He was called on by Colonel Phelps. He said that the committee had gone exhaustively into the matter. It had sat from 9 a. m. and again from 2 p. m. to 7 if desired and later to 12 midnight if necessary.

Mr. Hill said that he was not able to answer whether any further briefs submitted would be printed and accepted by the Committee on Ways and Means. Still briefs could be sent in to members individually and would probably be accepted and read by these members. If briefs were sent in, Mr. Hill would recommend that eleven copies be sent.

DUTY ON CIGARS.

Congressman Hill went at detail into the history of the hearings before the committee. About 5 p. m., December 16, Francis E. Hamilton, of New York, appeared before the committee, asserting that he represented Park & Tilford and other importers in New York city who were interetsed in Cuban tobacco. Mr. Hamilton wanted $2.25 duty on cigars.

Mr. Hamilton wished more revenue for the Government and a better and cheaper article for the consumer. Importers could sell more goods at a lower cost.

Mr. Hill read from a printed report in full of the statement made by Mr. Hamilton and the answers made by him to questions which members of the committee asked.

GAIN FIVE MILLION DOLLARS.

In a brief which Mr. Hamilton submitted it was argued that at the lower rates which he asked for the Government would gain $5,000,000.

Turkish Cigarette Tobacco.

A firm of Turkish cigarette manufacturers has addressed the Governor of Kentucky to aid in having Turkish tobacco grown in that State. The firm states that the importations of this tobacco increased to nearly $4,000,000 last year, against only $25,000 twelve years ago. It adds that the cheapest Turkish tobacco is sold in New York at 65 cents per pound, not including 35 cents duty, making $1 per pound, which may be obtained.

ACTIVITIES AT MADISON, WIS.

Leaf Tobacco Packing Formally Started by A. Cohn & Co.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 2.

The tobacco sorting season in Madison commenced Monday, when the big A. Cohn & Co. warehouse at East Madison became the scene of lively operations. One hundred girls and forty men were employed, and more will be engaged. The season here will, it is said, last about six months. The Cohn firm has another plant at Footville. The average price of tobacco is 10 cents. The American Cigar Company at West Madison will start operations on Jan. 10. The company has advertised for 500 girls and no trouble is anticipated in getting them. Men also are employed, but girls are more in favor for sorting, Manager W. T. Jefferson crediting them with more expertness in this process than men. In the winter months hundreds of persons finding it difficult to get work in other occupations, and desirous of warm and comfortable quarters, turn to the tobacco companies for work. Good wages are paid, and they can do as well in the warehouses as in ordinary occupations elsewhere. The season will last four or five months. The American Cigar Company operates six plants in Wisconsin, as follows: Madison, Watertown, Sparta, Stoughton, Edgerton and Brodhead. Manager Jefferson says the prospects for the season are excellent, good prices prevailing and most of the crop having been sold. Wages paid to help in Madison are slightly higher than in other tobacco cities, a fact due to the correspondingly higher cost of living in this city. The F. S. Baines warehouse, opposite the Cohn plant, is expected to open for the season's sorting in a short time.

RICHMOND PLANT RESUMES.

A Full Force to be Employed, and Prospects are Bright.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 2.

When the plant of the American Cigar Company closed down for the holiday season, Manager Smith called all the foremen of the several departments together and congratulated them on the manner in which they had discharged their duties in the closing year. He declared that the indications for an improvement in the new year were very bright, and as showing just what the belief of the managers of the plant is he requested that each of the foremen would inform the operatives in the bunch breaking and rolling departments to advise all their girl friends that they would be given work in the plant when it resumed operations the first of the year—that is, on Jan. 4.

"That sounds good to me and I hope to see that place running with a full force in all departments before the end of the month of January," said a man who is in pretty close touch with the place. "That means that many hundreds of girls who have to make their own living will be put back to work, and they all manage to make a pretty good week's wages when they are on full time."

New Jersey Factory Incorporated

A certificate of incorporation has been granted The Wm. Fox Cigar Co., with a capital of $40,000. The incorporators are Wm. Fox, Maxwell Cohen, and Max S. Fox, all of Camden. The Fox Cigar Co. has been doing business for some time at 411 Broadway, Camden, N. J., as manufacturers and retailers, and one of their principal brands is the 411 cigar, which has a good sale in Southern New Jersey.

The operations under the new order of things will be greatly expanded.

New North Carolina Factory.

Greenville, N. C., Jan. 4.

The cigar factory of F. T. Wise is now in operation and a choice selection of five and ten cent cigars are being made. Mr. Wise's factory is in the second story of the Bank of Commerce Building and he has a competent force of employes. The five cent cigar is The Jupiter and the ten cent brand is named The Attention. Mr. Wise says that he has just worked the trade and has received quite a gratifying number of orders. He was formerly connected with the American Cigar Company and built a number of factories in the South for that corporation.

Mr. Wise says that he will make a very choice brand of cigars and that no saliva will be used in making them. The goods will be sold on the local markets and shipped to neighboring points. Mr. Wise feels confident that his new venture will prove a success.

Little Trade in Havana Market in Holiday Week.

Remedios Tobacco Received Most Attention and Prices Were Advanced by Some Holders. Dry Weather Darkens the Prospect for a Good Crop in 1909. Factories Plodding On at Usual Rate.

Havana, Cuba, December 28, 1908.

Owing to the Christmas holidays and the few buyers just now in our city, the movement in our market has been greatly diminished, as excepting the good demand for Remedios, Vuelta Abajo and Partido have been only sparingly dealt in. Prices for the former styles are very firm and some houses have advanced their figures quite sharply. Holders of Vuelta Abajo and Partido continue, however, to be disposed to meet buyers in their views, and this notwithstanding the fact that owing to the dry weather the chances for a large and good crop of Vuelta Abajo are seriously hazarded unless one good rainfall should take place before the end of this week. The large farmers who have irrigation plants in the Vuelta Abajo and Partido sections, can of course rejoice, as they are independent of atmospheric influences, and will raise a crop that undoubtedly may fetch good prices, but the majority of the smaller farmers are in a serious plight, if Dame Nature does not favor them with the priceless liquid from the clouds. Everybody connected with the tobacco agriculture, commerce and industry, has been wishing for a beautiful and good crop, therefore it would be almost a calamity if their hopes should not be fulfilled in 1909.

Sales

during the past week only footed up to 3,089 bales, divided amongst Vuelta Abajo 500, Partido 250 and Remedios 2,339.

American buyers have purchased 2,239 bales, exporters for Europe 550, and local manufacturers 300.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	4,225	bales
To Europe	815	"
To South America	271	"

Havana Cigar Manufacturers

There is very little to say about our cigar manufacturers, as the situation has not changed materially. Orders are coming in from different parts of the world in moderate volume, but everybody is hopeful that a revival in trade is not far distant. The trust has closed its Santiago de las Vegas factories from Christmas day to January 4.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 400,000 cigars during the past week.

Sol is getting orders right along from all parts of the globe, although Behrens & Co. would not object if the quantities were somewhat larger.

POOL FORMATION AGITATED

By Connecticut Valley Tobacco Growers at a Meeting Held in Northampton, Mass.

Northampton, Mass., Dec. 31.

The directors of the Three Counties Agricultural Society met last evening and arranged the farmers' institutes that will be held during the remainder of the winter, and one of which is expected to be a gathering of tobacco men.

An effort was made a year ago to form a combination among the tobacco raisers. A committee was appointed to see what could be done, but this committee has never reported. There is a stronger feeling this year than ever that something must be done.

The plan is to establish a warehouse in Hatfield or some other tobacco town in the valley, and then the raisers will place their tobacco in the hands of a company that will be formed and the tobacco will be held until a fair price is offered. The farmers raised last year one of the best crops since 1892. The crop the year before was poor, and the market is very short on good wrappers, yet there is not a dealer that will offer more than 10 or 12 cents a pound at the outside.

Many of the agents are offering only 8 cents for a crop that 15 or 20 years ago could have brought from 20 to 25 cents. The farmers estimate the cost of raising tobacco at 10 cents a pound, so that the profits are practically wiped out by the efforts to keep prices down.

It is argued by the growers, that there is a perfect combine on the part

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, January 5.

New York Leaf Market.

There has been little business done in the leaf tobacco market of this city during the past week, but it was no particular surprise to the trade, as it has become thoroughly accustomed to a very quiet week between Christmas and New Year's day. And no activity is looked forward to for at least a week or two more, as both leaf tobacco men and manufacturers are busy in closing up the accounts of the previous year, which with large establishments in particular is a more or less arduous task and a matter which invariably receives the most careful personal attention of the heads of the houses.

While the results of the year's business are pretty well known in a general way, yet the exact figures are always looked for with no uncertain degree of interest. That the results upon the whole are not going to look so bad after all has been practically admitted by a majority of the important houses here, and they are a unit in entering 1909 with an even greater vim, if such a thing be possible, than heretofore, because it is regarded as certain that 1909 will show an encouraging improvement over the business of 1908 for all interests.

Henry M. Duys Enters Firm.

A notice has been issued to the trade by H. Duys & Co. that Henry M. Duys, a brother of John H. Duys, the head of the house, has been admitted to an interest in the firm. Mr. Duys has been connected with the house for a number of years, and during the past five years has been very active in its affairs, both in this city and elsewhere. This change will not affect the name of the firm in any way, and business will be continued under the name of H. Duys & Co., as heretofore, as will also the connection of the firm with the Amsterdamsche Tabakshandel Maatschappij of Amsterdam, Holland.

American Changes Selling Plans.

Some important changes have been made by the American Tobacco Co. with reference to its previous selling plans, and the changes were put into effect the first of the year.

Heretofore the plug department has been divided by territories, and all brands of the American Tobacco Co. have been handled by separate organizations in each of the respective territories.

Under the re-organized plans now being carried into effect there will be a greater concentration of effort on the brand rather than on the territory. For the purposes in view four distinct departments have been formed, which will be known as the Star, Horseshoe, Spear Head and Piper Heidsieck. These several departments will also take over other brands of plug tobacco which will be pushed with the same uniform and characteristic energy which has marked the progress of the marke ing of the products of the American Tobacco Co.

Consolidation of Factories.

A consolidation is about to be made of two prominent New York, a Detroit and a Key West factory under one head, but under a new corporation, and which will be known as the Consolidated Cigar Factories. The factories which will be included in the consolidation are the La Magnita and the Petite Cigar Manufacturing Company, of this city, the Independence Cigar Manufacturing Co., of Detroit, Mich., and the Armas de Oro Factory, of Key West, Fla. By this consolidation the new company will have a desirable line of clear Havana, seed and Havana and little cigar products to offer the trade, and will still be able to preserve the individuality of the various factories, as all will be engaged in the manufacture of their respective lines of goods. Full details of the plans of the new company will be announced in a short time.

Max Sondheim's Retirement.

Max Sondheim has retired from the leaf tobacco firm of Leonard Friedman & Co., but the business will be continued as heretofore by Messrs. Cantor and Adler. Preparations have been completed for an efficient traveling force this year, and their trade will be carefully looked after by direct representatives.

Loeb & Co. Succeed Marqusee & Co

On January 1st the leaf firm of Julius Marqusee & Co. was changed to Loeb & Co., although the principals or heads of the house remain as they were, viz. Leopold Loeb, of Philadelphia, and H. N. Gitt, of Hanover, Pa. This change was found desirable because of the eary possibility of conflict between the firm of Julius Marqusee & Co., at 148 Water street, and Julius Marqusee, individually, at 141 Water street. A very satisfactory business is said to have been done since Messrs. Loeb and Gitt took over the business of Julius Marqusee & Co., and their position has been steadily strengthened, which a mere change of name is not likely to affect.

Landau Will Visit Cuba.

Chas. Landau, United States representative for H. Upmann & Co., of Havana, Cuba, sailed on Saturday last for the Cuban capital for a short stay. One of the special objects which Mr. Landau desires to accomplish is to effect the completion of an arrangement for a proposed Montreal, Can., wholesale house for the present year. Mr. Landau, it will be remembered, also includes Canada in his territory, and returned from Montreal recently.

Sanchez and Sanchez Consolidated

Two clear Havana cigar manufacturing firms, both operating factories in Tampa, have consolidated. The firms are L. Sanchez & Co. and Sanchez & Hermanos, and have united in a new corporation under the name of L. Sanchez & Co., Inc. The new company will be formed under the laws of the State of Florida, and in the actual details the new order of things is already effective. For the time being the New York office will remain at 222 Pearl street, which was the old address of L. Sanchez & Co.

Cohn & Co. Gave Dinner.

The field staff of A. Cohn & Co. were given a dinner on Wednesday evening last, at Ohmeis' Restaurant, which was followed by a theatre party.

It has been the custom of this well-known house to give an annual dinner to the large sales force at the close of each year's business. The present event surpassed all previous similar occasions in every way. An excellent menu had been provided, impromptu speeches and all kinds of hilarity were indulged in, and a highly enjoyable time made the evening memorable.

Hussey's Little Traveler Out Again.

On its fortieth anniversary visit Hussey's Little Traveler is again making the rounds of the trade, and ere this announcement gets into print thousands of copies of this valuable and interesting annual dissertation will be choking the mails for all points of the country. The Little Traveler for 1909 is again highly and richly illustrated and finely printed in a multiple of bright colors. It cannot fail to please everyone of its thousands of recipients, who are all looking forward to the time of the usual arrival of the Little Traveler.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

There has been an abundance of inquiry for tobacco, according to reports received this week, but the volume of the business actually consummated was after all comparatively small. It would seem, however, that many manufacturers are desirous, if not actually in need, of stocking up on raw material, but the prices which have been rather firmly maintained seem to have deterred them from making definite selections in any great quantity of seed leaf tobacco. There is, however, considerable tobacco held by the various houses, which is ready for shipment as soon as shipping instructions are received. Much of it was bought during the closing weeks of 1908 for shipment later.

Sumatra tobacco has been selling in moderate quantities only, and in fact there is not expected to be any particular spurt in this type of wrapper leaf for a couple of weeks to come, but prices are uniformly firm.

In Havana leaf the conditions are almost normal. Some goods are being constantly selected by manufacturers and dealers, and no noteworthy change in prices has taken place.

Cigar manufacturers have pretty generally resumed active operations this week and with good forces of employes; in fact a few are advertising for additional help in certain departments. Taken all in all the conditions are far more auspicious than they were last year at this time, and no very heavy stock of goods was carried over this year. Within another week salesmen will be again out in force and business is altogether likely to at once become reasonably active.

Local cigar and tobacco jobbing houses are finding a favorable contrast with the activities that marked the beginning of this year, when it is remembered how sluggish their trade was last January. A number of houses the writer has called on report a very satisfactory business, and far less complaint of poor collections than was the case last year.

A change has taken place in the personnel of the firm of A. B. Cunningham & Co., one of this city's best known jobbing houses, by the retirement from the firm of A. B. Cunningham and J. D. Eberbach, who is familiarly known in the trade as Capt. Eberbach. The business, however, will be continued under the same firm name by John S., Nelson F. and Joseph H. Eberbach.

Louis Effenberg & Co., trading as the Diamond Knitting Mills, have bought from David Weber & Co. the four story building at 327 North Eighth street, at a nominal consideration, subject to a mortgage of $12,500. The premises have been occupied for several years past by Hilbronner & Jacobs, cigar manufacturers.

James V. Comly has been admitted to an interest in the firm of Wm. F. Comly & Son, at 27 South Second street, well known auctioneers, who are widely known to the cigar trade as the largest house of its kind in the city, which makes the cigar and tobacco trade one of its special lines.

A. S. Valentine & Son are now comfortably installed in their new home at Broad and Wallace streets, which has been thoroughly remodeled for their special needs.

The first meeting of the creditors of the Boch-Griffin Co., retailers, in the corridor of the Real Estate Trust Co. Building at Broad and Chestnut streets, has been called for January 8, at the office of Joseph Mellors, referee in bankruptcy, 528 Walnut street.

Some of the handsomest calendars that have ever been sent out by the trade of this city are being sent to customers of various houses now. Among them are Lewis Bremer's Sons, J. Vetterlein & Co., Leopold Loeb & Co., K. Strauss & Co., E. A. Calves & Co., and Hipple Bros. & Co. L. G. Haeussermann & Sons are sending out revenue books to their trade as a holiday souvenir.

Henry Hilbronner, of the cigar firm of Hilbronner & Jacobs, starts out for his usual southern trip on the 7th inst. He will present to his customers some new things from their factory which will show a general improvement all around in style, quality and all.

Arthur Loeb, of the Loeb-Nunez Havana Co., has gone to Havana, to take the place of his brother, Irving. The latter will spend some time in Philadelphia after his arrival here this week.

The damage to the United Cigar Stores Co. establishment at 1010 Market street, which was caused by fire last week, is being rapidly repaired, and the place will be gotten into readiness for business with all possible speed.

Jacob Labe, of B. Labe & Sons, sailed for Havana, Cuba, last Saturday, where he will inspect the firm's holdings of leaf, and it is stated that they are well supplied with Cuban tobacco. The salesmen of this house have started out on the road again this week.

Charles Martinez, with E. A. Calves & Co., started out bright and early on Monday morning last for up the State, where he no doubt has his eye on a very desirable account which he is accustomed to look after with much grace.

Morris L. Levy, of the American West Indies Trading Co., New York, was among the first arrivals of the new year. Edward Wodiska, of Corral, Wodiska y Ca, and Ben. J. Strauss, with Bustillo Bros & Diaz, followed closely the visit of Mr. Levy.

Jacob H. Hoober, a Lancaster, Pa., leaf tobacco packer, was among the visitors in the local market this week.

S. R. Kocher, leaf tobacco packer and cigar manufacturer of Wrightsville, was calling on the trade in this city this week.

E. L. Nissly, of E. L. Nissly & Co., packers and dealers in domestic leaf tobacco at Florin, Pa., was seen in the leaf market. He was both buying and selling.

M. R. Hoffman, the well known packer of Marietta, Pa., came to town for a day this week.

—A cigar factory has been started at Linton, Ind., by A. Adleman, who has canvassed the nearby territory and received an encouraging amount of orders. It is expected that from 18 to 20 cigarmakers will be employed, and salesmen are also to be engaged to exploit the goods.

Cigar Co. Barred from the Mails.

Washington, D. C. Dec. 30.

The Postmaster General has issued a fraud order against the Royal Cigar Company, of Chicago, Ill. alleging that its officers and agents are using the mails to defraud the public. By the order the company will not be able to get its incoming mail from the post office and will be unable to cash money orders. A. F. Hermingsen who is the promoter of the Royal Cigar Company, formerly had a fraud order issued against him on April 17, 1907, when he was operating at Toledo, Ohio, under the name of the Madison Cigar Company. His scheme is to advertise for agents, requiring them to deposit $5.00 for a sample case and outfit worth about $2.00, and promising them a salaried position at the end of a stipulated period. The original $5.00 transaction is as far as matters ever proceed. Numerous cigar salesmen have fallen victims to the trick.

QUIET MARKET IN LANCASTER.

Stock Purchased Was Probably Needed for the Resumption of Work After the Holidays.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 4.

The leaf tobacco market was quiet during the past week, and such purchases as were made consisted of selections by manufacturers who desired to secure some additional stocks of goods, which in some instances were needed for the commencement by them of the new year's business.

Packers are certainly not averse to selling some of their older goods now, as it would make room for the receipt of the new crops coming in, and deliveries on certain days are beginning to be of considerable proportions. At the New Holland warehouse of Morris Levy recently 100 loads of tobacco were received in one day.

The cigar trade generally is starting out with a comparatively small amount of orders on hand, and no special hurry exists at a number of places throughout the county to resume operations, on account of the apparent lack of orders.

There are a few minor changes taking place here this week, but nothing of any special significance, and it shows that, while the entire trade suffered during the year from the general business depression, it has not proved quite so disastrous as some might have expected. Few, if any, have been so hard hit as to require them to retire from the trade and find pastures new. On the other hand, having withstood the depression felt throughout the year so well, it is a conclusive evidence of the stability of the tradesmen and manufacturers in this section of the country.

The partnership between Samuel Siesel and Chas. Tole was dissolved on the first of the year, but each will remain in the trade individually. Mr. Siesel will continue at the present premises on North Queen street, while Mr. Tole has secured one of the Harnish warehouses on North Prince street.

The partnership between Chas. J. Lederman and R. I. Sherman was also dissolved last week, and Mr. Lederman will settle up the affairs of the partnership which has been terminated.

Jacob Bowman & Bro. have disposed of their leaf tobacco re-sweating business on East Grant street, to F. Ross Bare, a son of F. H. Bare, one of the best known of former leaf tobacco men in this city, but who has been retired from active business for some years past. Mr. F. Ross Bare will continue to operate by occupying the old premises at 231 and 233 Grant street, which premises are specially adapted for that business. He has been for ten years past a foreman in the place and is therefore amply qualified to continue it in its highest efficiency.

Jacob Bowman & Bro. will hereafter devote their entire time and energy to the packing and handling of domestic leaf tobacco, and will occupy the premises at 226-228-230 East Grant street.

John F. Brimmer has secured one of the new Harnish warehouses on North Prince street, of which possession is being taken, while the building until recently occupied by Mr. Brimmer on Lemon street will be occupied by Cullman Bros., of New York.

Henry Bacharach, of Taussig & Co., New York and Chicago, arrived here from New York today and will spend some time in Lancaster, making his headquarters with John F. Heiland & Co., who are the Pennsylvania representatives of that well known Florida house.

The fourth annual banquet of the Lancaster Leaf Tobacco Board of trade was held on Saturday evening last at the Hotel Wheatland, and with a very large attendance.

A business meeting of the Board had been held just prior to the banquet, when officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Joseph Goldberg; Vice President, I. H. Weaver; Secretary, Chas. Emory Long; Treasurer, Morris Rosenthal.

The banquet began with the following menu, after a prayer had been offered by Rev. Dr. I. Rosenthal:

Martini cocktail, blue points on shell, consomme colbert, Rhine wine, olives, celery, rose radishes, almonds, boiled salmon, shrimp sauce, sweet bread cutlets, roast turkey, cranberries, Perrier-Jouet, White Seal, White Rock, Apollinaris, French peas, asparagus tips, lettuce and tomato salad, Roquefort cheese, Rents' crackers, ice cream, assorted cakes, fruits, cafe noir, cigars, cigarettes.

Music was furnished by Roth's Orchestra, and several vocal numbers were rendered by a selected quartet.

During the evening there were a number of short addresses made by the guests. President Goldberg acted as toastmaster, and the first speaker was Dr. Rosenthal. He made quite a lengthy address in which he paid a big tribute to the local tobacco men, and said that much of the Pennsylvania tobacco found its way into many imported cigars we now smoke. His remarks were received with much applause.

Among the others called upon were A. B. Hess, H. J. Ryder, J. Milton Shirk, William DeHaven, A. H. Sondheimer, Milton H. Ranck, I. H. Weaver, George Forrest, Louis Sawler, Mr. Blumenstock, of New York, and others.

The committee which arranged the banquet was composed of A. B. Hess, C. A. B. Zook and Louis Kramer.

The Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade Inspection Company met Saturday evening and elected the following officers: President, A.B. Hess; Vice President, E. M. Cohn; Secretary, William DeHaven; Treasurer M. Rosenthal. The Inspection Company is a stock company and only members of the Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade are eligible to membership. of the tobacco buyers is shown by the fact that only one price is offered. The agent that comes, no matter what house he represents, always offers the same amount. Every grower seems to have a rating as far as price is concerned, and there is always the same offer, and the farmers are under the complete control of the trust.

They can hold their tobacco as long as they please, but there is no advance in the price. It makes no difference what the demand may be for a certain quality of tobacco, the price does not go up, for the dealers know that they have the farmers under their thumbs and that they must finally sell at the price fixed by the combine. It is to combat such a condition as this that the farmers are going to meet again. Several attempts have been made in the past, but the growers do not have confidence enough in one another.

There is always a feeling that some one is going to get a bigger price than the other fellow. The idea that some of the growers have a pull creates petty jealousies, and the scheme fails. A growers' combine has come to be the only solution of a most difficult problem. The farmers must unite or prices will be so low that they will have to go into some other business. The first thing is to fight the tobacco combination with its own methods. If the dealers unite, the farmers must do the same thing.

RESUMING WORK AT YORK.

Cigar Factories Reopening, with Fewer Hands in Some Cases. Not Many Business Changes at End of the Year.

York, Pa., Jan. 4.

A good many of the factories are resuming operations again this week. In some instances, however, the forces are somewhat reduced, although there is really more life in the trade than some may have expected.

There are comparatively few changes in the trade locally. Less, perhaps, than in a number of years, except at Red Lion, where several changes are scheduled, but mostly in the matter of locality of factories. W. A. Lahr has removed from what is known as the Porto Rico Building to the factory on North Main street formerly occupied by J. E. Brooks, while Mr. Brooks took possession of the Porto Rico Building, formerly occupied by Mr. Lahr.

gaged in moving into a new factory building recently erected on South Pine street.

C. A. Rost, a leaf dealer of Red Lion, has been receiving a lot of tobacco lately from Connecticut.

W. J. Neff, a cigar manufacturer of Red Lion, has been on a business trip through Western Pennsylvania.

Trade conditions are reported rather quiet at Hanover and vicinity, and manufacturers, it is said, have not the number of orders in hand which it is desirable to have on which to resume operations, consequently they are going a little slow.

H. F. Martin has concluded his first year's business at York, having moved here from Windsor last spring, and is fairly well pleased with the results obtained.

Receipts from the sale of cigar and other stamps at the York branch office of the Ninth internal revenue district in this city amounted to $73,000 during December. While they were $17,000 less than those of the corresponding month of last year, they exceed those of November by $8,000. This is taken as indication of a steady return of the cigar and tobacco trade in the county to normal conditions.

Licenses for the opening of 11 new cigar factories were issued during the month by Deputy Collector Adam F. Strayer. They give employment to 42 persons. The licenses, location of the factories and the number of hands to be employed in each are as follows:

John H. Albright, Hanover, ten hands; Harry B. Fitzkee, Dallastown, three hands; J. M. Wolf, Red Lion, R. F. D., No. 1, four hands; S. H. Seachman, Windsor borough, two hands; Adam W. Kohler, Red Lion, R. F. D. No. 3, three hands; Queen Kilgore, Red Lion, R. F. D. No. 3, two hands; Arthur C. Leibhart, Bittersville, three hands; J. P. Kinard, Craley, two hands; Sarah Rider, Windsor borough, three hands; James F. Grove, Dallastown, R. F. D. No. 1, three hands; The Eline Cigar Company, McSherrystown, seven hands.

Chas. Spigelmeyer, resident manager for Wedeles Bros., of Chicago, who succeeded T. D. Hene a short time ago, has taken up his local headquarters in the rear of the P. A. & S. Small Building in Centre Square. In the same building is also the office of Noah Gillen.

T. D. Hene, now general representative of the Lichtenstein Florida Tobacco Co., but who will continue to make his headquarters in this city, will remain in the A. Sonneman Building, where he has ample office and warehouse facilities.

Several of the Yoe factories which were closed down for a week or more are expected to resume operations this week. Among them are the factories of G. A. Kohler & Co., Kohler-Snyder Co. and Isaac Kohler.

The Merchants Cigar Box Company at Dallastown tendered an annual dinner and New Year's reception to their employes last week.

IMPERIAL SALE NOT CONCLUDED

Representatives of Both Parties Still Working on the Big Deal.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 31.

At a meeting of the special committee of the Planters' Protective Association, which has in charge the arrangements for the disposal of the crop of the association, held at Guthrie Thursday, a price at which the tobacco would be sold to purchasers was agreed upon and General Manager Ewing, J. M. Couch, salesman, at Springfield, Tenn., and John Orr, salesman at Princeton, were appointed a committee and instructed as to the policy that will be pursued in negotiating with the Imperial Tobacco Company. Before the deal is closed, however, it must be submitted to Chairman Bradley Wilson, of Hopkins county, Chairman John W. Hollowell, of Caldwell county, and Chairman Wadlington, of Lyon county. A meeting of the representatives of the Imperial Company and the members of the association named will be held this week, probably not later than Wednesday and if the company accepts the prices agreed upon a large amount will be sold.

TOBACCO IN MINNESOTA.

Its Extensive Cultivation May Increase Land Values in the State.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 31.

Minnesota may become a great tobacco raising State. George Welsch, Commissioner of Immigration, has received a letter from Jacob Zelot, of Sherburne county, to the effect that he has been experimenting in the raising of tobacco and has been successful.

Mr. Zelot received a sample from the Wisconsin experimental station. He has sent samples of his crop to the expert buyers of the American Tobacco Company at Chicago and they have assured him that its quality is of the best.

Should the kind of tobacco raised by Mr. Zelot warrant extensive cultivation, the value of Minnesota land will go up from $40 to $50 an acre to $200 to $500 an acre.

Commissioner Welsch is making a thorough investigation of the report.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

One thing is very certain, there will not be as much work done in the assorting shops as has been done for some years past. Not that there is any trouble between the shop men and the grower, but the fact is that some of the lots that were assorted at the shops did not bring enough more than was in some cases offered for the tobacco in the bundle last year, so I have been told. Wrappers must sell at a good price when separated from the balance of the crop to bring the prices up to the standard of preceding years as it was sold in the bundle. When the fillers and scrubs are sold for from 6 to 8c, and the binders for from 12 to 13c, the wrappers if sold from 15 to 17 and 18c will not stand the crop much above 9½ to 10c in bundle, and if the cheaper grades do not bring the figures I have given, then we shall have to name a lower price than 10c in the bundle.

The American Tobacco Company has the past week loaded two or three cars of tobacco that was bought some time ago; this tobacco has been shipped south to be handled. Solomans are getting enough together to load one or more cars I think by the looks in our freight house, for they have quite a pile of it, the most of it hail cut. Those companies cannot lose any great amount of money handling such tobacco as hail cut, bought in this vicinity. If the shops do much business it will be late, for many of the growers are holding in the hope and expectation of selling this winter for some price that will be quite satisfactory, and at the same time get the crop off their hands for good.

Our correspondents write:

Wethersfield, Conn.: "I have a few sales to report: R. R. Wolcott, crop of 1907, J. R. Anderson, crop of 1907, to Lansburgh of New York; C. N. Smith, crops of 1906 and 1907 to New York parties; W. H. Skaats, to Griswold, of West Hartford, crop of 1908."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "Since the Christmas holidays the sorting shops have started up, with nearly the full complement of men. At North Hatfield I notice that Mr. Swift is unloading another carload of cases, 450 cases in the car. There has been no buying in this locality this week."—American Cultivator.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The beginning of a new year finds the tobacco business moving along rather quiet lines. While the new crop is selling in a moderate way, the movement does not gain much headway nor does there appear to be any organized effort on the part of the large operators at present to lift the balance of the crop. Some of the better crops are taken at from 9 to 10c for the wrapper and binder grades but by far the greater number of sales run at lower figures, from 6c up. We learn of the following sales:

Robert Smith, 8a at 9 and 3c.
James Ward, 4a at 9 and 2c.
Frank Heubner, 4a at 5½c.

Little can be said of the market for old leaf. There is some movement among packers of low grades and a small trade to manufacturers' orders, but no transactions of any moment are reported. W. T. Pomeroy & Co. have purchased about 100 cases of export goods during the week. We learn of the sale of a 117cs lot of Equity pooled '07 grades at 7c scale.

Warehouse handling of the new crop will become more general the coming week at several of the packing points, when the work of the season will be well under way.

BADGER STATE ITEMS.

Trade Notes from Edgerton.

Edgerton, Wis., Jan. 7.

Norm Carle and A. E. McGee of Janesville were callers in this market on Tuesday.

The L. W. Scott warehouse opened for the handling of the new crop Tuesday with a moderate sized force.

The Watertown branch of the American Cigar Co. begin warehouse handling of the new crop next week.

Weetman Dickinson left for Readstown Monday to arrange for the opening of T. B. Earle's warehouse next week.

L. W. Scott, accompanied by his son Carl, arrived from Boston Monday evening to look over the market situation in this State.

McIntosh Bros., A. Jenson & Sons and E. M. Hubbell started their warehouses handling the new crop with moderate sized forces on Monday.

Paul Hirschorn, connected with the United Cigar Manufacturers' Co., came on from New York Sunday evening and will spend some time in the State during the packing season.

Louis P. Sutter, of Chicago, received a number of his purchases of the new crop here on Saturday. The tobacco was shipped to Janesville where it will be packed and forced sweat by F. S. Baines.—Reporter.

Doings at Janesville.

Janesville, Wis , Jan. 7.

L. B. Carle, of L. B. Carle & Son, states that his firm will begin receiving consignments about the middle of January. "I predict that we shall receive fully as many pounds as we did this year up to the first of June," he says, "but the average size of the leaf will not be as large." "I think," says Sanford Soverhill, "that sales are going to be larger this year than last. We got all our consignments in small lots last season. I talked the other day with a man who owns $500,000 worth of tobacco and he is very optimistic in regard to the situation." T. E. Welsh will open operations within two weeks from today. "I would open sooner," said Mr. Welsh, "only considerable of the tobacco still lies in the northern part of the State waiting to be removed from the curing poles, stripped, bundled, and be made ready for delivery. I guess the producers are awaiting softer weather for stripping." G. H. Rumrill makes the following statement: "Tobacco, like everything, will have bigger sales next year than this. I open my warehouse the first Monday in January and intend to secure large quantities of splendid Wisconsin tobacco together with a small amount of the Iowa grade. Iowa is but just entering into the competition, but will never become one of the big tobacco States. The soil of Iowa is not adapted to the growth of the unique weed."

—The San Augustine, Tex., Tobacco Warehouse Co. was organized recently. Pres., F. M. Emmons; Sec., A. H. Price.

TOBACCO IN CUBA.

The Cost of Labor in Its Production.—Cultivation and Wages in the Several Provinces.—Methods in Growing and Curing the Crop.

[From "Consular and Trade Reports," issued by U. S. Department of Commerce and Labor, Jan. 11.]

The methods of raising tobacco in the several Provinces of Cuba and rates of wages paid for labor are described in the following report by Consul-General James S. Rodgers, of Habana. The report is dated December 14, 1908:

The tobacco districts of Cuba, broadly speaking, can be defined as those of Oriente Province, of Santa Clara, and of Habana, and Pinar del Rio. In the first named the tobacco industry has never assumed large proportions, and the product is not of a good variety as Cuban tobacco is judged in the markets of the world. The Santa Clara tobacco is much better, and is widely grown for fillers of medium-priced cigars. The Habana and Pinar del Rio tobacco is that which has given the great and deserved reputation to the Cuban product, and beside the output of the western third of the island all other tobacco of Cuba appears inferior. Every province grows tobacco in greater or less quantity, but the districts are as stated, and while Santa Clara is prominent in the industry every standard is established by comparison with the western district, which, through climate, soil, and labor, produces unquestionably tobacco of the finest aroma known to the world. In considering the cost of growing tobacco we therefore must necessarily be guided by the experience of the western district.

Cost Varies with Location.

It must be stated in advance that the cost of raising tobacco—and that means essentially the cost of labor, since the development of the plant even upon good land is largely a question of efficient labor intensively applied—varies with localities in the district named. Practically 60 per cent of the population of western Habana Province, and of that section of Pinar del Rio lying to the south of the mountain range which bisects the province, has for generations been connected in one way or another with tobacco growing. In the old days this labor was cheap, being half slave and half free. However, with the advent of American capital in the business, with the coming of the so-called citrus fruit colonists, and with the revival of government road work under the intervention, the conditions as to labor changed rapidly, and from its being cheap there ensued a high price considering the work performed. It is true that the old style Cuban, with the members of his family, constituting a clan, was not affected much, for tobacco raising meant the livelihood of all upon the "finca" (tobacco farm), and they prospered in proportion to the advanced price of the product. So also did the small groups of the industrious Canary Islanders who secured tobacco land by lease or purchase. But hired labor has steadily commanded a higher wage, and such hired labor affords the only basis for cost figures, since the other kind participates only in the benefit of the crop as far as can be ascertained by outsiders.

Affected by Local Conditions.

The tobacco farm, therefore, which is owned by a capitalist of greater or lesser degree, can only be considered at present as the type from which to draw conclusions as to the cost of labor. In the general district named, there are three district subdivisions, the "Partido," which occupies western Habana Province; the "Semi-Vuelta," being the eastern and central portion of Pinar del Rio Province, and the celebrated "Vuelta-Abajo," so called, around San Juan and San Luis in western Pinar del Rio Province. The cost of labor varies in the east and west of the district, but as it is impossible to take into account the local conditions affecting the industry, the figures which follow are supposed to be the average for the general district during a year of normal weather conditions, for a drought or excessive rainfall may alter matters materially and greatly increase costs. The cost of labor on one acre is given, for, taking all things into consideration, that is the fairest way of not only averaging Cuban tobacco farm work, but also of showing the return.

Cost per Acre.

Assuming, therefore, that one English acre is under review, the cost of labor to produce the tobacco from the young plant to the leaf in bale would be as folows:

Shade (under cheese cloth) Tobacco.

Plowing, 20 wages, at $1.20 per day	$ 24.00
Planting, 10 wages, at $1.20 per day	12.00
Replanting, 3 wages, at $1.20 per day	3.60
Hoeing (4 times), 28 wages, at $1.20 per day	33.60
Irrigation	15.00
Other labor expenses, such as topping, pulling off suckers, killing bugs, spreading cheese cloth, etc., at same rate for 25 wages	30.00
Gathering crop in leaf per 1,000 cujes (the Cuban measure of quantity in tobacco leaf), 20 wages, at $1.20	24.00
Stringing 1,000 cujes, at 6 cents	60.00
Labor in curing house, (perhaps $1.50 per man)	6.00
Packing labor, at $12 per bale, (number of laborers varying, but at higher price on account of skill)	120.00

(Concluded on page 16)

LOUISVILLE'S 1908 REPORT

Shows Smallest Annual Sales Since 1904.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 6.

According to the annual report of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Exchange, just issued, offerings during the year 1908 were the smallest since 1904. The total was 108,612 hogsheads, against 125,673 in 1907, 143,784 in 1906, 140,112 in 1905 and 107,007 in 1904. Rejections were the lightest in the history of the market, being only 9,341 hogsheads. Receipts stocks also the lightest since 1904. Unsold stocks at the close of the year amounted to 14,898 hogsheads—12 676 Burley, 1,915 Dark and 307 Green River.

December sales totaled 20.348 hogsheads, against 10,991 in 1907, 8,993 in 1906 and 9,716 in 1905. December sales, however, included samplings of the pooled tobacco sold by the pools to the American Tobacco Company and other manufacturers.

BIG PLANT FOR MEMPHIS.

Will Be Best & Russell's Southern Headquarters.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 7.

Preferring the advantages of Memphis to those of New Orleans or Galveston, the Best & Russell Co., one of the wealthiest cigar manufacturing concerns in the United States, and makers of several celebrated brands of cigars, have rented the old Chickasaw Guards armory, on South Second street, later occupied by the United Labor Journal. They will remove headquarters from Galveston and make Memphis a distributing point for the entire South.

The Best & Russell Co. has its headquarters at Chicago, where it operates 26 tobacco stores. It does a large jobbing trade throughout the South, which has up to this time been handled from Galveston. Realizing that city was too far out of the way to serve the Southern territory with the greatest possible rapidity, the officers of the company recently began looking about for a more suitable location. They visited New Orleans, Memphis and other cities, and finally cut down the available list to Memphis and New Orleans. Memphis won out, of course, and the company then leased the property on Second street, through J. L. Ullathorne.

It is understood a large stock will be carried at the Memphis distributing headquarters and a considerable force of men employed.

CHARLEY JOHNSON PROMOTED

Given a Higher Position with the American Tobacco Co.

Alton, Ill., Jan. 9.

After many years of work as a traveling salesman for the American Tobacco Co. and the Drummond Tobacco Co., Charles Johnson, of Upper Alton, will take a higher job and has turned over his sample case to his son, D. B. Johnson, who will carry on the work. Charley Johnson has been a division manager for the tobacco company for some time, but he will get a better job. He will go to Chicago to talk over the matter of taking up the duties of his new position. Charley Johnson has been a purveyor of good humor and good stories as well as a poster of advertisements, distributor of free samples of tobacco and the salesman of immense quantities of the weed in his territory, and he stands high with the company which has employed him.

CANADA'S BIG IMPORTATION

Of Havana Tobacco for a Toronto Manufacturing Firm.

Hamilton, Can., Jan. 7.

The largest shipment of Havana tobacco ever consigned to Canada arrived here this morning and at noon was carted through the principal streets. It took about twenty-five big G. T. R. lorries to transport the tobacco. The weed came from Cuba and was the largest shipment from that island in 1908. There were 1,873 bales, or 120 tons, and in duties alone the Dominion government collected $107,000 on the shipment. The tobacco is the property of the Truckett Company and will be used exclusively in the manufacture of a certain cigar, of which this shipment will make over 15,000,000.

COMPLAINT AGAINST DEALERS

Nebraska Cigar Men Accused of Selling to Minors.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 7.

Accusing them of selling cigarettes, contrary to the State laws, County Attorney Tyrrell this morning drew and filed a formal complaint in police court against the Cole-McKenna Cigar Company and James Heagey, the company's clerk. The complaint alleges in effect that James Heagey, on December 6, sold to Herschel Kline a box of cigarettes, containing one or more of the "coffin-nails," for the sum of seventy-five cents. James Malone's name appears as the complaining witness. The defendants probably will be summoned to appear some time within the next few days.

James Heagey was fined $25 and costs early in December under the ordinance which forbids the sale of tobacco to a minor. Herschel Kline, a lad not more than thirteen or fourteen years old, entered the store one day under Detective Malone's order and purchased a box of fifty cigarettes for seventy-five cents. He said the clerk merely asked him who the cigarettes were for, and that he replied they were for "a guy over at Eleventh and O streets." Kline says the box was passed over the counter to him.

This original box is still in Police Judge Risser's possession, although a cargo of nearly 4,000 cigarettes which were taken from the cigar store just before the trial were returned to the company at the Deputy County Attorney's request.

Closing the Old Year in Havana Tobacco Market

The New Year Holiday Made an Especially Short Week, and Market Transactions were Limited in Number and Size. The Drought Has Been Broken by Good General Rains, Except in Vuelta Abajo.

Havana, Cuba, January 2, 1909.

The record of the past week having been interrupted by the New Year holiday and marking the close of the year 1908 could not have excelled in showing large transactions, particularly as the number of buyers in town was only limited. Sellers were well enough disposed to turn over their holdings for ready cash, even if the calendar year does not correspond with the commercial year of our leaf dealers, who figure from one crop period to the other, and who close their books in March or April as a rule.

Excepting only the lowland section of the Vuelta Abajo, where the drought still continues, all other tobacco growing sections of our island have been visited by good rains, therefore the planters of tobacco have received the choicest New Year present they could wish for, and this has allayed the fears of curtailment in quantity, as perhaps also of quality. Unless the Tierra Llana should have been likewise favored by rains, it will be a serious drawback to the local manufacturers, as well as to the clear Havana cigar industry in the United States, as the choicest and most aromatic leaf is grown in the low lands of the Vuelta Abajo, and a scarcity of such styles this year would result in higher prices to the manufacturers, which would be a calamity.

Some of the holders of the 1908 crop are already less anxious to sell and a rise in prices might be inevitable, if no rain should fall this week. As January, February and March are always dry months, only an exception from the rule could cause a relief to the farmers in the heart of the Vuelta Abajo. The outlook for our leaf dealers and commission merchants is fair, as quite a number of Northern buyers are expected here shortly.

aggregated up to December 31, 2,840 bales, and consisted of 1,225 bales of Vuelta Abajo, 815 of Partido and 800 of Remedios.

For the United States 2,500 bales were purchased, for Europe 190 and for local consumption 150 bales.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	3,766	bales
To Europe	932	"
To South America	500	"
To Australia	35	"
Total	5,233	"

Departures:—S. Ruppin and I. Dankowitz, for New York; Fred. Newman and August Kuttnauer, for Chicago; John Hart, for St. Paul.

Havana Cigar Manufacturers

No news of interest can be reported as far as the cigar manufacturers are concerned. Work is slack yet, and for this reason the trust closed all of its factories from December 24 to January 4. Some independent factories also shut down last week in order to take stock, and the others, which were favored with enough orders for immediate shipment, kept on working as heretofore. A decided change for the better is expected before the middle of this month.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 380,000 cigars during the past week. The H. Upmann factory has received large orders lately.

Sol has no rush orders on hand, and for this reason Behrens & Co. devoted last week to the task of taking stock.

Buying, Selling and Other Notes of Interest.

I. Dankowitz who left on Saturday by the steamer Saratoga, had made good use of his time, as his purchases figure up to almost 1,000 bales of all kinds of leaf, and being an excellent judge of tobacco, as well as a close buyer, it stands to reason that he has secured the choicest styles of quality tobaco at the right figures.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez sold 990 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido last week. This long established and sterling house handled last year between 40,000 and 50,000 bales of tobacco, of which the Spanish Regie received about 20,000 bales. However, as they close their books only in March, the quantity may be even larger in their commercial year. Work is progressing on their new warehouse, corner Barcelona and Industria streets.

The firm of Manuel Suarez & Co. has dissolved by the retirement of Joseph Mendlesohn. The latter will in future devote his entire time and energy to the firm of Mendlesohn, Bornemann & Co., of New York, of which he is the senior partner, dealing in Havana leaf tobacco as heretofore. Manuel Suarez will continue the commission business under his own name at Havana. Don Jose has purchased 1,000 bales of choice leaf for his customers and may increase this quantity, as his partner, Louis A. Bornemann, arrived here today.

Jose F. Rocha was a seller of 200 bales of tobacco last week.

Fred Newman, on his maiden trip to Havana, selected 300 bales of leaf for his Chicago firm.

A. M. Calzada & Co. shipped 323 bales of first and second capaduras of Remedios last week to their customers, and Don Antonio closed the old year well by making some fresh sales.

H. Upmann & Co. purchased for their factory and customers in 1908 a little over 30,000 bales.

The tobacco area in Bavaria shows a decrease from 5,937.8 acres in 1907 to 5,567.2 acres in 1908. The total Germau area planted in tobacco in 1908 was 35,898.7 acres, against 33,721.8 acres in 1907."

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, January 12.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market has been somewhat brighter during the past week, and some signs of a permanent activity are beginning to develop. Stock taking has been concluded, and manufacturers and dealers are now turning their attention to the business necessities which a larger volume of trade naturally brings about.

Reports have been received from the growing districts of Pennsylvania which are to the effect that prices for 1908 crops have receded somewhat. From Ohio it is reported that a deadlock prevails in the growing districts, and consequently no buying is being done. Wisconsin tobaccos, too, have shown some indications of recession from former prices, yet buying there is not progressing very rapidly.

The Sumatra market was quiet during the past week, and sales made were of tobaccos that were required for immediate use.

Havana tobacco has been taken in moderate quantities, and, except the completion of a large quantity sale in one transaction, there was nothing of unusual interest.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

Notwithstanding that the cigar manufacturers experienced during 1908 the largest decrease in output in recent years, they have taken new courage and a strong confidence exists that there will be in reality a revival of trade in the near future and that the consumption and output will increase. In the metropolitan districts the December output indicated a gain as compared with the corresponding month of the previous year, and from the fact that the gain made was a gradual process, its auspiciousness is regarded as indicating a profitable continuation.

In the Retail Trade.

Naturally enough the retail trade requires a little time always to recover from the more than usually active period around the Christmas holidays, and it is therefore not alarming, nor even surprising, that this branch of the industry has recently been very quiet with a moderate volume of routine business, which, under all the circumstances, should be fairly satisfying.

Sutters' Latest Circular.

There were recently issued through the mails a new and very striking circular by Louis P. Sutter & Bros., in which is portrayed the wrapper king and the filler king. The circular dwells specially on the firm's offerings of Georgia Sumatra as an excellent wrapper for the needs of many a manufacturer, and their special line of Havana tobaccos for fillers. Of course, binders also come in for a fair share of attention, and a variety are enumerated together with a quotation of prices. It is a good piece of work and well executed. Served in its attractive style it is bound to get its full share of attention.

New Leaf Trade Organization.

A new organization has been started in the leaf tobacco trade by the younger members of the trade, the special object of which is the promotion of mutual congeniality by establishing a club with headquarters, if possible, in the immediate vicinity of the tobacco houses. In its application it is to be so broad as to admit also as members young men who are connected with the trade in a general way, and it is said that the plans have the approval of some of the most prominent of the older members of the trade. Harry S. Loewenthal, of 138 Water street, is acting as a committeeman to take applications for membership, and as soon as a reasonably good number are received a meeting will be called for the more definite formation of the organization.

Important Trade Mark Decision.

A decision was recently handed down by Judge McCall granting an injunction in the suit of the Butler-Butler Co., now a branch of the American Tobacco Co, against Ward Modawar, for infringing upon the Pall Mall brand of cigarettes.

The action was taken upon four affidavits, and by the decision of the court the defendant is expressly prohibited from using cigarette boxes either identical or similar to the Pall Mall package.

New Manufacturers' and Dealers' Association Formed.

The Cigar Manufacturers' and Dealers' League of Greater New York has been formed. The chief object of the new association is to combat as far as possible the prohibition movement, which has now gained some foothold in the West.

Officers of the Association have been elected, and are as follows: President, Samuel Prince; Vice President, Chas. Krohn; Treasurer, Bernard Feifer. Of the above Mr. B. Feifer is well known as a cigar manufacturer, and he has given out the following interview:

"The primary object of the League is to combat the prohibition movement. The injurious effect that it has had upon the cigar trade is well known. We are hoping to get the trade organized so as to be able to prevent the passage of blue laws or any other legislation that is inimical to our interests, as well as to afford what aid we can to the trade in that portion of the country that has already succumbed to the prohibition craze. All members of the trade are eligible.

"In addition to this object, we desire to encourage closer acquaintance and friendship among the members. We have as yet no regular meeting time, but we will arrange shortly for a more effective organization than we now have."

It is stated that more than 300 members have already been enrolled and a meeting is to be held on January 19, at Odd Fellows Hall, 67 St. Marks Place.

Coleman-Oppenheim Co. Changes Name.

The Coleman-Oppenheim Co. has changed its corporate name to R. B. Oppenheim Co., and in addition new quarters are also being taken possession of at 334 & 336 East Ninety eighth street, where a larger floor space is available. The business is said to have been prospering from the beginning, and the additional facilities now at its command have been urgent needed.

Death of Joseph Heller.

Joseph Heller, a leaf tobacco dealer of 205 Pearl street, died recently at the Mount Sinai Hospital, of blood poisoning. He was in the fortieth year of his age, and came to this country from Russia when still a young man, and after a short time in other lines he engaged in the tobacco business and has been in the trade for the past ten years. He was a member of the firm of Heller & Alexander, which dissolved during the early part of 1908, and since that time he has been engaged in the business on his own account.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

There has apparently been a slight improvement in the conditions of the leaf market during the past week and the volume of business has increased somewhat. Inquiries are coming in more strongly for seed leaf tobaccos. Mail orders are beginning to arrive from customers direct and also from salesmen now starting out on the road.

The Sumatra market was given some impetus by the arrival during the week of special Sumatra salesmen, who succeeded in stirring up a greater degree of interest.

The market in Havana tobacco has remained quiet throughout the week, although more abundant stocks are now held by local importers.

The cigar manufacturers are turning their attention to a greater exploitation of their product this year, and while the output for December fell considerably short of what was expected, they feel confident that an era of renewed prosperity is close at hand. Actual earnings have not been so seriously affected after all. The leaf market throughout the year was, generally, more favorable than it was during 1907, and profits were therefore less seriously affected than would undoubtedly have been the case if the leaf market had been as high in prices as it was during a great part of 1907.

The United Cigar Stores Co. has purchased the Lowengrund chain of stores compri ing five establishments, and they are now in possession. The Lowengrund stocks are being disposed of at a general reduction. The special sales began on Saturday last, the 9th inst.

Allen R. Cressman's Sons are still making steady progress with their Counsellor. In fact their facilities had become so much taxed that it was necessary to procure additional floor space, which was secured by taking in No. 514 Pine street, immediately adjoining the main factory building. The working force will be considerably increased.

John H. Boltz, of Boltz, Clymer & Co., is at present on a trip to the Pacific Coast, where they have a very extensive sale on their goods.

J. A. Rigby, of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., is spending a week or so at the factory headquarters here.

Jas. J. Tracey, of Gumpert Bros., left on Monday for a trip through the Southern States, and will be gone some time. Albert Gumpert is at present at factory headquarters.

Mr. Sulzberger, of the Sulzberger-Oppenheimer Co., is now engaged in visiting the firm's trade in the Western States, and some very satisfactory orders are being booked by him, according to current reports.

The firm of Bowen & Troy, manufacturers' agents at 230 Arch street, has been dissolved by the retirement of D. J. Troy from the firm. The business, however, will be continued by Mr. Bowen.

Howard Hipple, a well known young man in the trade, is now on the selling staff of the John J. Bagley Co., and makes his headquarters at 230 Arch street.

M. Zifferblatt, head of the Emze Cigar Co., has recently made some changes. On Monday last Lewis Zifferblatt, who heretofore has been connected with the store at 34 North Thirteenth street, assumed complete charge of the store at 7 South Tenth street. Under his management one of the best retail cigar trades will probably develop. Geo. Zifferblatt will be connected with the factory and devote his time to pushing their leading brands on the street.

M. Zifferblatt, the head of the house, will devote his entire time to the manufacturing department. The year 1908 was the most satisfactory they ever had, and they predict that 1909 will eclipse all previous records.

J. C. Mahle, representing I. H. Goetze & Co., of New York, Sumatra importers, was among the first arrivals in town this week. He was closely followed by Harry M. Duys, of H. Duys & Co., also of New York, engaged in the Sumatra importing trade. Mr. Duys was joined here by J. Howard Grafflin, the firm's representative for Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Henry Ashburner, with Duncan & Moorehead, has been elected trustee of the bankrupt estate of Boch-Griffin Co., and has taken charge of the affairs. R. W. Boch is in personal charge of the establishment.

J. Pierce Flowers, the veteran salesman, and representing the Lovell & Buffington Tobacco Co., of Covington, Ky., is placing on this market a new piece of cut plug under the brand of Red Apple, an extremely handsome package of good tobacco. The new goods are being well received here.

F. B. Robertson, for a number of years past factory representative of the Manchester Cigar Mfg. Co., Baltimore, Md., has resigned from that position. Mr. Robertson has not yet fully decided as to his future movements.

Cobs, the latest cigar creation of I. Lewis & Co., Newark, N. J., are becoming a very big seller in this market, and through the efforts of Z. J. Norris, the manager of the Philadelphia office of I. Lewis & Co., the goods are being well distributed throughout the city.

Henry Weis, with E. G. Perez & Co., makers of Porto Rico cigars, has been spending a couple of days this week in this city.

E. F. Law, a well known cigar manufacturer of Lancaster, Pa., was among the later arrivals of this week's visitors in the trade.

E. A. Calves & Co. North Third street Havana importers, are announcing the receipt of their first importations of the 1908 crops, among which are some very fine vegas of Vuelta, Partidos, Remedios and Santa Clara tobacco. They also say they still have a few choice lots of 1907 tobacco in stock, upon which they will quote reasonable prices.

JOBBING TRADE IN BOSTON.

Retailers May Rest After Holiday Rush, But Jobbers Report Satisfactory Business.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World" 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, Mass., Jan. 11.

Although the retail end of the cigar business has quieted down somewhat since the holidays, the jobbers report a good trade since the beginning of the new year. Most of the salesmen for out of town concerns doing business here have returned from their holiday vacations prepared to do a lot of hustling.

The salesmen of the Khedivial Co., New York, will soon work the trade on their new cigarette, Turkish Whiffs, and with a package of smoking mixture called Walker's Durham that retails at 5 cents a package.

C. B. Perkins & Co. are having their salesmen push the sale of Nubia, a 25 cent package of Turkish cigarettes which is put up in a pretty package.

The Nestor Gianaclis Co. continues to do a lot of advertising on Nestors and Royal Nestors. They have put on a ten per cent. gratis deal and jobbers and retailers alike are taking advantage of it. The Nestor crew of salesmen are all on the road and sending the factory plenty of orders.

R. D. Carnes (Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co.) is down Maine, while Joe Rogers is looking after the city trade. The Lynnhaven has made rapid progress in this market, and continues to improve in sales in the face of heavy opposition.

Frank Swick (Surbrug Co.) is expected back from New York on the 15th.

George T. Russell has joined the selling force of Jno. J. Bagley & Co. and will now sell Red Band, Wild Fruit, May Flower and other brands made by this Detroit concern.

Sam Marcuson, who formerly only had charge of the Astron cigarette of the Turco American Tobacco Co., has now also the Omega and Kef brands made by this concern.

Emil Abrahams, formerly with the Allen Tobacco Co., is now the Eastern representative of the American & West Indies Trading Co., makers of a fine line of Porto Rican cigars. Mr. Abrahams expects to call on the Boston trade this week.

A. Wingersky (T. Rosenbaum & Co.) has returned from a trip to New York.

J. Mendelsohn, of J. Mendelsohn & Bro., leaf tobacco dealers, New York, was up to his packing house in Northampton this week, looking over the sorting of the new crop of Connecticut tobacco.

S. P. Greenstone, manufacturer of the S. P. G. 2 for 5 cents short smokers, put up in panatella form, reports a steadily increasing business.

Congratulations are now in order at the Markell Drug Co. on Scollay Square. Johnny Rankin, the manager of the cigar department, was presented this week with a bouncing baby boy weighing in the neighborhood of 12 pounds. Both mother and boy are doing well, and Johnny has been blowing himself all week.

W. W. Kennerly, of the Mentor Co., is to cover Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont this season. Mr. Kennerly is very popular in Boston and has a large following in the trade. He made the Ramley cigarette popular in this city, and being highly regarded for his ability as a cigarette salesman he will no doubt make a grand showing in the new territory allotted him.

B. Griffen has purchased the cigar stand in the Barrister Hall, from Mrs. S. O. Brein.

The cigar stand in the Beacon Building has also changed hands. I understand Stuart, the broker, is now the owner pro tem.

OPENING SLOW IN LANCASTER

Not Much Expected in the Leaf Market During the First Fortnight of the New Year. Prices of 1908 Leaf Have Fallen, with Few Buyers.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 11.

The first week of the new year has not opened very briskly in the leaf tobacco trade, but it is not really a disappointment, because it has not been expected that a very voluminous business would be done during the first couple of weeks of the new year. It has not, however, materially affected prices on cased goods, which remain firm.

There has been somewhat of a change in the price for the 1908 crops which remain unsold. The figures have fallen from 12½ to 11, and in instances to 10½ cents, and no great amount was taken even at the lower figures. In fact some packers are of the opinion that the price may recede to as low as 9½ cents, and that there now appears to be a larger percentage of the crops remaining in growers' hands than had been the general opinion.

The cigar trade has not yet resumed full activity and the last report of the Collector of Internal Revenue for the Ninth District of Pennsylvania shows how severely the cigar manufacturers suffered reduced output during December as compared with the month of November, and from which there has not yet any apparent recovery begun.

According to the revenue returns the total output in this district in December was 52,702,900 cigars, against 64,201,700 in November. The output during December, 1907, which amounted to only 46,500,000, was a very low record, but with that exception, the output of December 1908, is the lowest in many years.

Tobacco growers are taking full advantage of every damp day and preparing their crops for the warehouse as rapidly as they can, and it is expected that from now on the crops will be coming in very fast.

J. H. Hoober, packer, on Tobacco Row, was a visitor to the Philadelphia leaf market last week.

Chas. Lederman was spending several days last week among his trade.

After spending a week in this section and visiting the trade in company of Raymond A. Heiland, of John F. Heiland & Co., Henry Bacharach, manager of the New York office of A. Taussig & Co., has returned to that city.

John F. Heiland, the well known broker, commenced the new year's business early last week, by packing his trunk and getting right out after it.

A. B. Hess, leaf tobacco packer, was out of town several days this week in the interest of his leaf business.

I. H. Weaver has returned from a short tour of inspection of the Ohio leaf markets.

John F. Schnupp, of this city, who has recently taken the account of Jos. S. Gans & Co., of New York, informs me that his commencing week had turned out very well. He has a complete line and is backed by a firm that has an enviable standing in the trade.

J. W. Brennemann was last week visiting Philadelphia and vicinity.

YORK FACTORIES SLUGGISH

But Cigar Manufacturers Hope for Better Times as January Grows Older.

York, Pa., Jan. 11.

The slump in the December business of cigar manufacturers is still being felt and trade is slow to recover, and yet it is believed that as the month advances there will begin a gradual and steady improvement.

Salesmen are now beginning to arrive in goodly numbers, but the majority of them declare that manufacturers are not yet inclined to buy in any large quantity, and their business, except in special lines, has consisted of small lots which were desired for immediate use.

The cigar box industry is a little quiet, which is an evidence that the cigar trade is slow. There is no better barometer of conditions in the cigar trade than what a truthful report from cigar box manufacturers will reveal.

J. H. Stiles, the well known leaf tobacco packer and dealer of this city, has issued to his customers a handsome calendar for 1909.

The new cigar stand of Kline Bros., in the Colonial Hotel Annex, is doing a fine business and is rapidly becoming one of the most popular cigar places in the city.

C. S. Bair is erecting four dwelling houses at Goldsboro, this county, which are intended for the use of cigarmakers employed at the factory in that town.

Michael Hose, of the Dallas Cigar Co., of Dallastown, who is also Burgess of that borough, has been confined to his home by illness, but is improving quite rapidly.

T. E. Brooks & Co., at Red Lion, have been increasing their force of cigarmakers since taking possession of the Porto Rico factory building.

J. F. Sechrist, of Holtz, had closed his factory for a short time, but has resumed operations.

These amounts are in the Spanish silver peso (plata), which at present, Dec. 14, 1908) is at a discount of about 13 per cent. in comparison with American currency. Therefore, the above amount, $328.20, reduces to about $285.40 American, the average wage given being a little less than $1.05 American money per diem.

By "20 wages" in above statement is meant that labor equivalent to the time of one man for 20 days was employed, for instance, in plowing one acre. A false impression may be gained from this, and so it should be understood that the soil has to be thoroughly, not roughly, prepared, and that may require several plowings to the acre. Packing labor is expensive, but it varies with the quality of the bale. It should be understood also that these rates are only an average, as in bad seasons they may at times reach $2 plata per diem.

Average Yield and Cost.

The average yield under shade is placed at 10 bales for the acre, but it often sinks to 8.

Sun Grown (open) Tobacco

Plowing, 20 wages, at $1.20	$ 24.00
Planting, 10 wages, at $1.20	12 00
Replanting, 3 wages, at $1 20	3.60
Hoeing, (3 times), 21 wages, at $1.20	25.20
Other labor expenses (estimated)	15.00
Gathering crop in stock, 15 wages, at $1.20	18.00
Labor in curing house (perhaps 2 wages)	3.00
Packing labor (skilled), 8 bales at $6.00	48.00
Total (Spanish pesos)	$148.80
Total (American currency)	129.40

Only those who can afford it raise tobacco under shade which, to explain further, means a covering over wires, which are stretched from upright posts about 8 or 9 feet high, of cheese cloth the average cost of which is about 3 cents a yard. Therefore the great majority of the tobacco is sun grown, which means in the open with sometimes wind-breaks of cheese cloth or other material. For this, as it will be seen by the statement above, less and unskilled labor is required, for the perfection of the leaf and the great development thereof is not so much desired. The sun grown tobacco generally speaking is for the filler and the shade grown for the wrapper of the cigar, although shade is liberally used for filler tobacco entirely, and a large percentage of shade-grown tobacco designed principally for wrappers is always only available for fillers.

Relation of Labor Cost to Market Price

These costs of labor in tobacco growing by no means represent the total cost which must be assigned for the article of commerce. The cost of administration is not included, nor is that of the food which is given to the laborer during the working hours. The expense of depreciation of tools and implements, and of plant in its various features, of fuel and oil for the irrigating plant engine, and various other items, chief among which is the shade-covering expense, which must be added to the price per bale. Thus, while $32.80 plata, or $28.54 American, is said to represent the labor cost of one bale of shade-grown tobacco in the district of western Cuba, and of $18.60 plata, or $16.17 American, sun-grown tobacco on a modern farm, there must be a large addition for this outside expense in both instances; and perhaps 75 per cent. is not too much for the first and 50 per cent. for the second. This, however, is subject to great variation.

It is a difficult matter in the extreme to give an average price in the market for this tobacco because, through opinion or otherwise, one farm is supposed to produce better tobacco than another, and the scale is largely governed by such traditions. But "Vuelta-Abajo" is supposed to average about $65 a bale, and "Partido" nearly $100, taking into account fillers, binders, and wrappers, the last of which raises the average greatly.

An Element of Mystery.

However, the tobacco growing business contains a substantial element of mystery, and under the conditions that obtain it is hard to separate fact from fiction. The cost of labor in the field, as herein given and divided, unquestionably represents something near the average on such a farm as described, but it can not be claimed that it costs all tobacco growers so much or so little. Tobacco production is popularly thought to be a highly profitable industry in Cuba when prices are normal and the management and culture are good, but like everything else it has been greatly affected by the price of labor and supply and demand and quality.

The cost of labor in the grading, blending, and stripping of the leaf, taking into acconnt the male and female labor employed, will average about the same as that of field labor—$1.20 plata, or about $1.05 United States currency per diem, with no allowance for food.

—It is reported that an English company has applied for the tobacco monopoly in Turkey after the concession to the present Regie has expired. It is said to be prepared to offer the government a loan of $66,000,000 at 4 per cent., in the event of securing the concession.

$10,000 SALARY WANTED.

Report that President of Burley Society Desires that Amount.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 7.

The Burley Tobacco Society is in session here today. All the proceedings have been secret and the members are very reticent in regard to what has been done. The question of salaries has been considered and quite a difference has arisen between President Le-Bus and the members of the board. He wants a salary of $10,000 a year, which the board thinks is entirely too large, and has offered him half that amount. This he refuses to accept, and the board is firm in its determination to pay no more.

The salaries of the other officials will be fixed as soon as that of the President is settled. A tentative contract for the crop of 1909 was formulated today and will be presented to the tobacco union for approval. Its nature was not revealed, but there will be no effort to curtail the crop this year.

CANADIAN TOBACCO SUIT.

Result of a Merger Between Big Companies.

Toronto, Can., Jan. 9.

The evidence in the lawsuit brought by the McAlpin Consumers' Tobacco Company, Limited, against Messrs. O. E. Fleming, J. A. Straith, Robert Pinchia and the Consumers' Tobacco Company, Limited, was ended in the Non-jury Court last week and Mr. Justice Teetzel will arrange a date with counsel for argument to be heard.

The suit arises out of an amalgamation in October, 1902, of the McAlpin Tobacco Company and the Consumers' Tobacco Company, under the name of the McAlpin Consumers' Tobacco Company, Limited. The three gentlemen cited as defendants were directors of the Consumers' Company, and the plaintiffs claim that when the merger was made they wrongfully applied the funds of t e new company to pay off debts against the old company, and they ask the court to order an accounting. The defendants claim that after the merger was made the new company was suddenly sold to a son of Gen. McAlpin in such a way as to make their stock holdings valueless, and that in consequence each of them had lost considerable money.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The news by correspondents to the trade papers is very encouraging to the farmers in the sense that the supply of all old goods has been drawn upon to an extent that few can realize.

Our correspondents write:

Conway, Mass.: "The buyers seem to be up to their old tricks of freezing the growers out. No buyers have been seen here yet. About the only thing to do with this year's crop (in my estimation) is for each farmer to put the crop into cases as cheaply as he can, if for nothing more than to size it. I have the sale of one crop of tobacco to report, B. S. Graves & Sons to McHugh, 10 acres at 12½ cents."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "Four acres of tobacco 1908 crop was sold by George Donaldson to Leslie W. Swift of this place. George Anderson sold about one acre to same party as above. George McClellan sold to the American Tobacco Co. 6 acres to be shipped out of town, all at private terms. Robert Dickinson sold about six acres to the American Tobacco Co. at about 3½ cents, haulcut."

Amherst, Mass.: "Many crops of tobacco have been sold during the past ten days. Edward Hickey sold 14 acres Havana at 10½ cents—Peter and James Gekonsky, William and Myron Zakesko, and Patrick Whalen estate, all large growers. Dwight Loomis, of Springfield, recently bought a number of crops at Russeville."—American Cultivator.

EDGERTON, WIS.

Since the beginning of the new year more of a disposition to resume the buying of the new crop has developed. The American Tobacco Co. started out a force of buyers bidding for all grades of the crop, for which from 5 to 8 cents is offered, and are making some sales, though growers as yet are not very generally disposed to accept these figures. We learn also that an effort is being made in some sections to buy the filler grades out of crops, for which as high as 3 cents is offered. An occasional sale of early crops is being made but at prices hardly up to the quotations that prevailed at the first buying.

There is some movement of old leaf to record, both of standard goods and of cheaper grades for export orders. Sanford Soverhill has disposed of 100 cases or such a matter, and H. T. Sweeney of about 150 cases for the week. The largest recent transaction is doubtless the sale of all the damaged tobacco held in the Equity pools in the State, amounting to several hundred cases.

A few days of casing weather during the week gave growers another opportunity to remove their hanging tobacco, but a cold wave following closely after has interfered with stripping. Deliveries are now being made very plentifully and warehouse handling is in full swing at the packing points.

Shipments: 1,605 cases.—Reporter.

UNION CIGARMAKERS UNEASY

Increased Agitation for Higher Wage Scale.

Union cigarmakers in Pennsylvania are preparing to demand an increase in wages, according to Organizer E. E. Greenawalt, of the Cigarmakers' International Union. He has been conducting a vigorous campaign of organization, and claims to have materially strengthened the union. The demand will provide for an increase and a more uniform rate of wages. "There must come a readjustment of wages in the First and Ninth Internal Revenue districts of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Greenawalt. "There are upward of 30,000 men, women and children employed in the cigar industry of Pennsylvania, and the report of the State bureau of industrial statistics shows the average wage received by men is about $8 a week. That of women about $5 per week. The children get from $2 to $3 per week.

"The fact that the wages of the cigarmakers in Pennsylvania are considerably lower than those received by their fellow-craftsmen in other States for similar grades of work encourages the belief that manufacturers here will favorably consider the demands of their employes, and will be willing to grant a reasonable increase in the rate per 1,000 for making cigars."

THE CIGAR TYPES.

NEW ENGLAND.

Weather conditions have been favorable for handling tobacco, and most of it has been taken from the poles and put in the bundle. A large part of the crop has been contracted for at an average price of 16.6 cents per pound, which is about 5 cents higher than last year. The quality is better than last year, though not so good as hoped for earlier in the season, as the cured leaves show more white veins and uneven colors than was expected. About 23 per cent had been delivered up to December 20, as compared with 2 per cent a year ago.

NEW YORK.

With unfavorable weather for handling tobacco, only a small per cent has been taken from the poles and about 3 per cent delivered to market. The small amount contracted for indicates a price of 9.5 cents per pound, which is 3.5 cents higher than last year. The quality is better than last year, but not so good as was expected when the crop went into the sheds, on account of dry weather at curing time. While the color is fairly good, some white veins are showing up in the cured leaves.

PENNSYLVANIA.

On account of unfavorable handling weather until late in December, very little tobacco has been taken from the poles and stripped. About 6 per cent had been marketed up to December 20. Quality is reported to be a little better than last year, but the crops are very similar in that they consisted mostly of filler grades with few wrappers or binders. There is some complaint of molded tips, but only a small quantity is thought to be damaged. Most of the crop has been sold at an average price of 10.5 cents per pound, as compared with 7.5 cents last year.

OHIO—MIAMI VALLEY.

Most of the crop, on account of the dry weather, was still hanging in the sheds, and none had been delivered to market on December 20. Quality is much inferior to that of last year because of dry weather during the growing and curing season. A small per cent has been contracted for, and a price of 9.5 cents per pound paid, which is nearly 2 cents higher than a year ago.

WISCONSIN.

It is not customary to deliver much tobacco in this State before December 20, and only about 4 per cent of this crop has been marketed. Quality is better than last year and there will be a larger per cent of binders, but the quality is inferior and the per cent of binders less than would have been the case under favorable conditions during the growing season. The average price is 10 cents per pound, as compared with 6.5 cents a year ago.

GEORGIA AND FLORIDA.

About 91 per cent of the crop in this district has been marketed. Delivery usually begins in July or August and is

GOOD BUSINESS IN TAMPA

For This Season of Year. About 80 Per Cent of Forces Employed at Stachelberg's.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 14.

With stock taking over and the holidays a thing of the past cigar manufacturers are now busily engaged in making up stock for the spring trade, and as a result of this all of the regular cigarmakers in the city are practically afforded employment. Edward Stachelberg stated that the big Stachelberg factory is now running with about eighty per cent of the large force employed before the holidays.

"I expect that within thirty days all of the factories in the city will be running with full force," said Mr. Stachelberg, "and I believe that now, as all political matters are settled and the question of tariff on tobacco is practically settled that the cigar business will resume its normal state and we will have all we can do to supply the trade with clear Havana Tampa-made cigars."

Mr. Stachelberg said that while the sale of Tampa made cigars in Cuba is slow for the present, that they are still on sale there, and that he expects in the future that they will be very much sought after by Americans visiting that country.

Fire which was discovered at one o'clock this morning, consumed the large frame building on Frances avenue, in West Tampa, owned and occupied by George Themelis, who conducted a cigarette factory. Mr. Themelis had just opened a branch store and factory at Tampa and Lafayette streets and had placed considerable stock in the new place, but there was a great quantity of fine tobacco in the building which was consumed.

LEAF MEN TO GIVE BANQUET

At the Grand Hotel, Janesville, Wis., on January 23.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 14.

Local members of the Leaf Tobacco Dealers' Association will banquet at the Grand Hotel on the evening of January 23.

At a meeting of the association members held at Green's warehouse a committee was appointed to draw up a set of resolutions to be forwarded to Washington protesting against any change being made in the tariff in relation to imported tobacco.

Hotel Fire Destroyed Cigar House

Webster City, Ia., Jan. 12.

The Wilson Hotel building sustained a $10,000 fire loss last week, the loss being equally divided between the hotel and W. B. Kearns, wholesale and retail cigar distributor, who occupied the south annex.

The guests escaped in light attire without injuries. Both losses are fully covered by insurance.

THEIR SOUTHERN BRANCH

Best & Russell Co. Incorporate Their Tennessee Branch.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 14.

Following announcement of the selection of Memphis as headquarters for their Southern operations, application was made for a charter for Best & Russell Co. as a Tennessee corporation. Best & Russell Co. is already incorporated under the laws of Illinois, but desiring to maintain their Southern office as a separate institution, they will incorporate here as a Tennessee institution. They will engage in the manufacture and sale of cigars, tobacco and smokers' articles.

Application for a charter was made through Bacon & Stickley, lawyers, the incorporators named being W. J. Bacon, R. H. Stickley, J. Monroe Williamson, George H. Glascock and S. L. Sparks. The capital stock is placed at $200,000.

The Best & Russell Co. has already leased the old Chickasaw Guards armory, on South Second street, near Union avenue, and work of remodeling it for occupancy will begin soon.

BUSY MINNESOTA FACTORY

Reaches Highest Record in Fifteen Years.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 13.

A million and a half of cigars is the record of the Julius Adams cigar factory for the close of the fifteenth year in the business. There are now on the pay roll of the Adams factory 41 people who together draw the sum of $500 every week, making a total of $26,000 in the past year.

Fifteen years ago Mr. Adams started in business with only one boy to do the stripping. At that time his factory was above DeLeo's barber shop on St. Germain street, the rooms over the present Grill Cafe. Since then his business has steadily increased until it has reached its present proportions. The cigars made at this establishment are sold all over the northern half of the State of Minnesota and in many places in North and South Dakota as well as Montana.

NEW MEMPHIS BUILDING.

Contract Awarded for American Snuff Co.'s New Plant.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 12.

A building permit was issued yesterday to the Acme Construction Company of Cincinnati for the construction of a four-story factory building at Keel street and the I. C. tracks, to cost $51,000.

This is the American Snuff Company's factory, and it is reported that the company has purchased several adjoining lots, on which will be built a number of small buildings that will cost about $20,000 and will be used for various purposes.

The new building will be of re-enforced concrete and strictly fire-proof throughout. The entire cost, after the machinery is installed, it is estimated, will be in the neighborhood of $75,000. The factory will give employment to over 300 men and women.

It is stated that Memphis will eventually become the general distributing point for the American Snuff Company's business in the South and Southwest. That is, all traveling men will report to this point instead of to Richmond and New York.

The building will be completed within 90 days and 30 days later it will be running with a full force.

SUCCESSFUL MISSOURI CO.

Pays a Cash Dividend of Twenty Per Cent.

Chillicothe, Mo., Jan. 12.

The stockholders of the Crown Cigar Company held a meeting in the manager's office at the factory Monday evening and elected P. D. Kitt, J. R. Wilson and W. D. Wilson, directors. James R. Wilson was re-elected President and Manager of the company and W. D. Wilson Secretary and Salesman.

At this meeting a 20 per cent. cash dividend was declared on the capital stock.

The Crown Cigar factory is one of the leading factories in the State. The past year was one of the most prosperous since the factory was established in 1879.

Good Opening of the New Year in Havana.

Additional Arrivals of American Buyers Give Promise of Continued Activity in the Leaf Market. Fears of Drought Have Now Been Averted by Copious Rains. Statistics of Cuba's Tobacco Crop for the Past Year.

Havana, Cuba, January 9, 1909.

The new year has opened well, as more American buyers have arrived to keep our market active and it has rained in the heart of the Vuelta Abajo. Judging by the number of rainy days in Havana last week it almost looked as if we had entered the rainy season, but perhaps the seismic disturbances in many countries have changed our atmospheric conditions. A continuance of wet weather at this season will do untold harm, not alone to the nearly matured tobacco plants, but also by interrupting the grinding of sugar cane. Transactions last week were not heavy, but widely distributed, with prices ruling firm, particularly for Remedios tobacco.

I would call attention to the annexed statistical figures of the product of the 1908 crop, which will show that the weekly reported sales were rather short or too low, or that some people, for reasons of their own, refused to have any light shed upon their operations. To get at the exact amount of present holdings in our market we should need government interference, as some people will declare their stocks too high, and others too low, but the figures were taken by competent judges, who almost agreed, therefore they may be considered correct for all practical purposes. In getting at the figures for the whole crop of the island of Cuba, as well as what properly belonged to the 1907 crop, several estimates had to be made use of, so in case any error should be disclosed later on the indulgence of my readers is desired.

up to January 9th total 3,800 bales, divided between Vuelta Abajo 950, Partido 450 and Remedios 2,400 bales.

American buyers have purchased 3,000 bales, exporters for Europe 600 and local manufacturers 200 bales.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	5,217	bales
To Europe	1,299	"
To South America	255	"
Total	6,771	"

Buyers Come and Go.

Arrivals:—Jacob Labe, of Benjamin Labe & Sons, Philadelphia; M. Herzog, of P. Dennerlein & Co., and Charles Landau, representative of the H. Upmann factory, New York; Aug. Kuttnauer, of Rothschild. Sons & Co., Chicago; Angel L. Cuesta, of Cuesta Rey & Co., Tampa.

Returned:—Pepin Rodriguez, of the Romeo y Julieta factory, Pablo Quadreny, of La Escepcion factory, Max Stern, of Sylvester & Stern, New York and Havana.

Departures:—Louis and Alex. Goldschmidt, for New York.

Havana Cigar Manufacturers

have commenced the new year with great hopes that the next Congress will ratify the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Cuba in a liberal spirit by granting a heavier reduction from the Dingley tariff schedule. They also look for a general revival in our exports to Europe and other countries, as the abnormal conditions of last year have passed away, to a large extent at least. It is too early to look for an immediate resumption of large orders, but the forerunners are evidently appearing already.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 350,000 cigars last week.

Sol is fairly busy now upon orders from the principal consuming countries.

no time and went direct from the dock to the different tobacco warehouses. Knowing exactly what his customers want and being an excellent judge of leaf tobacco he acts quickly in spotting his styles. Owing to is hopen, straightforward manner most dealers here are anxious to do business with him, shading their figures to the utmost point, and thus Don Jacobo usually manages to buy as low, if not lower, than the shrewdest leaf importer in the United States. The customers of Benjamin Labe & Sons can rest assured that they can buy the best kinds of Havana tobacco as reasonable, if not actually lower, than any other house will be able to offer to them. Don Jacobo's purchases may sum up to 1,000 bales or more this time.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez were heavy sellers again, as they closed transactions summing up 1,300 bales of all kinds of leaf tobacco.

Joseph Mendelsohn and Louis Bornemann were likewise hustlers in our market and could be seen in many warehouses registering tobacco.

Rodriguez Bautista & Co. disposed of 300 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Remedios during the past week.

M. Herzog reports having purchased 600 bales of leaf.

Muniz Hnos. & Co. closed out 200 bales of Remedios.

Howard Friend, being on his maiden trip, is acting with great caution in accumulating his supplies for the Friend Leaf Tobacco Co., but as he is an excellent judge of Havana tobacco he is bound to accomplish his object. It is said that he has purchased some 300 bales so far.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, January 19.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market is gradually getting into a state of increased activity, although the progress thus far made was not as rapid as was expected at the beginning of the present year. Reports coming in from the various cigar manufacturing centres are rather encouraging and indicate that there is good reason to believe that the leaf trade must necessarily also participate in greater activity ere long, and there seems to exist a general feeling of confidence in the entire trade. Florida tobaccos have been the most active of all domestic tobaccos, and a goodly proportion of the new goods have already been placed by the more active houses carrying this line.

Sumatra leaf has been moving at a moderately steady rate, and the volume of business, while not approaching the point of remarkability, has, nevertheless, been of sufficient amount to be noticeable. Orders have been received by some of the importing houses from country sections at a surprisingly good rate.

The Havana tobacco market has been steady, and tradesmen were much cheered by the news that the island was having copious rains which will promote the growth of the new crop, which is being looked forward to with much interest.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

The cigar manufacturers are starting out this year in fairly good shape, and the volume of business they are doing this month will in all probability exceed that of last year, which, while it would not be saying a great deal, is noticeable all the same, from the fact that larger forces of employes are at work now than there were last year at this time. In fact a goodly number of factories have resumed operations with full complements of hands and others with at least three-quarters of their capacity.

Road men are just beginning their active work. As yet it is a little too early to make any prediction, but indications all point to their greater success. That they are so far meeting with encouragement is plainly evident from the nature of the correspondence which is reaching factory headquarters.

President Duke's New Residence.

The palatial residence of H. H. Cook, at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy eighth street, has been purchased by James B. Duke, President of the American Tobacco Co., at a consideration that is said to have been in the neighborhood of $1,500,000. The building is a five story white marble and sandstone dwelling, occupying a site which overlooks Central Park. But under Mr. Duke's ownership the interior of the building is to be entirely remodeled, and an extension is to be added on the Seventy-eighth street side of the property. It is in close proximity to the residences of Payne Whitney and H. H. Rodgers, of the Standard Oil Co., while B. N. Duke, a brother of the President of the American Tobacco Co., has a handsome residence at the southeast corner of Eighty-ninth street and Fifth avenue.

E. M. Schwarz & Co. Incorporate.

The cigar manufacturing firm of E M. Schwarz & Co., which is among the largest and most successful cigar manufacturing establishments in this city, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The incorporators were L. Cohn, D. Emil Klein and W. F. Ashley, Jr., the latter being an attache of the law offices of Wise & Lichtenstein, in which offices all the details of the big company are being attended to.

The incorporation of the firm of E. M. Schwarz & Co. will not materially affect the personnel of the firm, but is designed to bring about the easier perpetuation of the business which has grown to immense proportions. Since the death of E. M. Schwarz, the founder of the business, D. Emil Klein, a brother-in law of the deceased manufacturer, was among the most active members of the firm, and he will continue in a very active capacity with the new company, as will also several of the present able assistants.

The factory will be continued at the present quarters at Seventy-third street and Second avenue, and the business will in all probability be greatly expanded.

Cobb's Successor Elected.

At a directors' meeting of the American Tobacco Co., held recently, Thomas J. Maloney was elected a Vice President for the unexpired term left vacant through the resignation of J. B. Cobb. Mr. Maloney is now President of the Lorillard branch of the American Co., and has held that position for a number of years past.

Death of Henry Isaacs.

Henry Isaacs, a popular salesman with Simon Batt & Co., manufacturers of clear Havana cigars, died last week at his home, 505 West 124th street, after an illness of six months due to a throat affection. Mr. Isaacs was a nephew of Simon Batt, and is survived by a widowed mother and two sisters.

He had been connected with the cigar trade only a comparatively short time, but had already made a host of friends in the trade, by all of whom he was greatly respected. He had not been on the road for the past six months owing to his illness.

Vallens Co. Again Organized.

Eugene Vallens & Co. has been incorporated at Albany, with a capital of $100,000. The incorporators are Grover C. Dula, A. B. Davis and George P. Stacy, of No. 111 Fifth avenue. This is in thorough conformity with the plans adopted some time since by the American Cigar Co. of individualizing the various factories by specific heads, and the news of the rejuvenating of the house of Eugene Vallens & Co. therefore comes as no particular surprise.

The original firm of Eugene Vallens & Co., of Chicago, was one of the most widely known houses in the clear Havana trade in the country, and under the direction of Mr. Vallens it acquired its illustrious success. It is now announced that Mr. Vallens would again actively enter the trade, having been practically retired for the past ten years. A factory building is said to have been secured on West Broadway, in the vicinity of the former New York office of Eugene Vallens & Co., and Mr. Vallens will be again at the head of the Vallens house.

Salvador Rodriguez Incorporates.

The clear Havana cigar firm of Salvador Rodriguez has been incorporated in New York, to grow and treat tobacco and manufacture cigars, with a capital of $250,000. The incorporators named in the papers filed are John J. Donavan, Noah A. Stancliffe and Frederick P. Whitaker, of 165 Broadway, New York.

A Night Off for Tobacco Men.

A social affair which many of the younger element in the leaf market attended proved a great success The party first attended a performance at the Empire Theater where they occupied two boxes. The play, "What Every Woman Knows," in which Maude Adams was the star, was thoroughly enjoyed. After the show a supper and dance at the Hotel Astor was next in order and it was early in the morning when the members of the party took their taxi-cabs homeward. Those who attended were: Miss Ruth Berger and Mr. Harry S. Loewenthal, Miss Phoebe Schaverin and Mr. Ben. Loewenthal, Miss Lillian Mendelsohn and Mr. Grover Mendelsohn, Miss Alice Gumport and Mr. Ben. Gumport, Miss Helen Citron and Mr. Harry Mendelsohn, Miss Paula Josephson and Mr. Jerome Mayer, Miss Emma Israelson and Mr. Norman Greenberger, Miss Leah Mendelsohn and Mr. Mel. Schroder.

Trade Notes.

W. S. Conrad, the well known cigar jobber of St. Paul, was a visitor in this city last week.

Julius Shack, formerly Canadian representative with H. Duys & Co., has connected himself with the Sumatra importing firm of F. & E. Cranz.

PHILADELPHIA, JANUARY 20, 1909

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The Philadelphia leaf market again shows some improvement this week, and the aggregate of the business for the month of January thus far is a very favorable contrast with that of the corresponding month of last year. It cannot be pointed out that many actually large sales have been consummated this month, but numerous fair sized transactions have occurred, which brought the volume of business up to a good amount, if, indeed, it is not about the ordinary normal figure. The number of visitors from out of town points is increasing, and consequently the amount of business done is growing larger. Present market conditions do not indicate that there has been a great amount of specializing in any particular type of domestic leaf, but, on the other hand, all varieties have had some call.

In Sumatra leaf there was a normal and wholesome trading, and in Havana tobacco there is no change of note, either in price of leaf or the character of the offerings.

Prospects with the cigar manufacturers seem to be good genreally, and the amount of business done shows a gradual and steady gain. Indications are all favorable for a good, if not actually a lively, Spring trade. There is at hand a practical substantiation of this assertion. We refer to the rather magnificent orders which are coming in from road men, and which are of such a character that we cannot fail to see encouragement in them, and as a result a majority of the larger factories are now sufficiently well supplied with orders and of a volume which warrants operations on full time. The month of December has left a well-defined ear mark in so far as it was a period during which the production of cigars in this district surpassed the output of the corresponding month of the previous year. That turn has been successfully made and we are safe in leaving it to the energy of the trade at large to keep up the pace now set.

There is again much activity at all the leading warehouses, and large quantities of the new crops are now coming in each week, and the force of employes is being constantly increased.

There was a report circulated here early last week which was to the effect that a very large sale of leaf tobacco had been consummated by one of the largest packing houses in this county, but it could not be confirmed. It is believed that there has been a deal of much consequence pencing for some time, but that it has not been fully consummated is also the general belief.

E. L. Nissly, of Florin, Pa., has secured an additional warehouse in this city in the rear of Centre Square, which was for a time occupied by Engle & Son, and which Mr. Nissly will use for packing purposes this year.

The writer last week had the pleasure of a trip of inspection through the new warehouse of John F. Brimmer & Son, at 226 North Prince street, better known as the Harnish Warehouse, which is practically a complete new building, containing all the modern improvements which it is possible to obtain, including electric elevator, etc. In its appointment it is almost perfection, exceptionally well lighted, and equipped with resweating rooms, a spacious basement for assorting and packing, as well as ample storage capacity for the new goods coming in.

It is a three story brick structure, with a frontage of 32 feet on Prince street and extending through to a rear street, a depth of 168 feet. The several floors are used for the storage of tobacco of different year's growth, so that any desired lot can be easily gotten at.

On the ground floor front there is a suite of two nicely furnished offices, one room being used for a general reception and accounting office, while the other has been made a private office. These are equipped with stationary wash stands and lavatories, and are about as comfortable as they could possibly be made.

John F. Brimmer, the head of the firm, recently admitted his son, John R., to an interest in the business, and the firm name was made John F. Brimmer & Son. In addition to this they have also engaged traveling representatives for this year. One of their salesmen is Harrison G. Shirk, a tobacco man of this city, and a man of wide experience in the business. Mr. Shirk is now covering the West.

A new Florida tobacco firm has recently opened headquarters in this city, and has made their offices and taken warehouse facilities with Milton H. Ranck at Duke and Chestnut streets. The firm is Mitchell & Ottinger, who came here from Quincy, Fla., and who are both thoroughly familiar with the tobacco industry of Florida. The firm consists of T. W. Mitchell and S. M. Ottinger. Mr. Ottinger is a son of the pioneer tobacco raiser of Florida, and was practically brought up in the business. Both are young men, vigorous and energetic, who realized that this section of the country afforded opportunities for development that were more attractive than some other sections, and they are being heartily received by the trade in this State. It is but a short time since they opened office headquarters here, but they are now receiving a large and complete line of goods from the Quincy warehouses, and will forthwith be in a position to show some very attractive lines of the most desirable goods that Florida has yet produced.

Ever since the first of the year there has been continued activity with the firm of John F. Heiland & Co. Not only have their lines of seed leaf been a pulling factor, but a very extensive trade has also been done by them on the Florida tobaccos which they are handling, and which are supplied from the warehouses of Taussig & Co., of New York and Chicago. Their business has been growing to such an extent that an increased office force has been found desirable. They have therefore added the services of Allen Fry, a son of P. W. Fry, well known in the cigar trade. Young Fry is an accomplished office assistant, and his work is greatly relieving the firm of the many details of the office and enabling them to devote all their energy and time to the needs of their patrons in keeping their wants satisfactorily supplied.

Quite a scare was precipitated here last week when it was announced that the big plant of the Federal Cigar Co. had been closed down for an indefinite period of time. Inquiry, however, revealed the fact that it was not nearly as bad as it was pictured by the daily press, that the new order of things affected only certain departments, and for probably a short time only, during which certain changes which have been for some time contemplated can be made, after which the usual force heretofore employed would again find ample work.

The Sherts Cigar Co. has been organized here by M. H. Bare and J. E. Sherts, both of whom, until a year or more ago, had been prominently identified with the cigar trade of this city. They have secured factory facilities on East Grant street near Duke, and the building is being thoroughly remodeled for their particular needs. They will soon place on the market a new line of nickel and ten cent goods. Both members of this firm were formerly identified with the old firm of J. E. Sherts & Co.

W. H. McLaughlin & Son, are now engaged in putting up a packing of Pennsylvania leaf at their new warehouses on North Prince street, which premises were formerly occupied by I. H. Weaver.

L. Levinson, a young and energetic advertising novelty salesman, has been recently circulating among the cigar trade of this section in the interest of the C. H. Thompson Calendar Co. and Robert Hartman Co., makers of card board signs of all kinds, both New York houses. Levinson has been showing attractive lines, and his initial trip for the new year was gratifyingly successful.

Michael Shue has been prosecuted before Justice C. H. Zeller, of Mt. Joy, for larceny, Jacob Gephart lost five bales of tobacco and John Young two. The stolen tobacco, it is alleged, was sold by Shue to Charles W. Bitner. The parties missed their tobacco, traced it to Shue's possession and they were at the warehouse when he delivered it.

The A. B. Hess Cigar Co. has this year started their several salesmen on the road with a complete line of new samples, among which are several new creations of cigar productions from this city. Orders at this writing were beginning to arrive in goodly numbers and a specially strong demand was found for their leading brands of five and ten cent goods. Indications are that the business this year with this factory will exceed by far the output of last year, and if January is any indication it will be simply distanced.

The general outlook for the cigar trade is brightening gradually, and notwithstanding the fact that the output of the entire Ninth District was far behind during the year 1908, as compared with that of 1907, several of the factories in this section actually ran ahead of their 1907 output during last year.

BRIGHTENING IN LANCASTER.

No Special Activity in the Leaf Market, but a Good Many Cases were Sold in the Aggregate.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 18.

The leaf tobacco market has not been specially brisk during the past week, and yet the aggregate of the business done amoutned to a considerable number of cases. The transactions were largely in small lots. Inquiry was fairly strong and prices remain unchanged.

QUIET TRADE IN BOSTON.

Regarded as the Usual Post-Holiday Lull and All are Hopeful.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World" 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.

The usual lull after the holidays has struck this section, and jobbers and retailers alike report the past week's business as being very quiet. The newspaper reports of conditions in other parts of the country are very encouraging and our merchants are confident of an exceptionally good Spring trade.

H. Traiser & Co., the large local cigar manufacturers, are starting in today manufacturing cigars again. This factory has had lots of trouble with the Union, and at a meeting of the Union last week at which members of the firm of H. Traiser & Co. were present, the Union voted against a reduction in the schedule of prices.

George W. Lord, manager of Woodward's cigar department, has notified his customers that henceforth the retail price of the J. A. cigar is 8 cents straight, an advance of one cent. It is expected that many of the other cut-price druggists will follow suit. George has been very active of late with the fire department, of which he is also a member. Your correspondent was shown a number of photos of Mr. Lord in his uniform.

At Metcalf & Co.'s Tremont street store George Finn reports a good trade for this season of the year. Their new 5 cent straight invincible, R. B. Special, has already made many friends.

Jack Dubreuil was in town Saturday introducing the Khedivial Co.'s new 5 cent brand, Turkish Whiffs. Lawrence J. Ryan (Khedivial Co.) has reached here and will remain a few weeks selling only the Lord Baltimore, a 25 cent package.

The old reliable Mount Vernon Cigar Mfg. Co., of Seven Valley, Pa., has opened a branch establishment for jobbing and retailing cigars and tobacco at 144 State street, Boston. An invitation has been extended by them to the entire trade to give them a call and inspect their line of goods. The establishment is in direct charge of W. S. Gladfelter, who is giving the closest possible attention to the requirements of the Eastern trade from the local branch office.

Sam. H. Kitsis, formerly with the Turco American Tobacco Co., has accepted a position with the Khedivial Co. and will begin working today.

Jack Warsowe, the comedian salesman of the Khedivial Co., is pushing the sale of the Alma cigarettes, while Al. Soloway is calling on the trade in Springfield and Westfield this week.

R. D. Carnes (Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co.) has returned from a trip down East. Mr. Carnes reports a steadily increasing sale on their Lynnhaven cigarettes with good prospects for a big Spring trade. Joe Rogers, who has been calling on the city and nearby trade, is also making good.

L. Shapiro (Nestor Gianacles Co.) worked Providence this week with good results. The new gratis deal on Nestor is taking big here; many of our smaller jobbing firms are ordering in not less than 25,000 lots.

United Stores in Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 14.

There is a rumor current in this city that the United Cigar Stores Company is about to invade Kalamazoo and locate one of its branches here. While the matter is not as yet settled a deal is now on that may result in the sale of the stand occupied by R. Rosenthal, formerly "Whitey" Kools' place, on West Main street. Parties in the negotiations are very quiet about the matter, but it is expected that this week will see some definite action taken one way or another.

MARYLAND'S 1908 TOBACCO

Crop is Estimated at 27,000 Hogsheads, and is Good Quality.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 13.

A statement of the condition of the tobacco market at the close of 1908 has been compiled by Von Kapff & Arens, shipping and commission merchants. It is as follows:

The 1907 crop of Maryland tobacco marketed in 1908 consisted of 26,980 hogsheads, including 1,246 hogsheads of new ground leaves and 1,090 hogsheads of bay or upper county tobacco. The crop of 1908 is estimated to be about 27,000 hogsheads.

The quality of the new crop, judging from the small quantity (about 260 hogsheads) received so far, will be of good average length of leaf and with a fair show of color.

Of new ground leaves 1,246 hogsheads have been received and sold, with the exception of 326 hogsheads, mostly November inspection and many very common and sandy. The color of the ground leaves, as a rule, was mostly reddish brown and many of ashy gray color, and really bright color hogsheads were very scarce.

Prices ranged from 3 cents for sandy common to 4½ cents for good common and from 5 to 10½ cents for medium to good and fine. About 300 hogsheads more are expected to come to market.

The crop of bay or upper county tobacco marketed, about 1,090 hogsheads, consisting of about 180 hogsheads fire-cured and 910 hogsheads air-cured. Prices ranged from 5 to 20 cents for fire-cured and from 5 to 14 cents for air-cured, only 2 hogsheads remaining unsold on account of having been graded far above their value. The crop of 1908 is estimated to be about 1,100 hogsheads, of which about 200 hogsheads are reported to be fire-cured.

The 1907 crop of Ohio tobacco amounted to about 2,200 hogsheads, which have all been sold, with the exception of 142 hogsheads, of which 7 hogsheads are scraps and 35 hogsheads air-cured.

The 1908 crop is estimated to be somewhat smaller, say about 1,900 hogsheads of fire-cured of good quality and many spangled hogsheads, but less of bright color.

Of the 2,200 hogsheads received, 617 hogsheads were bought by the agents of the French Regie and the balance for Germany, England and Belgium, and a small quantity for home consumption. Prices ranged from 5 to 22 cents.

Prices for Maryland tobacco ranged from 4½ to 15 cents, according to quality and color, and the stock in first hands amounts to only 41 hogsheads of old crop and 38 hogsheads of new crop, some of which are held above market value.

REPORTED GOOD TRADE in YORK

Some Manufacturers Buying for Expected Revival at Factories.

York, Pa., Jan. 18.

The cigar trade is not yet as brisk in this section as it might be, with a few exceptions, of course. There is, however, a gradual improvement coming about, and nearly every manufacturer is feeling somewhat encouraged by the fact that it is not quite as dull as it was last year at this time.

Some of the leaf tobacco men had an exceptionally strong business during the past few weeks, and it appears that some of the manufacturers are laying in stocks in the full expectation that a better business era is about to be with us. Some of them even anticipate some little changes in the leaf tobacco market, and consider that it is quite likely that if the general improvement in the cigar trade does set in, which is being so confidently expected, the market will show some advance in the price of leaf tobacco, and that is why they are laying in larger stocks.

J. H. Stiles, the well known leaf tobacco packer of this city, has secured the services of H. G. Reitzel, formerly of Rochester, N. Y., and who is now on a Western trip for Mr. Stiles. The writer was informed a few days ago at Mr. Stiles' office that Mr. Reitzel is meeting with good success on his maiden trip for the house. Mr. Stiles is at present in Connecticut.

H. G. Blasser, head of the newly organized leaf firm of H. G. Blasser & Co., Ltd., was last week confined to his home by a severe cold. He is improved now, and will in all probability be about again as usual within a few days.

A new representative is coming to York to look after the interests of Wedeles Bros., and he will probably make his headquarters in the Small Building, in offices adjoining those of Noah Gillen.

Noah Gillen has been among the most active leaf men in the local market for the past few weeks, and in that time has disposed of several large lots of finished by December 20, but this season a part of the crop has not been sold and is being packed by the growers. Quality is much better than last year, with a larger per cent of light wrappers. The average price of 35 cents per pound is 8.5 cents less than a year ago.

CHEWING, SMOKING, SNUFF and EXPORT TYPES.

BURLEY DISTRICT.

With favorable weather for handling and a very small crop, 51 per cent has been marketed. Quality is inferior to a year ago on account of dry weather during most of the growing and curing season. The average price of 16.5 cents per pound is 5.5 cents higher than was paid a year ago.

DARK DISTRICTS OF KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE.

Paducah District.

It has been too dry to handle tobacco, hence only about 6 per cent had been marketed up to December 20. The quality of the early part of the crop was much better than last year, but the late cutting was inferior. Taken as a whole, quality is somewhat better than a year ago. The average price of 7.9 cents per pound is less than last year.

Henderson or Stemming District.

About 7 per cent of the crop has been delivered in this district, all of which was in the Eastern part, or around Owensboro, where sales were made early in the season. With more favorable weather deliveries would have been much larger. None has been delivered in the Henderson section, as no sales were made until the latter part of December. The quality is inferior to that of last year on account of damage by wind and hail in a part of the district, and dry weather during the latter part of the growing season and while curing. The average price of 7.7 cents per pound is a little less than a year ago.

Upper Green River District.

With favorable weather, 58 per cent of the crop has been delivered. Most of it was sold at an average of 8 2 cents per pound, which is a little more than the price paid a year ago. Quality is better than in 1907.

Upper Cumberland District.

The weather having been favorable for handling and stripping, the crop has moved very rapidly: 64 per cent of it had been delivered up to December 20. With good size, color, and body and a sound cure, this is one of the best crops ever produced in the district, and much better than that of last year. The average price of 8.4 cents per pound is a slight increase over that of last year.

Clarksville and Hopkinsville District.

Weather has not been favorable for handling and stripping, and only about 3 per cent of the crop had been delivered up to December 20. The early cutting, about 75 per cent of the crop, is of good quality, much better than last year. The remaining 25 per cent, cut late, was damaged by dry weather during cutting and curing and is of poor quality. Taken as a whole, the crop is better than a year ago. The average price of 9.4 cents per pound realized is 0.6 cent less than last year.

VIRGINIA SUN-CURED DISTRICT.

About 31 per cent of the crop had been delivered up to December 20. Since the crop has begun to move more mold and house burn is apparent than was expected. With this exception the quality is good, and about the same as last year. The average price of 8.9 cents per pound is slightly more than that paid a year ago.

VIRGINIA DARK DISTRICT.

Under the influence of favorable weather, the crop has been marketed much faster than usual, about 43 per cent having been delivered up to December 20. Early in the season the crop was believed to be much better than that of last year, but growers have been disappointed in the quality, which is about the same as a year ago. The average price of 8.3 cents per pound is a little more than was paid for the 1907 crop.

BRIGHT YELLOW DISTRICT.

Old Belt: Virginia and North Carolina.

Favorable conditions for handling prevailed, and the crop in this district was marketed much more rapidly than usual, 69 per cent having been delivered up to December 20. Wrappers and cutters are scarce, but medium grades are of exceptionally good quality, making the average about the same as last year. The average price of 10.3 cents per pound is 0.7 cent less than was paid for the 1907 crop.

New Belt: Eastern North Carolina and South Carolina.

About 93 per cent of crop was marketed up to December 20. In South Carolina and the southeastern part of the district in North Carolina it is inferior in quality to last year, on account of too much rain when the crop was being harvested. In the section around Rocky Mount, quality was much better than last year. Taken as a whole, the crop is not quite as good as in 1907. The average price, 10.5 cents, is the same as last year.

MARYLAND AND EASTERN OHIO EXPORT.

Nothing but a small per cent of ground leaves has been delivered in that part of this district lying in Maryland. In Eastern Ohio and West Virginia deliveries have been heavy, and about 13 per cent in the entire district has been marketed. Quality is better than last year; the price, 7.5 cents per pound, is 1 cent higher.

PERIQUE.

Reports from this district indicate a crop of better quality than last year and a price of 32 cents per pound. The amount marketed is not given.

leaf. In fact it is said that his transactions were among the largest of the present year in this section of the country.

John F. Reichard last week made a good sale of Wisconsin tobacco which was one of his most recent purchases. Mr. Reichard has increased his office force by installing a new book keeper, which enables him to devote all his time to outside work. During a conversation with Mr. Reichard last week the writer was informed that the cigar factory at Craley, this county, did a very good business last year, and that every effort is being made to extend the business there. The factory superintendent is L. W. Jackson, and he devotes his entire time to the needs of the business at Craley, which is only occasionally visited by Mr. Reichard personally. Jake Kline, one of the oldest leaf tobacco salesmen of this county, is still doing very good in the leaf tobacco end of Mr. Reichard's business, from the York office.

George M. Decker, a leaf tobacco packer of Janesville, Wis., was a visitor in this market last week.

A trio of Philadelphia salesmen, consisting of L. R. Eisenbrand, with Cullman Bros., N. Y., M. C. Meyers, with E. Spingarn & Co., N. Y., and Ellis Russell, connected with the brokerage office of H. C. Vetterlein, Philadelphia, made a one day's visit to York last Friday.

George W. Parr, of Littlestown, began the year under very favorable circumstances, and has been receiving sufficient orders to keep his full force steadily at work. Mr. Parr predicts that there will be a much brisker business in the cigar trade this year than there was last, and the year 1908 did not show up so badly at his factory, as his output was at least up to the usual volume. Some new lines will be introduced during the present year.

The Reliable Scrap Co., of Red Lion, is doing a very fair trade under the direction of Howard H. Minnich. A nice leaf tobacco business is also being done.

D. A. Horn, a Red Lion leaf tobacco dealer, has recently returned from a purchasing trip to Connecticut.

W. M. Gemmill & Co. resumed operations in their cigar factory last week, after a short shut down.

J. D. Ryan, President of the J. D. Ryan Co., lithographers, of Cleveland, O., accompanied by Daniel A. May, the Vice President of the company, were visitors among the York county trade last week. Mr. Ryan informs me that Mr. May will give special attention to the Pennsylvania trade this year. The company, he said, had greatly increased its facilities by removing into a larger building. Additional and thoroughly modern lithographic presses have been installed and the plant made one of the best and most completely equipped in the country.

Mr. Ryan has always been extremely popular in this section of the country, and will no doubt continue to receive a good share of the business from this section. It was Mr. May's first trip through this section.

H. W. Heffener, the well known York cigar box manufacturer, has just returned from a short trip through the South.

W. A. Lahr, of Red Lion, wholesale cigar manufacturer, was last week on a business trip through Virginia and other sections of the South. Reports received from him indicated that he was meeting with success.

Wolf Bros. & Reitz are now comfortably located in their new factory building, which is one of the most complete in Red Lion and contains every facility for the successful manufacture of cigars. Mr. Reitz, of the firm, was on a business trip among some of the firm's customers last week.

The building now occupied by them is a modernly constructed brick building, and arranged with a special view to convenience. It is equipped with elevator, etc., and located in the centre of the town, making it convenient for employes, and still within easy access of the shipping station. Business is reported to be fair with good prospects for a steady improvement all around.

Death of San Francisco Tobacco Man.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 12.

A. F. Baumgartner, one of the best known tobacco dealers in Alameda county, died at his home in this city last week after an illness of six weeks. Deceased was prominent in fraternal circles in this city, having been a member of the local Elks' lodge and of Live Oak Chapter of the A. O. U. W. He was widely known in the tobacco trade, and one of the most popular men on the coast.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The bulk of the tobacco sold and shipped from this market has been bought by the American Tobacco Co. During the past week they have loaded and shipped from 30 to 35 tons, all of a low grade and at low prices. What will become of the balance of the crop it is hard to conjecture, with the cry of, "It is just binders and nothing more." I have heard it said many times within the past two years that there was hardly a case of wrappers in this town. But for all this talk we follow this same tobacco to the tables and see it sorted into wrappers, seconds and fillers, and the strange part of the whole affair is that 50 to 60 per cent. is marked and packed as wrappers, and more, it is sold and bought by the manufacturers and used as wrappers. And very few will doubt my words when I say that five or six pounds of good wrappers will wrap as many cigars as one pound of Sumatra wrappers, which costs from $2 50 to $3.50 per pound. Then they affect the impudence of the trade and offer you 10 cents per pound. Think of it and see if you want any of the import duty removed; for if it is taken off why next year you will receive their impudence and perhaps 6 or 7 cents per pound.

This afternoon I was invited to look at a crop of tobacco grown by Willie Wolfram at Hinsdale, N. H. This is a fine crop, furnishing from 20 to 25 per cent. of good, light wrapper leaf. On examination of the medium wrappers, I told him they should be gone through again and one-half of them put into lights. It is as good a crop as one ever saw. Many lots have been sold this fall of which no report has been made on account of the low prices as I suppose. These crops I have heard of myself but it seemed too late to report the same. Probably 50 per cent of the crops in this locality have been sold for a price at from 6½ to 10 cents, and 12 cents in the bundle.

Our correspondents write:

Hatfield, Mass. "All of our hail cut tobacco has been sold to the American Tobacco Co. The only sale the past week has been the Whalen Brothers, 23 acres in the bundle, at private terms."

Feeding Hills, Mass.: "Several sales have been made of late. Taylor Bros. sold 9 acres for 12½ cents to E H. Smith of Springfield. James A. Warner and C. Granger, sold to same party. Hass of New Milford, has been in town today buying of E. M. Wright, L. S. Jenks, and J. G. Freeland, sold to be delivered on the cars at once."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "I report the sale of 6 acres by Robert Dickinson, and William Dickinson 2 acres to A. T. Company, John and Dennis Fitzgibbins, 9 acres in bundle, to McHugh of Hatfield, Mass.—American Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville—The local tobacco market has opened up and a number of buyers have been in the field during the last few days and sales have been reported ranging from 5 to 9 cents in the bundle. Among the buyers in the field are Robert Gans of New York City, who has been buying in the vicinity of Lysander, E. C. Munroe, Charles Northrop, Wallace Lee, Orville Gifford and John Frawley for the American Tobacco Company.

Lysander—Charles Northrop has purchased many crops of tobacco in Lysander, prices ranging from 6½ to 7 cents a pound.

Pleasant Valley—Nearly all the tobacco in this vicinity has been taken from the poles and the growers are stripping it from the stalks. Several sales have been reported with prices ranging from 6 to 8 cents in the bundle. —Gazette.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The new crop is moving again more extensively than for many weeks past. Buyers have been traveling continuously in all sections during the week and growers are becoming more reconciled to the prices offered, so that a good many hundred acres have been lifted during the week. The American Tobacco Co. is taking the larger share, but many local dealers are also in the field, and altogether it looks as if the movement for the cheaper grades was under way that is likely to absorb the greater portion of the crop. Prices, however, are several points under those that prevailed for the choice lots earlier in the season. The following sales will show the trend:

John Walters, 18a at 7 and 3c.
Hans Serns, 6a at 7 and 2c.
Geo. W. Coxhead, 3a at 5½ and 2c.
Henry Krause, 3a at 7 and 2c.
Keeley & Flarity, 18a at 7 and 2c.
O. D. Brace, 8a at 7 and 2c.
Frank Cook, 4a at 7 and 2c.
Thos. Flarity, 6a at 7 and 2c.
Keeley & Hubbell, 8a at 6½ and 2c.
Edward Simmons, 4a at 6½ and 2c.
T. W. Pierce, 4a at 6½ and 2c.
Banker & Marsden, 8a at 7 and 2c.
A. M. Huie, 3a at 5½ and 2c.
Phil Ullius, 7a at 6½c.
Frank McDermott, 4a at 7 and 2c.
W. P. Swenson, 3a at 7 and 2c.

Concerning the market for old tobacco there is but little news to report. Transactions are largely confined to cheaper grades of all cured leaf and several hundred cases have moved during the week, some going to fill export orders.

Receiving of the new crop is quite general at delivery points and warehouse handling is progressing quite satisfactorily.

Shipments: 1,456 cases.—Reporter.

INGMIRE OPENS at GALESBURG.

New Wholesale Cigar House Will Handle Popular Brands.

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 21.

Galesburg now has a business enterprise which heretofore has not been represented here. It is a wholesale cigar house, which does an exclusive wholesale business in this district. The firm is known as the O. J. Ingmire Company, and is located at 62 South Seminary street. The other member of the firm is E. L. Elrick. Both men come from Aledo, where the house was located for a number of years.

Mr. Ingmire has been in the business for a long time, and knows it thoroughly. He has met with his success, the business of the firm doubling in the past two years. The move was made because there are much better railroad facilities at this point than at Aledo.

The company handles a large number of the standard makes of cigars, both in the five and ten cent lines, and has a large trade on all of them. The district comprises about 100 towns and cities, all of which are within a radius of 50 miles of this city, and all of which are reached directly from here.

Among the brands which they handle are the Tom Moore, Henry George, Little Tom, Owl, Lewis Single Binder, and the San Felice, for which they are the exclusive distributing agents for the fifth revenue district. They have three private brands, the Hunter Boy, Grand Dictator and Hand Smoker.

The first cigar ever made by Mr. Ingmire was the Leader, a stogie, which he still carries. The manner of storing the cigars is interesting. There are six bins in which are placed shelves, and these are kept filled with cigars. The firm keeps on hand from two hundred to three hundred thousand cigars, and sometimes there are many more.

The prospects for the new business house in Galesburg are excellent. Their trade is already worked up, and there are advantages here which could not be enjoyed any place else in this part of the State.

TO RESTRICT TOBACCO OUTPUT

A Movement Among Connecticut Growers to Increase Prices.

Glastonbury, Conn., Jan. 14.

According to reports received here from the tobacco growing section, a movement is on foot among the smaller growers looking to the restriction of the tobacco output with a view to increasing prices. There are, it is said, over 3,000 cases of old tobacco held by farmers in South Windsor, East Hartford and this town, where the Hartford County Tobacco Growers' Association has most of its membeship. Upon the sale of these goods, it is said, is contingent the planting of anything like a full crop next spring.

The farmers believe that concerted action, such as the growers took in Kentucky during the past two years, which has resulted in the advancing of prices by a large percentage, would be beneficial to them. The movement to cut down acreage, or on the part of many to substitute for tobacco staple crops, is said to be gaining ground, and the opinion is expressed that this is likely to cause a shrinkage of fully 33 per cent. in the 1909 tobacco crop.

MORE INJUNCTIONS BROUGHT

To Prevent Sales of Tobacco by Burley Society.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 21.

Charging that Al Stone, of Trimble county, who had pooled five hogsheads of tobacco with the Burley Tobacco Society, is trying to sell the tobacco through the Home Tobacco Company, in Louisville, the Burley Society and the Trimble County Board of Control, its agent, secured a temporary restraining order against Stone and the warehouse company in Judge Shackleford Miller's court this morning. The injunction is made returnable on Saturday morning, January 30, at joint sessions, when the plaintiffs may move to make the injunction permanent.

According to the petition, which was filed by Wilson D. Crabb, Al Stone pooled his whole 1907 crop through the Trimble County Board, subject to the regulations of the society. It is set forth that he has refused to deliver the tobacco to the plaintiffs and is about to sell it, and that should his plans be successful he would work great injury to the other growers of the white Burley district who are in the pool.

York State Growers' Meeting.

Baldwinsville, N. Y., Jan. 22.

The annual meeting of the New York State Tobacco Growers' Association will be held at the village hall Baldwinsville, Saturday, January 30th, at 10 a. m. All tobacco growers of Central New York are urged to be present.

—The Farmers' Mutual Tobacco Association, of Christian county, Ky., has been incorporated by L. R. Davis, B. F. Fuller, B. F. Wood, C. C. West and J. T. Walker.

IMPORTANT DETROIT CHANGE.

The Spietz & Worch Co. Succeeds Marcero Bros. & Spietz.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.

The Spietz & Worch Co. has been organized here to succeed the firm of Marcero Bros. & Spietz, the interest of the Marcero brothers having been purchased by Chas. J. Spietz and Albert Worch, who were the organizers of the new company, and in which, it is said the United Cigar Manufacturers Co. of New York is interested.

The old premises at 602 Chene street will continue to be occupied, at least for the present, and no radical changes are anticipated, but the work of still further exploiting the product of the factory will be pushed forward with great vigor.

For several years past Western made goods have increased rapidly in popular demand, and it is therefore not particularly surprising that the United Cigar Manufacturers Co. desires to place itself in a position to meet the demand for Western made goods, and Detroit products especially have been gaining a widespread reputation. Several hundred hands have been employed at this factory heretofore, but this number may be increased as soon as the new firm gets in full operation the plans now receiving close attention.

Kentucky Planters' Association Fixes Price for 1908 Crop.

Guthrie, Ky., Jan. 24.

The board of directors of the Planters' Protective Association, the society controlling a large part of the dark tobacco district crop, has concluded a two days' session after having fixed a price for the 1908 crop. The price was not made public.

It was announced that the Imperial Tobacco Company, of England, had closed a deal for 15,000,000 pounds of the 1908 crop and probably would double the order.

American's Big Lexington Warehouse in Operation.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.

For the first time since it was built, nearly three years ago, at a cost of $100,000, the American Tobacco Company's mammoth warehouse in this city is being used for storing the company's tobacco recently purchased from the Burley Tobacco Society and which is being shipped into Lexington from the surrounding counties.

It is the intention of the American Tobacco Company to make this a depot for much of the purchased pooled tobacco and already about two million pounds has been stored in the new and old warehouses here.

When the night rider troubles began, two years ago, the big warehouse had just been completed, but fearing if used for storage of tobacco it might be attacked and destroyed, it was locked up and not a pound of tobacco put in it until this week.

LEAF MEN TO CELEBRATE.

Dayton Dealers Will Have Their First Annual Banquet Feb. 11.

Dayton, O., Jan. 21.

In an effort to get the members of the Dayton Tobacco Dealers' Association in closer touch with each other, a yearly banquet is to be held. The first of these events will be given on February 11 at the Phillips house. A committee on arrangements, composed of William J. Lukaswitz and Stanley Krohn, have in charge the details. An excellent menu has been prepared. The association is composed of all wholesale and retail tobacco dealers in the city.

OFFICERS' SALARIES FIXED.

President of Burley Society Will Receive $5,000 a Year.

Winchester, Ky., Jan. 21.

The Burley Tobacco Society fixed the salary of President LeBus at $5,000 a year and expenses. The seven members of the Executive Committe get $2,000 a year and expenses, and the forty-three members of the District Board $500 a year and expenses.

The tentative programme for action by the society in regard to the crop of 1909 was discussed and will be presented at the meeting of the tobacco union in Louisville and will be more fully considered at the next meeting of the Burley Society in this city January 28. No effort will be made to control the acreage for the present year, but it is hoped that most of the crop will be pooled.

The delegates from the various counties say that since the effort of the Burley Society to secure a fair price for the crop is an assured success, but few growers will refuse to pool their crop of 1909.

NEW WISCONSIN PLANT

Opening of Chippewa Falls Warehouse by Growers' Assoc'n.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Jan. 20.

President Solberg and the directors of the Chippewa Valley Tobacco Growers' Association met in the city today to make plans for the opening of the new tobacco packing house. It was decided to open the plant Monday, January 25.

Plans were also perfected for raising the necessary money for paying the wages of those who will be employed at the packing house. It is believed that the plant will be in operation for about two months.

Tobacco will commence coming in next week. The tobacco grown in the vicinity of the city will be shipped in by team, while the weed grown in Dunn and Eau Claire counties will come in by railway. Over 300,000 pounds will be shipped to the city for packing.

The directors of the association are: Daniel Danielson, of Cadott, Louis Bue, of the town of Anson, Frank Myers and John Larson, of Colfax, and Gus Hagen, of the town of LaFayette.

BLAZE IN TRENTON STORE.

Policeman Breaks in Door and Saves Some Stock.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.

The one-story frame building at South Broad and Hudson streets, conducted by Thomas Tyrell as a cigar store, was gutted by flames early this morning, causing a loss of about $300.

Patrolman William Sandhoff was passing the place shortly after midnight when he discovered flames back of the counter. He tried to break open the door, but it was strongly bolted.

The officer then ran to the quarters of No. 3 engine company, nearby, and gave an alarm. The big cop returned to the store and with the assistance of two passersby broke down the door and got busy in removing cigars and tobacco.

Tyrell had about $800 worth of tobacco in the place, which included 5,000 cigars. Patrolman Sandhoff managed to save 100 boxes of cigars and considerable tobacco in packages.

There were many matches behind the counter and it is believed that the fire was caused by mice gnawing at them.

Burned Out Wholesale Cigar Man Again Ready for Business.

Clinton, La., Jan. 21.

F. M. Lytzen, the wholesale cigar dealer whose entire stock of cigars was destroyed in a recent fire at his home in Highland Park, has replenished his stock and will be in readiness to continue his business by next Monday morning. He has not decided, as yet, where he will locate in the city but has been offered the use of a portion of the old building at the Iten cracker factory. Mr. Lytzen's loss, as a result of the fire, was an extremely heavy one but his furniture and stock of merchandise was well covered by insurance and he hopes to escape with a net loss of only about $2,500.

The Janesville Leaf Tobacco Dealers' Association hold their annual meeting and banquet at the Grand hotel in that city Saturday evening.

Julius Vetterlein, Philadelphia leaf dealer, was calling upon friends in this market on Monday. He is packing the new crop in Cambridge.

About $3,500 was paid out to help in the tobacco warehouses as the weekly pay roll on Monday. The labor expense at the Brill warehouse alone was $1,300.

George W. Spitzner, of New York, has been spending a few days of the week in this market looking after his extensive tobacco business in this State.

Paul Hirschorn has been confined at a hospital in LaCrosse with an attack of measles during the week. He was in Vernon county when the disease developed and immediately went to the hospital.—Reporter.

New Warehouse for Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 20.

Plans for the new tobacco warehouse to be erected by the State of Maryland at Conway, Charles and Light streets will be sent out from the office of the architects—Baldwin & Pennington—tomorrow. The building is to replace the present warehouses, which are very old and offer no protection from fire to the valuable stock carried in them. In this respect the new structure will be constructed as fireproof as science can make it, besides embodying every modern convenience.

—Hezekiah Smith, a cigar manufacturer at Bath, Pa., died on Friday last, of heart trouble. He was fifty-five years of age, and had been for many years engaged in the cigar business in a small way.

Another Brisk Week in the Havana Market.

Many New Buyers Arrive and Sales Increase.
Prices Firmly Maintained on Favorite Grades.
A Month of Buying at the Present Rate Will Eliminate the 1908 Crop from Stocks on Hand.

Havana, Cuba, January 16, 1909.

The market last week was lively again, as many new buyers, added to those who were already here, gladdened the hearts of our packers and dealers, and the result was that the total of sales ran up to the five figure mark. Prices are firmly maintained in all vegas which possess merit, and only on goods which are not prime are the holders willing to shade their asking prices and meet the buyers. If the present activity keeps up for another month there will be nothing left over from last year's crop in first hands, although the American houses established here may perhaps be able to supply what may be missing. This supposition would only hold true if their regular customers should not likewise be eager to purchase, as in the latter case their stocks might also become exhausted. The American packers of leaf tobacco have a very extensive and good clientele of customers whose wants have to be taken care of, therefore if their own packings are not sufficient to cover these needs they supply the missing quantity by further purchases in our market, and it seems that this year they have been obliged to have recourse to this measure to a very large extent. As the demand from the United States during the past year has been exceedingly keen and widespread our American houses may perhaps carry only light stocks for eventual new customers. Whether the balance of the 1907 crop will participate in the closing out sales remains to be seen. This leaf has had the benefit of a two years storage and its exceedingly strong quality ought to have been toned down by this time. Some local manufacturers claim that it makes an excellent smoke and they are buying this leaf now.

The opinions about the 1909 crop differ so much that it is safest to wait for further developments before talking about the quantity or quality.

Sales

total 10,000 bales in round numbers, consisting of 2,300 Vuelta Abajo, 900 Partido and 6,800 bales of Remedios.

The Americans bought 7,500, exporters to Europe 1,300, and local manufacturers 1,200 bales.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	5,585 bales
To Europe	1,144 "
To North Coast of Africa	88 "
Total	6,817 "

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, January 26.

New York Leaf Market.

During the past week there developed some tangible indication of returning activity in the leaf tobacco market. It was not particularly characterized by the great volume of business done during the week, but rather by the presence of a greater number of buyers who were busy in inspecting offerings and noting general conditions. The actual business done consisted mostly of small lot sales, but which were rather numerous and the aggregate was also considerable. Prices are moderate and still considerably below the figures demanded for good leaf of the crops of several years previous. There was, however, no marked demand for any particular type of leaf in the line of domestic tobaccos.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

The cigar manufacturing branch of the industry is, according to the general report, showing signs of a steady gain both in the volume of business and in the easier comparative market conditions. Factories are employing moderate forces, and as the orders continue to come in these forces are likely to be increased.

Traveling salesmen now on the road are almost a unit in reporting signs of a general improvement in their respective territories, and mail orders received by manufacturers are by their very frequency and quantities desired an indication of the absolute truthfulness and reliability of the traveling salesmen's reports. Business is coming in from the more distant points more readily than it appears to come from Greater New York and its immediate surroundings.

In the Retail Trade.

There is some dissatisfaction among many of the local cigar dealers, who declare that the season has not progressed with them as it should, and they are visibly affected. Even in the financial districts the box trade lacks the life of a good season, and while they do not as a general thing expect a great deal for the month of January, which is often an unfavorable month owing to inclement weather conditions, they assert that this year the weather has not yet been so bad that it should have seriously affected them.

Spring Inscriptions of Sumatra.

The schedule of the Spring inscriptions of Sumatra tobacco has been announced, and they will be held as follows: March 12th and 19th; April 2nd and 8th; May 14th and 22nd; June 11th and 18th; and July 9th and 16th—all at Amsterdam. Rotterdam will have one inscription, on May 7th.

Metropolitan Stockholders' Meeting

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Metropolitan Tobacco Co. will be held on February 3, at 11 o'clock in the morning, at the offices of the company, 134 and 136 Grand street, New York, for the election of directors and the transaction of whatever other business may properly come before the meeting.

Schulte's Newark Branch.

A new cigar store is being opened in Newark, N. J., by the A. Schulte Co., of this city, at the Southwest corner of Broad and Market streets, which is in the centre of the business section of the city. Preparations are being made for as early an opening as possible, the only hindrance being the present tenant of the premises. Heretofore the Schulte Co. has been confining its operations to Greater New York, and this branching out may have considerable significence.

Staten Island Jobbing House.

A new jobbing house is being started at Staten Island by Thos. E. Cable. A general line of goods will be carried, a few specialites being made in the clear Havana line, in which the products of E. Regensburg & Sons will be leaders.

Grocer in Bankruptcy.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Jos. Schnapp, wholesale grocer, of 258 Division street. It is alleged by the petitioners that he was insolvent, made preferential payments and transferred merchandise and accounts. Elihu Root, Jr., was appointed receiver by Judge Holt. Mr. Schnapp had been in business since 1897.

Trade Notes.

Jos. Mendelsohn and L. A. Bornemann, of the Havana importing firm of Mendelsohn, Bornemann & Co., returned this week from a visit to Havana, having come up via Tampa. All the details of the retirement of Manuel Suarez of Havana, from the firm of Mendelsohn, Bornemann & Co. in New York, have now been completed.

The Mansfield Cigar Co., of East Orange, N. J., has been incorporated to manufacture cigars, cigarettes, etc., by I. R. Mansfield, W. W. Reid, Jr., and C. Rosin, all of East Orange. The capital stock is $100,000.

John T. Dee, of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., Philadelphia, was a recent visitor in New York.

F. S. Lucey, treasurer of Philip Morris & Co., returned last week from a visit to Europe.

H. H. Erlich, of the Erlich Mfg. Co., left last week on a trip to Havana, where he expects to make some selections of Havana tobacco for their factories.

BOSTON'S TRADE NEWS.

Trade is Still Quiet and Growlers are in Evidence, but Improvement is Confidently Expected.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World" 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, Mass., Jan. 25.

Trade conditions are still quiet here and one can hear lots of grumbling in going the rounds of the trade, yet visiting salesmen report good business and the prospects for a speedy improvement look very promising.

Cigarette salesmen are plugging for business very hard here and as the trust is doing a lot of free sampling to boom up their brands the competition is very keen.

George E. Haskins, representing R. A. Bachia & Co., New York, clear Havana cigar manufacturers, was in town this week calling on his many friends. Mr. Haskins has been taking it quite easy for several months; owing to the severe illness of his wife he has kept at close proximity to her bedside.

Morris Levy, of the American and West Indies Trading Co., was here Monday and Tuesday and called on the trade in company with Emil Abrahams, who recently took on this account for the New England States. The La Turina hand made by this concern is a big seller in this market with the better class of trade.

The Nestor Gianaclis Co. is doing lots of local advertising with their Nestor brand. These goods are being pushed over the counters by the men behind, owing to the personality of Charlie Ellis. In fact one of the cigar stands at the South Station sells nothing but Nestor and Royal Nestor cigarettes, and this is only one instance where this brand has full sway. Either smoke Nestors or go without is the slogan.

Rosenthal Bros.' Special, the five-cent invincible shape cigar, is selling so well here that I understand the unions are getting after the dealers who are using same as a leader, in an effort to try and curb their increasing sale.

George L. Finn, manager of the cigar department at Metcalf's Tremont street branch, is increasing the business nicely since he took hold. Mr. Finn has had years of experience in the cigar line and the concern is to be congratulated on having such an able man at the head of this department, George is very

There has been only a routine business reported in the leaf trade for the past week. There appears to be ample inquiry for goods, but the purchases run in small lots. It would seem that manufacturers have not yet full confidence in the permanency of trade improvement and therefore are not inclined to lay in heavily of additional stock.

In Sumatra tobacco the business was little if any different from the conditions in the seed leaf market, inasmuch as the purchases made were entirely in a hand to mouth sort of way, and goods were taken mostly by manufacturers and retailing leaf tobacco houses.

The Havana market has remained unchanged. There is no unusual activity, but desirable offerings are receiving careful consideration.

The manufacturing trade here seems to be doing about as well as the cigar manufacturing industry anywhere is finding it, yet there is far from a rush of any kind, and none is expected either for some time to come, although the majority of manufacturers are speaking hopefully of the prospects as they appear to them. Some encouraging reports are coming in from those who are out on the road.

H. F. Kohler, a cigar manufacturer, of York, has been circulating in the cigar trade here lately, in company with his salesman, George W. Mason, also of York, and who is well acquainted with the trade here.

Morris D. Theobald, formerly connected with the cigar manufacturing firm of Theobald & Oppenheimer, and a son of one of the founders of the firm, died last week at his home, 2217 North Broad street, after an illness of but a few hours. He was in the fifty-fourth year of his age, and unmarried.

Julius Vetterlein, of Julius Vetterlein & Co., has just returned from a tour of inspection around the leaf tobacco markets of Wisconsin.

B. L. Grabosky, of the Empire Leaf Tobacco Co., has joined the Knights of the Grip and will hereafter represent his house on the road. Benny is a very popular member of the younger element in the trade and makes friends everywhere. When heard from last week at Reading he was being received very cordially by the trade and reminded the office of his absence by sending in some fair sized orders. He is expecting to extend his territory to the Western States ere long.

Harry W. Bremer, of Lewis Bremer's Sons, who had been confined to his home by severe illness for about two months, is again able to be at the office attending to the many business affairs of this old time sterling house. In expressing pleasure in seeing Mr. Bremer on Third street again we voice the unanimous sentiment of the trade.

John W. Wartman, of the North Third street leaf tobacco firm of John W. Wartman & Co., is laid up with an attack of rheumatism, from which he has been suffering more or less for several weeks.

Raymond Conover, with E. A. Calves & Co., Havana importers, has again started on a business trip through the West in the interest of this house.

Chás. and Fred. Hipple, of Hipple Bros. & Co., have been hustling quite actively through the State lately. Chas. Hipple is making preparations for an extended trip through the West, and may go as far as the Pacific Coast.

Chas. E. Crawford, with Dohan & Taitt, recently returned from a purchasing trip to Havana, where he spent several weeks in making careful selections of new stocks for his firm.

Jacob Labe, of B. Labe & Sons, also returned last week from a trip to Havana, and announces that his purchases amount to about 1,200 bales, nearly half of which have already been received here.

Sig. C. Mayer, of Sig. C. Mayer & Co., is still touring through the South, and, by the way, he is said to be securing a very wholesome amount of business on the trip.

Henry G. Wemmer, of the widely known cigar manufacturing firm of Deisel-Wemmer Co., of Lima, O., stopped off at Philadelphia last week to call on a few personal friends. He was en route to New York.

Asa W. Lake, with George Burghard, was last week renewing old acquaintances in New Jersey, where he has a good following of customers.

Louis Leopold, of John Leopold & Son, New York, was a visitor here last week. He was chaperoned about town by Dick Salomon, who recently returned from a trip through the West, where he is said to have a very good trade.

Jacob Langsdorf, a son of Morris Langsdorf, of the firm of Jacob Langsdorf's Sons, tendered a reception to a number of friends a few nights ago, just prior to his departure for Kansas City, where he goes to look after the interests of his father's business.

"Jack" Fowler, manager of the Philadelphia office of the United States Tobacco Co., and its general traveling representative, has recently returned from an extended trip and is now busying himself with the local trade, where the products of that firm also have a big demand. "Jack" reports that his trip was a very satisfactory one, and that their goods are well received in the territory he covered.

Boston Trade News.

popular with the traveling salesmen and usually gives them a helping hand when in his power to do so, and on this account is generally known as a "good fellow."

Somehow or other in writing my regular letter I often forget to mention the name of Charlie Bernhardt, the genial representative of Schinasi Bros. Charlie is plugging hard to put their latest creation, Royal cigarettes, on a good local footing. Charlie is a hard worker, and from what jobbers tell me this brand is duplicating nicely.

M. Cohen & Co. have incorporated their business under the title of American Smokers Cigar Co. and are doing a lot of local canvassing on their brands, American Smoker and Bostonor. Each purchaser of a thousand or more of either of these brands becomes a stockholder in the company.

The cigar factory of H. Traiser & Co. has started working with about 200 hands, after a close down of over two months.

R. G. Sullivan's 7-20-4 cigar is making much headway here and it looks as if it might soon be the best seller here in 10 cent goods. Mr. Sullivan is generally well liked, is a liberal believer in the use of printer's ink, and jobbers are selling from 35 to 50 per cent. more 7-20-4 cigars than a year ago.

Fred Roseboom (J. J. Bagley & Co.) reports a steady increasing business on his firm's various products. Wild Fruit, Gold Band and Mayflower are moving exceptionally well. George T. Russell is canvassing the trade with good results. Mr. Russell is very popular with the trade, and if he can't make good no one else can.

Joseph Weinrich, the large Dayton, Ohio, cigar manufacturer, was here this week with Isidor Mayer, one of his road representatives.

Ralph M. Gans, of Gans Bros., manufacturers of the William the Fourth clear Havana cigars, was here also for several days. The Hotel Essex has just added this brand to its cigar case.

D. Bendheim (Metropolitan Tobacco Co.) was here taking orders for their pipe department.

Maurice Hanauer, of Bieringer Bros. Co., expects to take a pleasure trip to Germany about April 15th, to visit the scenes of his childhood.

Jack Warsaw (Khedivial Co.) has been working Lowell this week and sold in the neighborhood of 250,000 cigarettes. The new 5 cent package, Turkish Whiffs, is making a big hit. It is one of the handsomest five cent packages on the market. The Khedivial will shortly come out with a straw tip 15 cent brand and another ten center called the Yesmar. S. H. Kitsis, since he engaged himself with the Khedivial Co., is doing nicely about town.

H. Cohen (Phillip Morris Co.) is doing some telling work on their Unis brand. The Cambridge is a big seller here and gaining every day in popularity. Mr. Nichols, who is in charge of the New England States for this concern, has increased the business 50 per cent. over what it was a year ago.

Cigars and Sausages.

The Providence "Journal" comes with a disquieting suggestion that the demand for an exact definition of whiskey which followed the effort to enforce the pure food law may be followed by a demand for an exact definition of a Havana cigar. The "Journal" observes that as the whiskey inquiry established the curious fact that no living expert could establish beyond controversy just what whiskey is, so a critical examination of the Havana cigar will develop that the best informed people, either in the trade or out of it, do not really know what a Havana cigar is, although there is a strong belief that the best Havana cigars are made from choice Connecticut and Pennsylvania stock. "Most of the Havana cigars now sold," says the "Journal," "are an awful mystery."

Viewing the matter from one very well established home of the Havana cigar industry, the "Intelligencer" begs leave to differ. There is nothing awful or mysterious about the Havana cigars made in Lancaster. They are honestly made and are as truly Havana cigars as Bologna sausages are truly Bolognas, although the Italian town no longer makes them. Many Havana cigars are still made in Havana; no Bolognas in Bologna. The name has come to mean quality, that's all.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

Prosperous Detroit Tobacco Co.

A statement was submitted to the stockholders of the Scotten-Dillon Tobacco Co., of Detroit, Mich., at its annual meeting on the 11th inst., showing the earnings of the company to have been over 63 per cent. in the past year. Its sales of tobacco amounted in 1908 to 13,000,000 pounds, an increase of 1,900,000 pounds over 1907. The net earnings on its capital of $500,000 were $316,000 or a trifle over 63 per cent. and that in a panic year. After paying the last dividend of 20 per cent. amounting to $100,000, the company still has $593,000 surplus. It was the same plant which was sold some years ago to the American Tobacco Co. for $600,000 and then bought back by Oren Scotten for $200,000. There are not many concerns in the country that could show net earnings of 63 per cent. in a year of severest financial stress as this tobacco company does. And yet these very companies howl and rage against the trust as if the trust would not suffer them to make a bare living. If any independent company in competition to a trust can earn 63 per cent. on a capitalization of a half million dollars in a year that was the worst record for depression of consumption and values, then the trust scare must appear as a veritable bugaboo for the promotion of predatory earnings. The trust could certainly not have exercised a restraint in trade as far as the Detroit tobacco company is concerned.—Journal.

Complaint of Dull Times in Factories Heard at Reading.

Reading, Pa., Jan. 25.

The cigar trade in this city is at present rather dull, even among the larger factories. There has been some talk that one of the largest concerns contemplates closing down temporarily if things do not brighten up very soon. On the other hand, we find that several of the factories are receiving a fair share of business.

George W. Lehr has been out lately to visit some of the jobbing trade, and when seen by the writer expressd himself as being pretty well satisfied with the results of his efforts.

Chas. Ream, a union manufacturer, has his usual force of cigarmakers at the bench, but he reports that there is not the life in trade that he would like to see.

Phares Hildebrand, a leaf salesman, is, doing a fair business for the packing firm of E. L. Nissly & Co., of Florin, Pa., who are very extensive handlers of domestic leaf tobacco.

John U. Fehr & Son are engaged in putting up a packing of 1908 Connecticut tobacco. Mr. Fehr recently returned from a visit to the Connecticut valley tobacco district.

Henry Rindskopf, formerly engaged in the leaf tobacco business in this city, is now in Lancaster, Pa.

Henry Heymann's Sons are very nicely located at 46 and 48 Madison avenue, where they have an elegantly appointed building well adapted to their requirements. It was remodeled with a special view to their convenience, and is so constructed that it can be enlarged at comparatively moderate cost.

RATHER SLOW in YORK COUNTY

Cigar Factories are Working, but No Drive is Reported.

York, Pa., Jan. 25.

Slow progress is apparently made in the tobacco trade of this section. Cigar manufacturers have some orders, but there is still lacking the vim which is necessary to get things going rightly. A few of the factories have been perhaps more fortunate than some others, and they are employing pretty good forces, but the majority may be said to be working on a limited output per day.

Tobacco salesmen were here in strong force during the past week, and all seem to have done some business, yet we did not hear any of them claiming to have performed miracles as salesmen. Cigar box factories are working moderately well, which shows that the cigar manufacturers are doing something right along, and it may be that the output for the month will not show so badly after all.

H. F. Kohler, of Nashville, has secured the services of George W. Mason, of York, as a general traveling representative for his factories. Mr. Mason has been engaged in that line for many years and has a large acquaintance in the trade. Mr. Kohler has just returned from a week's trip in company with Mr. Mason, most of which time was spent in Philadelphia and vicinity.

W. A. Lahr, wholesale cigar manufacturer at Red Lion, has returned from a two weeks' business trip through the South and reports satisfactory results. Some desirable new accounts were opened by him, which is making him hopeful of a good outlet for additional quantities of his manufacture.

H. L. Haines, with the cigar factory of T. E. Brook & Co., recently returned from a business trip among his old customers, by whom he was not only cordially received, but was favored with some substantial orders for his line of goods.

Gus. Neuwahl, a well known and popular cigar broker of Altoona, has been circulating among the factories of this county recently.

S. R. Kocher, of Wrightsville, is packing a goodly quantity of the 1908 crop of leaf at his Wrightsville warehouse.

LANCASTER CO. LEAF MARKET

Shows Little Animation. Packers are Mostly Interested in the 1908 Leaf, Now Coming In.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan., 25.

The market has been rather dull on seed leaf tobacco for the past week. Packers were busying themselves with the new crops, some of which they are now receiving and packing, and some they are still trying to buy. The prices dropped a couple of cents a pound a short time ago, although it appears that they are up to about twelve cents again, but no rapid progress is being made in buying the remainder of the crops at that figure.

Deliveries are now being made in larger quantities than at any time this season, and packers are increasing their forces of tobacco handlers. Leaf is coming in in a generally satisfactory condition, and packers so far seem rather well satisfied with their purchases, especially those who bought early.

The cigar trade still remains dull, and several of the larger factories in this city are not yet in full operation. The branch of the Federal Cigar Co. which was closed down two weeks ago has not yet resumed.

The S. R. Moss Cigar Co. won a complete victory in the Common Pleas court when the suit brought in consequence of the erection of their new building came up for trial recently. When the contract for the erection of the building was given out it was on the specific terms that it should be turned over to them in complete form and free of all mechanics' liens. It appears, however, that much of the work was done by sub-contractors who failed to get their money and proceeded to file mechanics' liens on the building. It was these liens that the S. R. Moss Co. had to and did successfully combat.

There was some business done during the past week on Florida wrapper leaf by local houses, and this section of the country seems to be becoming an extensive user of that class of leaf.

Theo. Bixby, with the Florida Tobacco Co., of New York, and Chas. Horwitz, with the Florida and Georgia Tobacco Co., of New York, have been here and both did a nice business in Florida tobacco. In addition John F. Heiland & Co., who have the agency for Taussig & Co.'s line of Florida, also had a very satisfactory trade during the week. Mitchell & Ottinger, who recently opened office headquarters here, have already placed a considerable quantity of goods in this section, and last week wired the warehouse at Quincy to rush more stock on, which is expected to arrive at any time.

Albert Koshland, a leaf tobacco salesman, Alfred Penner, with the well known packing and importing firm of Dohan & Taitt, Philadelphia, and Stephen Friend, making his initial visit here in the interest of the Friend Havana Co., of New York, were among the week's visitors.

The factory of A. D. Killheffer, at Millersville, is being operated with a good force of cigarmakers, and sales are reported to be very satisfactory for this time of the year. Mr. Killheffer employs no traveling salesmen and his goods are all sold by mail orders, and yet the factory is among the most uniformly busy in that section of the country.

The Globe Cigar Co., at Ephrata, reports that business with them has been fair since the beginning of this year, and that they are looking for a steady gain in the volume of trade.

A new leaf tobacco house is being started here under the name of the Lancaster Cigar Leaf Co., and will have its headquarters at 25 East Orange street, which premises are now being gotten into readiness.

DEATH OF Mr. A. P. SNADER.

Well-Known Cigar Manufacturer Dies After an Illness of Many Months.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 25,

A. P. Snader, of the cigar manufacturing firm of A. P. Snader & Co., at Ephrata, died today, after an illness of nine months.

Mr. Snader has for a number of years been prominent in the cigar trade at Ephrata, but was stricken with paralysis last spring, from which he never fully recovered. He had apparently improved very much and recently was at his office on nice days.

During his illness the business was very intelligently taken care of by his daughter, Mabel, who has become quite an expert in the art of manufacturing and marketing cigars.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday next, at the residence of the deceased in Ephrata.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

Nothing very favorable appears this week in the line of tobacco, either in the sales or removing the crops to the sorting shops, although the shops have been kept busy, but with a smaller force of men than last year. A few sales have been made by the local packers to New York parties at prices that are not given out, but probably at about the going price of the sweated 1907 tobacco. Among the lots sold are two from North Hadley, one at North Hatfield by E. C. Warner, and one at Whately by Seth B. Crafts. These were whole lots, wrappers binders and fillers. Since the sale Mr. Crafts has been called to join the great majority. Mr. Crafts owned one of the best farms in Whately, was a good farmer and raised about twelve or more acres of tobacco annually. He died January 17 at sixty-eight years of age. Mr. Swift has sold his fillers and scrubs to the American Tobacco Co., 58 cases to be shipped to Richmond, Va. Of the old goods there were 154 cases. There have been more deliveries within two or three days than for a long time except the hail cut. There are a few more lots of slightly hail-cut tobacco that cannot be bought for the 6½ cent price, one of about 8 acres owned by Patrick Connelly of Whately. This crop, could it have been harvested without its having been struck by hail, would have been one of the best crops grown in Whately the past season, and as it is much of it shows fine now.

A number of sales of tobacco crops have been made in the past few days, but at very low prices, in the majority of cases 6 to 8 cents are the prevailing prices; one crop, however, at 12½ cents. One farmer figured Tuesday that all tobacco sold for less than 12 cents a pound was sold at a loss, as he claimed that it cost that much to raise it. The cause, he said, was the advanced price of labor and fertilizer, making an increase of 2 cents per pound over the former 10 cent cost.

Our correspondents write:

Southwick, Mass.: "Several tobacco growers have been experimenting the past season with different hybrids. The crop of A. H. Coe, consisting of the ordinary Havana and hybrid Havana Sumatra is now being put in the case. The hybrids make a very favorable showing. The leaves are large and of light color, of fine texture, soft, silky, with attenuated veins. J. W. Doherty estimates it will average 50 per cent. wrappers."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "I report the sale of the following lots of tobacco: Paul Olerich, 4 acres, William Connelly, 4 acres, Mrs. Kate Flynn, 3 acres to Mr. Boyle of Hatfield, Mass."—American Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville.—A large number of sales have been reported during the past week. E. C. Munroe has been very active in the buying. Wallace Lee, Orville Gifford, Charles Northrop and M. Tobin are buying. J. W. Upson on Tuesday received from Dewey Gates the first new crop delivered here, consisting of 8,300 pounds of Little Connecticut variety of fillers, grown on four acres. Mr. Upson opened up his warehouse this morning for the handling of the new crop. Prices range from 5 to 9 cents.—Gazette.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The buying movement is now being pushed in the Southern growing sections as vigorously as any time since the early sales. Growers have apparently become reconciled to the lower prices offered for the cheaper grades of the crop and without question several thousand acres have been lifted during the week. The American Tobacco Co. is still the largest operator but many other firms who have an outlet for low grade leaf have men posted in the growing districts as well as a good many local dealers. At the present rate the crop seems likely to be taken over in short order.

Sales that indicate the range of prices are:

Peterson Bros., 12a at 7 and 2c.
Nels Rippen, 10a at 7 and 2c.
A. Boden, 12a at 6½ and 2c.
M. Twystad, 20a at 7c.
S. Asperheim, 20a at 5½ and 2c.
A. A. Bergum, 10a at 6½ and 2½c.
John Wallen, 10a at 6 and 3c.
Martin Anderson, 10a at 6 and 2c.
A. P. Johnson, 10a at 6½ and 3c.
J. A. Gunn, 10a at 7 and 2c; 4a at 6 and 2c.
W. C. Watson, 8a at 5 and 2c.
John Jacobson, 5a at 7 and 2c.
Ole Gunderson, 6a at 7½ and 2c.
J. R. Thompson, 8a at 6½ and 3c.
J. B. Farrington, 4a at 6 and 2c.
Glenn Speer, 2a at 4 and 2c.
F. C. Long, 3a at 5½ and 2c.
F. Ide, 4a at 6c.
A. Affeldt, 5a at 6 and 2c.

One of the most important transactions in old leaf for some time has been consummated during the week in the sale of the Eckhart packing at Viroqua of '06 and '07 of about 2,500 cases to W. S. Brill for the account of the United Cigar Manufacturers' Co. Otherwise cured leaf is moving sparingly and generally on manufacturers' orders. Deliveries are being made plentifully at receiving points and warehouse handling is well under way, though as yet it has not reached the volume of other years.

Casing weather is again with us and belated growers can now take down the balance of the crop for stripping.

Shipments: 1,187 cases.—Reporter.

WISCONSIN LEAF MEN BANQUET

Saml. Grundy Elected President of Janesville Leaf Tobacco Association.

The Janesville Leaf Tobacco Merchants' Association held its annual meeting and banquet at the Grand Hotel Saturday evening week last. The banquet was in eight courses, followed by cigars and was faultlessly served. The tables were beautifully decorated with ferns, smilax and carnations. White candelabra placed about cast a soft glow over the festive board.

Probably no association ever met in the city at a banquet that represented so much capital invested as at this meeting of the association.

After the banquet President S. B. Heddles called the meeting to order and the committee appointed at a meeting January 9th on tariff resolutions was asked to make its report.

The committee consisted of A. L. Fisher, T. S. Baines, T. E. Welch, Howard Green and Sanford Soverhill.

Chairman Fisher read the resolutions drafted by the committee, which were adopted unanimously.

Before the resolutions were adopted, there was much discussion by the members, those who spoke being Hon. F. S. Baines, S. Soverhill, Hon. S. B. Heddles, M. A. Calkins, John Soulman, A. L. Fisher, M. F. Green, Samuel Grundy, L. B. Carle, H. S. McGriffin, Al Schaller and Henry Gagan. The tariff on Porto Rico and the Philippine goods were especially discussed and as these islands are part of the United States it was somewhat of a quandry, but the general opinion was that a tariff should be exacted on shipments from the islands to the States.

The election of officers was then taken up and on motion a committee of three was appointed by the president to nominate officers, such nominees to be the officers for the ensuing year. The committee consisted of A. L. Fisher, Al Schaller and T. E. Welch, who reported the following officers, who were duly elected:

President, Samuel Grundy; Vice President, H. S. McGiffin; Secretary, James Donahoe; Treasurer, T. E. Welch.

The Association meetings are much enjoyed and it is the aim of the members to protect in every legitimate way the interests of the gowers and dealers.

The attendance at the banquet was as follows:

S. B. Heddles, T. E. Welch, L. B. Carle, John Soulman, F. S. Baines, H. Schwartz, S. Soverhill, M. F. Green, A. L. Fisher, Jos. Donahoe, Dr. J. F. Pember, R. L. Etler, M. A. Calkins, Samuel Grundy, H. S. McGiffin, Ed Haskins, A. Schrodie, John F. Sweeney, Henry Gagan, Al Schaller, Everett Fisher, H. Jones, H. Green, P. J. Mouat.

After May 1 travelers visiting France will not be allowed to bring in free of duty more than ten cigars, or twenty cigarettes, or half an ounce of smoking tobacco.

ORGANIZING OHIO GROWERS.

Equity Society Agents to Tour Buckeye State.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 28.

James Wood, Secretary of the Central Labor Council, an organizer for the Equity Society, will leave Cincinnati in a few days on an extended campaign to organize the farmers in the Ohio tobacco belt. This campaign will last several months, and the Equity Society hopes to get in all of the tobacco growers and others in Ohio who have not yet joined the society. "We have about 16,000 members in the district that I will visit, but we hope to make it 20,000," said he. "The success of the tobacco pool, through the Equity Society, was so great that our organizers are being welcomed like kings in the rural districts The farmers who had been forced heretofore to sell their tobacco at starvation prices, from two to five cents a pound, were amazed when the Equity Society got fifteen cents and more for tobacco. The confidence in the movement is greater than ever."

CONNECTICUT'S LOW PRICES.

Growers in Valley Disappointed in Their Hopes of a Profitable Crop.

The visions of last August, when every farmer in the Connecticut valley who raises tobacco thought he saw much fine gold coming to him from his crop, have been dispelled. Many growers who sold their crops early in the season received good prices; but those who are selling now are not so fortunate, except in a few cases, where the crop is especially fine. What of the 1908 crop was good, was of the finest quality, but the promise of a banner crop early in the year was spoiled by the long drouth and other causes. The long dry and hot spell last summer brought white veins to the tobacco, so that leaves which would have otherwise made first quality wrappers are no better than second grade.

Another cause for the low prices for the 1908 crop is the large oversupply of 1907 tobacco, much of which is still in the hands of the farmers. The 1907 crop was not so good as the 1908 crop; in fact, it was practically a failure. But the farmers had the crop, no matter how valuable it was, and the carrying over one year of this load has been a financial problem of no small moment to many growers. The crop is moving very slowly, and few of the packing houses are working. The past week has seen, however, a little stimulus, for the buyers are on their second round. The buyers make their first buying trip early in the year and pick up the best crops at that time, and usually pay good prices. On the second trip, however, they take poorer grades of tobacco, and this accounts for the difference in price received by the early sellers and those who are just now disposing of their tobacco. It is not so much a lowering of the price, but it is due rather to the quality of the goods. —Springfield Republican.

COMPLETE REPORT OF PRESIDENT CAMPBELL

Submitted at the Annual Meeting of the Independent Tobacco Manufacturers' Association, held at Washington, D. C., in January. What Has Accomplished by the Association for Independent Manufactureos.

At the annual meeting of the Independent Tobacco Manufacturers' Association of the United States, held at Washington, D. C., recently, Mr. Hugh Campbell, President of the United States Tobacco Co., Richmond, Va., was re elected President of the Association, to serve for the ensuing year.

W. F. Axton, of the Axton-Fisher Tobacco Co., Louisville, Ky., was elected Vice President, and R. F. Whalen, of R. Whalen & Co., Rochester, N. Y., was re-elected Secretary and Treasurer.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic yet held, and many matters were considered and measures adopted which will undoubtedly prove of benefit to all independent manufacturers.

The report of President Campbell was a highly interesting document, and is presented here in full. It was as follows:

Since our last annual meeting twelve eventful months in the tobacco business have passed, and we are here gathered together to review the more important occurrences and to fathom their effect upon our business interests.

When we last met the country was in the throes of a panic. Doubt, uncertainty and gloom hovered over nearly all business, and while a package of tobacco is usually one of the last manufactured articles to suffer from hard times, still doubtless, had idle mills, closed mines and dead trains long continued, tobacco factories would finally have felt the effect. But very quickly this wonderfully resourceful country of ours began to recover, and now happily the sky is greatly cleared, mills are giving increased employment, and the general business of the country is resuming its accustomed swing, and ere long we will see it completely restored to its former plane.

THE GOVERNMENT SUIT IN EQUITY.

Unquestionably the most important event affecting the tobacco business during the past year was the suit of the United States against the American Tobacco Company and its allied companies, which was pending and evidence being taken at the time of our last meeting. That evidence revealed to us a condition of competition at which we had guessed, but we did not know the full details of the conspiracies being hatched against us behind closed doors between the trust and its secretly controlled but apparently independent manufacturers. Any of you who did not hear and has not read this evidence will be well repaid by a persual of it, and after you do so you will be ready to exclaim, as did Mr. MacReynolds in his address, "The Lord only knows how they (we) have lived through it."

This most momentous and interesting case was argued before the Court with great ability and force by Mr. J. C. MacReynolds for the Government, on May 19th and 20th, and in so doing he placed before the Court in clear and concrete form a case of the most wanton violation of the Sherman law that has yet been tried, and those of us who were fortunate enough to hear the arguments—for the trust case was also ably presented by a great array of the most learned and powerful counsel to be found in this country—felt that at last we would learn whether the law of the land could be ignored by a corporation provided it was big and powerful.

The energy, ability and devotion with which Mr. MacReynolds has untiringly pressed this suit commands our highest admiration. He has greatly distinguished himself in the conduct of the case, adding to his renown as a lawyer, hard worker and fearless and fair advocate, and for all time we independent tobacco manufacturers owe him a debt of gratitude.

The decision rendered and the decree filed based upon that decision leaves no doubt in our minds that the law is still supreme, and must be observed by big as well as little.

As was to be expected, and as you know, the case has been appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States, and we now await with consuming interest the final chapter in this litigation. Should the decision rendered by the United States Circuit Court be affirmed by the Supreme Court, then once more we will see a condition of competition rather than throttling combination; once again the farmers growing tobacco in Kentucky, Virginia, North and South Carolina, will be able to bring their leaf to the market and feel that they are getting a fair market price established by competition, rather than the price which one great buyer chooses to give them, and with competition restored, the "night riders" with all their horrors will pass away.

I was sorry to see that Judge Lacombe, in rendering his decision, was sadly misled by the testimony of one of the witnesses, a former officer of this Association, who, having sold out his business to the trust, testified regardless of the truth. You and I know well that not only he but others were forced to sell out their businesses or face ruin by reason of the unfair competition and improper practices of the trust and its guerilla companies. Judge Noyes, in his decision, recognizes the force of the trust in opposition to anyone who may desire to do an independent tobacco manufacturing business.

ALLEGED ANTI-TRUST BILL.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Men Fight Measure and Urge Its Defeat.

Winston, N. C., Jan. 28.

That the anti-trust bill as advocated by Senator Lockhart, which is believed to be aimed at the American Tobacco Company, is not wanted here was unanimously resolved by the Tobacco Board of Trade at a meeting yesterday. Opposition to the measure is based on the belief that the bill would not only be detrimental to the tobacco interests of this city, but to the farmers and dealers as well. The Forsyth representatives will be urged to oppose the adoption of the measure.

Sterling Smith, President of the Board, presided at the meeting at which practically all of the local tobacco manufacturers were present. The committee that will draw up the resolution is composed of W. R. Leak, of the Brown Williamson Co., T. S. Rucker, of the Whitaker-Harvey Co., and R. W. Gorrell, of A. B. Gorrell & Sons.

It was noted at the meeting that the advocates of the bill are those living in counties where tobacco is not grown, Senator Lockhart, who succeeded the late Senator Reid, being a case in point.

Cigar Factories a Little Brisker. Some New Ones Lately Opened. A Merited Compliment.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 1.

The cigar trade in this city has been very dull for the past few weeks with a majority of the factories, but it seems to be brightening up a little now.

Quite a number of new factories are opening in this section, according to a report received from Deputy Revenue Collector, Fred. W. Cranston.

R. P. Eichman has opened a cigar factory at Womelsdorf.

F. Madebach is opening a new factory at 826 Greenwich street, this city.

R. F. Lehr will open a factory at 920 Court stree', this city.

George W. V. Reed & Bro. are opening a new cigar factory at Womelsdorf.

W. S. Schaeffer has closed out his cigar factory at Wernersville.

Eline & Kutz, of this city, recently moved to a new factory building at 645 North Ninth street.

The County Commissioners recently inspected the cigar manufacturing plant of Otto Eisenlohr & Bros., at Boyertown, and in issuing a certificate endorsing the fire escape upon the building they took occasion to state that they had never visited a cleaner or more up-to-date factory building, nor one which is better equipped with public safety appliances. About 500 hands are employed at the factory.

Slot Machine Co. Incorporated.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 28.

The Arkansas Silent Salesman Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The company is for the purpose of handling, renting and selling vending machines for cigars and other merchandise. It is to be located in Fort Smith. The incorporators are: Lewis Friedman, C. C. Morrison, Leo P. Wallace, H. P. Rucker, P. A. Ball, W. L. McGee and H. L. Fitzhugh. They have incorporated for $10,000, of which $6,250 has been paid in.

The Cuban Cigar Co. has been incorporated at Shreveport, La., with a capital of $100,000.

Good Business in Havana at Strong Prices.

An Advance in Price for the Remaining Stocks of Tobacco is Generally Expected. The 1909 Crop Promises to be Good in Quantity; Its Quality is Dependent upon Weather Conditions Between Now and the Time of Harvest.

Havana, Cuba, January 25, 1909.

Business was good again last week and the chief demand ruled for Remedios tobacco, first and second capaduras.

While the prices paid for these styles of leaf show only a slight advance, holders of the remaining stocks are demanding considerably higher figures, and from all appearances they will obtain them.

While the New York market has not yet followed our lead, it stands to reason that prices are bound to advance, as soon as the true situation of our market becomes known and the news has had time to reach all circles, because, with the supplies virtually cut off, no relief will be in sight until the year 1910.

The stocks left in first hands are hardly large enough to supply the demands of one large manufacturing concern. Owing to the continuous rains which have fallen in the Santa Clara Province, the 1909 crop promises to be large in quantity, but the chances are that it may be lacking in heavy quality, unless we should have dry weather right along for the next two or three months.

Semi Vuelta and Vuelta Abajo, of heavy body, has commanded more attention from the wide-awake people, who are looking ahead for the wants of manufacturers, and quite a number of sales took place last week. The holders of the 1907 Vuelta Abajo growth have also had more inquiries for their stocks, as the asking prices were low and it has been ascertained that a careful blending with the 1908 crop will give an acceptable smoking cigar. Many of our local manufacturers who are having large orders from Spain, where strong cigars are still given the preference over the mild ones smoked in the United States and Germany, are buying the 1907 leaf at the current figures. Of course the original holders are losing an enormous amount of capital, which good judges say amounts to about 50 per cent. and therefore while it is no business to be glad of, it opens, however, a way to get rid of these stocks which were considered only a short time ago as perfectly unsaleable.

Of so-called factory vegas there is very little left over in first hands, and the coming buyers will have to be satisfied with a less scrupulous selection of goods in Vuelta Abajo as well as in Partido.

Sales

amounted last week to 7,200 bales, divided between Vuelta Abajo 2,000, Partido 850, and Remedios 4,350 bales.

Buyers were: Americans now here, as well as a couple of American export houses established here, 6,000 bales; exporters for Europe, 700, and local consumption, 500 bales.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	5,334 bales
To Europe, except Spain	785 "
To Spain	1,771 "

have less reason to complain, as orders are arriving better from all parts of the world, so it seems that at last the tide has commenced to turn, and while this is never a very busy season, the amount of business is fully up to the average of good years in the month of January. Several manufacturers have been compelled to seat more cigarmakers. The presence in town of Frank Tilford and J. E. Blaise was an assurance of good orders to most of our large manufacturers, and their hopes have not been disappointed.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 450,000 cigars last week. The H. Upmann factory has received many orders during the past week and is quite busy again.

Sol is doing a very active and satisfactory business, as the good quality of the Sol and the Luis Marx brands has been quickly appreciated by discriminating smokers, in consequence of which Behrens & Co. have received some large orders from all parts of the globe.

Buying, Selling and Other Notes of Interest.

B. Diaz & Co. were heavy sellers, as they closed out 700 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

Joseph Frankfort made some excellent purchases for Calero & Co., of New York, having secured 500 bales of choice Vuelta Abajo lowland vegas. He left well satisfied with his ten days stay here, accompanied by Mrs. Frankfort, on the steamer Havana.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez sold 500 bales of Vuelta Abajo from their stocks, and in addition they shipped 1,771 bales per steamer Alfonso XIII to the Spanish Regie.

Sylvester & Stern are reported to have purchased 2,000 bales of second capaduras.

Perez y Obeso disposed of 350 bales of Vuelta Abajo last week.

I. Bernheim & Sons purchased 1,000 bales of Remedios during the past eight days.

Rz. Bautista & Co. closed out 300 bales of Remedios.

Saml. Mendelsohn was a buyer of close on to 1,000 bales of Remedios.

Cardenas & Co. sold 300 bales of Remedios.

Fred. Frese bought 400 bales of leaf tobacco.

Planas & Co. turned over 300 bales of Remedios and Partido.

Mike Friedman is reported to have purchased nearly 500 bales for Taussig & Co.

A. M. Calzada & Co. were sellers of 250 bales of their Partido packing.

Edward and Ellis Arendt were buyers of several vegas, the exact quantity of which could not be ascertained.

A. Pazos & Co. disposed of 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

Morris Blumlein made some purchases of leaf tobacco of different kinds, footing up some 300 bales.

Gonzalez y Miguel sold 200 bales of Remedios and Partido leaf.

La Catalina, a farm in Santiago de las Vegas, owned by Juan Alonso, has cut already a large part of its crop in magnificient condition, and the balance of the plants still standing in the fields show also an exuberant growth, free

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, February 2.

New York Leaf Market.

There seems to have been general activity in the leaf tobacco market during the past week, and considerable quantities of leaf have changed hands. There was special activity in Pennsylvania and Wisconsin tobaccos, and some extensive transactions are reported to have been consummated. Owing to the possibility of a strong eventual demand for binder stock there was much interest centered in the Wisconsin leaf, and it is now stated that a large proportion of the 1908 crops have passed into the hands of manufacturing interests. Packings have in several instances been bought up in their entirety, and yet the prices are said to have been an advance on figures recently quoted. That the remaining Pennsylvania tobaccos are also gradually but steadily changing hands is fully evidenced by the transactions of the week, and the change in prices, which are showing some advance. Connecticut tobaccos have also come in for a greater share of attention, as it is expected there will be need for additional supplies of binder leaf, and the Connecticut offerings are regarded as the most serviceable substitute for the Wisconsin leaf, if that type should fail to meet the required supply.

Sumatra tobaccos have been moving with some freedom and the volume of business was perceptably larger than for several weeks previous. Importing houses have probably aided the consummation of some transactions by a slight modification of price, and at the same time have placed themselves in greater readiness for the approaching inscriptions which will begin at Amsterdam on Friday, March 12.

Business has also been fairly brisk in Havana tobacco, both in this market and in Havana. Although the sales have not been in great quantities, there has been a rather steady buying to fill in the wants for early use.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

The revival of trade conditions among cigar manufacturers is indeed very slow, if at all noticeable, taken as a rule. There are factories in this city which have little or no occasion to and do not complain in the least, but a majority report that things are not yet moving along as rapidly as they had hoped might be the case by this time. They do not speak as particularly discouraged, but rather seem to have resigned themselves to the probability that they will have another month of sluggish conditions before any real increase in activity will be noticeable, and that will bring us up to the time of the Presidential inauguration. There seems to be some fair mail orders coming in, but not for the quantities which would cause much of a ripple in the office or shipping departments of the various factories. Road men are meeting with some encouragement by the way of orders for small lots of goods with which buyers are contenting themselves just now. Yet the concensus or the reports coming in indicate that there is a general feeling of greater confidence on the part of the distributing houses and that they are really hopeful of being able to issue orders for the quantities of goods which they had been accustomed to take before the effects of the panic of 1907 struck them so severely, that they began to curtail their purchases and have not yet so fully recovered as to be enabled to adopt old time methods.

Sam. H. Harris Retires.

Sam. H. Harris, who has been prominently identified with the cigarette trade in this city for some years, after coming here from Chicago, Ill., has sold out his interest in the Khedivial Co. and will retire, it is said, for good from the cigarette business. The interests of both Sam. H. Harris and Julius C. Drucklieb have been purchased by Chas. Sweeney, a capitalist of Seattle, Wash.

Concerning their retirement, W. L. Walker, President of the Khedivial Co., gave out a statement as follows:

"Chas. Sweeney has acquired the interest of Messrs. Sam. H. Harris and Julius C. Drucklieb in the Khedivial Co. Mr. Sweeney is a retired capitalist, who has made a large fortune in mining and other enterprises in the West. Mr. Sweeney and his son, Frank Sweeney, take the places of Mr. Harris and Mr. Drucklieb on the Board of Directors of the concern, and Frank Sweeney will be our Treasurer. He will be active in the management of the company. His father will not take any active part in the company's operations other than as a director. Frank Sweeny comes to us well qualified for the position, having been for some time cashier in a bank in Seattle, with which his father was prominently connected.

"The officers of the Khedivial Co., are W. L. Walker, President; J. M. Dixon, Vice President and Frank Sweeney Treasurer. In addition to the above named officers Chas. Sweeney and C. Monteith Gilpin constitute the Board of Directors.

"We are glad to be able to state that we are preparing to institute a most vigorous campaign for the purpose of further extending the operations of the Khedivial Company. We are backed by ample capital; we are absolutely independent, and, we believe, we are putting on the market products that are equal to the best. Consequently, we can see no reason why we should not achieve a splendid success."

New Brooklyn Factory Organized.

The E. & W. Cigar Co. was incorporated recently at Trenton, N. J., with a capital of $10,000, to manufacture cigars, cigarettes, etc. The incorporators' names were Edmund Wright, Abner Cutler and Saul Alexandre. Premises have been secured at 224 Livingston street, Brooklyn, and manufacturing of cigars has already been commenced.

A. S. Cutler, who is the Secretary of the new company has been in the cigar business for some time at 599 Broadway, New York, and is one of the most active members of the corporation.

Death of Geo. V. Watson.

George V. Watson, of the Havana importing firm of George V. Watson, and well known in the tobacco trade, died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., last week, from acute stomach trouble.

Mr. Watson has been identified with the leaf trade of New York city for a number of years, having been previously engaged in the tobacco business in New York State. In 1879 he started in business on his own account and had built up a prosperous trade.

Mr. Watson was sixty-five years of age, and is survived by a sister and one brother, and the latter has been appointed executor of the estate.

Maurice Storm Enters Manufacturing Trade.

Maurice Storm, who for the past twelve years has been connected with the cigar firm of George L. Storm & Co., has retired from his connection with that house and has purchased an interest in the clear Havana manufacturing business of Storm, Fisher & Co., which will hereafter be known as Storm, Robinson & Co., the firm being now composed of Chas. H. Storm, Maurice Robinson, Samuel Fisher and Julius Lehmann, under a partnership arrangement which went into effect on February 1.

Cigar Dealers in Convention.

Two hundred delegates attended the first annual convention of the Cigar Manufacturers and Dealers' League, at Odd Fellows' Hall, No. 67 St. Mark's Place, last night.

Saul Prince, the President, presided, and resolutions were adopted deploring the offering of any bill in the Legislature that would tend to local option or prohibition in the State, on the ground that where such laws are in force the cigar industry is killed.

Trade Notes.

Dick Davis returned last Saturday from a short stay in Havana, where he purchased a considerable amount of leaf. Mr. Davis formerly manufactured cigars in Maiden Lane but he has now gone into the retail leaf trade. He has secured a store at Eighty fifth street and Second avenue, where he will also keep a full line of manufac-

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

There can not be so very much improvement noted in the leaf tobacco market of this city. There has been a moderate volume of business done by nearly all of the houses, but it has consisted of small size lots only. To be sure the holdings of the majority of the Philadelphia packing firms have already been considerably depleted, and it is not to be expected that they would now figure prominently in any large transactions. Business is coming in moderately from road men, but all of them report the conditions as not particularly interesting at any of the nearby manufacturing points, and that manufacturers as a rule seem to be inclined to buy sparingly. It is the general belief, however, that if the cigar trade begins to boom up to any extent, manufactureres will find their supplies short and will have to do some skirmishing eventually to secure an adequate supply, as there is not believed to be an over abundant supply of leaf in the market.

The Sumatra market has shown little of interest during the past week, and while sales were constantly being made, they consisted of a few bales at most. This condition is not to be wondered at very much, when it is remembered that it is now only a few weeks until the inscriptions of new tobaccos at Amsterdam, and naturally a good many of the manufacturers will prefer to wait further developments concerning the new goods. It is stated that the new goods will be very fine in every particular, and that fact is arousing more than passing interest.

The Havana market, local importers say, has been what might be called active, notwithstanding our report of last week, which was to the effect that it was not unusually so. It is declared that manufacturers have come to recognize the fact that the supply is not any too large, and that the quality of the new goods is, generally speaking, very satisfactory.

The cigar manufacturers here are not handing out reports that altogether correspond, and a happy medium would probably be to say that the conditions are fair. It can hardly be said with grace, that they are rushed, that would be putting it a little too strong, yet some are moderately busy and prospects are looking bright with them. Again some others, who also have excellent facilities and ample capacity, while not hilarious with the present business, yet seem to feel satisfied that there will come a change for the better, and that as spring approaches there will be a steady and permanent improvement.

The retail dealers declare that they have experienced a noticeable falling off in the volume of business during the month of January, and jobbing houses practically substantiate these reports by declaring that business with them is really quiet. Visiting salesmen who have been here lately say they have all secured some business, and that would indicate that dealers are expecting a change ere long and are naturally making preparations for it

Mr. Dusel, of the firm of Dusel, Goodloe & Co., informs us that his firm will discontinue the retail department of their establishment and hereafter confine their efforts entirely to the jobbing and wholesale business.

The United Cigar Stores Co. has formally taken over the Lowengrund chain of stores, and all old stock has been sold off at a heavy reduction, that they might be re-stocked with the special lines which the U. C. S. Co. stores generally carry.

L. Wasserman, of the New York and Porto Rico Trading Co., has been in this city this week, calling on the trade with a line of goods which are said to be of their own manufacture.

John T. Dee, of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., has returned to this city after a short trip to Chicago. The output of the T. & O. factory for January has nicely eclipsed the output of January of last year.

A portion of the 44 Cigar Co.'s factory on Filbert street was deluged with water during the progress of a fire which started in a wall paper establishment in the building adjoining. Some tobacco was damaged and also some cigars, all of which stock was promptly disposed of at a loss to the factory, because they did not want to retain any of the damaged stock. Necessary repairs were quickly made and operations have been fully resumed.

That there is steady gain in the sale of the Counsellor cigar in this city is plainly noticeable as one makes the rounds of the town. The number of establishments at which these goods are now on sale has increased greatly and the Counsellor can now be had in about every section of the city and suburbs.

Yahn & McDonnell have taken the distributing agency of a new line of cigarettes manufactured by Philip Morris & Co., of New York, which are being marketed under the name of Morisco. It is an attractive package and retails at two for 25 cents.

Harry Boston, with the New York Pipe Manufacturing firm of Wm. Demuth & Co., was a visitor here last week and pocketed some good sized orders for his line of goods.

B. Grabosky, of the Empire Leaf Tobacco Co., is still on the road and at last accounts was getting a fair share of business for his firm.

Chas. Hipple, of Hipple Bros. & Co., is making preparations for an extended Western trip, which may take him as far as the Pacific Coast. Mr. Hipple will offer his recent importations of Havana tobaccos as his specialty on this trip.

John W. Wartman, a veteran Third street dealer in leaf tobacco, is recovering slowly from an attack of rheumatism and is again able to come to his office.

The entire sales force of E. A. Calves & Co. is this week doing energetic road work, and their mail has increased in wholesome proportion.

J. E Sherts, of the Sherts Cigar Co., Lancaster, was this week visiting his old customers in this city and vicinity.

must be remembered that the stocks of old goods held by local packers have been pretty well depleted, and consequently when it became a matter of large sales they must necessarily be made by houses and from points where large quantities were still to be had, and it was considered likely that New York houses had been holding on to their stocks to some extent.

There was some buying of the 1908 crops during the week, and at prices which had not receded a great deal from the figures that have recently prevailed. The crops are now pretty well cleaned up, and it seems reasonably likely that within a short time they will have been all bought up.

The cigar industry is lagging yet and in a number of instances forces are being reduced, and in fact some factories closed, for the want of orders and the inability or unwillingness of manufacturers to make up goods and place them in stock. Even at a number of the larger factories of this city the cigarmakers are working on short time. The plant of the Federal Cigar Company has been dismantled and the equipment shipped to other points. I learn, however, that the premises are to be re-equipped, but for the making of a different class of goods to what they have lately been turning out at this plant. It is therefore possible that the factory will resume operations some time in the future and again give employment to a goodly number of hands.

Adolph Loeb, of K. Strauss & Co, of Philadelphia, was a visitor in the leaf market of this city last week and purchased a packing of Pennsylvania leaf for his firm's trade.

Jos. Bimberg, of Elmira, N. Y., was among last week's visitors. He announced that he came here in the interests of his sons at Elmira, as he was not now actively engaged in the leaf business. It was noticed, however, by some of his friends that he still loses no opportunity to close a good sale when such presents itself.

The suit of C. H. Spitzner & Son, leaf tobacco packers and dealers, of New York, against Ezra Hackman, a tobacco grower of Lancaster county, and which was brought to recover the sum of an overpayment on a lot of tobacco which the plaintiff had bought from the defendent on June 9th, 1908, has been concluded. The tobacco consisted of 27 cases, and the firm figured out that it amounted to $1,029.45 at the price which was to be paid for the goods, and which sum was paid by a check. Later it was discovered that a mistake had been made in the calculations, and that the farmer had been overpaid more than $300, which he was requested to return, and failing to do so suit was brought against him, with the result that the jury rendered a verdict in favor of Spitzner & Son for their claim with interest, $305.62.

A. N. Wolf, of Akron, left last week for a three weeks trip through the Middle West.

DOING SOMETHING AT YORK.

Nearly All Factories Working, but No Push Reported. Leaf Selling at a Slow Rate.

York, Pa., Feb. 1.

There does not seem to be much change in the trade here this past week. It is not brisk among the manufacturers and yet they are all doing something, and few if any are really closed down altogether. The leaf tobacco men are complaining a little of slow trade, and yet they are making some sales, but it seems that the quantities which manufacturers as a rule are now buying are not what they want. Of course, like every one else, they will have to abide the time which will probably again come when the manufacturers will be in a better mood to buy largely.

Warren Beck & Bro, of this city, have placed on the market a new brand of five cent cigars which are called "Billy Possum." They were the first people to adopt that title for a brand of cigars, but since they adopted it, it seems others have also wanted to adopt it, but Messrs. Beck & Bro. will maintain their prior right, even if legal process has to be invoked. It seems that priority of use is what is required to give a manufacturer the exclusive right to the use of a title or brand for a mercantile product, and that they were the first to adopt the title "Billy Possum" they claim they can readily prove. It might be well for all manufacturers to make good note of the fact that this firm claims the exclusive right to the use of this brand.

turers' supplies. He has the good wishes of a host of friends both in and out of the trade.

Louis Rahn is at present in Baltimore in the interests of S. Solomon, leaf dealer, 125 Maiden Lane. He stopped off at the principal places in York county, Pa., on his way South and managed to book quite a few fair sized orders.

The trade learns with regret of the death of Mrs. Davis, the mother of Fred. Davis, who is associated with John B. Day, the old time cigar manufacturer. Mrs. Davis was in her eighty-first year, and suffered with a complication of diseases which terminated fatally last Saturday, at her home in East Orange, N. J.

Joe Abrahams, retailer, of Maiden Lane and Pearl street, has been confined to his home the past two weeks with a very heavy cold. From last reports he is getting along well and is expected back at the old stand next week.

The tenants of the building at 192 Pearl street, which was seriously damaged by fire two weeks ago, have settled with the insurance companies. J. L. Smolinsky, who was burned out completely, has moved to other quarters where he will remain until repairs are made. Louis Goldberg, the leaf dealer on the first floor, whose stock was damaged by water, has secured a new line of leaf and is ready for business.

Ben. Loewenthal leaves this week on his first road trip through York State, with a complete line of domestic and imported leaf.

H. Henkell, the cigar box maker of Monroe street, reports a gradual increase in orders. The business turned out the past month proved satisfactory and he looks for a return of prosperity in the cigar line in the near future. Mr. Henkell is one of our most prominent box manufacturers and enjoys an enviable trade.

from any worm-eaten leaves. This farm has a large part shaded by palm groves, where the tobacco grows even in better condition as under the cheese-cloth invention. Bruno Diaz & Co. usually buy this crop every year, on account of its fine quality.

The four largest shippers of leaf tobacco last week from Havana were: M. Pollack, 749 bales; Charles Blasco, 585; H. Upmann & Co., 584; Leslie Pantin, 498.

Business during this week may be greatly disturbed, owing to the elaborate preparations made for celebrating the second birth of the Cuban Republic.

President Campbell's Report.

It is now for the Supreme Court to say whether the future of the tobacco business in this country is to be conducted by "consent or force," competition or combination. I believe that, no matter what form regulations by the National Government over combinations may take, nothing will satisfy the grower of leaf tobacco as well as competition; nothing will protect the jobber and retailer of tobacco like competition; nothing will give the consumer the quality and advantage in price as will competition. Why should this great free people submit to a dozen men controlling the entire tobacco manufacturing business of this country? Why should the thousands of farmers growing tobacco, the tens of thousands of dealers in manufactured tobacco and the millions of consumers pay tribute to these tobacco kings? If it was ever intended that the business of this country should be parcelled up between a few men controlling tobacco, a few men controlling oil, a few men controlling sugar, steel, etc., then long ago the public schools should have been closed and these self-same rich men should not have endowed colleges to enlighten the people, for only by keeping them in dense ignorance could they hope to perpetuate the combinations which we have seen formed and flourishing regardless of law during the past few years.

THE BURLEY TOBACCO SOCIETY.

It has been charged frequently and stated in court that the object of this Association was to fight the trust. I want here now to disclaim this as the object of our Association, for we have always met and meet here now to "cherish peace while preparing for defensive war," and our purpose is to "yield exact justice to others and to maintain our own rights."

In 1906 the farmers growing Burley tobacco in Kentucky became dissatisfied, formed the Burley Tobacco Society and pooled the major portion of that year's crop. Again they pooled the 1907 crop. When the planting season of 1908 arrived, not having disposed of either of these crops, they decided to discontinue growing Burley tobacco during 1908, and loyally the great majority of farmers in Kentucky obeyed the mandate issued by the Burley Tobacco Society. As soon as it became apparent that the 1908 crop was cut out effectively, the trust began negotiations for all the Burley tobacco held in the pool. I was advised of this, and strenuously contended, in the name of the independent tobacco manufacturer, against the Equity Society committing itself to anything so suicidal as selling its entire holdings to the trust, and I confidentially place before you the correspondence which took place early in July, and which resulted in 25 per cent. of the pooled tobacco being retained for us. The delivery of that tobacco is now being taken, and while none of us will make a fortune from the sale of goods manufactured from it, it is away ahead of having no tobacco at all, and in the long run may work for our good. It certainly has emphasized the necessity of a strong association of independent tobacco manufacturers to meet such conditions when they arise.

FREE LEAF BILL.

A year ago we were confronted with the possibility of the Free Leaf Bill becoming law, it having passed the House of Representatives almost unanimously, and was then being considered by the Finance Committee of the Senate, and I am glad to say that I believe this hurtful measure now "sleeps the sleep that knows no waking." Could we have seen wherein this bill would have benefited the farmers, we might have been silent and let it pass, but believing that it would injure them as well as ourselves, our Association, and many of our members individually, successfully opposed it.

BOUTELLE BILL.

At our last meeting a committee was appointed to consider having a bill passed by Congress requiring all tobacco manufacturers to put their names on tobacco manufactured by them, and that committee was fortunate enough to be able to secure the services of the Hon. John W. Yerkes, who drew up a bill covering what we desired. This bill has been presented to Congress by Mr. Boutell, of Illinois, and is now before the House. I feel that it would be of immense value, and that it is only just and fair to dealers in tobacco and consumers to let them know who it is that makes the tobacco they are handling.

TAWNEY ANTI-COUPON BILL.

At our last session there was also pending, and is still pending, the Tawney Anti-Coupon Bill, opposed at that time by two of our members, but heartily endorsed by all the others. The bill is still slumbering in the Ways and Means Committee, but I hope to see it see the light of day and yet become a law, and so free some of us from one of the most onerous forms of competition which the trust wages against those of us who have been flattered by its attention.

FREE LICORICE PASTE.

When the tariff hearings began, and the tobacco schedule was reached, I came to Washington and, in your name, requested Mr. Yerkes to appear before the Ways and Means Committee and ask that licorice paste, which now pays a duty of 4½ cents per pound, be placed upon the free list. As you are doubtless aware, licorice root is imported free of duty, and 90 to 95 per cent. of the paste made in this country is manufactured by the trust; therefore, this is one of the articles made by a trust which should not be protected, as it yields the Government almost no revenue, and the raw material is not produced in this country. The significance of the testimony of one of the witnesses in the Government's suit against Mac-

Andrews & Forbes Company now has, it seems to me, great force, for he said that licorice paste costs in the Orient 6½ cents, duty 4½ cents, making 11 cents; therefore they (the trust) fixed the price at 10 cents. While there is not much paste manufactured abroad, still there is some, and we would like to have an opportunity of buying our paste in other countries and bringing it in so that we would not be entirely dependent upon this one antagonistic manufacturer.

These measures now before Congress should have your attention and consideration. They are important, and if they become law, I believe will be of great advantage to each and every one of us.

DEATH OF CHAS. E. LARUS AND WM. D. STRATER.

During the past year the dread destroyer has seriously afflicted us, and with profound sorrow I have to announce the death of two of our ablest, most valued and fondly esteemed members. On Saturday, March 21, 1908, Chas. D. Larus, President of Larus & Brother Company, died suddenly at his home, and on Sunday, May 24, 1908, Wm. E. Strater, of Strater Brothers Tobacco Company, was lamentaly drowned while bathing. Both of these manufacturers were full of vigor and strength, and were struck down without any illness or warning, and passed to the Great Beyond, followed by the heartfelt grief of their associates in business and of the community in which they resided. They left behind them great, good names; they were earnest and highly honorable merchants and manufacturers, and those of us who are left should endeavor to emulate their sterling worth. Mr. Larus was a member of this Association from its incipiency, and was as regularly at our meetings as those meetings were held. Mr. Strater's firm joined us somewhat later, but from the time of his connection with us he was an enthusiastic, able worker in the matters which our Association had in hand.

ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP INCREASING.

I am glad to be able to say that the membership of our Association is larger now than it has ever been before, and that the interest in and appreciation of the work of the Association is becoming more and more evident. During the past year many new members have been added to our list, and I cannot understand why every independent tobacco manufacturer in the United States, who can sign our qualification of membership papers, is not a member. They have certainly all benefited by the work of the Association, and I hope that ere long those who are still outside the pale will take courage and join us.

The Crescent Tobacco Co. will build a brick warehouse, with a capacity of 300 hogsheads, in Nashville, Tenn.

WICHITA'S NEW SMOKE HOUSE

Grimes & Dormer Now Installed in Old Lesem & Barker Stand.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 29.

Charles A. Grimes, one of the best known retail cigar men in the city, and Charles O. Darmer, formerly in the plumbing business with Charles Preston, have bought the cigar store and billiard parlor of Lesem & Barker, located at 156 North Main street. This is one of the oldest and best known establishments of its kind in all Wichita, and was originally started by W. A. Johnson, more than a dozen years ago, and was a favorite at that time for local politicians and men about town. It has passed through many and varied vicissitudes since that period, but the present proprietors are determined not only to bring it up to its original high plane of popularity, but to conduct it in such a manner that it will become the natural and general rendezvous for the better element who have a few moments time now and then for a quiet smoke or some form of light entertainment where there are no objectionable characters or features of any kind.

That the present proprietors are amply able to carry out their present intentions will be readily admitted by their many friends and acquaintances. They know how, in the first place; and with years of experience in the retail cigar business they are enabled to select the right goods and keep them in just the proper condition to meet the public's approval.

Everything is to be brought up to the highest standard of excellence; the pool and billiard tables have had a thorough overhauling and fitted with new cushions and covers, etc.

They will carry a full line of imported, Key West and domestic cigars, smoking tobaccos, pipes and smokers' supplies generally; also an elegant line of the best package candies, and, in fact, everything pertaining to a first class smoke house.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

Not for a number of years have we had such good weather to handle tobacco in the bundle or for shop handling, for we have had but very few days of cold zero weather. Sunday we were treated to a real thunder storm, accompanied with hail. Who is there that did not read last fall of the great number of snow storms we were to have, and the cold weather that would afflict us this present winter, and how many people believe in the prognostications of the would be scientists, who prophesy for six months ahead; it is time that we quit these old fogy notions and get to work on the prognostications of the Government as printed every day in our papers, and even in this day to day announcement we find a good many mistakes.

Our correspondents write:

Hatfield, Mass.: "I have to report the sale by Alvin Strong, of West Hatfiled, Mass., of 12 to 14 acres to Whalen Brothers, reported price of 10½ cents."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "Mr. Wolfram has taken 62 cases out of the sweat room, sampled the lot and sent the samples to New York. Pretty early in the season to be shipping the 1908 goods to market. But times are changed from boyhood days. Thomas Flynn sold 69 acres to Max Mendelsohn of Sunderland at 10 cents in bundle."—American Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.
Baldwinsville.

The local buyers are still actively in the market and a number of sales are reported. Among the out-of-town buyers who have been here the past week are Wm. Gheen, of Jersey Shore, and Robert Granat, of York, Pa. At J. W. Upson's warehouse, which opened last week, a force is at work handling the new crop. F. M. Dunham opened his warehouse this week and has a force at work assorting for the growers. The market price remains the same as last week, from 5 to 9 cents.—Gazette.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The buying movement is still being crowded on under a good deal of headway. There is probably not much less than half a hundred buyers riding the growing districts of the State this week and the aggregate sales must foot upwards of a thousand or two acres. That the crop has been moving faster recently than any time since the market opened is generally conceded. While the bulk of the sales have been of the cheaper grades, quite a good deal of the better lots are taken over around the 8 cent mark. The following sales show prices:

Ben Johnson, 7a at 7 and 2c.
T. H. Christenson, 6a at 7 and 2c.
L. J. Corbin, 8a at 7 and 2c.
Martin Feuling, 8a at 7 and 2c.
W. Bloske, 9a at 7 and 2½c.
H. F. Stewart, 3a at 6½ and 2c.
E. Vobin, 4a at 6 and 2c.
Ed. Corbin, 4a at 6½ and 2c.
Frank Brewer, 2½a at 7 and 2½c.

That improved conditions are gradually returning to the cured leaf markets is being reflected in a stronger demand for old goods, even though the prices have not materially advanced. E. C. Hopkins has disposed of a 100cs packing of '06 to Spitzner, and Stephen Haight about an equal amount to Vetterlein. H. T. Sweeney has purchased about 200cs of '07 from growers during the week, and W. T. Pomeroy & Co. have sold a 75cs lot to export.

About all the hanging tobacco was taken down during the casing weather last week, so that deliveries and warehouse handling is steadily progressing.

Shipments: 932 cases.—Reporter.

TO ADVANCE GOVERNM'T SUIT

A Motion to that Effect Made by the Attorney General.

A motion has been filed in the United States Supreme Court by the Attorney General to advance for hearing the appeal and cross appeal in the case of the Government against the American Tobacco Co. which was recently decided in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York.

The Attorney General, in support of his motion argued, in part, as follows:

"This cause was instituted under the act of July 2, 1890—the anti-trust law. It was therein alleged that the American Tobacco Co. and more than sixty other individual and corporate defendants were parties to contracts, combinations, and conspiracies in restraint of trade and commerce in leaf tobacco, products manufactured therefrom, and articles necessary or useful in connection therewith, among the States and with foreign nations, and that they had monopolized or were attempting to monopolize a part of such trade and commerce. The Government asked that further violations of the law be enjoined and prohibited in appropriate ways specifically pointed out.

"Acting under authority of the act of February 11, 1903, 'To expedite the hearing and determination of suits in equity * * * under the act of July 2, 1890,' etc., the Attorney General filed a certificate stating that in his opinion the cause was of general public importance, and thereafter the same was proceeded with as directed by the expediting act. It was heard before the four circuit judges of the second circuit in May, 1908, and their opinions were handed down on the 7th of November last. The final decree, entered December 15, 1908, dismissed the petition as to certain defendants; adjudged that some of them are parties to combinations in restraint of trade and commerce, and enjoined them from continuing therein; that some are themselves combinations in restraint of trade and commerce, and enjoined them from engaging in that commerce; and that some hold stock in others, and enjoined the exercising of control over the companies which issued the stock and the latter from permitting such control, etc.

"The final decree directed that in case the defendants should at once appeal to this court the injunction should be suspended pending the same. Both sides have appealed and the record has been duly filed and printed.

"The cause is one of those the expediting of which is provided for by the act of February 11, 1903, and, moreover, is of great and general importance. It involves difficult questions relating to industrial combinations as affected by the act of 1890, and its early determination is very desirable.

"In behalf of the Government we respectfully ask that the cause be advanced and assigned for hearing as soon as the convenience of the Court will permit."

DISAGREEMENT IN LOUISVILLE

Cigarmakers Quit Work Owing to Proposed Change in Scale.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 4.

A proposition submitted by J. A. Lancaster & Co., cigar manufacturers at 172 Fourth street, to the local Cigarmakers' Union, at a special meeting, and which was voted down, has resulted in Mr. Lancaster refusing to continue to pay an increased scale which has been in effect over a year, and about 100 members of the union, employed by him, walked out. The controversy is over a wage increase of $1 on the thousand for 10 cent cigars, and 50 cents on the thousand for mold, or 5 cent cigars. Because of the cost of manufacture and the financial stringency last year, Mr. Lancaster says that it is impossible for him to continue to pay this increase over the original scale.

While none of the other local manufacturers were specifically affected by this increase in effect at the Lancaster factory, some of them, when seen, said that their sympathies are with Mr. Lancaster in the matter. The members of the union, on the other hand, while expressing regret as a result of the conditions which made it necessary to quit work, say that the scale fixed by them was fair, and that the class of work done by them entitles them to the continuance of the increase.

During the discussion of this proposition, at the special meeting, Frank Coblenz, a member of the union, and a son of Dan Coblenz, of Dan Coblenz & Bro., 319 First street, and foreman Eirich, of the Coblenz factory, took a stand in favor of the Lancaster proposition, which resulted in a heated controversy, and ended in both Coblenz and Eirich being ejected from the hall. Eirich, while a member of the union, being a foreman, has no right to talk on a proposition which is under discussion except by permission.

NEW CIGAR FIRM IN LANSING.

To Conduct a Wholesale and Retail Business.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 4.

P. D. Rogers and F. E. Haynes, of this city, have formed a partnership to conduct a wholesale and retail cigar and tobacco business here.

For some time Mr. Rogers has conducted a cigar store in the building formerly occupied by T. H Sedina, at 231 Washington avenue south, and has built up an excellent trade. It is the intention of the new firm to make the wholesale end of the business the feature of the concern, and Mr. Rogers, who has had years of experience on the road, and is well known and universally liked among the business men throughout the State, will attend to the wholesale end.

The capital stock of the firm will be greatly increased and it is the desire of the new firm to make Lansing the center of the wholesale cigar and tobacco trade of the State.

NILES & MOSER IN TEXAS.

A Branch Establishment Will be Opened at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 4.

F. S. Niles, of Kansas City, President of the Niles-Moser Tobacco Company, which is preparing to have a branch house at Dallas, is in the city and is at the Oriental Hotel. He has visited Dallas and the Southwest frequently. He says that all parts of the country are looking toward Texas as a field for expansion and that all who think of Texas think of Dallas.

Business conditions in the Southwest, he says, are better than in any other part of the country, though they have everywhere taken on a much livelier trend than in the early part of last year and close of 1907.

TOBACCO CO. AT LEXINGTON

Will be Incorporated Under Name of New Blue Grass Tobacco Co.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 5.

The articles of incorporation for the organization of the New Blue Grass Tobacco Company, which will be the name of the new concern which has bought out the Blue Grass Tobacco Company, of this city, were drawn up for the signatures of the new officers Monday.

It is thought that the entire transfer of property in this deal which has been contemplated for some time, but which was finally brought to a decision last Saturday afternoon, will be made this week.

One of the members of the new company will arrive in Lexington from Indianapolis Tuesday, when it is thought that the names of the buyers of the old concern will be secured and made public. W. J. Loughridge, when interviewed, declined to give out the names of the people who bought out his company, saying that it had been agreed that the names would be withheld until the filing of the articles of incorporation.

An inventory of the stock and equipment of the old company was started Monday and at the completion of this work the purchase price for the concern will be paid over by the purchasers. This will be done this week. The company that bought the concern is composed of men from Chicago, Detroit and Indianapolis, and the capitalization figure given out is $300,000. The new concern will employ about 300 men.

Change at Asheville, N. C.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 4.

Announcement is made that W. W. Barnard has purchased from R. R. Porter the well established Asheville Tobacco Company, whose place of business is on Walnut street at the corner of Penland, and will in future conduct it with the assistance of W. W. Patton, who is well known to the trade.

IN THE HANDS OF A TRUSTEE.

Isidore M. Lederer, Milwaukee, has Liabilities of $32,000. Officer of Trust Co. as Trustee.

A meeting of the principal creditors of Isidore M. Lederer, Milwaukee, Wis., was recently held, when it was decided to appoint a trustee to take charge of the business heretofore conducted by Mr. Lederer, it being the opinion of the creditors that more could be secured by them than would be realized if brankruptcy proceedings were forced upon Mr. Lederer. The liabilities totaled more than $32,000, and creditors were informed that if their claims were pressed and the usual settlement through brankruptcy court were depended upon probably not more than 20 cents on the dollar would be paid.

A majority of the creditors agreed to the proposed methods which were advanced by Bloodgood, Kemper & Bloodgood, attorneys representing a portion of the creditors at Milwaukee. The result was that David C. Green, Vice President of the Milwaukee Trust Co., was appointed trustee with authority to sell the stock out, collect accounts and run the business in whatever way promised to safeguard the best interests of the creditors.

The meeting was attended by representatives of creditors in Milwaukee, Philadelphia, New York and Tampa.

UNCHANGED AT YORK.

Moderate Business is the Rule in Cigar Factories. Force at One Big Place Reduced.

York, Pa., Feb. 8.

There is still no great change in the general conditions of the tobacco trade of this section. A good many of the cigar factories are working along at a moderate rate, and all seem to be having some business.

It came as a rather severe blow when it was announced that two hundred cigarmakers, employed at the factory of the York City Cigar Company, on North Penn street, had been laid off for an indefinite period. A lull in the cigar trade is given by the company as the reason for the decreased working force. Both men and women were included in the number. Although they were told to report for work next Monday morning, unless trade brightens in the meantime, they will not be taken back, it is said.

The lay-off came as a complete surprise to all of those affected, and will cause inconvenience to nearly 150 families in the city which relied on the discharged men and women for support. Neither of the proprietors could be seen today, but those in charge at the factory stated that all of the employes thrown out of work had been making cigars to retail at five cents each, and that those employed on better stock were not affected. It was also given out that as soon as business warrants it, the persons laid off will be re-employed at the old wage scale. Those retained at the plant have not been cut in wages and will not be, according to the company.

It is claimed that the American Tobacco Company has cornered the leaf tobacco market in York. During the past several days hundreds of tons of the leaf grown in York county have been shipped by the corporation to its packing houses at Lancaster and other points. More than eight hundred wagon loads were handled on Tuesday and Wednesday at Red Lion, the delivery to the American Company totaling 410,000 pounds. While the buyers, because of the uncertainty in the outlook of the market, were late in coming into the York fields, it is stated that the bulk of the 1908 crop has been sold by the growers. The prevailing prices were eight and nine cents per pound for wrappers and two cents per pound for fillers.

Recently S. A. Roseman, purchasing agent for the American Company at Red Lion, received 541,000 pounds of tobacco from farmers and forwarded it to Richmond, Va. Since then Mr. Roseman has purchased over 750,000 pounds or twenty-five carloads, and had fixed February 2 and 3 for its reception here and February 4 at Stewartstown.

H. F. Kohler, a popular cigar manufacturer at Nashville, and who is a baseball enthusiast, has contributed $50 toward a tri-state base ball team in York.

There has been some little activity around the cigar town of Red Lion, during the past week.

Worley J. Neff, cigar manufacturer, transferred his employes from D. A. Horn's factory to the factory on West Broadway formerly occupied by D. Frank Kaltreider.

J. D. Shindler, Eastern representative of McKiffen & Burkenmeyer, of Janesville, Wis., has left for a three weeks trip to New York and Canada in the interest of the tobacco trade.

D. A. Horn has returned from a business trip to Connecticut.

John Fidler, with J. W. Minnich & Son, of Dallastown, returned Saturday from a two weeks trip among their distributors in Pennsylvania, and reports that while there is not a brisk trade yet he secured an encouraging number of complimentary orders. General business prospects he reports as better than for some time past.

—"Granny" Shepherd, an inmate of the Cuckfield (Sussex, Eng.) Workhouse, is believed to hold the record as an inveterate female smoker. On her behalf the Workhouse regulations have been relaxed by order of the Local Government Board. She is now in her ninety-second year, and has been a smoker since she was nine years of age.

Inauguration Week in Havana Delays Business.

Only One Official Holiday, but Various Displays Attract Attention and Hinder Trade. Buyers are Numerous, and it is Becoming Difficult to Find Satisfactory Goods. Prices are Higher, Although Concessions May be Made in Order to Effect Sales.

Havana, Cuba, February 25, 1909.

While we have had only one close holiday during the past week, when the inauguration of the second President of the republic of Cuba took place, there were so many other shows going on, like a review of the Cuban troops, infantry, cavalry, artillery, etc., that business was interrupted to some extent and the amount of sales was reduced fully 50 per cent. as compared with the previous week.

There is no lack of buyers in town, but it is hard for them to make suitable selections from the stocks still on hand, particularly if their views are too exalted and they are looking for prime goods, which are no longer visible in our market. There are enough vegas to be had yet and the weekly receipts of tobacco from the country indicate that the supplies in the interior have not been exhausted. Although our leaf dealers are asking higher prices, they are loath to let a buyer depart, and rather than lose a sale they are disposed to make some concessions.

The outlook for the new crop is still uncertain, but as we are in the dry season now, no further rains are likely to occur, excepting some light showers from the north near the coast. The districts in the heart of the Vuelta Abajo which have had no rains to speak of will give only a decreased quantity, and perhaps the quality may also be unsuitable for the clear Havana cigar industry. On the other hand, the larger planters have developed their irrigation system over a wider area and they will have a leafy, light bodied crop. The only question to be decided later on will be whether the plants have been able to preserve the subtle aroma of the nicotine plant in the Vuelta Abajo through the artificial watering of the fields, or whether this aroma is only supplied through nature's rains from the clouds? When good judges differ it is useless to speculate beforehand, and time is bound to solve the riddle.

reported only total 3,600 bales—Vuelta Abajo 1,900, Partido 100 and Remedios 1,600 bales. American buyers are credited with 2,300 bales, exporters to Europe (principally the French Regie buyer) 1,000, and local manufacturers 520 bales.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

the question of a raise in the tariff is still a temporary stumbling block. H. R. Mooney has placed some good orders for high priced sizes with our chief independent manufacturers.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 500,000 cigars during the past eight days of their own H. Upmann brand, as well as of other independent manufacturers. Their factory is well supplied with orders and they are working with increased forces.

Sol is doing well, progressing in a very satisfactory manner to its owners, Behrens & Co., and who certainly deserve success, as they are painstaking in keeping their Sol and Luis Marx brands always uniform in quality, using only the leaf from the choicest vegas of the 1908 Vuelta Abajo crop.

Buying, Selling and Other Notes of Interest.

M. Leheup, the buyer from the French Regie, operated in leaf tobacco last week to the usual extent.

Rodriguez Bautista & Co. sold last week 1,000 bales of Remedios and Vuelta Abajo.

Sol Hamburger can still be seen making the rounds in our market and increasing the holdings of Hamburger Bros. & Co.

Perez y Obeso disposed of 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

Manuel Suarez issued a circular a few days ago announcing the retirement of Joseph Mendelsohn from the former firm of M. Suarez & Co., and stating that he will continue the commission leaf tobacco business under his own name. He also gave power of attorney to Don Carlos F. Moeller, a hard worker, who has been an employe of the firm of Mendlesohn, Bornemann & Co., and later on of M. Suarez & Co., ever since its existence. El Grillo is as active as ever, with a large clientele of customers.

A. Pazos & Co. closed out 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

M. Starlight, with his son and nephew, is still here and has made some fair purchases of fine leaf.

Muniz Hnos. & Co. sold 100 bales of Vuelta Abajo to a local manufacturer.

A. M. Calzada has just returned from a trip to the country to convince himself of the prospects of the coming crop, and also looking at what is still left in farmers' hands of the 1908 crop. He did some business last week with several customers.

Charles Landau, the able and energetic representative of the famous H. Upmann factory, left on Saturday per steamer Saratoga for New York, and doubtless will commence his usual hustling career after his arrival.

Gonzalez y Miguel disposed of 100 bales of Remedios last week.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, February 9.

New York Leaf Market.

A fairly good business has been experienced in the leaf market of this city, and in certain types it savored almost of briskness. Zimmer Spanish and other filler tobacco offerings found ready takers in moderate quantities. Inquiries have been general in their nature, and indicate that manufacturers are prospecting for a sufficient supply to carry them through another season, evidently expecting that trade conditions will change some day, and that a larger supply of raw material at the present prevailing price may not come in amiss, if indeed, it does not prove an actual money saver. It is generally expected that prices will be somewhat affected if a more nearly normal activity sets in with the cigar trade.

There is reported to have been an even more than ordinarily active market in Florida tobaccos during the past two weeks, although it has been selling steadily during the present year. In the first place the tobaccos of the present offerings show excellent merits of quality, and prices, while now well maintained, are on a somewhat lower level than the figures demanded when the present crops were first introduced.

In Sumatra tobacco the demand has been fair and a wholesome amount of business has been done, even though no transaction of unusual size has been reported. Old goods are regarded as desirable holdings, for it is believed likely that while the new goods soon to be offered at the inscriptions will probably show excellent quality the prices may be higher.

There is also a good demand for Havana tobacco, showing a very favorable contrast with the volume of business done during the same period of last year. Indications are all favorable to a better Havana market than for several previous years.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

On its face, the revenue report of the production of cigars during the month of January does not offer much cheer. Ordinarily the showing of a decline in the output of cigars during the month of January of nearly 7,000,000 in comparison with the already greatly reduced output of January, 1908, would discourage the most optimistic, but it seems not so this year. On the contrary manufacturers seem to be becoming even more optimistic regarding the future of the cigar industry. A careful survey made by several of the observing members of the trade has convinced them that an era of greater activity is approaching. Financial conditions are steadily becoming easier, which is very conducive to greater trade activity. While only moderate forces are employed in factories there are prospects of early increases.

Feifer's Model Factory Inspected.

Miss Morgan, daughter of the financier, and other members of the Women's Department of the National Civic Federation, have begun an investigation of the sanitary conditions of the cigar and cigarette factories of New York.

Last week Miss Morgan sent for Samuel Prince, a delegate of the Cigarmakers' Union, and informed him that she and a committee were ready to start with him on a tour of inspection to see for themselves conditions existing in the factories. Mr. Prince suggested to her that a model cigar factory be inspected first so that she and her friends would known what is needed to make the worst-managed places sanitary. The suggestion was accepted.

Mr. Prince took them to the factory of B. Feifer & Co., 427 and 429 East Seventy-sixth street. This factory employs 500 men and women, all of whom expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied with conditions there. The committee made sure that they left nothing unnoticed.

Before making any recommendations for legislation or other remedial measures, Miss Morgan and her associates will first familiarize themselves with the evils that exist in the poorer factories. They will make many visits—unannounced—to shops in all parts of the city and will carefully note what they see. Knowing from the Feifer investigation what can be done for the workers, they will at once see what is lacking in the unsanitary factories.—Tobacco leaf.

Success of the Key West Assoc'n.

Two suits which had been brought on behalf of the Key West Cigar Manufacturers' Association, to restrain manufacturers from using the words "Key West" in connection with their packages, have been amicably settled in Brooklyn. One of the defendants in the action was L. Schwager Co., a dealer prominent in the Brooklyn trade, and the other was Max Rosner, a cigar manufacturer.

Although injunction had been secured, the defendants declared their willingness to desist from the use of the Key West labels. The campaign is, however, not to end here, as the attorneys for the Association propose to continue their vigilance and to take similar action against any other parties whom they may find misusing the Key West stamp in this manner.

Lopez Factory Damaged.

The cigar factory of M. J. Lopez & Co., at 222 Greenwich street, was damaged by fire last week. The fire is said to have started in the liquor store beneath the factory rooms.

Trade Notes.

Ernest Ellinger, of the Havana importing firm of Ernest Ellinger & Co., has gone to Havana, where he will remain several weeks selecting additional supplies of leaf.

E. A. Kraussman, Water street dealer, has recently been calling on his friends in the East, where he has a large clientele.

Morris Langsdorf, of Jacob Langsdorf's Sons, Philadelphia cigar manufacturers, was a visitor in the leaf market of this city recently.

S. Janover, of the new Havana importing firm of Theodore Perez & Co., 212 Pearl street, recently returned from Cuba, having made some extensive purchases of leaf for his firm.

There have already been several bookings for passage to Amsterdam, and it is expected that quite a large contingent of the trade will be there in time for the early inscriptions.

A quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. and an extra dividend of 5 per cent. was declared last week on the common stock of the American Tobacco Co.

The B. & L. Manufacturing Co., of New York, to manufacture tobacco and cigars, with a capital of $3,000, has been incorporated by Jacob Boorstein, 283 South First street, Brooklyn; Max Lebowitz, 532 East 149th street, New York, and Chas. Boorstein, 1563 Washington avenue, The Bonx.

Peter Cigar Vending Co., New York, to manufacture cigars and tobacco and cigar vending machines and devices, has been incorporated with a capital of $100,000, by George W. Peter, James F. Crossland, Wm. B. Fiske, Jr., at 90 West street.

No Smoking in Church in Lent.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 9.

Members of the "Men's Church" will keep Lent by giving up smoking of cigars at the Sunday night church services. This announcement was made on Saturday, and the new rule went into effect Sunday night, although the beginning of Lent is several weeks off. The omission of the cigars or stogies, which have been one of the features of the service, will be construed as an act of abstinence until after Easter.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The leaf tobacco market during the past week has developed normally and the volume of business done is, upon the whole, fairly satisfactory. Purchases are being made in moderate quantities, despite the fact that manufacturers generally are at present by no means rushed, for, candidly speaking, they have had a rather dull period for the past week or two, with possibly one or two exceptions. Inquiries coming in indicate that manufacturers are at last prospecting for a sufficient supply of available leaf in anticipation of a more active trade as the year grows older.

The Sumatra market has shown some activity, even though no particularly large individual transactions have been reported. Business in Havana tobacco has also been fair, with mail orders playing an important part in the week's transactions.

The 44 Cigar Co., at 44 North Twelfth street, has under consideration plans for the acquisition of a large and commodious building in this city, which will be used for manufacturing purposes. The premises, if secured, will have facilities for employing 400 or more hands. The conditions altogether seem favorable and the project looks quite likely to go through.

Anent the recent fire damage, a full and satisfactory settlement has been secured from the insurance companies which carried the risk, and in addition all damaged stock, both of raw material and manufactured goods, has already been disposed of. Mr. Lipschutz, the head of the house, was very particular to see that no damaged goods should go to any of his regular trade, and preferred to make a sacrifice on the stock rather than injure the good name of his product in the slightest degree.

We have it direct from headquarters that sales of the 44 cigar have during the present year so far shown a remarkable gain over the corresponding period of last year.

There has been great activity with the United Cigar Stores Co. in this city during the past few weeks. Rumors have been afloat that it was contemplated by the U. C. S. Co. to open 100 new stores in this city, but they could not be confirmed. It is a fact, however, that the stores of the Smokers' Paradise Co., at Ninth and Chestnut and 1432 Chestnut street, have been taken over, as well as five stores in Atlantic City. This, together with the five stores recently procured from the Lowengrund estate, increases the number of United stores in this city considerably. In addition to this the S. E. corner of Tenth and Market streets, formerly occupied by a hatter, has been secured, and will be opened as soon as the work of remodeling and fitting up can be completed.

Weiner Bros., cigar manufacturers, lately at 207 Market street, have removed to 1524 Sansom street. It was the second time that a Market street retail business was undertaken, but the firm has found that their outside trade demanded so much attention that they have decided to devote their entire time and energy to it by giving up the idea of a retail department in any of the business sections of the city.

A wedding of much interest in Jewish society circles was that of Miss Louise S. Teller, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin F. Teller, of 1727 Spring Garden street, who was married Monday evening to Jacob Loeb Langedorf, at the Broad and Mount Vernon Streets Synagogue, of which Miss Teller's father, the late Benjamin F. Teller, had been the president for many years. The synagogue was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and plants. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Henry Berkowitz.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, David Hirsh, wore a gown of white duchess satin, trimmed with real lace, and carried a bridal Bible and a spray of orange blossoms. Miss Lorine S. Teller and Miss Hortense Langsdorf were the maids of honor, and Miss Rose Gimbel the flower girl. There were no bridesmaids.

Arthur Liveright acted as best man and the ushers were Charles Edwin Fox, Walter Fox, Bernard Gimbel, Benjamin F. Loeb, Irving Kohn, Lionel Schlesinger, Benjamin K. Liveright and Jacob Krauss, of Philadelphia; Jacob Plaut, of Cincinnati, and Nathan Stern and J. Tanenbaum, of New York.

The wedding dinner, attended by only the relatives of the bride and bridegroom and a few intimate friends, was served at the Teller residence.

After an extended trip to Southern California Mr. and Mrs. Langsdorf will reside at 1529 Poplar street, where they will be at home after April 1.

The groom is a son of Morris K. Langsdorf, of the cigar manufacturing firm of Jacob Langsdorf's Sons, 555 North Fifth street, this city, and has been associated with his father in business for several years past.

Nick M. Griffin, Inc., is a new corporation which has its headquarters in the Real Estate Trust Co. Building. Mr. Griffin was formerly a member of the Boch-Griffin Co., retiring from it several months ago.

It seems that there is considerable activity in the match business in this city, and Arthur Hagen & Co., who are the selling agents of a large manufacturing house, have made an extensive campaign in the city and surrounding territory with their force of salesmen.

Speaking of Arthur Hagen & Co. reminds us that they report a generally good business in all of their various lines. Lynnhaven cigarette sales are fully up to the standard and showing steady gains. Work on the Burley Cubs has also progressed quite satisfactorily, and some extensive sampling has been done among athletic clubs and other institutions of a similar character.

Their stogie account of M. Feder, Cleveland, is developing, they say, quite satisfactorily, and they expect that when the real stogie season opens their sales will show still stronger gains.

A. Oppenheimer, of the Sulzberger-Oppenheimer Co., is on a Western business trip, which may lead him as far as the Pacific Coast.

George Becker, with Calixto Lopez & Co., of the Eden factory, stopped off at Philadelphia recently en route to the West. Mr. Becker's itinerary covers the principal cities between New York and San Francisco.

Among the exceptionally busy factories lately have been those of Otto Eisenlohr & Bros., whose shipments from their several factories during one day of last week showed the grand total of 1,000,000 cigars. This firm has recently made new connections in the East, and the Cinco will doubtless soon become a password there as it is at many other places. Gus Eisenlohr, of this firm, has been quite ill at his home, and his numerous friends are hoping for his speedy recovery.

The annual pilgrimage to Havana of the members of the Philadelphia trade has now fairly begun. Stewart Moorehead, of Duncan & Moorehead, leaves for the island today. M. J. Dalton, of the M. J. Dalton Co., expects to leave on Saturday's steamer, going via New York.

Al. Metzger, of Berriman Bros., after calling on his friends in the trade here, left last week for a short visit to Atlantic City. While here Mr. Metzger expressed himself as delighted with the extensive sales of his firm's product in Havana, Cuba, where their Jose Vila brand is securing a strong foothold.

It has been announced that there is a general advance in the price of all cigarettes of the American Tobacco Co., which went into effect on February 1.

John H. Boltz, of Boltz, Clymer & Co., has returned from a visit to San Francisco, where new arrangements have been made for the distribution of the firm's product, made necessary by the death of Mr. Starr, of Baumgartner & Starr, who have been their distributors in Frisco.

Letters of administration have been granted on the estate of the late Maurice Theobald, formerly of the cigar manufacturing firm of Theobald & Oppenheimer Co. The estate is one of considerable proportions, and the beneficiaries are Blanche Billington Theobald, the widow, 2217 North Broad street; Valeria M. Spotz, 1214 North Broad street, and Laure E. Raule, 3561 North Broad street. The two last are sisters of the deceased.

H. M. Duys, of H. Duys & Co., was in the local leaf market this week.

QUIET RULES IN LANCASTER.

Neither Dealers or Manufacturers Report Activity. Packers Busy with the 1908 Leaf.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 8.

It has been a generally quiet week in the tobacco trade. Neither the leaf man nor cigar manufacturer was doing much, if anything. Packing houses, of course, are busy receiving and packing new goods, of which considerable quantities have been already received.

The several warehouses for E. L. Nissly & Co., of Florin, are now in active operation. Packing is in progress at two buildings at Florin and also at the new warehouse in Lancaster as well as at the warehouse of the Nissly Leaf Tobacco Co., in Lancaster.

Roy Nissly, a son of E. L. Nissly, and who is now actively associated with his father, is at present on a Western trip.

The report of the Collector of Internal Revenue, which was made public last week, was full of surprises. While it was generally expected that the month of January would show no material progress it was not expected that there would be shown the great reduction that it does. According to the collector's figures the output of cigars during the month of January was only 50,437,000, which is 1,350,000 less than during January, 1908, and 2,250,000 below the output of December, 1909. The figures are equally discouraging to manufacturers and leaf tobacco dealers, who can hardly look for a large volume of business as long as these conditions continue.

It is not generally expected that February will show a great improvement, but it is the general belief that by March a substantial gain in trade will begin to appear.

Root & Baker, of Landisville, have already received the bulk of their purchases, the major portion of which was made early in the season, and consequently the prices which they paid were more moderate than later market transactions commanded.

A fire, which might have proved very disastrous, occurred on Thursday evening, shortly after 4.30 o'clock, at the cigar factory of Herman Stein, which is located at South Water and Andrew streets, and the cause of it is unknown.

An alarm was sent in from box No. 56, at South Prince and West Andrew streets, and engines from No. 1, 2 and 3 houses were on the scene in a short time. The work of fighting the flames was rendered very difficult by reason of the fire being confined to the third story, and it was nearly six o'clock before it was extinguished. The loss will be covered by insurance. The damage to the building was very small, being confined to one corner of the garret and the roof.

The structure is a two-story one, with basement and garret, and adjoining it is the warehouse, with a slate roof. It is here the fire started on the third floor. The fire was discovered by some men along the railroad, and they notified M. E. Metzger, foreman of the printing department. There were about 55,000 cigars in the building, but these were little damaged, what damage there was being from water.

Mr. Stein was away at the time of the fire. He says he had about 300 cases of tobacco in the warehouse at the time, which were badly soaked with water. About sixteen hands are employed at the place and work will be continued.

M. C. Killian, a cigar manufacturer at Reamstown, recently entertained his entire force of cigarmakers, together with their families, at a dinner given at Mr. Killian's home.

P. W. Jacobs, cigar manufacturer at Akron, has been on a business trip through Eastern Pennsylvania.

Attention has been called to the fact that A. D. Killheffer, of Millersville, is among the exceptionally few manufacturers who are and have been able to keep a steady force at work year in and year out. It is seldom that a slack time is experienced at the Killheffer factory, notwithstanding that no traveling salesmen are employed in selling the goods. The factory is operated almost wholly on mail orders. Mr. Killheffer says it is because his goods are always O. K. that he can manage to do this.

After having been closed for a week owing to the death of A. P. Snader, a member of the firm, the cigar factory of A. P. Snader & Co., on South State street, Ephrata, was again opened for business on Monday last, with a full force of hands. During the week a number of nice orders have been received which will be filled as early as possible. The factory will be under the management of Mr. Snader's son-in-law, Daniel Keller, Jr., who has been in charge of the same since the former was stricken with paralysis on April 11th last, which disabled him and finally resulted in his death.

Boston Retailers Dull and Jobbers Report Slow Collections. Notes About the Road men.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World"
212 Hanover Street]
Boston, Mass., Feb. 8.

The general condition of the cigar trade here is dull. The jobbing trade report collections as being very slow; in fact times are worse now than they were during the last panic. What the cause of it is, no one seems able to explain, although most of our merchants expect to see a change for the better next month after the new President takes the oath of office.

The new Washington street subway has done a great deal of harm to the storekeepers and merchants in the neighborhood of Scollay Square and Tremont streets where the rentals are very high, and business has fell off considerable in that section of town, and unless there is some change made the property owners will be compelled to reduce rents in many instances or shop keepers will have to move elsewhere.

Phil. Barrant, representing the Mentor Co., is doing some very satisfactory work on the Ramly cigarette. Mr. Barrant has had many years experience in the cigar line, having been at one time manager of the Wall Street, N. Y., branch of the United Cigar Stores.

Louis Shapiro, who has for the past year been making frequent trips to Connecticut and Rhode Island in the interests of the Nestor Gianaclis Co., has been given full control of this territory. Mr. Shapiro has put the Nestor cigarettes on a good substantial footing in this section. E. Courtney Perkins, the artistic window display artist of the Nestor brand, has a number of excellent window displays about town.

M. Rappaport, Philadelphia, was a recent caller on the jobbing trade and took a number of large sized orders for Turkish Transfers and other brands of his own manufacture.

Miss Bessie Goldberg, who recently purchased the cigar store at 19 Devonshire street, has made many improvements in the place and reports doing a very satisfactory business.

Emil Abrahams (American West Indies Trading Co.) is doing some telling work on the La Turina. This cigar is well placed with our better class of retailers.

S. Friedlander, the South End cigar manufacturer, and A. Bieringer of Bieringer Bros. Co., wholesalers, will leave for New York to attend the convention being held there next Sunday of the I. O. of F. S. of I., having been appointed delegates.

Geo. Kraus (F. Villar & Co.) was a recent visitor here showing an exclusive line of high grade Porto Rican cigars.

H. H. Smith, formerly salesman for H. Y. Folette & Co., has accepted a similar position with the Alhambra Cigar Co. of New York, and is calling on the local trade introducing the high grade nickel brand, Contrivo.

A. Leroy Myers (Melachrino & Co.,) who has been in charge of this territory for the past eight months, has worked up an enviable business for his concern since he took hold. Mr. Meyers has engaged the services of Rube Haggerty to make window displays in the prominent sections of the city, and Rube has been making good right from the start. Mr. Meyers is at present introducing two new sizes of the Melachrino brand, one being a straw tip two for a quarter brand, and the other, No. 20, a 20-cent package, a sort of an after-dinner smoke. Jobbers have all taken on these new sizes and expect them to sell well.

Rosenthal Bros., the Hanover street wholesalers, who have met with much success with their R. B. Special cigar have just taken on the Grand Order, a 5 cent proposition in three sizes, the product of the Federal Cigar Co. There is plenty of advertising matter connected with this brand, and in a short time great things are expected of this new cigar.

M. Friedberg, representing Cohen & Friedberg, leaf tobacco dealers of New York and Philadelphia, was recently in town. While here Mr. Friedberg succeeded in selling a quantity of Italian stogies in the Italian section of this city.

There is a cut price war going on here with two or three independent match manufacturers, and the poor retailer for once is getting the best of it. Matches are selling as low as 25 cents per gross, and if this keeps up any length of time I expect to see the trust (Diamond Match Co.) take a hand in the matter.

R. D. Carnes (Ware-Kramer Tob. Co.) has just returned from a good trip down Maine.

Jack Warsowe (Khedivial Co.) has been working Brockton the past weeks with good results.

For the first time in several years H. Traiser & Co., the large local cigar manufacturers, have a salesman out taking orders for their Harvard 10 cent cigar.

Leveson Bros., makers of the popular Boston Smokers 5 cent cigar, have just made many alterations at their factory on Cambridge street, whereby they are now able to put on additional help and comply better with the State laws. The factory is now one of the brightest and cleanest in this city.

James Casey, the original "Casey at the Bat," has just purchased from W. H. Pinkham the latter's cigar and tobacco store on Summer street, East Boston. Mr. Casey has had years of experience behind the cigar counter and on the road selling goods, and will no doubt make good in this latest venture; in fact Casey says there is no such word as fail, and I guess he is right.

There is no more active salesman in town than Kid Nichols. He never lets any grass grow under his feet. He has a crew of three men who never stop when the whistle blows until they have first finished the routes assigned them.

There are numerous window displays about town and Mr. Battle, who has charge of this branch of the work, is no novice in this line of business. His specialty is putting displays in hotels where the Philip Morris is usually the leading seller in 25 cent goods. A new package, called Morisco, and retailing at 15 cents, is to be shortly introduced here by the Philip Morris Co. Ben Ali.

CONSULAR REPORTS.

Cuban Tobacco Raising.

COST OF LABOR AND EQUIPMENT IN RELATION TO FINAL RETURNS.

Consul Max J. Baehr, of Cienfuegos, made investigations concerning the cost of production of tobacco in Cuba. This was difficult to procure, and his deductions, he states, come as near as possible to showing the average cost. The report follows:

Taking 1 acre of land as the basis of calculation, in the Province of Santa Clara the cost of labor in producing tobacco follows:

For the preparation of sufficient ground to produce enough young plants for 1 acre of land	$13
For their cultivation, weeding, and watering	10
For preparing the soil of 1 acre of land for the reception of the young plants	14
For the planting of the young plants	5
This figure is based on the fact that 1 man can plant 2,400 plants per day, that 1 acre takes 12,000 plants, thus necessitating employment of 5 men in order to plant this quantity in one day, at the rate of $1 per day.
After the planting, the weeding and cultivation of 1 acre up to the cutting time comes to	50
For cutting the tobacco crop of 1 acre	30
Explained as follows: An acre of land is supposed to yield under ordinary conditions 300 cujes, or poles from which the tobacco leaf is hung, and to fill each pole costs 10 cents labor.
Now the tobacco is ready for the drying house, and after being cured awaits the final work of selecting, heading, bundling and bailing.
These 300 cujes should yield under ordinary conditions 6 bales of 150 pounds each; they are headed, selected, bundled, and bailed at the rate of $10 per bale, or	60
Total cost of labor	$182

Thus it is shown that 1 acre of land can produce 900 pounds of tobacco at the cost of $182 for labor or 20.22 cents Spanish silver, per pound. It will also be interesting to know the total cost of production, for which purpose the following items should be added:

Labor	$182.00
The cujes, or poles, 300, at $4 per hundred	$ 12.00
The cost of the drying house	50.00
Total	$ 62.00
As this house and the poles are calculated to last four crops, only one-fourth of the figures can be taken intoc onsideration, or	$ 15.50
The cost of a yoke of oxen and the necessary implements for cultivation, at the rate of usefulness for four years:
1 yoke of good oxen	$100.00
Implements for cultivation	20.00
Total	$120.00
One-fourth	30.00
Cost of seed for raising young plants	3.00
Total cost of production	$230.50

OBSERVATIONS.

A Spanish silver dollar is worth 86 cents United States currency at the present rate.

The present market price for good light tobacco is $70 Spanish gold, and if it is of heavy material, or what is called "tobaco de partido," $50 per bale, so that for the sake of calculation the medium price of $60 per bale should be taken

Time occupied in the production of tobacco from seed to bale, six months.

These figures represent the total cost of production of tobacco on 1 acre of land—900 pounds of tobacco at a cost of $230.50 Spanish silver, or 25.61 cents per pound.

Tobacco Cultivation in South Africa.

Consul Edwin N. Gunsaulus, of Johannesburg, sends the following note on tobacco culture in British South Africa:

A commission appointed by the Transvaal Government recently paid a visit to Rhodesia to study the methods which are being followed in that country in the development of the tobacco industry, the intention of the Transvaal Government being to embark upon an active campaign with a view to becoming one of the leading producers of the world's tobacco supply. The commission went to Salisbury, where they inspected the warehouse and local tobacco farms, continuing their researches in Bulawayo. It is stated that the Transvaal will confine its activities to producing the Virginia leaf. The director of agriculture in the Transvaal left for the United States recently with the object of securing a number of tobacco experts for service in the Transvaal.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

Except that the American Company's agents are buying and shipping all the cheap tobacco lying loose, there would be very little to be said on the tobacco market at this time. This company has during the past week bought and loaded about 20 tons of very cheap goods, some of it being the scrubs and fillers from the shop of our Mr. Swift. I have heard of no sales aside from this for the past week. This tobacco was brought from three or four towns, and I have not been able to secure the names of the growers. It was shipped to Virginia to be handled. I have seen by the lists of exports of tobacco for the last month or two that the exports have been increased quite a little, and I suspect that much of that being exported is of a cheap variety, such as broken and trash for the manufacture of a cheap grade of plug and smoking tobacco.

Some of the shops have shut their doors for this season's sorting. Among those who have closed are C. E. Waite, L. S. Graves and Michael Manning. Mr. Crafts is still open, also Mr. Swift, but the latter will probably close before long as they have but little left to sort. At the old town of Hatfield those who bought their tobacco sorting will be continued for some time yet. The hail storm shortened the time of running, for it would hardly pay the grower to expend 3 cents a pound, and for that reason most such tobacco has been sold in the bundle.

Our correspondent writes:

North Hatfield, Mass., "I report the sale by Thomas Fleming of about eight acres of tobacco at a low price probably not more than 8½ and 9 cents in the bundle. There will be something of a falling off in the acreage the coming season—probably not more than 5 per cent. and possibly not so much."—American Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville.—Local buyers are still in the market and the crop is rapidly being picked up. One well informed tobacco man estimates that about ninety per cent. of the crop has already been purchased. Large deliveries have been made this week. E. C. Munroe, who has been buying for the American Tobacco Co., has been receiving at the D., L. & W. R. R. station.—Gazette.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The big storm which blockaded the highways and railways and crippled the telegraph and telephone service, has served to slacken the buying movement somewhat during the week as well as the aggregate transactions. However, the disposition to continue the movement is present and buyers in the field for all grades of the crop, though there is hardly competition enough to strengthen prices. The following sales indicate the range taken:

H. A. Herried, 12a at 9 and 4c.
Mons Staff, 9 a at 9 and 2c.
Nels Ringstad, 10a at 8¾c.
Bert Bosbon, 12a at 8¾c.
Geo. Swan, 12a at 8½ and 3c.
T. Thompson, 2½a at 8 and 2c.
Ole Gunder, 14a at 8 and 3c.
W. C. & F. R Morhouse, 12a at 7 and 3c
A. Hanson, 12a at 6½ and 2c.
Edw. Ramsfeld, 9a at 6½ and 2c.
Felland & Wik, 8a at 7 and 2c.
Geo. Barton, 7a at 8½ and 2c.
L. A. Walbridge, 5a at 7c.
A. G. Felland, 7a at 5½ and 2c.
O. H. Lien, 6a at 6½ and 2½c.
Albert Myer, 5a at 7 and 2c.
Henry Bultman, 4a at 7 and 2c.
Thos. Halverson, 6a at 7 and 2c.
S. Helgeland, 4a at 5½ and 2c.

Farmers are now able to make their deliveries on sleighs and tobacco is again coming in at receiving points quite liberally so that warehouse handling is going on uninterruptedly. Quite a large portion of the cheaper crops is being shipped out of the State in bundle.

Except the ordinary small trade on manufacturers' orders, we learn of no transactions worthy of mention.

NEW POOLING PLAN EVOLVED

By Burley Tobacco Society for the 1909 Crop.

Williamstown, Ky., Feb. 10.

The Burley Tobacco Society is at work now on a new plan for the pooling of crops this year. The plan has not been worked out in detail, but is in brief as follows, according to J. D. Clark, of Lexington, one of the active members in the organization:

Agents will be sent out by the Society to buy the crops of the growers outright for one dollar "and other valuable considerations," the other valuable considerations to be the selling price of each man's crop by the Society. This contract will vest the title to the crop in the Burley Tobacco Society and will do away with the attempts to break pledges and consequent injunctions to prevent a grower selling a crop that has been pledged.

A committee appointed by the Executive Board of the Society is at work on such a plan and just as soon as it is perfected agents will be sent out among the farmers. How soon this plan will be worked out is not known, but it will be done as quickly as possible.

CIGARETTES IN MISSOURI

State Representative Urges Their Prohibition.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 10.

Representative Croos, of Clinton County, is the author of an anti cigarette bill, introduced in the House, which, if passed, will bar the sale of cigarettes or cigarette papers in Missouri. Mr. Croos is one of the ablest Democrats in the Legislature and is a recognized House floor leader.

The bill prohibits not only the sale but the giving away of cigarettes or cigarette papers; also prohibits the manufacture of cigarettes within the State, or the assisting in the making or manufacturing of cigarettes for the purpose of selling or giving away.

In the Big Flats District.

Tobacco men predict that the season of 1909 will show a decidedly decreased acreage in the Big Flats district. Some of the largest local buyers did not contract for a pound last year and not a few growers have their 1907 crop as well as their 1908 growth still housed awaiting a buyer. One reason given by growers for refusing to sell early was the low price offered in comparison with the 1906 price. Later there was no market at all and the tobacco had to stay in the sheds. The buyers complained of poor quality generally owing to the drouth, and of an uncertain wholesale market. This year some of the growers will give their tobacco land a rest. This is exactly what is needed, the buyers say. With a season which does not draw the strength of the ground the next planting ought to produce with favorable weather a quality of leaf exceptionally fine.

CHANGE IN JACKSONVILLE

Mr. Sheffield Retires from Lucy & Sheffield. Brother Buys His Interest.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 10.

On account of ill-health, E. J. Sheffield, the well known cigar man, has retired from the firm of Lucy & Sheffield, 11 Main street, selling his interest to his brother, S. D. Sheffield. The firm name will remain the same and business will continue as before.

Mr. Sheffield and his wife have very many friends in the city who will regret to learn that he finds it necessary to leave in about a month for Colorado Springs to reside permanently in hope of improving his health. Mr. and Mrs. Sheffield will visit for a time at DeLand before leaving for their new home.

Experiment Being Conducted at Block Bros. Tobacco Plant.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 10.

Several new pieces of machinery which, if adopted, will have much to do with the operation of the works, are being tested at Bloch Bros.' tobacco plant on the South Side. The most important piece among the lot is a packing machine which weighs, packs, stamps and seals packages of tobacco. It is understood that this is the only machine of the kind ever built, but up to the present time it has not proved a success. The firm has been experimenting with it for some time and it is said there is but little doubt that it will prove to be a success after correct adjustment and perhaps a few changes. One of the machines is supposed to do the work of forty girls in the way of packing tobacco. Officials of the plant are reticent about making any public announcements concerning the new machinery.

NEW CRIPPLE CREEK STORE

Establishment Opened by Well Known Resident

Cripple Creek, Col., Feb. 8.

Yet another business has been located on East Bennett avenue. This is a cigar store, which, it is promised, will be one of the most modern in the city.

The proprietor of the new business is Walter Baker, who for many years past has won friends and confidence, in the express business. Recently Mr. Baker sold out to W. Williams, and retired from active business for awhile. But the call for work was too strong, and he has now entered the business world again, this time as a merchant.

The new store is located at 235 East Bennett avenue and Mr. Baker, who will be associated in business with his son, recently purchased the cigar store of Frank Black, at 311 East Bennett avenue, and moved the stock and fixtures to the new location, and will add it to the new stock he has purchased.

MINNESOTA FACTORY GROWING

Maker of the Idelas Brand Sees Good Prospects.

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 10.

It is quite probable that the Adams Cigar Factory, large as it already is, will be still further enlarged this spring by a 30 foot addition at the rear of the building and that an additional force of ten hands will be put on. Mr. Adams says that a proposition had been made to him by an Eastern business house for whom he is to furnish 10,000 Idelas per week. He is now considering the proposition and if he accepts it he will make the improvements and will put on the additional force of men.

Mr. Adams' success has been one of the most remarkable of any business concern in the city. After 15 years of business, beginning as he did all alone with but one boy to do the stripping for him, he has seen the business grow to its present enviable proportions.

JANUARY GOOD IN OHIO.

The First Revenue District Made a Favorable Showing.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 10.

Notwithstanding the general depression in business the cigar and tobacco manufacturing trade of the First Ohio Revenue District (Cincinnati and Middletown), made a very favorable showing for the month of January, as evidenced by the figures in all lines given below.

"The production of cigars in the district during January was 15,676,710, an increase of 230,280, or 1.5 per cent. as compared with the production during the month of January, 1908. Compared with December, 1908, the cigar production fell off $435,607, or about 3 per cent.

"The output of tobacco in the district during the month was 3,100,443 pounds, an increase over the corresponding month of last year of 625,601 pounds, or 25 per cent. Compared with the preceding month of December, 1908, the tobacco output shows a decrease of 581,676 pounds, or 16 per cent, in January.

"The output of small cigars amounted to 111,092 in January, an increase of 10,092, or 10 per cent, as compared with January, 1908, and an increase of 30,092, or 37 per cent, as compared with December, 1908.

"No snuff was produced during the month of January and practically no cigarettes.

"The total internal revenue collections during the month of January from all sources on tobacco in the district amounted to $233,116.80, as compared with $194,322.74 collected during the corresponding month last year, an increase of $38,794.06, or 19 per cent.

"The internal revenue collections for the district were: Cigars, $47,030.13; tobacco $186,026.59; small cigars, $59.99; cigarettes, 9 cents; total, $233,116.80."

MACVEAGH FOR TREASURY.

Chicago Merchant's Name May be Suggested to Mr. Taft.

Chicago, Feb. 10.

As George M. Reynolds is out of the field for the position of Secretary of the Treasury of the United States the name of Franklin MacVeagh, of this city, will probably be presented to President-elect Taft. Mr. MacVeagh is a brother of Wayne MacVeagh, of Pennsylvania. He is a prominent merchant of this city, but has taken an active interest in politics for many years.

Mr. MacVeagh is head of the wholesale house of Franklin MacVeagh & Co., extensive handlers of cigars.

INSURANCE CO.'S NOT LIABLE

For Loss by Night Riders, Says Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 11.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals today handed down an opinion which means a loss of thousands of dollars to tobacco growers and others whose crops and barns and other property were destroyed during raids of night riders in the last two years.

In reversing the Caldwell Circuit Court, in the cases of five insurance companies against the Imperial Tobacco Company, the court upheld the validity of the "riot clause" of policies written in Kentucky and held that the raids of the night riders come within the meaning of the term "riot."

The Imperial Tobacco Company sued to recover insurance carried on tobacco and barns destroyed by night riders at Princeton, Caldwell Co., Nov. 30, 1906.

FRISCO PUTS BAN ON TOBACCO

The New Order Affects Operating Offices, and Became Effective February 1, 1909.

Joplin, Mo., Feb. 10.

In compliance with an order from the main offices of the Frisco, which went into effect on the first of the month, station employes of that railroad company in Joplin are restrained from smoking when on duty, and when the desire for a refreshing smoke is felt by the employe he must necessarily hie himself to a spot distant from the headquarters in order to have that desire brought into realization.

The order from the headquarters of the Frisco, restraining employes from smoking while on duty, is general over the entire system, and, it is said, results from consideration on the part of the head officers to protect the women's waiting rooms. In the ticket or operators' department the odor of the pipe or cigar is overcome by the new order.

A rule has been in effect over the Frisco lines for some time prohibiting all uniformed employes from smoking while on duty.

GETTING BETTER IN BOSTON.

A Slight Improvement Noticed in Trade. Earnest Hopes for the End of Tariff Tinkering.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World" 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, Mass., Feb. 15.

There was a slight improvement in the trade during the past week, collections have picked up a little, and members of the trade expect business to improve by leaps and bounds just as soon as Congress gets through with the tariff question, and our large manufacturers and importers know where they stand. Business with our large local cigar factories is reported very slow, and most all of these manufacturers have their salesmen out canvassing trade.

For the past two weeks the American Tobacco Co.'s salesmen have been simply advertising and sampling. Edw. Madden, who since the new year began has had charge of the cut plug department of the A. T. Co., has already demonstrated that he is "the right man in the right place." Mr. Madden is making a good showing with Fore'N'Aft sliced plug tobacco, and jobbers report same as selling extremely well, in fact the increase in sale of this tobacco in the New England States is phenomenal, and Brother Madden is to be highly complimented upon his achievement.

There are numerous independent cigarette concerns which are spending a whole lot of money in advertising their brands here, but there is one brand called Astron, a 15 cent package put up in cork, plain, straw, and gold tip form, that is not being advertised but is selling big here. The cigarette is made of the finest imported Turkish tobacco, and that is said to be the secret of its success.

Phil Melhado, who for several years has been associated in business with his brother, George, on Washington street, has just taken a lease of the spacious store corner of Hampden and Dudley streets and will shortly start in the wholesale and retail cigar and tobacco business on his own account.

R. M. Barden (Surbrug Co). spent several days calling on the trade in Brockton and did a very satisfactory business there. The Surbrug Co. is still offering the Dolma deal in connection with every purchase of Arabs cigarettes.

A. Herbert, of the Philip Morris Co., is expected in town this week.

Mr. Battle, who has charge of the advertising, has arranged a number of fine displays of the Philip Morris brand about town and every possible good location was secured in which to make a display. Jobbers report a steady increase in sales of this brand.

Brother McKenzie, formerly in charge of the cigar department of McGreenery & Manning here, has secured a position as traveling salesman for the E. Sidenberg Co., N. Y., a subsidiary branch of the A. T. Co., and has left on his initial trip West, his first stop being Indianapolis.

R. D. Carnes (Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co.) who for several weeks has been calling on the trade down Maine, returned here Saturday. On being interviewed he reports that although business in general is rather quiet in Maine at present he had a record breaking trip, and on his next visit to that section he expects to find Lynnhaven and Zona cigarettes very near the front.

Rosenthal Bros., the Hanover street wholesalers, are distributing a very catchy hanger in connection with their R. B. Special. The picture features that of a smiling coon head looking through a curtain. Underneath is printed the following: "Golly, Boss! Hand me one of 'em R. B. Special cigars; they're better'n chicken." This show card is very catchy, and there is a big demand for it.

Bushwar is being passed along the line at a rapid gait by many of our local cigarette salesmen who, four out of six days in the week, work the well known milk route with good results.

Ben Ali.

—According to Dr. C. Stanford Reed, of London, Eng., Eugene Sandow, the famous strong man, does not follow any prescribed diet. He smokes a great deal, and drinks beer and other alcoholic beverages. He is a standing proof of the beneficial effect of moderation in all things.

Improved Business in Havana Leaf Market.

More Buyers are Operating, Representing a Larger Number of Factories and Dealers. The Remedios Capaduras are Becoming Scarce. Possible Rise in Price Indicated. Leaf Tobacco in the Country is Reported to Have Been All Bought Up.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.)

Havana, Cuba, February 8, 1909.

Business during the past week has again been better and was more widely distributed, although one New York buyer alone purchased 1,500 bales, consisting principally of heavy Vuelta Abajo styles. Remedios tobacco, first and second capaduras, is in scant supply, exception being taken of two Spanish dealers who still have some choice escojidas, but who are fully $10 per quintal above the ruling market prices. A buyer who is willing to pay these figures must be very hard up indeed, although if the 1909 Remedios crop should be principally of a light character, as some people predict, then it is possible that later on the stocks in dealers' hands in the North might become exhausted, and thus an advance is not impossible. From a reliable party, who has just returned from a trip all over Santa Clara Province, I learn that while there is some tobacco still in the country, it either belongs to dealers here, or it is only of the lower grades, not fit for the American market, therefore it can be truthfully asserted that no more of the first and second capaduras can be expected from the country. Of Vuelta Abajo there are still some stocks in our market; the bulk, however, consists of the '07 crop.

Sales

during the past week foot up 5,500 bales, divided into Vuelta Abajo, 2,600; Partido, 700, and Remedios, 2,200 bales.

Buyers were: United States, 4,400; Europe, 500, and local cigar and cigarette manufacturers, 600 bales.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	5,0450	bales

To South America	190	"
To Australia	50	"
To North Coast of Africa	20	"
Total	6,025	"

Havana Cigar Manufacturers

are working away upon fair orders which are coming forward, and the larger factories have reason to be satisfied, while the smaller ones are still complaining bitterly that their turn has not come yet. More cigarmakers are employed by the former, and the outlook for the future is more cheerful.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 450,000 cigars last week. The famous H. Upmann factory has plenty of orders on hand.

Sol is working steadily with an increased number of cigarmakers. Behrens & Co. are constantly in receipt of good orders from the United States, Great Britain and Germany. A great many tourists are visiting this factory to supply their wants of Sol and Luis Marx cigars.

CONN. PRODUCTION KEEPS UP

In Comparison with Same Period of Last Year.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 13.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Eaton, when asked how the collections of his district, which comprises Rhode Island and Connecticut, were coming in so far this year, said the returns were quite satisfactory.

"I do not mean that the receipts are as haevy as two years ago," he continued. "But the returns are greater than for the same period last year. In tobacco, however, there is a falling off in revenue. I suppose many people who have been smoking good cigars are content now to smoke a pipe. Anyway, tobacco is feeling the effects of the times. But in beer, there is an increase in revenue. The receipts from beer are very large in this disrtict.

"From the figures at hand, it looks as if business is on the increase. But it will be another year, perhaps, before business is as good as before the panic. While I can see quite an increase already, it is not like two years ago, as indicated by recent receipts."

"Why does not the business start up, as usual, Mr. Collector?"

"I would say the tariff is the cause of all the trouble. There is agitation regarding revision, and for my part, I don't know but the tariff is all right as it is. Certainly the country has got along pretty well under the present schedule. Manufacturers are not stocking up with goods, in view of possible tariff revision. And they are likely to wait until the tariff matter is settled."

ELMIRA TOBACCONIST DEAD

Son of Former Mayor and Officer of Nicks Tobacco Co.

Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 10.

John E. Nicks, treasurer of the Nicks Tobacco Company, of which his father, the late John I. Nicks, former mayor of Elmira, was the organizer, died Monday afternoon at his home on West Clinton street after an illness of several months. Mr. Nicks was subject to attacks of appendicitis but owing to his age did not desire to risk an operation. Two weeks ago while at the factory he fell over a box, cutting a gash over his eye. Great pain ensued. Complications set in terminating fatally.

The late Hon. John I. Nicks came to Elmira in 1847. He opened a tobacco business on a large scale and when the son, John E., was of proper age he was taken into the factory to learn the business. He mastered it in every defail. For twenty-seven years the Nicks Tobacco Company was located at East Water street and Exchange place. The rear of the building adjoined Nicks street, that thoroughfare being named in honor of the elder Nicks. At the termination of twenty-seven years the Nicks block was burned and John I. Nicks erected thereafter a factory on Railroad avenue. It was here that the son was taken into the business.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12.

The movement in the local leaf tobacco market today was fairly good. Offerings were not as large as yesterday, although nearly all warehouses had sales. The Burley was of the average quality and in good condition. Low grades of Burley and colory trashes were the best sellers. Prices in general were unchanged. The dark tobacco was in fairly good condition and of common quality. Rehandled leaf was in good demand. Prices continued irregular, with an easier tendency.

At the People's Warehouse 38 hogsheads of new Burley brought from $11 to $20, and 16 hogsheads of new dark brought from $4 90 to $10.75. The market was unchanged and there was only one rejection.

The United Dark Warehouse disposed of 100 hogsheads of new dark at prices ranging from $4.50 to $10.75. The market was unchanged and there were 15 rejections.

At the Planters' Warehouse 25 hogsheads of new Burley brought from $8.90 to $18 75, and 8 hogsheads of old Burley brought from $14.25 to $19. The market was easier and there were 8 rejections.

The Central Warehouse sold 55 hogsheads of new Burley at $10 to $19.50. The market was unchanged and there were 10 rejections.

The Ninth-street Warehouse disposed of 50 hogsheads. Twenty hogsheads of dark brought from $7 to $10.75 and thirty hogsheads of Burley brought from $14 to $19.75.

The State Warehouse sold 9 hogsheads of new dark at $3 to $10.25, and 50 hogsheads of new Burley at $8.80 to $20. The market was a shade stronger and there were 7 rejections.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, February 16.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market has again been quiet, with transactions comparatively few and of rather small volume. After a week or so of considerable acitvity the trade seems to have fallen back into a semi-comatose condition. Manufacturers, while seemingly doing some prospecting, do not appear anxious to lay in heavy stocks at present, owing presumably to the fact that the demand for manufactured goods is not at all strong, and supplies at present in hand seem to satisfy them. Nevertheless, the supplies held by packers and dealers are gradually being reduced and there may prove to have been not an over abundance of raw material, should the cigar industry begin to show a revival anywhere approaching the more normal period of 1907. There seems to be a gradual recovery in many other lines of business, and this must sooner or later be the case with the cigar and tobacco trade, so that it would not seem impossible that some might find a surprise before the present year draws to a close. In the country packing districts there is much activity now. It has been going on for some time in Pennsylvania, but seems to have now also extended into Ohio and Wisconsin, from which sections come reports that the buying movement is progressing steadily.

The Sumatra market has shown less of a decline than in the seed leaf variety, but even so it is not really active. Interest is centered already on the result of the new inscriptions, and the exodus of buyers will soon be setting in.

The Havana market has not shown much activity either, and from the Cuban capital come reports that trade there has quieted down very much.

Stockholders' Meetings.

Elsewhere in this issue is given a report of the United Cigar Manufacturers' Co., which was only one of many companies in the tobacco trade which recently held meetings.

At a meeting of the United Cigar Stores Company, held on the 4th inst., the entire board of directors were re-elected.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Metropolitan Tobacco Co., was also recently held at the offices of the company, 134-136 Grand street.

Butlers' New Factory.

Butler-Butler, Inc., have secured new factory quarters at 425 West Twenty-fourth street, where the floor space is nearly double that of the former premises, but it is expected that every available bit of room will be needed, since the concern has found a great increase in the demand for its product.

Schulte's Latest Operations.

An officer of the A. Schulte Co. has announced that a goodly number of new stores were soon to be added to the present Schulte list, but denied that stores now being operated by other persons were to be taken over, and said that, contrary to the persistent rumor, no negotiations had been conducted to that end.

A. Boyd Wilson's Change.

The former salesman of Trujillo & Co., A. Boyd Wilson, has secured the account of G. S. Nicholas & Co., as a special representative. In addition Mr. Wilson will also represent a Tampa manufacturing firm making clear Havana cigars, and will have the entire country as his territory.

Austin, Nichols & Co. Reorganized.

The three years agreement under which the wholesale grocery and cigar house of Austin, Nichols & Co. has been operating expired recently and the following partners will make up the firm as a part of a re-organization plan: James E. Nichols, Thomas M. McCarthy, Thomas W. Ormiston and Walter B. Timms.

The three year period having expired, a new arrangement is made, under which the firm consists of Thomas M. McCarthy, Thomas W. Ormiston and Walter B. Timms, of the old firm, and Harry Balfe, John C. Mahlan and Louis C. Owens, as general partners, and James E. Nichols as a special partner.

The new partners admitted are: Harry Balfe, Lewis C. Owens and John H. Mahlan. The firm will continue the business along conservative, thorough enterprising lines, as heretofore.

Waldorf-Astoria Store Sold.

The branch store at 7 New street has been sold to W. W. St. John Co. This location is said to have been in contemplation by the A. Schulte Co. and is considered a very desirable location.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The local leaf market has been rather inactive during the past week, when general trade was somewhat interrupted by intervening holidays. So far the month is not sizing up to the business done during January. Traveling men report general quietness among manufacturers, and only small sized orders are being secured for leaf. There has been some movement in Ohio tobaccos, but in other varieties of seed leaf no particular activity is noticeable.

The Sumatra market has remained fairly good for the time of the year, and in view of the general conditions in the cigar trade the volume of business done can be regarded as satisfactory.

In Havana tobacco there has been no change. Fairly liberal quantities are being taken, and some inquiries have been coming in for additional supplies.

The cigar manufacturers, generally speaking, are not at all rushed with business, and several of the largest factories in the city took advantage of last Friday's celebration to close down for a short time. It is, however, expected that all will reopen by Monday next.

The operatic play called "In Havana," which has been on at the Lyric, this city, for a short time past, was a unique advertisement of the Cinco cigars of Otto Eisenlohr & Bros. In one of the acts is shown what purported to be a representation of a Cuban cigar factory, and the striking feature of which, say those who were there, was the display of Cinco cigar boxes. It made quite a hit here.

A very interesting event took place in connection with the firm of Shipton & Payne, Philadelphia, on Thursday, February 4, the occasion being the twenty-first anniversary of the birth of Herbert J. Payne. A banquet was given to the employes of the firm, who presented Mr. Payne with a very fine signet ring in appreciation of the good feeling entertained toward him.

Messrs. Shipton & Payne also presented him with a gold watch and chain, in recognition of his six years of faithful service to them, and announced his inclusion in the firm from March 1 next, when the firm will be known as the Shipton & Payne Co.

A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent, the various members of the party contributing songs, toasts and stories, and a wish was expressed that the firm would consider the question of meeting in a similar way annually. The firm is an up-to-date one, and the employes are hustlers.

At a hearing before Magistrate Beaton, Martin H. Rosenblatt, thirty-one years old, of Hobart street, near Master, who was arrested by Patrick Brown, a detective, charged with stealing cigar coupons and wrappers from the branch store of the United Cigar Stores Company, 1010 Market street, was released from custody. Harry Marks, of 5034 Ludlow street, who said he represented the Cigar Stores Company, withdrew the prosecution.

The announcement made in our columns last week to the effect that the United Cigar Stores Co. had secured the S. E. corner of Tenth and Market streets proves to have not been entirely correct, inasmuch as the new store will not occupy the corner, but the premises next door to the corner.

George E. Spotz, late President of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., is leaving for the health resorts, where he will remain some time.

Max Herzog, of P. Dennerlein & Sons, New York, is visiting the Philadelphia trade this week.

Asa Lake, a veteran leaf salesman with George Burghard, is mourning the loss of a fine diamond ring.

Dusel, Goodloe & Co. have disposed of their retail stock and fixtures to C. Schmelz, at 2657 Kensington avenue. The fixtures are now being installed in the new premises.

YORK FACTORIES ARE DULL.

A Few, However, Report Fair or Improving Business.

York, Pa., Feb. 15.

There are but few factories in this section now that have anything like orders enough on hand to continue work with full forces on regular time In York and its immediate vicinity a few factories are operating on fair time while Dallastown shows a few exceptional cases of greater activity. Still a little further down the line, at Red Lion, several manufacturers report having lately added to their force of cigarmakers. Among these are T. E. Brook & Co., H. L. Haines, salesman with this firm, has been on the road almost constantly of late and has secured some good orders, W. H. Gemmill & Co. have also added several hands to their working force.

J. I. Shindler, of Red Lion, who represents a Wisconsin tobacco firm, has recently been on a business trip through New York State and Canada.

A new leaf firm is being started at Red Lion, and will be composed of D. Frank Kaltreider and Jacob Streavig. A warehouse in the rear of the First National Bank building has been secured and they will engage in packing leaf, having already made some purchases.

John F. Reichard has been operating quite extensively of late among the farmers in the lower end of the county, buying tobacco. He also has a buyer or two out for him.

LITTLE DOING IN LANCASTER.

Cased Goods Very Quiet. Packers Receiving New Crops. Annual Meeting of Tobacco Growers.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 15.

There was but little doing in cased goods in this market during the past week, and but one transaction of consequence was reported. There was some business done in a jobbing way, to local manufacturers. No out of town buyers visited us during the week, but packers have been busy in receiving new goods, which have lately been coming forward in large quantities. That the condition of the new goods coming in is satisfactory to packers is quite evident from the fact that no disputes have arisen so far. The crops are running much heavier to the acre this year than last year. This we predicted several months ago, when it was remarked that even if the acreage this year was a trifle below that of 1908 the weight would be more than made up this year, because of a heavier crop, and it is now proving to have been the correct view. No improvement is yet seen in the cigar industry, and in some of the cigar manufacturing towns of the county trade is very dull. In all of the larger factories in this city cigarmakers are working on short time.

Quite a spirited meeting of the Tobacco Growers' Association was held in this city last Monday afternoon, it being the annual meeting and election of officers. The attendance was more than usually large. After re-electing the former officers, who are: President, B. Ezra Herr, West Willow; Vice President, M. L. Greider, Mt. Joy, and Secretary and Treasurer, Geo. Hibshman, Ephrata, the meeting became suddenly enthusiastic over the topics of discussion brought before it, to wit: Tariff Revision and Prices of Tobacco.

Mr. Herr said that some time ago the officers of the Association were asked to meet Senator Boies Penrose at the Arcade Building, Philadelphia, which they did. Mr. Penrose wanted to understand the situation regarding the free trade movement with the Philippines. The committee explained to Mr. Penrose the position of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' Association, and protests from the Association have been filed in Washington and will be printed with the hearings before the Senate committee. During the conference Mr. Penrose stated that there was considerable hope of defeating the bill.

or at least some concessions would be made.

H. C. Reinhold, of East Petersburg, reiterated remarks that he made at former meetings that the association "must be up and doing or President Taft will do us." He thanked the officers for their energy in getting the petitions out but said the work would probably amount to nothing. He concluded by saying work should have been begun a year ago, and then the chances of success would have been better.

A letter from Dr. A. L. Butt, of Kentucky, suggesting the formation of a general society to be composed of members from all tobacco growing districts was also read by President Herr. A similar letter was also received by another member of the association.

Mr. Reinhold informed the members of the good that the growers of Kentucky had derived from co-operation with each other through the organization.

M. L. Greider, of Mount Joy, thought that the growers in the North cannot be governed by conditions in Kentucky, where there is a shortage of 65,000,000 lbs. If there should be no shortage there as here, conditions might be different.

Ezra Reist, of Manheim, believed that the members should harmonize their views and concentrate upon some definite aim.

G. M. Creswell declared that an energetic campaign should be started to secure new members and to have some one present explain to the visitors at the meeting the purposes of the organization. A call was made for the reading of the constitution and bylaws which would explain the objects of the association, and Secretary Hibshman read them.

A question arose over the advisability of revising the constitution and making it up to date. A need of the association as pointed out was the appointment of a committee of three on programme for the next meeting.

Amos Cooper, of Landisville, moved that a committee of three be elected to revise the constitution in order to put the society upon a footing whereby it can be a benefit to the growers in securing for them better prices for their tobacco.

Mr. Reist spoke upon the advisability of forming a new organization for the purpose of raising prices among the growers, but was declared out of order and then the following five were nominated to serve on the Revision Committee: Amos Cooper, of Landisville; H. C. Reinhold, of East Petersburg; John F. Weaver, of Strasburg; William S. Lied, of East Earl, and G. M. Creswell, of Quarryville. Instead of three the five were elected.

Samples of tobacco were shown by members and after a discussion of their relative merits the association adjourned.

A great lot of tobacco has been unloaded lately at Akron; Johns & Gehman have been heavy receivers. Wolf & Hackman and C. F. Steiner are also putting up considerable packings. A. N. Wolf also expects to have about his usual quantity by the close of the season.

Michael Shue pleaded guilty of the theft of seven bales of tobacco from John K. Young of Rapho township. Shue had taken the goods to Mount Joy, and was about to stow them away when he was caught. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and undergo an imprisonment of six months.

Wallace Witwer, a blacksmith at Kissel Hill, this county, has invented an ingenious tobacco press, which it is claimed is far superior to any other in use, and has built and sold quite a number with orders on hand for more. The inventor intends pushing his invention for all it is worth.

At Terre Hill the cigar trade is quite dull at present.

W. J. Holman, leaf buyer for Hart & Murphy, St. Paul manufacturers, has been in the local markets this week seeking old leaf suitable for their trade.

F. L. Clute, of the firm of George M. Wood & Co., Elmira, N. Y., who has been in this market making purchases of the new crop for a few weeks, returned to his home Sunday.—Reporter.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO IN KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE.

[From Bulletin No. 343, U. S. Department of Agriculture.]

INTRODUCTION.

Tobacco belongs to the order of plants commonly known as the nightshade family. Its generic name, "Nicotiana," was given to it in honor of Jean Nicot, French ambassador to Portugal in 1660. When, two years before this, specimens of tobacco had been brought from Mexico to Spain, Nicot secured some of the seeds and sent them to Paris.

There are fifty or more species of the genus Nicotiana, though few of them enter into the commerce of the world. The species grown in the Ohio Valley, the one of chief importance, is Nicotiana tabacum. The aborigines of America grew tobacco long before the advent of the white man. The French explorers Marquette and La Salle found it in cultivation and use by the Indians along the Mississippi and Ohio rivers and their tributaries as early as 1669 and 1673. In 1750, nearly one hundred years later, Capt. Christopher Gist, an agent for the "Ohio Company," came down the Ohio River and found tobacco being grown by a tribe of Indians at Shawneestown, the present site of Portsmouth, Ohio. During this same time tobacco was being grown by the Shawnees at the present site of Indian Fields, Ky., in Clark County.

In 1775 white pioneers migrating westward from Virginia and North Carolina made a permanent settlement at Boonsboro, Ky. Being familiar with the handling of tobacco and its value, they immediately began growing it along with other crops. Soon after the founding of Boonsboro the price of tobacco increased rapidly, which encouraged the tobacco farmers of Virginia and North Carolina to migrate into this new and fertile territory. As early as 1792, when Kentucky was admitted into the Union, settlements were being established throughout the States bordering on the Ohio River. Following the custom in Virginia, tobacco became a medium of exchange. After home consumption had been supplied the surplus was shipped down the Missisippi to New Orleans for exportation. The French settlers of the Illinois country had there been following this method of disposing of their surplus for nearly a quarter of a century. As the population increased, the demands of the home market likewise increased, and in a short while establishments were located at Lexington, Ky., and other points for the purpose of manufacturing plug and twist tobaccos for home consumption. A steadily increasing demand on the home market developed, while the export business dwindled to nothing and was not revived until after the close of the civil war.

In 1866 a very important discovery pertaining to tobacco was made by Mr. George Webb, a farmer living in Brown county, Ohio. He noticed in his fields of tobacco some plants which were light green in color, with cream-colored midribs and stalks. The seed which had produced this type was furnished to Mr. Webb by the United States Commissioner of Patents, in whose office at that time the distribution of seeds under Government auspices was conducted, and these plants were probably mutations, or sports, due to the effect of change in soil or climatic conditions. They were so different in appearance from those which produced red tobacco that Mr. Webb carefully preserved them and saved the seed. It was noticed that tobacco from this selection of seed gave a brighter cured product than the original red tobacco from which it was obtained. The new type of tobacco gained favor rapidly on account of its mild quality and bright silky appearance, and its cultivation soon spread over what is known as the White Burley district. This type now supplies the market with chewing, cigarette, pipe, and cigar tobaccos, but the greater part of it is manufactured into chewing tobacco.

The dark-tobacco district, including western Kentucky, part of western Tennessee, a small area of Missouri, southern Illinois, and southwestern Indiana, produces a dark, heavy type, which is principally exported to European countries.

In view of the fact that Kentucky and the bordering States produce 376,647,000 pounds annually—one-sixth of the total production of the world, and more than one half of the production of the entire United States—of a quality of tobacco which is peculiarly confined on account of soil and climatic conditions to this area, we may expect that a great part of the world will continue to look to this western section for supplies for its consumption.

Much has been written in recent years in regard to the improvement of the tobacco plant by breeding and seed selection, but little reference has been made to the actual field operations employed in the cultivation of the crop in this western section. It is the object of this bulletin to present the best methods of cultivation now in use, with detailed descriptions of the principal operations employed.

THE PLANT BED FOR TOBACCO.

The plant bed should be located on some well-drained spot, with southern and eastern exposure if possible. This gives the maximum amount of sunshine and a protection against the cold northern and western winds. It is a common practice to select a place in the woods where the soil is loose, friable, and rich in humus, but in sections where wooded tracts are scarce plots covered with brier patches or a heavy growth of shrubbery often found in abandoned fields make desirable locations. A good substitute for virgin soil and one often used in the White Burley district is a field bearing a heavy growth of bluegrass sod, but cultivated lands do not give as good results and should not be used if it can be avoided. A few successful farmers use the same bed for several consecutive years. In such cases an application of barnyard manure and tobacco stems or stalks should be made in the fall. During the winter the soluble elements are removed by leaching and carried into the soil. When the time for burning has arrived, the manure and stems are raked off and heaps of waste wood and brush are piled on the bed and burned.

CONN. EXPERIMENTS TO GO ON.

Representative Henry Arranges with Secretary Wilson.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.

Representative Henry has taken up the matter of continuing the tobacco experiments in the Connecticut valley, and has consulted with Secretary Wilson as to the future action of the department. The secretary has agreed with Mr. Henry that he will consult with Dr. Galloway as to what can be done. Secretary Wilson has always been very favorable towards the Connecticut tobacco growers, and believes that these experiments should be continued, but other sections are demanding the services of Dr. J. B. Stewart, and he will probably be taken away from Connecticut.

The idea of the department is, however, that these experiments can now be continued without the assistance of a representative of the department always on the ground, and the suggestion is now being made that the department can assist the growers by having occasional visits of experts to consult and advise the growers. This may be the best the department can do under the circumstances.

The uncertainty as to whether Secretary Wilson will continue in the Cabinet after March 4 makes him slower in deciding a matter of this kind, and the whole thing may go over until the next administration.

To Change Child Labor Law.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 10.

It is proposed to pass a certain measure at this session of the Legislation which will bring about a change in the Child Labor Law.

It is expected that the new measure will have the supporters of the Salus Bill, recognized as the official instrument of the Child Labor Association, agree on one bill, and have it put through.

Chief Factory Inspector John C. Delaney drafted the new bill and it was given to Attorney-General Todd for his opinion. It is generally believed that the latter made some changes in Chief Delaney's bill, but, as it stands now, it is agreeable to the Governor and Attorney-General.

Captain Delaney's bill makes the age limit 16, and for those between 14 and 16 he requires a certificate. He prohibits employment of any one under 18 about machinery in hazardous work. He also prohibits employment of any one under 14 at tobacco stripping, which is certain to call forth protests from some large employers of labor.

It is expected that the advocates of the different bills will come here in force. Hearings will probably be held the latter part of this month or in March.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The news received this week from Wisconsin is to the effect that the buying movement is still being pushed and a good share of the crop has been picked up at prices ranging from 8 to 10½ cents, and two to three cents for the fillers. Well these prices correspond very favorably with the prices in Massachusetts, but are not up to the prices in Connecticut. What is the reason that the farmers on one side of an imaginary line should receive 20 cents, in bundle, whilst those on the other side of that line should be obliged to sell tobacco, that at the time of harvesting one can not tell which plant grew on this or that side of the line, at so low a price? It cannot be said to be because of late setting, for the farmers have for years been at the setting before the farmers of Connecticut. Our harvesting is always earlier than in Connecticut. Is it because the growers of this State fail in their cultivation, or is it in the manner of fertilization? Perhaps in this matter is the point of failure; but somewhere, somehow, there seems to be a mistake. It cannot be a lack of quality of fertilizer applied to the crop, for many of our farmers are very liberal in supplying plant food to their land. Now if we cannot discover the cause I think it might be well to move in a body to Connecticut, and see if we cannot kill tobacco growing in the Nutmeg State. Misery loves company.

Our correspondents write:

Montague, Mass.: "I have the following sales of tobacco to report. Donaldson Brown to McHugh 3 acres 1908 at 13½ cents in bundle. A. M. Lyman 4 acres at 3 cents, F. T. Lyman 4 acres at about 9 cents, also 2 acres 1907 at 9½ cents. Most of the tobacco at harvest was considered very fine."

Agawam, Mass: "Tobacco is mostly sold in this section, prices being from 10 to 13 cents in bundle. The acreage will be decreased the coming year."

Montague, Mass.: "Nearly all the tobacco in town is disposed of to L. L. Pease and John McHugh of Hatfield, Mass., at from 9 to 13 cents. Some of the best tobacco that has been grown in the valley was grown in Montague 1908 crop."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "I report the sale by Patrick Connelly of five acres of hail cut tobacco at 9¾ cents to Soloman of New York. The crops of four Poles, of from one to two acres each at 6½ to 7 cents, to Soloman. Mr. Wolfram has taken 80 cases from the sweat room and sampled the same and sent the samples to New York. Mr. Soloman has bought within a few days from 35 to 40 tons in this vicinity at a low price. Mr. Swift has assorted this winter 746 cases mostly for people in this vicinity. The bulk of the crop in this vicinity has been sold, and at very low prices. Probably it would not average more than 10 cents in bundle. It is reported that only five crops remain unsold in Deerfield, and not large ones at that."—American Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville.—There have been no new buyers in the market during the past week and only a small portion of the crop remains unsold. J. W. Upson has a large force at work at his warehouse handling the new crop and F. M. Dunham has a force at work at his warehouse handling crops for the farmers.

Meridian.—The tobacco assorting room of H. A. Slight started up last week with 33 men. There are many tobacco buyers who are fairly falling over each other after tobacco.—Gazette

Fulton.—Orville Gifford has been busy this week taking in tobacco he has purchased in this vicinity for shipment. It has been loaded at the D., L. & W. freight depot. Mr. Gifford has also been receiving tobacco at Baldwinsville.—Observer.

EDGERTON, WIS.

While the buying movement is hardly being pushed as strongly as for a few weeks past, in the aggregate a good deal of tobacco is being lifted all the time. There are indications that the American Tobacco Co. has about filled their orders for low grade goods for the present, but another branch of the trust, the American Cigar Co., have their buyers out again moving some of the better grades. The following sales show the range of prices:

Ladd & Flom, 20a at 9 and 2c.
Walter Marsden, 7a at 9 and 2c.
G. G. Krustu, 7a at 8 and 2c.
And. Anderson, 4½a at 8½ and 2c.
Wm. Barber, 7a at 7½c.
J. C. Philpot, 10a at 7 and 2c.
Frank Pfaff, 10a at 7 and 2c.
Ole Gilbertson, 8a at 7 and 2c.
Thomas Skrenes, 10a at 7 and 2c.

A good deal of '07 in first hands is also being marketed at prices ranging from 10 cents down, according to quality.

There is a moderate demand for old leaf but the price stands in the way of large transactions.

Deliveries continue at about an even pace at receiving points and warehouse handling is going along quite satisfactory.

Vol. XXIX., No. 8 PHILADELPHIA, FEBRUARY 24, 1909 One Dollar the Year

TO RECOMMEND TARIFF BOARD.

Resolution Will be Offered with Report on Schedules, March 15.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.

Information that has filtered from the secret meetings being held by the Ways and Means Committee for the consideration of the tariff schedules supports the belief that one of the chief recommendations that will be made in the Payne bill will be for the creation of a permanent tariff commission.

While it was originally intended to leave this matter to the discretion of the House in its entirety, the committee has lately determined to embody such a resolution in the bill that will be reported on March 15.

President elect Taft, it was learned, expressed his views very clearly as to the establishment of such a commission in private talks with various members of the Senate and House while he was in this city Tuesday and Wednesday.

According to the statement made by the President-elect in these private talks, he favors the appointment of a commission whose powers shall be limited to investigation.

The commission would be authorized to investigate the cost of production and the selling prices here and abroad and report its findings to the Ways and Means Committee. It would not be authorized, however, to fix any of the tariff schedules or even make suggestions.

Mr. Taft believes that for the commission to fix the rates would be a violation of the Constitution. The commission would simply be a guide and source of information in the alterations that may be made in the tariff in the future. The President elect believes that this would prevent any wholesale changes, such as might disturb business conditions, in the future. The commission would report on certain schedules now and then, and upon these reports changes would be made from time to time.

Congressmen who have made efforts to learn just what changes the present Ways and Means Committee is making in the tariff are finding themselves up against a pretty stiff problem, because of the secrecy maintained by the members.

Ohio Men to Operate in Florida.

Springfield, O., Feb., 17.

James P. Goodwin, C. A. Allen, W. S. Huffman and Frank C. Clark have incorporated the Gadsden Tobacco Company with a capital stock of $75,000. The papers of incorporation were taken out in Columbus, Thursday.

The company, although organized in Ohio, will engage in business in Florida, where it has large land holdings in Gadsden county and expects to raise tobacco. The headquarters of the company, however, will be retained in Springfield.

DAYTON LEAF TOBACCO MEN MAKE MERRY.

Hold Their First Annual Banquet at the Phillips House and Have Such a Good Time that They Decide to Repeat it Annually.

Dayton, O., Feb. 16.

The most pronounced feeling of harmony and good fellowship prevailed at the first annual banquet of the Ohio Leaf Tobacco Association, held at the Hotel Phillips, last Thursday evening. Men who have often been engaged in fierce competition from a business standpoint with one another, laid aside their petty differences and sat around the festal board together. So satisfactory did the whole affair prove that it was unanimously decided to make the event an annual one.

So far as the feast was concerned, it may be said in a word that there was plenty to eat and drink with a little bit over. On the menu card a rather interesting feature was the naming of the dishes according to brands of cigars or grades of tobacco. When the sumptuous repast had been partaken of cigars and cigarettes were passed around, and with the air redolent with the fumes of the much-craved weed the toasts were begun.

W. J. Lukaswitz, of the firm of Wolf & Lukaswitz, made a capable toastmaster. When the set speeches had been delivered he called upon other guests for impromptu remarks.

The first address of the evening was delivered by S. M. Krohn, the recently retired President of the Association. In order to be present on this glad occasion he had left a sick bed, he stated. His earnest plea was for a better feeling among the tobacco packers and he urged the members to lay aside their little feeling of animosity and band together with the idea of benefiting one another.

It is a strange thing, he said, to see men who for years were kept apart by such feeling, sitting together as brothers. Mr. Krohn thought that this memorable occasion was the foundation for a fellowship that would be lasting.

Walter B. Brenner, recently elected President, in the place of Henry M. Allen, who was unable to be present on account of illness, followed next in a short address. He spoke much along the same line. Associations in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and elsewhere had accomplished much that was beneficial to the packer and there was no reason why the same should not be true in Ohio. Especially, he urged the packers to be present at the meetings of the body.

Charles Solliday, formerly of New York, but more recently of Dayton, was introduced as a tobacco packer of national reputation. Very ably he handled his subject, "Duties of Leaf Tobacco Packers," and pointed out clearly what revolutions in the business should occur. He divided his topic into three divisions: the packer's duty to the farmer; to his labor; and to the consumer. The farmer should be educated along the lines of scientific farming, he thought, and learn how to treat his land and crop so that so much money would not have to be spent by the packer in making the weed suitable. So far as labor is concerned, he said that Dayton is far below the standard of some other cities and also in the efficiency of its employes. Lax methods prevail, he declared, stating that one man can leave one place and secure employment from another without even securing a recommendation from the firm for which he last worked. Packers should join hands in endeavoring to so educate labor that it will produce the greatest amount of work, according to the opinion expressed by Mr. Solliday.

Impromptu speeches were made by Charles Dodds, of Miamisburg; Stanton Brenner, of Greenville; L. A. Wheeler, C. D. Wolf, D. Ritter, of Cincinnati; Julius Kastrainer, of Cleveland; George B. Massy, of Florida; Z. Hanna, A. S. Gans, Charles Stroble, F. E. Fritch and Ollie Roop. All were in a happy vein and teemed with bright hopes for the future of the association.

When the last speech had been delivered, the tables were cleared away, small card tables took their places, and the members enjoyed games until a late hour.

Wisconsin Forbids Use of Coupons in Tobacco Packages.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 17.

The American Tobacco Company and the W. T. Blackwell Company, makers of Duke's Mixture and Bull Durham tobaccos, have been forced to recall all packages of tobacco in the State that contain coupons good for cigarette papers as a result of the recent decision of the Supreme Court against the selling of tobacco that contains these coupons. The court held that the sale of these packages was in direct violation of the cigarette law. The exchange of packages containing coupons for those that do not contain them has cost the makers of these two brands of tobacco thousands of dollars.

New Warehouse at Rocky Mount.

Rocky Mount, N. C., Feb. 17.

Work has begun upon the erection of a tobacco waerhouse by Contractor H. S. Pool to be built for W. E. Fenner upon the vacant lot where formerly was the Davis warehouse. The work of excavating is being pushed rapidly and this will have been completed during the present week.

—The Joint Stock Cigar Co. has been organized at Denver, Col., by C. W. Stone, William Gahan and Catherine Gahan, all of Denver. The capital is $25,000.

KENTUCKY EXPECTS BIG CROP.

All Indications are Said to Point That Way.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 17.

Commenting on the outlook for a bumper tobacco crop this year, the Glasgow Times says:

Beyond dispute or peradventure, the most tremendous tobacco crop in all the world's history will go into the ground this spring. If the farmers do not stand together in selling their crop of 1909, their tobacco will go for nothing and their work go to the tobacco trust. The coming 12 months will be the crucial period with all the tobacco associations.

Perhaps the situation is not so gloomy as the Times believes but the good prices prevailing for tobacco will have a tendency to cause many farmers to increase their acreage, and unless the organizations of growers can control the matter it is very probable that a bumper crop will be raised. The Green River district is well organized, and there seems to be no doubt but what the acreage can be held down in this district. If the organizations in the other districts can handle the situation as well as it will be handled in the Green River district, it is hardly probable that the crop will be unusually large. It would be rank folly for the farmers to destroy all they have accomplished in the past three years by withdrawing from the organizations and every man raise as much tobacco as he can cultivate. There may be some who will be that short sighted, but it is widely believed that the great mass of them will comply with the acreage restrictions of the organizations.

ORDERED 1,250,000 CINCOS.

Burdell-Cooper Tobacco Co., Augusta, Gives Mammoth Order.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 17.

It is hard for the ordinary man to conceive of a single jobbing house buying and selling 1,250,000 cigars of one brand.

That is, however, just what Burdell-Cooper Tobacco Company, at 718 Broad street, Augusta, Ga., have done—they have bought one million, two hundred and fifty thousand Cinco cigars. They will sell them too, and easily as the Cinco cigar is a famously good five cent cigar—a cigar of satisfaction.

It is made possible for Burdell-Cooper Tobacco Company to handle this enormous number of cigars, because it is the Cinco—and the Cinco is such a big seller because it's always the same and always good.

—The L. Singer Cigar Co., of Jersey City, to do a wholesale and retail cigar and tobacco business, has been incorporated with a capital of $25,000. The incorporators are Louis Singer, Bertha Singer and Jacob J. Singer, all of Jersey City.

KENTUCKY TOBACCONIST DIES.

Representative of the Gallaher Interests Passes Away.

Louisville, Ky., Feb., 18.

W. H. Ryan, manager of the Gallaher tobacco interests in this section of the State, died this week of pneumonia. He had been ill several weeks but was thought to be recovering. He suffered a relapse last Saturday. He was sixty-five years old. He had been in the employ of the company twenty-five years and came to Henderson in 1891. Previously he was State manager in Missouri, with headquarters in St. Louis.

Success of Joplin Supply House.

Joplin, Mo., Feb. 18.

Its fourth year finds the Joplin Tobacco Company the seat of distribution in the Southwest for all lines of smokers' supplies and an established business house of merited integrity.

As a wholesale firm the Joplin Tobacco Company has maintained a just and equitable trade on a quick-sale, small-profit basis with its retailing cilents. The offices and salesrooms are situated at No. 116-118 East Fifth street.

The company's complete line of supplies also explains its rapid growth. In their salesrooms are displayed plugs, cuts, mixtures and twists, tobaccos of recognized merit, Cuban and Manilan cigarros, Turkish and Egyptian cigarettes, and in cigars, the stock of the Joplin Tobacco Company embraces leading domestic brands, clear Havanas, Pittsburg stogies and Virginia cheroots. The company's extensive line of pipes includes a variety from cob to meerschaum, pipes of fancy designed stems and bowls according to the creation of the manufacturer.

Regensberg's American and Berriman Brothers' Imperator are leading brands of clear Havanas, which this company has pushed to the front. In ten-cent domestic brands, Caswell Club and Barrister are prominent, while the company's popular five cent brands include Anna Held, Cinco, Spana Cuba and "319."

American Abandons Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 17.

Notice has been filed at Jefferson City by Paul Brown, Resident Director of the American Tobacco Company, that the American Cigar Company had withdrawn from the State of Missouri. The company had some capital invested in the State, but having disposed of all its property and having ceased doing any business in the State, Mr. Brown said that it was deemed best to make a formal notification of the withdrawal of its enterprises therefrom. Nothing has been given out as to intentions for the future, but it is not believed to be likely that the company will resume business in Missouri, as it is concentrating its efforts elsewhere.

New Buyers Keep Havana Leaf Market Active.

The Increased Demand Tends to Keep Prices Firm. Continued Reports of Depletion of Stocks in the Country Aid Sales of Some Leaf Hitherto Thought Undesirable, and an Opening May be Made for the 1907 Tobacco Still on Hand.

(Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.)

Havana, Cuba, February 15, 1909.

Owing to the continued arrivals of new buyers from the United States our market has kept its activity, and our resident American export houses have also helped the movement by further purchases, thus keeping the prices at their present level. While the weekly receipts from the country during the past week show that 1,416 bales had arrived from Santa Clara Province, they are, however, not all for sale in our market, and besides they consistcd of inferior styles to some extent, which, owing to the scarcity of Remedios, may find buyers who are not too exacting in their demands. Heavy styles of Semi Vuelta and Vuelta Abajo, fit for mixing purposes, have found buyers quite readily. Partido wrappers and binders are called for, although buyers are very particular regarding the burn, and for this reason they are not so easily satisfied.

Some of our local cigar manufacturers are looking around in the market to pick up the few vegas of the 1908 Vuelta Abajo crop which are still unsold, and this notwithstanding the faet that the cigar industry is by no means lively, but it seems there is a fear that the 1909 growth may be partly of too heavy a nature. However, as there is very little left of so-called factory vegas of last year's crop, which is of light body and of good aroma, they will readily disappear now.

There is still a good supply left of 1907 Vuelta Abajo and the low grades of Remedios, third capaduras and manchados of last year's crop, and owners are willing to part with them at very reasonable figures.

Sales

during the past week total 6,031 bales, consisting of 2,931 Vuelta Abajo, 500 Partido, and 2,600, Remedios.

For the American market 4,181 bales were purchased, for export to Europe 500, and for local consumption 1,350.

The exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past week were:

To the United States	5,860	bales
To Europe (Germany 266 and London 85)	351	"
To South America	110	"
Total	6,321	"

Havana Cigar Manufacturers

are pegging away upon the orders on hand, and it seems that there is really a change for the better, so far as the export demand is concerned. Notwithstanding the poor year, in 1908, according to internal revenue statistics the island of Cuba consumed 250 million cigars, which is, proportionately, in excess of the quantity made and consumed in the United States. Cuba, with two million inhabitants, consumes 125 cigars per capita per year, so the United States ought to consume, with eighty million inhabitants, in the same proportion ten thousand million cigars, and so far the highest figures reached were only eight thousand millon per year. Our large factories which cater principally for the export demand, pay little attention to the home consumption, as the latter calls principally for cheap cigars.

H. Upmann & Co., exported 500,000 cigars during the past week. The H. Upmann factory had to seat more cigarmakers, owing to a largely increased demand for their famous cigars.

Sol is doing a very good business at present, and Behrens & Co. have no reason to complain of lack of orders.

Buying, Selling and Other Notes of Interest.

S. Wallach, who left on the 13th instant, per steamer Saratoga, has purchased in all 2,500 bales of choice leaf for his firm of G. Falk & Bro., New York.

Walter Sutter was a buyer of between 590 and 600 bales of leaf tobacco for Jacob Sutter & Sons, Chicago.

Bruno Diaz & Co. were sellers of 500 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

Sol Hamburger has rolled up his purchases to nearly 1,000 bales on this trip.

Muniz Hnos. & Co. turned over 600 bales of Vuelta Abajo during the past eight days.

D. Elkan was a heavy buyer from Sylvester & Stern, although the exact quantity could not be ascertained.

Sobrinos de A. Gozalez sold 400 bales of all kinds of leaf last week.

Louis Cantor has purchased nearly 800 bales of leaf tobacco during his stay here.

Cardenas & Co. disposed of 300 bales of their choice Vuelta Abajo holding.

I. Bernheim & Sons are reported to have increased their holdings of Remedios leaf.

F. E. Fonseca made some excellent purchases of selected vegas from the lowland section of the Vuelta Abajo, which had been previously reserved for him.

A. M. Calzada & Co. closed out 500 bales of their Remedios holdings.

Don Antonio Calzada is the owner of some very fine heavy Partido fillers.

HOPE BRIGHTENS IN BOSTON.

Continued Improvement Noted in Trade at The Hub, and General Confidence is Increasing.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World" 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, Mass., Feb. 22.

There has been very little change in the business situation since my last letter; trade continues to improve, and the prospect of a good spring business looks very favorable. Retailers are placing orders for new store fixtures, cash register concerns are receiving orders for future delivery, and these straws serve to show the trend of the business current. In conversation with several manufacturers of cigar show cases they report a steady increase in their trade. Business with our large local cigar manufacturers is quiet. In the hope of increasing the sale of union made cigars, the Cigarmakers' Union is distributing plenty of advertising matter. Many of our retailers have had their windows trimmed this week in holiday attire on account of the Lincoln and Washington anniversaries. The former holiday was not generally observed here.

H. S. Lederer, of New York, is in town this week. Mr. Lederer is showing an excellent line of imported pipes from the factory of A. Oppenheimer & Co., London, for whose account he is the sole representative in the United States. Mr. Lederer has several big accounts in Boston. He is also U. S. selling agent of the famous Luntin smoking mixture, made in Scotland.

J. Kroog (Wm. Demuth & Co.) is at the American House showing samples of the new spring styles of briar and meerschaum pipes.

O. P. Altgeld (Schinasi Bros.) was in town several days. Mr. Altgeld reports an increasing business on their latest creation, Royal cigarettes.

The new No. 20 size of Melachrino cigarettes is moving along nicely and jobbers are eager to push their sale, as the manufacturers of this brand will not stand for any price cutting, and so the jobbers are assured of a substantial profit on the goods.

George K. Diller, representing W. W. Russell Card Co., the manufacturers of "The Playing Cards that Slide," took some nice orders here this week.

A. Bloom (Butler-Butler Co.) was here Friday taking orders for the famous Pall Mall cigarette.

The Turco American Tobacco Co., New York, will soon place on this market a new 10 cent package of cigarettes, called Zer. The cigarette will be made plain tip only. In each package will be a coupon, 450 of which will be redeemed by the company for five dollars cash. Sam Marcuson, who represents this concern, will put to work a crew of clever salesmen, and great things are expected of the new brand.

The Mandel Cigar Co. is placing with the trade a cigar called West End Nickel. The quality of this cigar can't be beaten for the money. A price ticket, quite original in design, goes with each box, and bears the following legend, "Beats 'em All for 5c." The cigar is getting a good distribution.

M. Roitman, who several months ago started in the wholesale and retail cigar business on Beach street, is slowly, but surely, getting there. His retail busi-

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, February 23.

New York Leaf Market.

With a majority of the leaf tobacco houses of this city there was experienced during the past week an exceptionally dull period. There was a little nibbling at Pennsylvania and Wisconsin tobaccos, but the volume of transactions actually consummated was not of a nature calculated to greatly encourage the leaf man, but indicative rather that the manufacturers are still all at sea as to the prospects for an early and complete revival of business. As it is, February promises to close one of the slowest months that has been experienced in many years among cigar manufacturers. It almost seems that the nearer the month is to a close the more unfavorable the conditions are becoming. Yet a careful survey of the existing conditions will reveal some hope that after the Presidential inauguration there is likely to come some change for the better. The tariff problems seem to be the great factor in the present unsettled conditions, not only in the cigar and tobacco trade, but in all industries that are at all likely to be in any way affected by the tariff revision. Some activity is reported from Ohio, where the buying movement has been progressing, while from Pennsylvania and Wisconsin those activities are rapidly subsiding. In Pennsylvania, in particular, it must be expected that the activity is nearly over, because the remaining crops are getting few and far between.

Sumatra has been selling in a fairly moderate degree, and although the inscriptions are now close at hand all are not so convinced that the new goods will be a more advantageous purchase, because it is yet impossible to prophesy what the ruling prices may be, although it is reported to be a generally good crop.

Havana tobacco is moving rather freely considering the conditions of the market generally. In Havana the market has lately shown considerable activity.

Importers Discuss Prices.

A movement is on foot looking toward the maintenance of prices by importers of cigars, and with such an object in view a meeting of the representatives of leading importing houses was recently held.

The movement was headed by Harry Rich Mooney, now President of the importing firm of Michaelis & Lindeman, and who has expressed himself as greatly opposed to the practice of selling imported cigars to consumers at wholesale prices. He desires an equitable price list, and one to which the importer, agent and retailer can consistently adhere, and by the adoption of which he thought the practice which is declared to be fast becoming a usual occurrence, might be prevented as far as possible.

The movement is receiving the support of the larger importing houses in this city, and at another meeting which is soon to be held it is believed that plans can be formulated which will be agreeable to all concerned.

American's Latest Offering.

The Corker brand of plug chewing tobacco is the latest offering of the American Tobacco Co. It is sold to the trade at 26 cents per pound. The plugs are three by six inches in size, weigh five ounces, and retail at ten cents each.

Watson's Leaf Business to Continue

The leaf tobacco business of the late Geo. V. Watson, which was principally the importing of Havana tobacco, is to be continued by Chauncey R. Watson, a brother of the deceased, and who is the sole executor of the estate. Chauncey Watson, had been for some years engaged in railroad work, and recently came to New York from Louisville, Ky. The business is to continue under the old firm name of Geo. V. Watson & Co.

Vallens Returns from Cuba.

Eugene Vallens, the well known manufacturer of clear Havana cigars, has recently returned from Cuba, where he had gone for the purpose of procuring a sufficient supply of such leaf tobacco as would meet his requirements. It is stated, however, that he failed in securing a supply of leaf of the kind he wanted, and that as a result he has also decided to defer the beginning of cigar manufacturing until later in the year, by which time he believes he can secure as much tobacco as he desires of the kind he wants for his special purpose.

The Formal Organization of E. M. Schwarz & Co.

A meeting of the directors of the recently incorporated concern of E. M. Schwarz & Co. was held last week, at which time the officers of the company were elected, as follows: D. Emil Klein, President; Jos. B. Wertheim, Vice President and Treasurer, and Louis Cahn, Secretary.

Everything is now in working order, and the output of the firm during the month of February promises to keep pretty well up to the standard. Additional salesmen have been engaged, and much activity is displayed on all sides.

Waldorf-Astoria Retail Stores.

With the announcement of the sale of the branch store of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Co. at 7 New street, to W. W. St. John, who already had a goodly number of stores in his chain, quickly began rumors that the firm contemplates the disposal of all its retail establishments, and the sale to Mr. St. John may be regarded as only the forerunner of what is likely to follow.

It is stated that this course has been decided upon in consequence of the large and growing magnitude of the firm's wholesale and jobbing business, to which particular field the management desires to devote its entire energy. The wholesale department has been very carefully watched from the beginning of the house, and its progress has been most rapid and satisfactory. They have been enjoying a unique and almost exclusive business which it is declared has possibilities of even much greater development.

The latest rumor is that the United Cigar Stores Co. has entered into negotiations with a view to taking over the stores.

Death of Frank Lange.

Frank Lange, of the Sumatra importing firm of L. Schmid & Co., died last Saturday, at his home, 128 West 118th street. He had been for many years connected with the tobacco business in this city, and since 1894 was a member of the firm of L Schmid & Co. He is survived by a widow and three sons.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

Buisness with the leaf trade remains rather quiet, and yet we find little complaint in the trade this week. Between orders received from traveling salesmen and mail orders the week's transactions have not totalled up badly. It must be remembered, too, that holidays have occurred lately at frequent intervals, which had a natural tendency to upset business somewhat. Therefore, while there was not what might be called an active market, there was some business done, and things look fairly good, taken altogether.

Sumatra sold in small quantities with a steady demand, and Havana shows no abatement yet. In fact, it is confidently expected that the market will soon become even more active, when the trade discovers that there is not an over-abundance of stock of a desirable character.

In the cigar manufacturing industry there was a moderate volume of business done, and some of the factories took advantage of the several holidays in closing down, thereby not increasing stock in hand any more than could be helped. From all reports it would seem that the demand for goods from the more distant points is really better than locally. There have been a few out of town buyers in the city lately who placed rather liberal orders for future delivery, and mail orders are not bad, either. So that, while the output for the month will probably not show any great progress, yet there is much confidence that we are nearing a turning point in trade conditions. It is generally believed that within a short time there will begin a fairly good business.

The retailers are not particularly jubilant at present, and few of them seem to have derived much benefit from the recent holidays. Sales were hardly up to the average during the past week, but then the weather conditions for the most part have not been at all favorable, and one and all are longing for the beginning of the "open door" season. It is not believed that the Lenten period will very greatly affect the retail business. At least that has been the experience in previous years.

There were a few visiting leaf men in town lately, but none of them can boast of remarkable sales so far as we can learn. Mr. Sucovice, a leaf dealer of New York, spent several days in town, and then started on a trip through the State. Teo. Bixbee, of the Florida Tobacco Co., stopped off here just long enough to shake hands with some of his regulars, and then departed for points in the interior of the State. Max. Herzog, with P. Dennerlein & Sons, left here some days ago for a few days recreation at the shore.

Fred. A. Fowler, who has long been well known in the retail trade of this city, has connected himself with W. H. O'Keefe, and has for several months past had charge of the stores at 34 South Fifth street and at Ninth and Walnut streets.

Mr. Fowler is among the greatest window dressers in the city, and a great many of the more than usual attractions in window trims must be credited to Mr. Fowler's ideas. At present he is engaged in doing some very effective work of that kind at 34 South Fifth street.

The United Cigar Stores Co. has evidently completed plans for extending its chains to points in the city which they have heretofore not made any special effort to get into. It is stated that they have secured a location at Seventh street and Girard avenue. This seems a likely location for the United, although there are now several stores in the immediate vicinity, but then that never deters the United in its operations.

Chas. C. Gross & Co., who have for many years been among the most prominent cigar and tobacco jobbing houses in the city, have recently been incorporated with a capital of $75,000. Business will be continued at the old stand, and the heads will be Chas. C. Gross and Mr. Gilbert, who has been connected with Mr. Gross for a score of years.

Louis Bornemann, of the Havana importing firm of Mendelsohn, Bornemann & Co., New York, was a recent visitor in this city. Mr. Bornemann has the most kindly feeling for Philadelphia and its citizens, having been himself born and raised in the Quaker City.

Arthur Hagen & Co. have secured the cigarette selling privilege at the American League Base Ball Park for this season. They will undoubtedly make good use of the opportunity to push their special lines of goods still more to the front. And this reminds us that one of the members of the firm a day or two ago remarked to the writer that the sales of the Lynnhaven cigarettes of the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co. have been increasing lately by leaps and bounds, and in fact, that this cigarette is simply exceeding all expectations they ever had.

George Becker, with the Eden factory, has returned from a trip to the extreme West, and was here last week calling on some of his many friends.

Sig. C. Mayer, of Sig. C. Mayer & Co., has returned from a trip through the South, where he met with a very encouraging business.

Herman Krull, son of Chas. A. Krull, the well known cigar and tobacco jobber, has joined the ranks of the benedicts.

Jacob Labe, of the leaf tobacco firm of Jacob Labe & Sons, is among the few Philadelphians whom we have heard of as expecting to attend some of the earlier inscriptions of Sumatra tobacco this year. No definite date has been set, but every preparation is being made for an early start.

Sutters Purchasing Havana Leaf

We have advices from Havana, Cuba, to the effect that Manuel Suarez, of Havana, has made a shipment of 331 bales of Havana tobacco to Jacob Sutter & Sons, 113 Franklin street, Chicago, which will be offered by them to their trade. From all accounts the demand for Havana leaf with that firm has shown a considerable increase recently, indicating that the trade in the West is at least hopeful and confident that there will be a general improvement of trade conditions.

LANCASTER TOBACCO NOTES.

Receiving New Crops Keeps the Packers Moving, but Little is Doing in the Way of Leaf Sales.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb 22

With no particular pressing business in hand, today was pretty generally observed as a holiday and business places were mostly closed. There was a plenty doing during the past week, but not in the way of large sales of leaf tobacco. Attention was absorbed by the new crops coming in, and in the process of packing those already received. The general conditions of the new goods coming in are highly satisfactory, and packers having secured a fairly good supply, even though the prices averaged a little high, feel that they will have something of more than ordinary merit to offer their trade, and when the time comes they will not have any difficulty in disposing of it with a reasonable margin of profit.

Of the new crops there is, indeed, very little that has not been contracted for, and even if the price now took a considerable slump there is not enough left to cut much of a figure if it were all secured at a considerably reduced price.

The excellent weather of the past week has dried up the country roads very greatly, and farmers had a good opportunity of bringing their tobacco to the various delivering points. Judging from the number of teams that were daily to be seen throughout the county hauling tobacco, the growers seemed to be taking full advantage of the favorable conditions.

There is not much to be said of the cigar industry that is favorable, for from nearly all sections come reports of a general dullness. Some manufacturers are still working along, but principally for the purpose of affording some work for their employes, rather than for any demand for goods at present. Of course, not all are fortunate enough to be able to continue piling up stock, and they have had to either curtail the daily output to the lowest possible amount or stop altogether.

A. N. Wolf, of Akron, has returned from a business trip among some of his largest customers, and while he secured a fairly good number of orders, he states that they are mostly for future delivery, and that wholesale houses are not inclined to take in much new stock at present.

C. S. Cooper, of Brownstown, was last week visiting the trade in Altoona and vicinity.

Wm. R. Cooper, leaf tobacco packer of this city, last week held a public sale of his farm stock, which was largely attended by farmers and members of the tobacco trade. Mr. Cooper is turning his attention this year more to the packing of tobacco, and therefore decided to operate his farm on a different plan.

Oscar Altschul, of the Altschul Tobacco Co., Quincy, Fla., was a visitor in this city recently and placed a considerable quantity of his goods here.

Frank F. Bach, of Elias Bach & Sons, was also a visitor in the local leaf market last week.

Chas. Lederman has been visiting the trade in Western Pennsylvania, and communications received from him indicated that he had disposed of several good sized lots of leaf in that section.

The E. L. Nissly & Co. Lancaster warehouse has been receiving a considerable quantity of leaf during the week.

J. W. Brenneman left last week on a short visit to Philadelphia and vicinity.

J. E. Sherts, of the Sherts Cigar Co., had been confined to his home by a severe cold for several days of last week, but is again around as usual.

B. F. Newswanger, who had been for a number of years engaged in the cigar manufacturing business, is turning his attention more largely to the manufacture of ice cream, in which line he is said to have made material progress.

A sale of quite a quantity of leaf tobacco will take place in Lancaster on March 10th, at which time will be offered about 150 cases old resweated Zimmer Spanish tobacco, together with a lot of Connecticut and 1906 Pennsylvania Broadleaf.

What Night Riders Cost Ohio.

The sum of $45,000 is what it cost the State of Ohio to put down the night rider disturbances in Clermont and Brown counties last year. This was developed through the presentation of the so-called emergency appropriation bill in the House of Representatives. It carried a total of $114,745.67, representing the 1908 deficiencies in the various departments of state. The "Night Rider" item was the largest in the inventory, and was paid out to soldiers sent to the infected districts by Gov. Harris to guard the growing crops.—Western Tobacco Journal.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO IN KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE.

[From Bulletin No. 343, U. S. Department of Agriculture.]

THE PLANT BED FOR TOBACCO.

In case the barnyard manure and tobacco stems or stalks have not been previously applied, an application of high grade commercial fertilizer, one containing, say, 10 per cent. of potash, 4 per cent. of nitrogen, and 10 per cent. of phosphoric acid, all in an available form, will give good results. It should be applied at the rate of 100 pounds for every 1,500 square yards. Commercial fertilizers are not extensively used. The farmers as a rule depend entirely upon the natural fertility of the soil to produce the desired growth in the young plants before transplanting.

The preparation of the seed bed is of such importance that neither time nor labor should be spared in making all of the conditions first class. Neglect to have plenty of good plants necessitates the curtailment of a crop and may result in its complete failure.

The main object in burning the bed, so far as the writer can see, is the destruction of weed seeds which would otherwise produce weeds to interfere with the growth of the young plants. Most of the weed seeds are lodged in the upper 2 inches of the soil, and their vitality is readily destroyed by burning or heating the bed. Some mineral plant foods, such as potash salts, are rendered more available by burning, which adds to the store of available potash in soils. On the other hand, organic matter is largely destroyed by the burning, which is detrimental to the extent that it liberates some of the nitrogen, thus reducing the amount available for plant food, and also reduces the moisture-holding capacity of the soil by destroying a part of the humus.

The scarcity of wood has caused the advent of a tobacco bed burner, which is a movable device especially designed for burning plant beds. The furnace is 3 feet wide and 9 feet long and is arranged with a pan on which the soil is placed and roasted for about an hour. The fire is fed under one end, similar to the way an evaporating pan is heated in making molasses. A block of soil 9 feet long, 3 feet wide, and 2 inches deep alongside of the furnace is shoveled into the hopper. During the heating it should be turned over two or three times with a long-handled shovel. The roasted soil is then shoveled out of the hopper back into the hole from which it was taken. This same operation is repeated with the soil on the other side of the furnace. By the time this second block of soil is roasted the soil covered by the furnace is likewise sufficiently heated. Hence, at each setting, a space of 9 feet by 9 feet is burned.

Under ordinary circumstances, 45 to 50 square yards of ground can be burned with this furnace in a day. If a stiff wet clay is being dealt with, more time will be consumed in burning and the area covered in a day will be correspondingly lessened. The principal advantages of the furnace are that the ground can be burned while wet without fear of baking except in the area directly beneath the furnace, a more uniform and thorough burning may be secured, more weed seeds are destroyed, and less wood is required. The furnace is made of sheet iron throughout, costs about $35, and is serviceable for several years. This type of furnace has been in use for four or five years, but has not come into use by a majority of the farmers.

The bed may be burned at any time from November to the last of March. A few farmers burn in the fall, a desirable practice in many respects. The weed seeds are then on top of the ground and the soil is likely to contain less moisture, so that much less fuel is required. Most beds are burned by the open fire method during February and March, as weather conditions are favorable at that time. It is preferable to have the soil as dry as possible in order to avoid baking in burning and to economize time and fuel. If much water has to be evaporated from the soil unnecessary delay is experienced.

A few farmers sterilize their beds with steam.* In this case a steam box of the desired dimensions is constructed and placed over the selected spot, a boiler for supplying the steam being used. Sufficient pressure to destroy all weed seeds can be easily maintained. Beginning with 120 pounds of steam it will be reduced to about 90 pounds in a single operation. While this method of sterilizing has not come into general use, those who have tried it pronounce it a complete success. After the bed is sterilized it is thoroughly worked to a depth of from 2 to 4 inches with hoes, rakes, and disk plows or harrows.

*The method of steam sterilization of tobacco seed beds in the Connecticut Valley, devised by Mr. A. D. Shamel, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, and now in practical and successful use in that region, is as follows: A steam pan is made of sheet iron, 10 feet long, 6 feet wide, and 6 inches deep. Attachments are made which provide for the introduction of steam into this pan and for the connection of the steam hose or pipe running from the steam boiler to the pan. This steam hose should be at least 1 inch in diameter and 50 feet long, so as to permit the supply of an abundance of steam and in order that the box may be moved without moving the steam boiler.

The soil for the seed bed is fertilized and prepared in the same manner as for the sowing of the seed. The pan is turned over a section of this prepared soil and care taken that the edges of the pan sink into the loose soil, so as to prevent the loss of steam under the edges of the pan.

The steam is now turned into the pan, and on being confined under the pan under pressure it rapidly heats the soil to the desired depth. A strong pressure should be maintained in the steam boiler and a full supply turned into the pan.

In the beginning the temperature of the heated soil should be frequently determined. It is desirable to heat the soil to 175 degrees F. to a depth of at least 4 inches and to maintain this temperature for about one hour. This treatment destroys the weed seeds and diseases in the soil and improves the condition of the seed bed soil for the growth of tobacco seedlings.

About 600 square feet of seed bed surface can be treated in one day according to this plan. The tobacco seed should be sowed the following day and lightly raked in.

OUR BOSTON LETTER.

ness is now on a good paying basis, and his wholesale business is increasing daily. Mr. Roitman has two salesmen out canvassing, also two delivery wagons.

Rosenthal Bros.' new Grand Order cigar is gradually finding its way in every good cigar store here. All kinds of advertising is being distributed, including cigar case moisteners, counter stands, and outside wind signs. The quality of the cigar is very good, and the duplicate orders verify this. The sale of R. B. Special is just as good as ever, and it looks as if it is only a question of time when the firm of Rosenthal Bros. will be important factors in the cigar business here.

The grand opening of Phil Melhado's cigar and tobacco store, corner Dudley and Hampden streets, took place Saturday night. The opening was a grand success from a financial stand point. Mr. Melhado is a young man with energy, and with his experience in the line ought to do well. He is using the popular R. B. Special cigar as his 5 cent leader.

At J. O. Cohen's up to date cigar emporium on Bowdoin Square business is coming along nicely since the new year, and Mr. Cohen is confident that the spring trade will show a big improvement in business. In fact Mr. Cohen has intentions of purchasing another cash register to facilitate matters during the rush hours. This cigar store is kept as clean and as bright as a new silver dollar, and the window displays are always unique and original, and when it comes to painting the window hangers Mr. Cohen has but few equals.

The statistics were compiled by Deputy Revenue Collector R. C. Liggitt from reports received from the various manufacturers. Owing to a lull in the cigar and tobacco markets the output was not as large as during the preceding year.

Tobacco to the amount of 113,385,640 pounds was used in the manufacture of the cigars. The value of the Government stamps required for the output was $394,019.61. In the production of the cigarettes or small cigars 1,075 pounds of tobacco were required. The sale of the stamps for this purpose netted Uncle Sam $188.10.

In the various tobacco factories in the division stamps for the manufactured product were used to the amount of $16,892.31. The scrap tobacco manufacturers purchased 335,201 pounds of leaf and 219,113 pounds of scrap weed for use in their factories during the past year.

In accord with a ruling of the internal revenue department the deputy collectors are required to visit all the factories in their divisions each year and secure inventories of the amount of tobacco and cigars handled and the stock on hand. Penalties are provided for the failure of the reports to be made.

Trade conditions have not materially changed since the compilation of the above figures were completed. In fact, it is said to be more than ordinarily dull, and there is no particular increase of activity looked for yet for several weeks.

The retail trade of this city has found a falling off in the volume of business done in many instances, and it is argued that if it is dull in York it is also likely to be dull elsewhere, and that a much greater volume of business is simply not to be had.

Even though it is admittedly dull, Red Lion seems to be stirring up more activity than any of the other cigar towns in the county just now. W. M. Gemmill & Co. have again added several cigarmakers to their force.

Chas. A. Rost, leaf tobacco dealer, who was in a York hospital for several weeks as a result of an operation, has returned to his home, much improved.

D. A. Horn, of the Red Lion Tobacco Co., has returned from a purchasing expedition to Connecticut.

Miller Bros., cigar box manufacturers, have purchased a 14 feet wide plot of ground adjoining their factory building, and will now erect a drying kiln 125 feet long and 20 feet wide. Work will be commenced forthwith.

G. W. Gable, of Windsor, finds business slowly recovering and has increased his force of cigarmakers somewhat during the past week.

N. Gladfelter, proprietor of the Mt. Vernon Cigar Factory at Seven Valley, recently returned from a visit to New York and vicinity.

—Fletch Quigley is about to open a new cigar factory at Unionville, Mo.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

Our correspondents write:

North Hadley, Mass.: "Tobacco nearly all sold. I report the following sales recently. George M. Crafts, 15 acres at 13 cents in bundle; H. E. Hibbard, 5 acres, 11½ cents in bundle; A. Grabin 14 acres at 17 cents assorted, fillers out."

Feeding Hills, Mass.: "Tobacco is nearly all sold in this vicinity at prices ranging from 8 to 12½ cents, but very much of it remains to be delivered. Three car loads were shipped from here last week to the American Tobacco Co. in Virginia; three more car loads will be shipped this week. The farmers talk discouragingly about growing tobacco, but as far as I know there will be about the usual acreage set out this year to try it once more."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "I report the sale by John Slattery of 5 acres of tobacco in bundle to John Decker of South Deerfield, Mass. Mr. Swift recently removed from the sweater 170 cases, refilling the emptied room with the same number of cases. Mr. Swift is storing 100 cases of sweat goods at his warehouse for Isaac Meyer of New York. He is in hopes to fill the sweating room once more this spring, as it will be necessary for him to partly fill it from his own sorting. But very few lots remain unsold in this vicinity."—American Cultivator.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The work of gathering in the balance of last season's tobacco crop goes pretty steadily on. A strong force of buyers is still maintained in the field and the aggregate sales will foot very nearly up to those of recent weeks. It is generally conceded that fully 75 per cent of the crop has been lifted, and where growers are willing to accept the going figures the balance seems likely to be taken over within a reasonable time. Some of the better crops are bringing very nearly the figures paid for early selections and yet the bulk of the sales continue around seven cents. The following transactions are reported:

W. J. Smart, 20a at 9¼ and 3¼c.
T. F. Condon, 5a at 9 and 2½c.
Chris Biederman, 25a at 7 and 3c.
Fethers & Jeffris, 20a at 7 and 3c.
Elling Hermonson, 11a at 8½c.
Mrs. O. P. Saunders, 12a at 7½c.
Peter Skaar, 8a at 7½c.
Otto Johnson, 7a at 7 and 3c.
Fred McNeil, 7a at 7½ and 3c.
E. E. Turner, 6a at 7c.
Wm. Onsrud, 3a at 7c.
Antone Onsrud, 18a at 6½c.
John Onsrud, 5a at 6½c.
John Wille, 5a at 7c.

The demand for all low grades is particularly strong. The sale of the entire holdings of one of the large packers, reaching above a million pounds, has been effected this week. The market for old leaf continues uneventful. We learn, however, of the sale of 100 cases of '06 by M. H. Ford, a 59 case lot by Linaas & Leary and 66 cases by Haberson & Bitters to Hart & Murphy, St. Paul manufacturers.

NEW CIGAR SELLING PLAN.

To Stop Price Cutting in Grocery and Department Stores. Profit Destroyed by Their Methods.

New York, Feb. 25, 1909.

Price cutting has gone to such lengths in the retail tobacco trade that dealers are showing a strong disposition to come to a common agreement to maintain prices so as to reap a fair rate of profit in their business. Thus on the Pacific Coast two of the leading companies have entered into an agreement to maintain the standard price of 25 cents on all cigarettes manufactured to sell at that figure. There are several brands of cigarettes which in the East as well as the West have in consequence of keen rivalry had their price reduced from 25 to 20 cents and in some cases as low as 17 cents, which has put all chance of profit for the middleman out of the question. Some of the largest retail merchants of the country are making an effort to return to a profitable basis in selling cigarettes, and fresh conferences to that end will be held similar to those held during the past two or three months, which so far have been ineffectual.

Informal meetings of a like character have recently been held by importers of Havana cigars with a view to putting the trade on an equitable basis for the retailer. If general support is forthcoming from the retailers it is expected that the sale of Havana cigars will be considerably increased in the United States. It is a common complaint among these importers and retail dealers that large wholesale grocers, department stores and hotel companies allow their customers who take large quantities to buy cigars from them at little or no increase above cost price, thus making it almost impossible for the ordinary cigar dealer to compete with them, since he is dependent for his livelihood on a legitimate profit. The agent and the cigar dealer with a store finding it almost impossible to realize a profit on imported cigars, naturally endeavor to push other lines that pay for the expense and labor involved in their sale.

Imported cigars and cigarettes pay a customs duty of $4.50 per pound and 25 per cent. ad valorem. Cigars pay an internal revenue tax of $3 per 1000 and must be imported in cases or packages of not less than 3000. The internal revenue tax on cigarettes is $3 per 1000, weighing over 3 pounds per thousand and £1 per 1000 when weighing under 3 pounds.

"It is quite true," said a retail dealer yesterday when questioned on the subject. "There is very little profit for us left in the imported cigar trade. Dealers expect to get cigars from the Havana houses for 5 per cent. less than the ordinary consumer. On a box of 1000 cigars they would look for an average profit of 10 per cent. The trouble is that the big grocery goods distributing houses, department stores and companies connected with hotels dispose of large quantities of cigars without regard to a profit on the cigars themselves, and this greatly interferes with our legitimate profits. If the stores would only keep up prices it would be all right for the simple cigar dealer, but when they begin to cut it kills the trade."

ALABAMA EXPERIMENTS.

Government Ends Its Inspection tion of the Industry.

Marion, Ala., Feb. 24, 1909.

M. W. Hinson and J. E. Blohm, Government tobacco experts from the Department at Washington, have completed an inspection of the industry in Perry county. The conclusion reached is the growers here have advanced beyond the experimental stage and the Department will no longer conduct experiments here, but go to Brewton, where an effort is being made to grow the same grades as have been grown here during the past five years.

The Government will send representatives here during the season to advise with the growers and keep in touch with this market. From the crops grown in the past the department officials have become firmly convinced that we grow as fine grades of Sumatra wrapper and Cuban filler tobaccos as any portion of the interior, and all that is necessary to the profitable production here is Government attention at the important times during the growth and curing of the plant.

Information from the State Department of Agriculture at Montgomery is that that Department has decided to assist with the Government in the supervision of the Perry county field. During past years the only help obtained came direct from the Government.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD.

Home Cigar Co. of Peoria in Third Annual Gathering.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 24, 1909.

The third annual meeting of the Home Cigar Company will convene in this city to-day. Headquarters have been established at the Smith Hotel and the sessions will be held in Pfieffer Hall.

The organization is composed of over 400 independent cigar manufacturers throughout the Middle West and at the present time is operating a box factory, wholesale house, and headquarters at 111 Main street, this city, under the management of J. A. Tobin.

It is the purpose of the organization to combat with the cigar, cigar box and leaf tobacco trusts and, according to a letter received by Manager Tobin yesterday, the efforts of the organization have so far proved successful.

It will be proposed at the meeting today to double the capacity of the cigar box factory and increase the facilities of the wholesale department.

TAMPA HAS GOOD PROSPECTS.

Cigar Factories Report Splendid Business, and Box-Makers are Working Overtime.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 26, 1909.

Figures of the Tampa customs house which last week indicated almost double the volume of business recorded for the same period last year, thus showing a big increase in the cigar output in this city and a tremendously prosperous year ahead, are borne out by the fact that practically all the large factories of this city are working a full force and several are working overtime to meet the demands made on them. Few cigarmakers are to be seen loafing on the streets as was the case for a long period, and reports are most encouraging.

Along this line comes the statement of Treasurer Roland Wilson that the Tampa Box Company is working full time, and now making more high-grade cigar boxes than they were ever before called upon to produce. The business carried on by the firm at the present time is greatly in excess of that looked forward to a short time ago by the firm and comes as a pleasant surprise. The plant of this company is indeed a scene of industry, as anyone passing can note, hundreds of men and women being kept busy filling the orders which are coming in.

According to leading cigar manufacturers and officials of the customs house, the prospects for the present year in the cigar industry are much better than ever before, and the chances are that 1909 will be the banner year of Tampa's history in every respect. Although the cigar industry is so promising, there are a number of other industries which are locating here and in a few years there will be such a diversity of enterprises that "hard times" will become something entirely unknown and impossible. But always Tampa's chief pride and resource will be her cigar manufacturing enterprises.

Big New Factory for Jersey City.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 26, 1909.

The Riparian Commission having granted the P. Lorillard Tobacco Company riparian rights at the Hackensack River, foot of Broadway, Jersey City, the American Tobacco Company, who control Lorillard & Company, will now proceed to build a big new factory on the property acquired by the company at Van Winkle street and West Side avenue, alongside the New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad tracks. This project was decided upon about three years ago.

With dock rights at the Hackensack River assured, the company will, it is said, spent $2,000,000 on the new plant. The $2,000,000 plant of the tobacco company will employ between 6000 and 7000 hands. The present plant of Lorillard & Company in lower Jersey City employs about 4000 hands.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Monticello, Fla., Jan. 28, 1909.

Editor of U. S. Tobacco Journal,
97-99 Water street, New York.

Dear Sir:—Your article, "The Cost of Sumatra and Our Own Shade-grown Leaf," published in the issue of your paper January 23, 1909, has had my full attention, and you would please me when also publishing my contra article which I send also to the Committee of Ways and Means with the sworn translation of a statement of the "Deli Batavia Maatschappy," appearing in "De Nieuwe Financier en Kapitalist," to which I refer in said article, being afraid that that honorable body should be misled by your figures. Referring to your article I wish to make the following corrections:

The report of Mr. Morgan published in the United States Tobacco Journal of December 12, 1908, does not, in my opinion, warrant the interpretation which you seem to put upon it, in this article, as to the cost of raising tobacco in Sumatra.

The $8,500,000 which you treat as a loss of the Dutch companies in 1907 was stated in that report simply as a loss in income in 1907 over 1906, and may not have represented one dollar of actual loss, by reason of production (or excess of cost of production over selling price), but may still have left a handsome profit, as the report is silent as to income 1906.

How you can figure out the cost of production for 1907 by adding the loss per pound from the income of 1906 to the selling price of 1907 I cannot see. This would be to assume that there was no profit in 1906, where you yourself seem to prove by your process of figuring in a circle, 7 cents a pound for that year. Your missing data is: The profit of 1906.

As a matter of fact the dividends that year were very large and the 63¼ cents covered the cost of production and a tremendous profit besides, as I am in a position to prove by a statement of the Deli Batavia Maatschappy appearing in De Nieuwe Financier en Kapitalist, the official paper of the stock market at Amsterdam, of Sunday, April 7, 1907, now in my possession and at the service of the Ways and Means Committee of Congress. The Deli Batavia Maatschappy declared a dividend from that year's profit of 147 per cent. (one hundred and forty-seven per cent.), notwithstanding that 200,000 guilders ($80,000 United States money) was paid before declaring that dividend for land out of those profits.

This statement gives, however, not the actual cost price of the tobacco from the Deli Batavia Maatschappy for the reason that one of the tobacco plantations of that syndicate named Bandar Negri produced the tobacco at a cost of about 70 cents Dutch money (28 cents United States money), but by charging off on buildings and improvements, etc., and

...IMPORTANT NOTICE...

The above Precinta, or Warranty Stamp, is only used by the members of the Cigar and Cigarette Manufacturers' Union of the Island of Cuba as a guarantee that Cigars, Cigarettes and Cut Tobacco packages which bear these Stamps were made in Cuba by such Independent Manufacturers belonging to the Union.

BE IT KNOWN: That said Guarantee Label only the manufacturers belonging to the Manufacturers' Union have the right to use and to attach on all cigar boxes and other packages of their goods.

bringing them from an actual value of about 100,000 guilders ($40,000 United States money) to one guilder only in the books, they raised the cost price of one pound of tobacco of that plantation from 70 cents Dutch money to one guilder and eighteen cents Dutch money, or in United States money from 28 cents to 46½ cents, still leaving for that plantation a profit of about 60,000 guilders, or $24,000 United States money. This action of the directors, of course, raised also the average cost price of one pound of tobacco of the whole syndicate and this is one of the causes of the suit which is now pending in Amsterdam against mentioned syndicate, and which I referred to in my letter to the Committee of Ways and Means.

In passing I will say that an examination of that statement will show that this company sold that year at 78 cents, while for the four years immediately proceeding they sold at prices ranging from 40 cents to 45 cents per pound, still leaving them handsome profits ranging from 20 to 40 per cent.

The comparatively low profit of 20 per cent. is shown from the crop 1904 (on the market in 1905). The actual profit was much higher for in that year that syndicate built on the plantations:

Timbang Sangkat.

One doctor's house (cost in round figures)	7,000
One hospital	26,000
One packing house	50,000
One sorting department	15,000
One club house	4,000
One village for Javans labor..	20,000
One village for Chinese labor	30,000
One office	3,000
Two assistant houses	7,500
One storage house	5,000

Plantation Tandem.

New roof on packing house...	5,000
One manager's house	25,000

Tandem Hilir.

New roof packing house	5,000
Office	3,000
Two assistant houses	7,000

and lots of other improvements which I do not recall at present, aggregating, with above, about 250,000 guilders ($100,000 United States money).

The value of those buildings and improvements was so charged off that they appeared in the books at such a low valuation that the profit of that year was reduced to $80,550.75 only, while it was about $180,000, or 45 per cent., and that crop sold at 40 cents.

$8 500,000 just about represents the capital of all the large syndicates combined and that loss in profits mentioned by Mr. Morgan amount to about 100 per cent. on the capital and would leave the Deli Batavia Maatschappy still 47 per cent. profit, assuming that the loss was in same proportion to profits in each syndicate.

Now, on the other hand, let us take the report of Mr. Morgan and the statement appearing in the "Nieuwe Financier en Kapitalist" and see what we figure it out.

Mr. Morgan states 63½ cents what was obtained for 1906 crop, the statement shows that from the profits of 1906 the Deli Batavia Maatschappy declared 147 per cent. dividend; therefore, assuming the 63½ cents represent $12,495,000 plus cost of production, $12,495,000 represent a profit of $50.30 per bale at 160 pounds to a bale. The profit would be 31½ cents per pound actual profit in 1906, therefore cost of production in 1906 is 32 cents, including immense amounts spent for land, etc., etc.

This reasoning may not be worth much, but it shows how misleading your article is, in attempting to figure out the cost of production of Sumatra tobacco from incomplete report of Mr. Morgan relating entirely to another subject, and lacking the most important data—the profit of 1906.

As a matter of fact the dividends rarely show the full profits made by the syndicates owing to a custom of charging off buildings and other improvements shortly after completion, thus sending a large part of the profits into betterments where they disappear from view.

Thanking you for your kind consideration, I am

Very respectfully yours,
J. J. NOLTHENIUS.

Buyers Limit Purchases to Small Quantities.

Consequently the Aggregate Sales in the Havana Leaf Tobacco Market are Represented by Comparatively Small Figures. High Prices for Choice Leaf Combined with Sluggish Business in the Northern Factories Said to be the Reason for the Inactivity.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.)

Havana, Cuba, February 22, 1909.

While buyers have not stopped coming here, it seems that they are satisfied with small purchases, and for this reason the volume of trade has again been less during the past week. There are still enough stocks of leaf tobacco to be had in our market, but the real choice qualities are held too high and the inferior styles do not appeal to most buyers, even if they can be had at low figures. On this account business is not as active as it ought to be with so many buyers in town. Some of the latter also complain that trade in the North is not yet what it was expected to be, and the principal buying is mostly a hand to mouth business, therefore, the heralded prosperity evidently has not made its appearance yet. However, with a little more patience, the wheels of trade are bound to revolve faster before long.

Havana is given over the pleasure seekers, and as the carnival opened yesterday there is enough life and bustle in the city.

Some rain having fallen in Havana, with a hailstorm last Friday, it remains to be seen whether the same have extended over the country generally or were only local showers. As far as the Vuelta Abajo is concerned, the main crop has been made and what may be growing still will only yield colas. Semi Vuelta is usually somewhat later, and one or two showers would help the late planted tobacco. The Partido growth is also virtually cut and hung up in the drying sheds. As far as the capadura styles of remedios are concerned, a little rain would be very welcome indeed and would help to raise a good and large crop.

Our cartmen struck to-day for higher rates, claiming 10 cents per bale of tobacco, instead of 6 cents per bale as heretofore. Whether the merchants will give in to their demands remains to be seen. They have chosen a bad time, however, as the receipts from the country are very small, although the outgoing movement by steamers is still heavy.

Sales last week were 3900 bales in all, divided into 1900 of Vuelta Abajo, 600 of Partido, and 1400 of Remedios.

American buyers took the largest quantity, 3300 bales, while for Europe only 200, and for local consumption 400, bales were purchased.

Exports of leaf tobacco from the Port of Havana during the past week were:

Havana Cigar Manufacturers.

are fairly busy considering the season of the year, which is never very active. Orders are coming by mail and cable, and while the quantities are not large they suffice to keep more cigarmakers employed than during the holiday period.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 700,000 cigars during the past week.

Sol is working under a fair pressure, as orders are coming in quite regularly, and Behrens & Co. increased the number of their cigarmakers.

Suarez Hnos sold 500 bales of Remedios, low grade, to a Northern manufacturer.

Buying, Selling and Other Notes of Interest.

Aug. Biedermann was very fortunate in making some excellent purchases of Vuelta Abajo and Remedios tobacco, amounting in all to about 300 bales, and his customers can rest assured that no finer tobacco left the island of Cuba, and that he bought at the right prices.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez were sellers of 300 bales of their fine Vuelta Abajo packings.

B. Lichtenstein, on his second or third purchasing trip this season, managed to secure some choice vegas of different kinds of leaf.

A. M. Calzafa & Co. turned over 300 bales of Vuelta Abajo, Remedios and partidos to their Northern customers, as well as to local manufacturers.

I. Lewis was a purchaser of several vegas for his steadily-growing trade in fine Havana cigars.

Bruno Diaz & Co. disposed of 300 bales of their excellent Vuelta Abajo and Partido holdings.

Ben Rothschild bought the usual styles of leaf for his customers, although the exact quantity could not be ascertained.

A. Pazos & Co. closed out 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

Ernest Ellinger will open here a large warehouse next summer, while his temporary office and storage room is at 91 Consulado street.

Perez y Obeso sold 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

T. Herman Vetterlein, accompanied by Mrs. Vetterlein, came principally for pleasure, but it is reported that he also purchased several hundred bales of leaf.

Jorge y P. Castaneda were sellers of 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

M. Rosenblum, of the Edwin cigar factory, is reported to have made some purchases of leaf.

Jose F. Rocha disposed of 100 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

The Loeb-Nunez Havana Co. were large sellers of leaf to their customers. Don Archie Loeb is quite contented with the climate of Havana, which he prefers to that of Amsterdam.

BOSTON WHOLESALERS HAPPY

Over Improvement in Business. Retailers Report a Good Trade. Rumored Factory Changes.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World" 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, Mass., Feb. 27, 1909.

Wholesalers report quite an improvement in business for the week just closed. They note that a great many of the orders received came from out-of-town points, which is regarded as an indication that business is improving in the mill towns of the Bay State. Retailers here are doing an averagingly good volume of business for this time of the year. The cigar trade with our larger local manufacturers is reported as very quiet.

If current reports are found to be correct, there is scheduled to be some important changes in the cigar factories of Henry Traiser & Co. Rumor has it that the International Cigarmakers' Union has given consent to Henry Traiser & Co. to remove their cigar factory to any place they may desire, and that, in consequence they are said to have practically decided upon New York City, or possibly to some town in Pennsylvania. The union schedule of making the "Pippin" cigar here is $10.50 per thousand, while in New York City the union scale is $9 per thousand, and in Pennsylvania the price is still lower. The Pitt street factory is closed and cigarmakers have been requested to call for their tools. There are also to-let signs out on the Court street factory. The Merrimac street factory is the only one of the Traiser factories at present in operation and about 325 hands are said to be advanced to the former figure of $34.30 per thousand, and that the jobbing trade is to be again protected, so that he can secure a fair margin of profit in handling the goods.

The gratis deal on Nestor cigarettes and "Royal Nestor" cigarettes terminated to-day and the factory had received orders for goods running into the millions. It is said there are to be no more free deals on these brands in the future.

Charles L. Polep, wholesale tobacconist, of Salem, Mass., was in town today. For the past six months Mr. Polep has been paying great attention to the cigar business and has worked up considerable business in this section, on his lines of cigars.

The Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co. has notified the trade that the coupons being packed with their "White Rolls" cigarettes now have a cash value of three-quarters of a cent each. Joe Rogers called in the trade on Portsmouth, N. H., this week and reports doing very well there. R. D. Carnes, the General Eastern representative of the Ware-Kramer

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, March 2.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market during the past week was moderately active, and if the report of one sale of something like 3500 cases is correct, the volume of business for the week was exceptionally large. In fact, no such transaction has occurred before for many months.

While the cigar trade still reports a general slackness of orders, the leaf market has shown signs of a more steady progress, and the apparent demand for goods indicates that manufacturers are anticipating a possible advance in prices, should the industry again become more nearly normal. Leaf men are sanguine on this score, and point out that the available supply will not be any too large, if sufficient, should the cigar trade revive to any reasonable extent, and there is a strong feeling that such an improvement is reasonably certain to follow within a short period of time. The buying movement continues in the growing districts, even though it is now going on at a reduced gait, owing to the fact that the crops have in most sections been pretty well cleaned up among the farmers. This is particularly true of Pennsylvania, and from all accounts also in Wisconsin. In the Connecticut valley there remains a minor portion of the crops, and that is perhaps the lagest percentage remaining, than in any of the domestic growing leaf districts.

A renewed activity has also been noted for Florida leaf, and the week's business showed some improvement over the volume of business done during the several previous weeks.

Some sales of Sumatra have also been reported, notwithstanding the interest now centering on the Inscriptions which will begin Friday, March 10th, and which will be attended by a goodly number of American buyers, most of whom sailed from this port last week.

The Havana business has been of small proportions, but all types of leaf shares in the transactions which were consummated. In Havana, Cuba, there was considerable activity and a large number of buyers are still on the Island.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

There is some improvement to be noted in the cigar manufacturing industry, and while the output for February does not show much of a gain, it remains a fact that orders are coming in somewhat more freely than was the case previously, and for larger quantities. Traveling men report a general improvement in various sections, and the orders which are coming from them fully bear out the reports being received. In consequence manufacturers are steadily increasing their working forces, and although the demand for goods may not yet be equal to the production, sufficient courage is at hand to allow a little more stock to accumulate, which it is figured out will probably come in handily as soon as the trade conditions again before firmly readjusted, and which it is regarded as likely will result in the very near future.

Waldorf-Astoria Changes.

The possible change in the business of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Co., which was referred to in these columns last week, has been about consummated. As stated then it is a part of the plan of the company to discontinue the retail business, and devote their energies entirely to the importing and jobbing business. With the object of that accomplishment, negotiations have been practically completed whereby the chain of stores of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Co. will be turned over to the United Cigar Stores Company, which, it is stated, will not only include all of the New York city stores, but those in all other cities as well, and will involve about $300,000.

Uptown Manufacturers in Difficulty

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Herbert E. Walter and Ernest Ascher, who compose the firm of H. E. Walter & Co., manufacturers of cigars at 1295-1297 2d avenue, and at York, Pa., by Myers & Goldsmith for these creditors: Ascher Osterman, $765,-J. G. Metz $3 and Jacob Jacobs, $5. It was alleged that they are insolvent, made preferential payments $2500 and transferred merchandise and accounts $2500. Judge Adams appointed Hamilton Holt receiver, with a bond of $5000, on application of Myers & Goldsmith, who said that the liabilities are $95,-000 and assets, consisting of merchandise on hand $10,000, goods in the hands of others $12,000 and outstanding accounts $80,000 to $90,000. They did business at York, Pa., as the Premier Cigar Co. They advertised extensively in Texas, made large contracts for electric signs and went to much expense, while the results did not materialize. They also said that Mr. Walter had been ill for several months past, and could not give full attention to business. They have been in business 22 years and a year ago claimed to have a capital of $110,000.

York, Pa., Feb. 27, 1909.

Through the appointment of a receiver for the Premier Cigar Company, of New York, an independent concern, the local factory, on Gas alley, east of George stret, has been closed. Between 75 and 80 employes are thrown out of work, the last of them going to-day.

Hamilton Holt, of New York city, has been named as receiver and A. D. Canter, also of New York, has come here to take possession of the factory for the receiver. A statement of the liabilities of the company could not be obtained at the local factory.

The York factory will remain closed for an indefinite period or until Agent Canter receives instructions from the receiver to reopen it.

Restoring Cigarette Prices.

A movement has been started by a number of dealers to restore the price of cigarettes to a figure at which a fair profit will be again realized. It is now announced that already a number of the most prominent dealers have advanced the price, and that more are following in their footsteps daily. The situation is not being openly discussed by the dealers, but it is made effective by their own action, and the movement now being fairly well launched, it is expected that it will be permanently maintained.

Flatauer & Oppenheimer Organized

George Flatauer, who has been twenty-three years engaged in the cigar manufacturing trade, has joined forces with the Ralph B. Oppenheimer Cigar Co., recently organized by Mr. Oppenheimer, and the new firm name will be Flatauer & Oppenheimer.

Under the new arrangement Mr. Flatauer will devote his time entirely to the manufacture, while Mr. Oppenheimer will take charge of the business management and sales forces. They will continue to manufacture clear Havana cigars, and have taken over the "Osado" brand from Mr. Oppenheimer. Their headquarters, both factory and offices, will be at 334-336 East 98th street.

The Fisher & Yglesia Line.

Fisher & Yglesia, makers of clear Havana cigars, at 120 Livingston street, Brooklyn, are meeting with good success in the introduction of their line. They have not only succeeded in placing their goods with the leading clubs, such as the Union League, Invincible Tavern and Montague clubs, but many of the dealers are now also carrying the goods in a large number of sizes. The firm has been giving special attention to their "Danton" brand and in addition to the clubs already mentioned, we learn that they are on sale at a number of establishments in Brooklyn, and in some instances they are being carried in as many as twelve sizes. The following is a partial list of the places carrying the line: H. Seidenberg & Son, Block Drug Co., Imperial Restaurant, P. J. Montague, Fred H. Schumm, the Assembly, Silsbe's, Cafe Raub, Tannebaum Bros., Cady Drug Co., Court Cafe, and many other dealers.

We also heard that by the middle of this week the firm will begin an active campaign in Greater New York city.

The Schulte Co., Incorporated.

D. A. Schulte was recently incorporated at Jersey City, with a capital of $25,000, and the incorporators were D. A. Schulte, Joseph M. Goldberg and John R. Turner. The Company is to deal in cigars, cigarettes, tobaccos, smoker's articles, novelties, art goods, etc.

This incorporation has caused considerable rumor on the street, and numerous intimations have been flatly denied. Mr. Schulte states that the principal reason for incorporating was the easier perpetuation of the business, and for the purpose of separating it from the Schulte estate, of which Mr. D. A. Schulte is administrator.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

There is a tone of general improvement in the leaf tobacco market of this city. Cigar manufacturers, having received lately more orders for goods than was the case for several weeks previous, they seem to be casting their eyes about for additional supplies of raw material, and, consequently, the leaf market is already beginning to feel the good effect of it. Not that there have been actually so many sales already consummated, but the prospecting on the part of the manufacturers has cheered all, and new life and vigor has entered trade circles. Goodly amounts of stock are held by local houses, and it is expected that when business opens rightly, that Philadelphia will be in a position to participate in a full measure with the progress.

While the exact figures of the output of manufactured goods in this District are not yet obtainable, it is not expected that February will show any marked changes, yet the concensus of the reports at present is that the cigar industry is daily getting better and the month of March is looked forward to to show some signs of an actual advancement in the volume of business.

There is little if any complaint heard among the retailers, among whom a large number have had a very satisfactory trade during a great portion of last month. They are again purchasing more liberally, a fact which makes the visiting salesmen feel much more encouraged. There were quite a few special window decorations during the several holidays of last month, and a few of the more progressive ones are already planning something novel and striking for Eastertide. Generally the show window of A. Valentin, at Nineteenth and Ridge avenue, is a very interesting exhibit on Easter, and the trims are of such a nature that some of our local dealers could profitably take a look at them. They are all cordially invited.

John Baird, a veteran tobacco man of this city, who has for many years maintained an establishment at 134 Arch street, died several days ago. He was among the oldest members of the trade and widely known. He had lately been confining himself almost wholly to an export business.

Arthur Hagen & Co. have this week issued their latest circular letter to the trade with reference to a special deal now on on "White Rolls," "Zona" and "Lynnhaven" cigarettes. The circular reads as follows:

"To our Customers:—

We beg to announce that for a limited time, we will give free 50 White Rolls Cigarettes with each purchase of 50 Zona and 150 Lynnhaven Cigarettes, cork tip.

To save you the inconvenience of repacking, special cartons will be packed containing above deal.

Soliciting your co-operation, we are,

Very truly,

ARTHUR HAGEN & CO."

An important change was made on the 1st inst., by one of the larger jobbing houses of this city, and when the firm name was also changed. The notice is as follows:

Philadelphia, March 1st, 1909.

"To Our Customers and Friends:—

We take pleasure in announcing the fact that Mr. William H. Berger, of the firm of W. H. Berger & Bro., Wilmington, Del., having purchased his brother's (Mr. Noah Berger) in the stock, fixtures and good-will of the said firm, has now joined forces with the house of J. Frings' Sons, Philadelphia, and in the future they will together try to faithfully serve you under the new title of Frings' Bros. Co."

Business will, of course, be continued at the old stand, 3134 Market street, opposite the West Philadelphia Depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and the combination is looked upon as a very strong one, which will be hailed with delight by their many friends. Mr. Berger has been identified for many years with the Delaware trade, and the old firm of J. Frings' Sons is a landmark in Philadelphia trade We bespeak success for the new firm.

Rumor has it that there is about to transpire some important move in connection with the match business, and which will effect this city quite as much as any other point in the East. Although a number of persons have been interviewed, there is still considerable reticence, yet we are inclined to believe that the trade could get some valuable information from Mr. J. Harvey McHenry, of the firm of Arthur Hagen & Co., at 151 North Third street, this city, and we suggest that any one who is interested in the matter call on Mr. McHenry for some information. It seems to us that it would be only right and proper that he should, and we see no good reason why he should not extend to them the information which they may be interested in knowing.

The annual dinner of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers' Association was held on Tuesday evening at the Hotel Majestic. We notice from a copy of the menu card, which has fallen into the hands of a reporter, that the "Lynnhaven" cigarettes were an attractive feature of the menu, and must extend credit to the managers of the affair for their good judgment displayed.

Mr. Booker, of the Booker Tobacco Co., Lynchburg, Va., is expected to be in the city some time this week. We are satisfied that Mr. Booker will be agreeably surprised with the report of progress which will be supplied him on the sale of the "Burley Cubs" little cigars manufactured by Mr. Booker's company, and distributed here by Arthur Hagen & Co.

John N. Kolb, president of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., sailed for Amsterdam this week, to attend the Sumatra Inscriptions, and is not expected to return until about April 5. He will in all probability make some extensive purchases.

The Federal Cigar Co. is a new corporation recently incorporated under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Delaware. While the main office will be in Wilmington, the general business office of the company will be in the Drexel Building, in this city. The incorporators of the company were Charles Fox-Dickson, M. Fox-Dickson and E. L. Dare. Mr. Charles Fox-Dickson is the president, and will be at the Philadelphia office of the company.

A. R. Cressman's Sons, Inc., are still finding imitators of the brand of "Counsellor" made by them. Recently they discovered a brand called "Councillor," made by a small manufacturer at Lancaster, who was promptly notified that he was infringing upon their prior rights, and requested to desist the practice, otherwise they would be compelled to bring legal action to protect their rights. It is not believed that any one will have the courage to undertake to maintain any claim to a similar name for a brand of cigars, as the Cressman are well and favorably known throughout the entire country. The distribution of their goods in this city continues to grow rapidly, and now our little sister city—Camden—is being also developed in good fashion. Numerous signs of the "Counsellor" cigar are to be found there and a good foothold has been secured. A number of factory improvements are at present in progress.

It is expected that there will soon be made a settlement of the estate of the late Ferd. Sonntag, who committed suicide at his store, 148 North Second street, some time ago.

Placards are being placed on all available spots through the city, announcing the new value of redemption of the "White Rolls" cigarette coupons, and which has been increased from ¾ of a cent to 1c each, or $1 per hundred. They have an actual cash value, making them the most desirable of all coupons. Holders of "White Rolls" coupons are not obliged to accept articles of little if any value, but can secure the actual cash, thus enabling them to buy with it whatever and wherever they please.

J. H. Hoober, leaf tobacco packer, of Lancaster, was a visitor in the local leaf tobacco market during the past week.

H. M. Duys, of H. Duys & Co., was also a recent visitor here.

Herbert J. Payne, a brother of the junior member of the jobbing firm of Shipton & Payne, was admitted to an interest in the business on March 1, and the firm name now is Shipton & Payne Co. The firm began in the jobbing business some years ago, and soon rose to be among the most important distributers in the uptown section. Their headquarters are at 2854 North Fifth street.

LEAF TOBACCO AUCTION

Will be Held at Lancaster, Pa., on March 11th.

Lancaster, March 2, 1909.

An auction sale of leaf tobacco will be held in this city on March 11, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the tobacco warehouse in the rear of 404 South Prince street, when 120 cases of Zimmer Spanish tobacco, all re-sweated stock, sized and wrapper leaf goods, will be sold to the highest bidder, as well as 10 cases Connecticut, running from medium to dark colors, together with a lot of 1906 Pennsylvania Broad leaf.

The goods will be sold on inspectors' samples, and which can be examined on March 9, 10, and on the morning of the sale.

This sale will probably afford an opportunity for some advantageous purchases, and at any rate, it would seem to be a good idea to ascertain if there may not be among the goods something that you could use to advantage, and could probably get it at a right price, too.

STILL QUIET IN LANCASTER.

Dullness in Cigar Factories Reacts on Local Leaf Market.

Lancaster, Pa., March 1, 1909.

The tobacco trade is still dull in this city, and if it was not for the life that is given by the packing season it would be well-nigh monotonous. But our leaf men are probably the most cheerful set of men that one can find anywhere. They seem inclined to look on the brighter side of things, and to get all out of life that one well can. Even while there is but little tobacco moving out, it has been coming in fast enough lately, and a larger force of hands have probably never before been employed at any one time in taking care of the tobacco as it comes to the warehouses. Farmers seemed to be rushing it to market for the past week or two in order to be ready for the spring work, which, if the weather conditions will permit, will soon begin.

What little tobacco was sold during the past week was taken by local manufacturers, presumably for early use, but no large transactions were reported. Yet the stock of old goods are depleting, and in fact have already been reduced to almost the minimum, so far as 1905 tobacco is concerned.

The cigar industry of the county is still very dull, generally speaking, and not much sign of an immediate improvement is noticeable either. In fact, the closing down recently of the Lancaster branch factory of the United Cigar Manufacturers' Company almost brought about consternation among the ranks of cigar makers. It has been even intimated when the factory was likely to resume operations. At Harrisburg there were also large forces of cigar makers of the same company laid off, and the York factory entirely closed down; for the present, at least.

At Akron it is reported there is now better prospects, and several manufacturers have added to their forces of cigarmakers. The S. R. Moss Cigar Co., of this city, has also been increasing its force considerably of late.

Cigar box manufacturers are still feeling the effect of the dullness in the cigar trade, and they declare they sometimes do not receive sufficient orders to keep their factory hands advantageously employed, and yet they feel that they would like to turn out the boxes that are required in good time.

The Hinsey tobacco factory at Akron, making a plain scrap smoking and chewing tobacco, has lately had a good run of business, and an enlargement of the department has been made.

H. W. Killian, formerly a cigar manufacturer at Ephrata, has been visiting friends in that borough lately. Mr. Killian is now employed at one of the largest cigar factories in Philadelphia.

THE TRADE AT YORK

Much the Same as in Other Cigar Manufacturing Centres.

York, Pa., March 1, 1909.

The trade in this section seems to be on a part with other sections of the State where cigar manufacturing is carried on to any extent. While it is generally very dull among the factories, one occasionally hears of a factory, which while it may be a matter of good fortune, never the less there are a few which have a good run of business at present.

Visiting salesmen have not been quite so numerous lately, having evidently been seeking other fields, which they hoped to find more prolific. It is to be hoped that they were successful, but we expect to find them all coming in again in the near future, for it seems that, once they become accustomed to the trade in this section, they are always glad for an opportunity to come here again and again, and by doing so, some have built up a large patronage right in this county alone, to say nothing of the immense field in the surrounding towns in this and neighboring counties.

After an illness of five weeks, during the greater portion of which time Mr. George W. Parr, a well-known cigar manufacturer of Littlestown, was confined to his home, good fortune has smiled on him, and all his many friends are heartily glad to see him about again, although he still feels the effects of his recent indisposition.

W. H. Snyder, of Windsor, who had met with a serious misfortune in accidentally breaking a leg several weeks ago, is so much improved that he is able to be about on crutches.

The Mt. Vernon cigar factory at Seven Valley had been closed down for several days, during which time some needed improvements were made to the factory.

S. R. Kocher, tobacco packer at Wrightsville, is putting up a fair-sized packing of the 1908 crop at the Locust street warehouse, and now has a good force of tobacco handlers at work in assorting and packing.

Miller Bros., cigar box manufacturers at Red Lion, have already commenced the erection to the new drying kiln, mentioned in this correspondence last week.

W. R. Daugherty, of the cigar firm of W. R. Daugherty & Bro., at Dallastown, has been on the sick list, but is now improving nicely.

The cigar trade at Longstown is extremely flat at present, and little prospect ahead just now for an early revival. Yet it may come unexpectedly soon.

BADGER STATE ITEMS.

Edgerton, Wis., Feb. 27, 1909.

Richard Weil, of New York, arrived Sunday evening.

Chas. E. Rocket, St. Louis, leaf dealer, has been in this market a few days this week.

N. Gillan, of York, Pa., and G. H. Mack, Chicago, leaf dealer, are the latest arrivals in this market.

Mr. Nathan Bijur, of E. Rosenwald & Bros., New York, was in the State a few days early in the week searching the markets for B stock.

P. H. Gorman, J. N. Dart and H. P. Buell, connected with the New York, office of the American Cigar Co., were in the State during the week visiting the different branches operated by the company.

At a meeting of fifteen business men a company known as the Janesville Cigar Company was organized to carry on the wholesale manufacture of cigars in that city. W. E. Dougherty was chosen the factory manager. The factory will be opened March 1. As soon as possible the backers of the proposition expect to employ from twenty-five to thirty men.—Reporter.

OUR BOSTON LETTER.

(Concluded from p. 9)

Tobacco Co. expects to receive soon a carload of advertising matter, and will then begin a strenuous spring campaign on the "Lynnhaven," "White Rolls" and "Zona" cigarettes, all from the factory of the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co., of Norfolk, Va.

The Knedivial Co. are about to place in each package of the 5 cent Natural cigarettes, coupons which will be redeemed for razors.

S. Skibelsky, formerly a West End retailer, just opened an up-to-date cigar and tobacco store at 110 Dudley street, opposite the "L" Terminal.

Harry Libbey, wholesaler of Charleston, has given up the jobbing business and will devote his energies entirely to the greater development of a retail business.

Fred Muller has just come here from New York as a representative of the little cigars department of the American Tobacco Company.

H. Nelson, with Burlach Bros., New York manufacturers of Porto Rico cigars was in town taking orders, and met with encouraging success.

Mort. M. Frank, representing the De Florida Tobacco Co., of New York, was also in town a few days last week.

Doings at Lynn.

The cigar and tobacco store of J. N. Pike & Co., on Centre Square, has undergone a great change in the past year. The store was formerly a big trust store, but now mostly all goods handled are union made or independent brands. There is being specially featured the product of United States Tobacco Co., of Richmond, Va., among which is the "Central Union, "Fire Alarm, "Worker" and others, and displays occupy a large portion of the window space. A huge electric sign over the door is used in advertising the celebrated "Central Union" cut plug tobacco.

The Lynn Cigar Co., manufacturers and retailers on Washington street, are pushing the sale of their "High Rock Tower" brand in 10-cent goods, and the "400" as a leader in nickel cigars. This firm recently started in the jobbing line and report doing fairly well.

Sam. Soler, proprietor of Sam's Corner Cigar Store on Andrew street, runs one of the finest and most up-to-date cigar stores in Lynn. His line of fine pipes and imported cigars is very complete, and all the popular brands of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco are handled.

E. J. Mulligan with the Menashi-Khoury Co., took a large number of orders in town this week for the "Menashi" Turkish cigarettes.

Edward Leader, with the Greenstone Cigar Co., has been here placing the "S. P. G." cigarettes, and did an excellent business.

Tucker & Co. are using one of their windows this week in a display of the popular "Hiffman House Magnum" (little cigars).

Michalson & Sons have opened a nice cigar and tobacco store at the corner of Chestnut and Essex streets, where they are carrying a general line.

The failure of the New York Coupon Company (C. E. Barker Mfg. Co.) is causing some discomfort to several Lynn concerns who were using that coupon system.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO IN KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE.

[From Bulletin No. 343, U. S. Department of Agriculture.]

THE PLANT BED FOR TOBACCO.

It is a common practice to raise the level of the bed a little above the surrounding surface by bedding; also to leave 12-inch valleys around the bed and have them cross the bed at intervals of from 6 to 12 feet. This gives good surface drainage. After the soil is thoroughly prepared, the seed is sown; in the Burley district at the rate of 1 teaspoonful to every 200 square feet; in the dark district at the rate of 1 teaspoonful to every 300 square feet. There is no good reason for this difference; custom has established these measures.

In view of the fact that the seeds are so small, a sufficient quantity to sow a bed is mixed with one half gallon of fertilizer, ashes, dirt, or corn meal, so that the sower may secure a more even distribution of them. They may be settled into the ground by rolling, trampling, or lightly raking over the bed.

Sowing should not be made later than April 1. Beds sown from January to April produce plants for setting by May 15 to June 10, which is usually the best time. If the weather conditions are such that sowing can not take place until late, the seeds can be partly germinated by mixing the quantity to be sown with sand about ten days previous to sowing. The sand should be kept moistened and in a warm place. If the mixture is kept in a very favorable situation, it is not desirable to extend the soaking period more than ten days. The tobacco seed coat is comparatively thick and hard to break, however, and usually three weeks are required before complete germination takes place.

CARE OF THE BED.

To secure rapid growth of the young plants and to afford protection from frosts it is necessary to use a covering, which is usually made of ordinary cheese cloth. The bed is boxed up by using 1-inch boards placed on edge, extending all around the bed. Wires are stretched across or pegs or wickets are put down a few feet apart on the bed and arranged to hold the canvas a few inches from the ground. The widths of canvas are sewed together to fit the bed, and are stretched over the bed and tacked to the surrounding plank. Any open spaces that may occur under the boards are filled by banking the earth against the boards. By this method the heat of the bed is considerably increased, especially at night, as the canvas prevents much of the rapid radiation which would otherwise take place. During drouth the bed becomes excessively dry, and it is often necessary to water it two or three times a week. The bed should not be soaked with water, but should be thoroughly moistened. The best time for watering is late in the afternoon, to avoid baking the soil or scalding the plants.

The canvas should remain on the bed until about ten days prior to transplanting, when it should be removed, in order that the plants may become more hardy and accustomed to field conditions. If the canvas remains on too long it is commonly conceded that excessive leaf growth and too little root growth result. If the plants are growing very rapidly and give indications that they will be ready for transplanting before the desired time, the covering can be removed earlier than indicated; this will to some extent check their growth.

Insect pests sometimes cause considerable injury to the young plants. In the bed they can be controlled by the use of arsenate of lead—8 pounds in 100 gallons of water, applied with a spray pump. This insecticide does not injure the plants in any way and adheres to the foliage very well, being superior to Paris green in this respect.

SELECTION OF SOIL FOR THE CROP.

In the Burley district virgin soil is preferred for the crop. White oak, beech, walnut, maple, and hickory clearings are famous for the production of tobacco having very fine quality. The yield, however, on these newly cleared soils is not equal to that on old land in a good state of cultivation. Tracts of land that will produce good tobacco are limited even in the principal tobacco growing districts. The average farm usually contains only a small area of land that is particularly adapted to tobacco. The soil should be fertile, friable, and abounding in organic matter to produce the best results. Very little virgin soil remains available for cultivation; consequently, tobacco growers are compelled to adopt a substitute. Bluegrass sod produces a fine quality of tobacco and gives a good yield. Clover sod gives a good yield, but the tobacco does not have the bright color that is secured from the bluegrass sod. Timothy sod is also used for tobacco, but it is not as good as those already mentioned.

TIME TO BREAK THE GROUND.

Virgin soil where heavy clearings have been made and where there is no grass to contend with may be broken in the spring, sufficient time being allowed to put it in good tilth before planting.

Bluegrass sod and hillside land are usually broken in the spring. The former may be broken in the fall, and in any case should be broken early enough for rotting of the sod to take place before transplanting time. The sod should be turned under so deeply and thoroughly that in case it is not completely rotted it will not be pulled to the surface by subsequent cultivation. Clover and timothy sod should be broken in spring the—early spring. In that way it serves as a winter cover crop for the land and is sufficiently rotted to be out of the way by planting time.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Monticello, Fla., Feb. 22, 1909.

Editor of The Tobacco World,
No. 224 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Dear Sir:—In an editorial, in its issue of January 23, the United States Tobacco Journal, in its attempt to destroy the force of my communication to the Ways and Means Committee of Congress, introduced a report of Mr. Morgan, Consul at Amsterdam, which it contended disproved the statement I had made in that communication as to the cost of raising tobacco in Sumatra.

In answer to that editorial I sent the United States Tobacco Journal a communication which, while commenting upon it unfairly, it failed to publish. I send a copy with the request that, if you can consistently do so, you will give it to the public.

Thanking you for your kind consideration, I am

Very respectfully yours,
J. J. NOLTHENIUS,

Manager Jefferson Co. Sumatra Tobacco Company, Sumatra.

Monticello, Fla., Feb. 22, 1909.

To the Editor of the U. S. Tobacco Journal, 97-99 Water street, New York.

Dear Sir:—It was with some surprise that I noted that you had editorially commented on my recent communication, while you refuse it space in your valuable Journal.

Do you think it quite fair to publicly answer a communication to the paper without giving the public the communication which you are answering?

Do you think it fair to give the public your interpretation of that document, second hand, at is were, when by publishing the communication you could give original evidence?

The unfairness in the instant case is more apparent when it is noted how incorrectly you give the import of that communication; so much so that it almost forces upon me a conviction that the communication was suppressed with a studied purpose.

Among other things, your editorial makes it appear that it was only a surmise of mine that the $8,500,000 mentioned by you in your editorial of January 23 was a loss in income (not an absolute loss, i. e., the excess of cost of production over selling price, as stated by you), while it was Morgan's report (your own evidence) published in your issue of December 12, 1908, that so stated.

When your editorial of January 23 made its appearance I suspected that through inadvertence you misread Mr. Morgan's report and referring to your issue of December 12, where said report was published, I found it even so. And now your repetition of this misrepresentation of Mr. Morgan with that report of such easy access to you and my long communication, calling your attention to your error, argues something more than inadvertness on your part.

Again you say: "And in support of his interpretation he cites a statement published by the Deli Batavia Maatschappy on April 7, 1907, from which he figures out that that company had declared a dividend from that year's profit of 147 per cent." I have told you where that report can be found and by reference to it you will note that it was not by my figuring, but that the report itself stated the dividend to be 147 per cent. You will further learn by such investigation that the 63 cent price of the 1906 crop as stated by Mr. Morgan (or that of 75 cents as stated by the Deli Batavia Maatschappy report) was abnormal and that 36 cent price of 1907 crop was nearly normal.

You say, to my surprise, that the profit or income from the 1906 crop has nothing to do with the case! How can you determine whether a loss of $8,500,000 in income from 1907 crop over that from the crop of 1906 amounted to an absolute loss (a supposition upon which your fallacy is based) without deducting the $8,500,000 from the 1906 income? And how can you do this except the 1906 income be known? Passing by other misrepresentations of my communication, your uncalled for suggestion of trickery in my communication to the Ways and Means Committee and other derogatory comments, as unworthy of notice, I will simply say that the suppression of my communication in the interest of your version of it will avail nothing, as the Ways and Means Committee of Congress have been furnished with a copy of that communication, together with Mr. Morgan's report as published in your issue of December 12, and also a copy of the Deli Batavia Maatschappy report, all in the interest of truth and in the hope that growers of wrapper leaf tobacco may receive at their hands the justice which your Journal seems so prone to deny them.

Thanking you for your consideration,

Truly yours,

J. J. NOLTHENIUS.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

During the past few days I have learned that the Department of Agriculture is to maintain for another year the Government experiment station at Bloomfield, Ct., on a basis of co-operation between the Government and certain citizens of that town. I am really glad, for to think that as soon as we were able to stand upon our feet that Uncle Sam was to brush us away, and say that if we could not walk, to get down and creep like other childern, made me feel bad. We could stand only by holding to the coat tails of our Uncle. Now that we can manage to stand a little perhaps we may be able soon to walk alone a little. I understand that the work is to be carried along on the same lines as before, and to bring out the Hazlewood idea. I hope a good many of our farmers will take the cars and visit the station some time during the season, and that before going they will put their prejudices into their pockets, and go like children to their parents, trusting that they will surely learn something to their advantage, and I do firmly believe they will be able to say that it was money well expended. Learn at least how you can hybridize plants of tobacco.

Our correspondent writes:

North Hatfield, Mass.: "There is very little doing here. I have heard of only one sale, and that of sweat goods by L. W. Swift, about 80 cases to different parties; a part goes to Lancaster, Pa."—American Cultivator.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The buying movement shows no signs of lapsing. While the aggregate sales may not quite reach those of some of the previous ones, buyers are still actively engaged in riding the growing districts and readily taking over crops that can be secured at the going figures, and in some instances raising the offerings for the unsold better grades. There is no doubt the remaining fraction of the crop is being taken over very rapidly and a few weeks more seems likely to see it very closely gathered in. The following sales have come to notice:

Silverwood & Hill, 10a at 8½c.
John Bickle, 8a at 9c.
Lars Erickson, 10a at 9c.
E. Hoveland, 10a at 8½c.
M. Torgerson, 9a at 9½c.
K. Olson, 8½a at 9c.
D. P. Devine, 6a at 9c.
Lester Fessenden, 12a at 7½ and 3c.
H. H. Hawkinson, 18a at 7½c.
Wm. Stravoldson, 10a at 7c.
C. J. Lawrence, 7a at 7c.
Joe Beckley, 7a at 7c.
Edwin Erickson, 6a at 7c.
Seth Stockton, 7a at 7c.
J. Onsrud, 6a at 6½c.
John Walters, 4a at 7c.
Jacob Schuler, 5a at 6½c.

A few out of town buyers have visited the local markets during the week, inspecting samples of old leaf, but we do not learn of any large transactions being effected.

The new crop is being delivered at receiving points about as rapidly as the demands of warehouse handling call for and is fast being put into cases or shipped out of the State in bundles.

Shipments: 662 cases.—Reporter.

—There is more tobacco per head consumed in Belgium than in any other country in the world. It is fitting, perhaps, that one of the favorite pastimes of the menfolk should be smoking competitions at which valuable prizes are awarded to the man who can make his pipeful of tobacco last the longest time.

TO BAR COMBINATIONS.

House Resolution Restricts Purchases of Tobacco by Government.

Washington, D. C., March 3, 1909.

A joint resolution introduced in the House by Representative Lamb of Virginia provides that no part of any money appropriated by Congress shall be used to buy tobacco, cigars or cigarettes from any concern unlawfully engaged in interstate or international commerce. The resolution also stipulates that no tobacco shall be purchased from the defendants enjoined by the United States circuit court in the case of the United States vs. the American Tobacco Company and in other cases now pending in the federal Supreme Court.

NEW JACKSONVILLE FACTORY.

Martinez & Co. to Begin Manufacture of High Grade Clear Havana Cigars.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 5, 1909.

A. Martinez & Co., who will shortly begin the manufacture of high grade clear Havana cigars in Jacksonville, have leased the second-story of the building at 702 West Bay street for that purpose, and expect to begin the distribution of cigars within three or four weeks. The principal brands will be "The Strand," and "La Sorada," which Mr. Martinez has been manufacturing at St. Augustine for some time, but other brands will be added.

Mr. Martinez leaves next week for Havana, where he will purchase a large supply of fine tobacco of the late crop, which is the best grown in Cuba in several years. He states that the factory will begin operations with twenty skilled cigarmakers, but that the number will be increased as patronage demands.

OHIO REVENUES INCREASE.

Significant Gains Shown in the First District in February.

Cincinnati, O., March 5, 1909.

The revenue collections on manufactured tobacco and cigars for the month of February in the First Revenue district, Cincinnati and Middletown, showed an increase in output over the previous month. The collections on all sources of tobacco amounted to $236,999.44, as compared with $173,198.64, or a little less than 4 per cent. collected during the corresponding month last year. The production of small cigars in the district during February amounted to $90,000, a decrease of $30,000 or 25 per cent. as compared with February, 1908. The output of tobacco during the month was 3,144,637 pounds, an increase over the same month last year of 1,038,938 pounds, or 49 per cent.

TARIFF REVISION FOR RELIEF

Says Taft, and Hopes Changes Will be Made by June 1.

President Taft declared in an interview that a revision of the tariff is a primary requisite for the relief of the present business condition and he expressed the hope that the revision would be accomplished by June 1. Speaking of this revision Mr. Taft said to a reporter:

"As this is the primary requisite for the relief of present conditions I want to have it disposed of at once. I am hopeful that there will be important revisions in the existing schedules made by Congress in an extra session, and I look forward to June 1 as the date when most of these changes will become effective."

Mr. Taft also made public to-day a letter which he sent to S. E. Payne, chairman of the tariff conference held at Indianapolis, on February 16, in which Mr. Taft wrote:

"A tariff commission would be harmful or useful as its functions were described in the bill. My own ideas have been that there ought to be a permanent commission of tariff experts to keep themselves advised by all the means possible of the cost of producing the articles named in the schedules in foreign countries and in this country. I think that what we lack is evidence and some such means might very well be used for the purpose of securing it. I should be the last to advocate a commission with any power to fix rates if that were constitutional, as it would not be, or with any function other than that of furnishing the evidence to Congress upon which from time to time it might act."

LOW PRICES IN CONNECTICUT.

Growers Accuse Buyers of Forcing Prices Down.

Suffield, Conn., March 4, 1909.

Prices of Connecticut valley tobacco are at the lowest point in years. Growers complain that buyers have entered into an agreement to depress prices. It is asserted that buyers in some instances have inquired into the financial necessities of growers and have sought to take advantage of their straits.

Prior to election the run of the new crop sold readily at from 15 to 22 cents per pound in the bundle. Fifteen or 16 cents is now the top price, except in rare instances, while the average sales are being made at 11 to 14 cents in the bundle. It is said that considerable quantities of tobacco have been sold in Massachusetts for less than 10 cents. With the cost of production the highest in the history of the industry, and the possibility of still lower prices if the tariff on wrapper tobacco is reduced, the outlook for the 1909 acreage is not encouraging.

RICHARDS FOR OPEN SHOP.

Will Operate with Union and Non-Union Help.

Binghamton, N. Y., March 6, 1909.

The first move that has been made in the situation that has resulted in a deadlock between the Cigarmakers' Unions of this city and F. B. Richards was made to-day when advertisements were issued for men and women to work at the factory, which has been closed since the trouble began several weeks ago.

The F. B. Richards Company, as the firm was formerly known, will be incorporated under the firm name of the F. B. Richards Cigar Company and the present concern taken over by the new concern. Outside capital will be taken

The institution hereafter will be run strictly as an open shop. Union men, however, will be allowed to work in the factory, if they see fit.

HAVANA CO. HAS DEFICIT.

Annual Report Shows Total Deficit for the Year of $542,080.

Jersey City, N. J., March 2, 1909.

At the annual meeting of the Havana Tobacco Company, a subsidiary of the American Cigar Company, in Jersey City, yesterday, the treasurer's statement for the fiscal year ended December 31 was presented, showing a total deficit of $542,080. Following is the income account, with changes:

	1908.	Changes.
Dividends received*	$19,652
Oper. expenses ..	186,732
Deficit	$167,080	Inc. $400,829
Int. on 5 per. cent. gold bonds	375,000
Total deficit ...	$542,080	Inc. $400,829

*No comparison available.

The report says: "The earnings of the company come from dividends on its holdings of stocks of the Henry Clay & Bock Co., Ltd.; Havana Cigar & Tobacco Factories, Ltd.; Havana Commercial Company; H. de Cabanas Carabajai, and J. S. Murias y Compania. Owing to bad weather conditions and consequently expensive tobacco the cost of manufacturing by these companies of cigars and cigarettes was abnormally high, resulting in their failure to pay dividends other than the $19,552 herein above set out."

The retiring directors were re-elected. John A. Sleicher, a stockholder, was nominated as a director by the minority stockholders, who protested that the present management of the company was not giving satisfactory reports of the company's business. He was voted down. A motion also was defeated, made by J. W. Ogden, that he should be recorded on the minutes of the meeting as having requested and not having received a detailed statement of the accounts receivable and bills payable in the treasurer's statement.

NEW FOREIGN TRADE OPENING.

Baltimore Leaf Tobacco House Has Sample Order from Malta.

Baltimore, March 6.

Messrs. G. Lieberman & Dellevie, leaf tobacco dealers in this city, have received a letter from Senglea, Malta, which may open up a new market for tobacco from Baltimore. The local firm declines to give the name of their correspondent, as this might open up competition with other local leaf tobacco dealers, and perhaps shut them out from what might develop into a profitable personal trade in a new field. The letter sent here is from a large cigar manufacturing concern in Malta, and is as follows:

"Our friend Richard Sanders, of your town, speaks so highly of your liberal manner of doing business that we are induced to send you an order for such goods as we require in your line.

"We buy for cash, and shall expect good articles at your lowest prices.

"You will oblige us by sending samples of your goods, with the prices marked, that we may be able to order understandingly."

Mr. Dellevie says his firm has forwarded samples to Malta of the leaf tobacco it handles suitable for making cigars. The samples have been carefully packed and sent through New York to the Mediterranean island. The firm hopes to open up business relations with the concern there. In the event of any considerable orders being received the shipments will be made direct from this port.

If developed, this will be a new business for Baltimore. While not much Maryland tobacco will be required, it will give the leaf dealers a new field in competition with other leaf tobacco shipping points on this side of the Atlantic.

Venezuelan Monopoly Doomed.

Washington, March 2, 1909.

The cigarette monopoly in Venezuela, created several years ago by former President Castro, has been abolished by President Gomez, whose internal policy since his inauguration has been to end the many private monopolies established by his predecessor.

John Brewer, consular agent at Caracas, who has been in charge of the archives of the American Legation since the American Minister was withdrawn last May, has reported to the State Department the abolition of the monopoly and says that it was unofficially reported that prior to the issuance of the decree the government had purchased all the property and rights of the National Cigarette factory, which had controlled this industry.

The decree is far reaching in its effects, permitting, as it will, the opening of many small factories throughout the republic and the manufacture of cigarettes by private individuals.

UNION LABEL DENIED

But Firm Not Declared Unfair. A Certain Contract the Cause.

Quincy, Ill., March 6, 1909.

As originators of a clever scheme to popularize a new brand of cigars by calling it the "I. M. U. No. 44," Timothy Brothers, cigar manufacturers in this city, and one of the fairest concerns to union-made goods in the city, have been denied the use of the Cigarmakers' Union label, because, through a contract duly signed by officers of the Iron Molders' Union and the firm, the latter is to pay to the Iron Molders' Union a royalty of $1 per thousand on all cigars of that brand that are sold.

P. H. Eberhardt, custodian of the Cigarmakers' Union label in this city, has declined to let the Timothys have the label because he does not think the agreement made between the Molders' Union and the Timothys is legally right, according to the Cigarmakers' constitution. He has referred the matter to the head officers of the International Union and now awaits their decision.

When the Timothy Brothers were seen regarding the matter they verified the report that they had been denied the label and feel that the action taken against them by the label custodian will hardly be approved by the higher officers. They fail to see where they have disobeyed any of the union laws, and can only see an effort made by competitors in the cigar manufacturing trade to cause them unnecessary annoyance. They claim that when a matter comes up that apparently justifies the withdrawal of the union label from the factory that the cause of such action shall first be presented to a local trial board of the Cigarmakers' Union and afterward referred to the president of the International Cigarmakers' Union for his decision, which decision is final. In this case the matter never was taken before a trial board, but the label was withdrawn without even a temporary hearing.

In any event it is a matter that must be disposed of between the two unions concerned. An early understanding of the case is expected.

OPPOSE AMERICAN'S AWARD.

Independent Manufacturers Fight Award to the American Tobacco Co.

Independent tobacco manufacturers are preparing to make a vigorous protest against the American Tobacco Company being allowed to supply the navy with chewing tobacco.

The Navy Department has just awarded the contract to supply the navy with 200,000 pounds of navy plug at thirty-six cents a pound. Independent manufacturers are greatly worked up over the award and are trying to induce their members of Congress to take a hand to help them.

Winston-Salem Factories Make Heavy Shipments.

Winston, N. C., March 4, 1909.

The shipment of manufactured tobacco from this city during the month of February amounted to 3,778,167 pounds. The sale of revenue stamps amounted to $226,690.08.

There was a decrease of $3,091.80 from February of last year, the receipts in that month being $289,761.82, or a difference of 51,530 pounds. The total amount of manufactured tobacco sold during February, 1908, aggregated 3,829,697.

Death of Louis B. Haas.

Hartford, Conn., March 2, 1909.

Louis B. Haas, one of the best known tobacco dealers and veteran business men in this city, died suddenly at his home Saturday afternoon last. On Friday morning he was about his office attending to the details of his vast business; about 11 o'clock he was taken ill with an attack of indigestion, and a physician was summoned. His case was severe and he was removed to his home. On Saturday all indications pointed to his recovery, and until five o'clock it was thought he would be able to overcome the attack, but soon after his heart action became slower and he rapidly weakened until the end had come.

Dull Leaf Tobacco Market Reported in Havana

Pending a Revival in Business, Some Buyers are Devoting the Time to Pleasure While Others are Making Personal Inspection of the Growing Crop. American Exporters and a Few Spanish Houses Virtually Control the Desirable Goods.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.)

Havana, March 1, 1909.

The market was dull last week, as the reported transactions will show, and the cause was not for lack of buyers in town. Some of the latter have come down for pleasure, others have gone to the country to inspect personally what the prospects of the coming crop are likely to be, and the balance of our visitors are examining carefully the remainder of our stocks, in order to make the best selection of goods which might answer their purposes and to purchase them upon the most favorable terms. Several trades are still pending a registration, and therefore cannot be reported until the coming week. While there is a good demand for 1st and 2d capaduras, as well as for heavy bodied Vuelta Abajo of the 1908 crop, the former can only be found in the hands of the American exporters and a few Spanish houses, and at prices which are above the views of the buyers. Inferior styles of Remedios are still to be had to some extent at more moderate figures. What is left of heavy Vueltas or Semi Vueltas is mostly still raw, the best cured lots having been sold, and for this reason there is some disposition shown to examine what is left over from the 1907 crop. This latter growth has undoubtedly improved in taste and looks, thus proving acceptable as a mixer, either with lighter qualities of the 1908 crop, or for seed and Havana cigar manufacturers in the North. As far as prices are concerned they ought to prove advantageous to the buyer. It is reported that one local factory purchased over 300 bales of Vuelta Abajo of the 1907 growth last week. Partido Resagos are in fair supply yet, and the holders are rather anxious to close them out at moderate figures.

Rains have fallen in most tobacco districts, therefore the "tardio planting," as well as the capaduras, stands a fair chance now of coming to maturity before the Spring rains commence. If nothing unforeseen should occur the 1909 crop may be as large as last year's in quantity, but as far as quality is concerned it is too early to say anything that will approximate the actual facts at harvest. However, it is admitted that there will be more Partido wrappers this year.

Sales

comprise 2000 bales, of which 1150 consisted of Vuelta Abajo, 300 of Partido and 550 of Remedios.

For the United States 1400 bales were purchased, for Europe 225, and for local consumption 375 bales.

Exports of Leaf Tobacco from the Port of Havana were:

To United States	5647 bales
To Europe	266 bales
To South America	101 bales
Total	6014 bales

are continuing their tasks cheerfully, hoping that the extra session of Congress which is to be called for March 15th will result in more favorable terms, as far as the new reciprocity treaty is concerned. The United States stood in the front rank as importers of Havana cigars in the year 1907, to be relegated to the second place again in 1908. There is ample room among the immense population to smoke increased quantities of imported cigars, in addition to the clear Havana cigars made in the North and the ordinary seed and Havana domestic cigars, as soon as the times are normal again and business is brisk all over the States.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 400,000 cigars last week. Their H. Upmann & Co. factory is doing better from day to day.

Sol is doing a fair business with all parts of the world, and owing to its location, close to the leading hotels, is having a large share of patronage from the tourists here.

Buying, Selling and Other Notes of Interest.

Max Mendelsohn purchased close on to 400 bales of leaf tobacco.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez sold 425 bales of different kinds of tobacco during the past week.

Wm. H. R. Crump was a buyer of 500 bales of different kinds of tobacco for his large Chicago clientele.

The cartmen's strike did not last over two days, as a compromise was effected by dividing the increase asked for, and the rates are now 8c per bale of tobacco and 12c per barrel from the railroad to the warehouse, or from the latter to the dock.

A. M. Calzada & Co. made sales of 200 bales of leaf tobacco during the past week.

A. Guedalia, although mainly on a recreation trip, examined one vega of Vuelta Abajo which had been reserved for him, and closed the deal to his satisfaction.

The Cuban Exhibition of Agricultural Products, Industries and Women's Handiwork was opened at the Palatino Park on the evening of the 26th of February, and is bound to attract the attention of foreigners and tourists. A great many of our cigar manufacturers have also exhibits of the different sizes and shapes of their factories. The P. A. Estanillo factory exhibits also a work of art made by one of the partners of F. Rodriguez & Co., Don Francisco Herrero, representing the Cuban five-pointed star and the shield, made of cigars and tobacco twisted into balls and other shapes. It is very unique and makes a pleasing effect.

Don Gustavo Bock has been invested again with unlimited powers, as chief manager and director of the Henry Clay & Bock & Co., Ltd.

LANCASTER MARKET IS DULL.

But the February Output of Cigars Shows a Substantial Gain.

Lancaster, Pa., March 8, 1909.

The leaf tobacco market is still dull, and transactions consisted entirely of small sales to the local trade. But there is real cheering news in the fact that the cigar production for the month of February shows a substantial gain over that of the month of January, as well as over the corresponding month of a year ago. It is all the more surprising because the month was the shortest in the year, having had just twenty-one business days.

Although leaf tobacco packers have not really been concerning themselves very greatly about sales, since the present activities began in receiving and packing the new goods, the fact that the output of cigars is showing an increase, is encouraging alike to the leaf man and cigar manufacturers.

The very fact that cigar manufacturers had so little business was an incentive for them to refrain from buying leaf rather than to add to the stocks of raw material, and now that those conditions have made a favorable turn, it is also expected that more life will follow in the leaf market.

The reports of the Collector of Internal Revenue of the Ninth district show sales of stamps amounting to $157,299 during the month of February, as against $144,537 in January, which represents a cigar production as follows:

February	52,433,330
January	50,437,020
Increase	1,996,310

The output during February, 1908, was 48,179,120, making the increase for February, 1909, show an increase of 4,264,210.

Lancaster City manufacturers did not apparently participate so fully in that showing, as most local factories had a dull trade during a large portion of the month, but in the other sections of the District it would seem the conditions were a little better.

There is yet some buying of 1908 crops, and in at least a few instances pretty stiff prices have been paid for the goods. Lately buyers have been out for A. R. Cressman's Sons, of Philadelphia, and purchased several larger crops at ruling figures.

It is estimated that more than three-fourths of the 1908 crops have been received at warehouses, and a large percentage of it has already been packed.

Chas. J. Lederman, local Leaf Packer, is still on the road, and is reported to have placed considerable quantities of goods during his present trips.

J. H. Hoober has been visiting the Philadelphia trade lately.

J. G. Shirk, the well-known wholesale tobacco and cigar dealer and manufacturer, is using new price lists of his products, and premium lists of valuable prizes which are offered with his goods.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, March 9.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market has been rather quiet during the past week. The transactions of the week previous, which were of more than ordinary volume, seem to have brought about a lull as an aftermath. The visibly reduced stocks are causing some apprehension, and men declare that if the cigar trade revives to anywhere near a normal output there will not be a sufficient supply of leaf available to keep them going until the new goods can be used, and therefore they are quite confident that prices will be very materially affected. There is already an acknowledged scarcity in certain types of leaf, and in all lines of domestic filler and in binder goods there is also noted an advance in price.

The Sumatra market has held up well, considering that the Inscriptions are now at hand. Large delegations have already sailed for Europe and will be at the first Inscription.

Havana has been selling in moderate quantities only. The modest quantities available of certain types have maintained rather stiff prices.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

The output among cigar manufacturers continues to fall somewhat behind, and during the month of February there was noted a reduction of over six million, as compared with February of 1908. This would make a total decrease of the present year, in comparison with the previous year amount to about twelve million. This refers, of course, to full fledged cigars paying a tax of $3 per thousand. In other respects, however, there has been an improvement; collections have become easier and wholesale houses throughout the country are showing a disposition to place more liberal orders, at least, for future deliveries. The weather conditions lately have been anything but favorable to the trade at large. Country roads have almost been impassable, which necessarily kept much of the country trade away from stores and curtailed the retailer's business.

Amsterdam Pilgrimage.

A notable contingent of the tobacco trade have sailed for Amsterdam, where they expect to attend the first Inscription. Among them are Benno Neuburger, of E. Rosenwald & Bro.; Fred and Paul Hirschborn, of the United Cigar Manufacturers' Co.; Patrick Gorman, with the American Cigar Co.; Fred Hummel, with the Union American Cigar Co.; John N. Kolb, of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co.; J. H. Duys, of H. Duys & Co.; S. Goldberg, of Conradi & Goldberg, San Francisco; Kauffman S. Falk, of G. Falk & Bro., and Max Adler, of Leonard Friedman & Co. All of these will be able to attend the first Inscription. M. F. Schneider, the well-known Burling Slip importer, and H. Hirschl, representing various Holland houses, will sail this week and which will enable them to attend the second Inscription, which takes place on March 19.

The Waldorf Astoria Deal.

Negotiations are in progress looking to the acquisition by the United Cigar Stores Company of the chain of stores operated by the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company. The statement is made on the authority of C. A. Whelen, first vice-president of the United Cigar Stores Company. As to whether the deal is likely to be consummated or not Mr. Whelen declined to say. However, the report current in tobacco trade circles that the deal included the absorption of the wholesale business of the Waldorf-Astoria Company was denied. It is stated that the stores operated by the latter concern are located in various leading cities and that the deal involves approximately $300,000. It is understood that the present authorized capital stock of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company, which is $1,000,000, will probably be increased.

Speaking for the Waldorf-Astoria Company, one familiar with the facts in the case yesterday said: "The Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company has concluded to close out its cigar store interests. This is is due to the fact that the management has decided to devote more attention to the manufacturing end of the domestic cigar business and also to the importing of all the finer grades of cigars from Cuba, which has long been the company's specialty. The deal has to do only with the retail stores of the Waldorf-Astoria Company, which are located in various prominent parts of New York, Detroit, Michigan and on the coast. The company operates eighteen stores all told."

The United Enters Newburgh.

United Cigar Stores Co. has effected a lease of the store at 37 Water street, Newburgh, now occupied by M. Ellick, dealer in household goods, and will open one of its stores there early in April, probably on the first of that month.

The stores of the company are spreading out all over the United States. None but experienced men are placed in charge.

There is one of these stores in Poughkeepsie and it is said to have cut deeply in the trade of several old dealers.

Swindling Salesman Arrested.

Ernest Werkhoven, who said he was a salesman, of Rochester, N. Y., has been made prisoner at police headquarters, charged with grand larceny. The complainant, John J. Kaplan, living at the Grand Union Hotel, claims the man swindled him out of $4000. Werkhoven says he was an officer in the German army, and that his relatives in Germany are wealthy.

The police say Werkhoven and Kaplan formed a company, each putting up $4000. It was deposited in a New York bank and Werkhoven sailed for Holland. In December, two bales of tobacco arrived here for Kaplan, who says it was worthless. Meanwhile, it is alleged, Werkhoven drew his and Kaplan's money from the bank.

Smoking in the Subway Barred.

Notices of the new Board of Health rule against smoking or carrying a lighted pipe, cigar or cigarette into the subway were posted in the stations yesterday. Last night the first arrest was made. Louis Funcke, of Elberon, N. J., entered the Seventy-second street station with a lighted cigar.

Special Policeman Flynn acquainted him with the new rule. Funcke refused to throw away the cigar, and submitted to arrest, saying he would have the matter settled in Court. He was charged with disorderly conduct, and locked up in the West Sixty-eighth street station.

He was discharged with a reprimand in the Night Court.

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 10, 1909

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

Mr. JULIUS VETTERLEIN.

Business in the local leaf tobacco market for the past week did not show much activity; in fact, it was a particularly dull period with a majority of the houses here. Transactions were few and in very moderate quantities, except a few mail orders which came from traveling representatives now on the road. Visitors this week have been exceptionally few, and no buyers at all were among them.

Sumatra has had some little demand, but mostly in quantities indicating that it was desired for immediate use.

The Havana market remains unchanged. There is still strong inquiry for goods of a certain class, but the supply is not very great, and the prices have been firmly maintained.

The February output was rather encouraging to the cigar manufacturers, considering that it was a very short month, and only about three weeks of actual business time during the month. March is so far promising better things for the manufacturers, who are now casting their prospective eyes about and completing plans for more aggressive endeavors. With conditions generally becoming steadily more settled, the cigar manufacturer feels that he can now well afford to begin more active work, and consequently representatives will be instructed not to let opportunities pass by unnoticed.

The principle event of the week was the annual meeting of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, which was held yesterday at the Harris Club, on New street, right in the heart of the leaf tobacco district. The meeting was more than ordinarily well attended. The two reasons which can be given for this probably were that it was the regular annual meeting, and secondly that it was pretty well known that there would be changes in officers. Morris Rosenberg, until yesterday president of the local Board, some months ago formed new connections in New York city, and now spends the major portion of his time in that city, and would not permit his name to come up for re-election. George W. Bremer, Jr., vice-president, and who has been the chief executive since Mr. Rosenberg transferred his interests largely to New York city, also refused to accept the presidency, notwithstanding the urgent plea of the members present for his acceptance.

Finding that their endeavors were not availing, the meeting quickly decided upon Mr. Julius Vetterlein, one of the best known and most popular members of the Philadelphia trade, and who was elected by a unanimous vote and amid a hearty cheer from every one present.

Sidney Labe, of the leaf firm of B. Labe & Sons, was elected vice-president.

J. S. Batroff was re-elected secretary, and W. H. Dohan was re-elected treasurer.

The old Board of Directors, consisting of Harry W. Bremer, George Burghard, Harry Hirschberg, L. G. Haeussermann and Samuel Weinberg, were re-elected.

The report of the treasurer showed that the Board was in a stronger financial position than it had ever been at the end of any year since it was first organized.

Secretary Batroff also asked to be relieved of his duty, but he was promptly informed that it was the unanimous desire of the meeting that he continue, and he finally acquiesced.

George W. Bremer, Jr., who occupied the president's chair, appointed John R. Young and E. A. Calves a committee to escort Mr. Vetterlein to the chair to occupy the position to which he had just been elected. The committee did as it had been requested, and when Mr. Vetterlein took the chair he also took occasion to make a few remarks of well-chosen words, and was heartily applauded.

It was decided that the president should name the delegates to attend the National Convention, which is this year to be held in Baltimore. This announcement will be made at the new president's early convenience. The Board has a membership of twenty-four, which will entitle it to four delegates to the convention.

A vote of thanks was extended to all of the outgoing officers, and the meeting was then declared adjourned.

J. Kosminsky, Eastern manager with Kraus, McFarlin Co., growers and packers of Florida tobacco, and whose headquarters are in Chicago, was in this city recently.

The product of the A. H. Motley Co., of Reidsville, N. C., and who are making a particular drive on the "Motley's Special" brand of granulated smoking tobacco, is meeting with a satisfactory business in this city and vicinity. Mr. Harry Cline, the factory representative, who makes his headquarters at 230 Arch street, has been recently canvassing the local trade, and finds an improvement generally.

Charles C. Gross & Co., on Frankford avenue, have been made a distributing agent for the "Quatility" brand of nickel cigars, from the factory of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., of this city. Since the incorporation of the business of Chas. C. Gross & Co., Mr. John Gilbert has been admitted to an interest in the business, and several additional salesmen are being engaged. The house proposes to enter into a lively campaign for an increased business this year.

Felix Eckerson, of F. Eckerson & Co., is on a visit to Havana, and reports having made selections of some very desirable tobacco for their trade.

The Career of an Old and Widely Known Tobacco Man.

On another page in this issue is the announcement of the sudden death of Mr. Louis B. Haas, of Hartford, Conn. A brief sketch of his life is given here:

Louis Benjamin Haas was born in Arnheim, Holland, November 3, 1830. He came to New York when 19 years old, and remaining in that city some four years, he learned the trade of cigar making. In 1853 he came to Hartford and entered the employ of Lee & Deane, cigar manufacturers. Later he formed a partnership with John Essman, under the firm name of Essman & Haas. Later Mr. Essman went West and Mr. Haas took into partnership his brother, Philip B. Haas, the firm name then becoming Haas Brothers. Later Mr. Haas went into the wholesale tobacco business with Oswin Welles. Upon the death of Mr. Welles, the son, Cassius Welles, succeeded the father, and the firm name was changed to C. Welles & Co. On the death of Mr. Welles, Jr., Mr. Haas acquired the chief interest of the business, and from that time it has been conducted under the firm name of L. B. Haas & Co. Two nephews, Benjamin L. and William P. Haas were taken into the business some time ago, and they still retain their connection with it.

YORK'S CIGAR OUTPUT RISES.

Revenue Figures of February Indicate Increased Production.

York, Pa., March 8, 1909.

It is reported by Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, in charge of the York Office, that the sale of cigar stamps during the month of February exceeded those of January by about $1000. The total receipts for the month were $71,000, representing an output of 23,667,000.

The receipts for the month of February, 1908, were $64,000, representing an output of 21,334,000, thus showing an increase of 2,333,000, as compared with the corresponding month of 1908. During the month of January the receipts were $70,000, representing an output of 23,334 000. The production of February, therefore, exceeds that of January by 333,000.

Some fair-sized orders have been received by cigar manufacturers in various sections recently. Several factories at Holtz, including those of J. F. Sechrist, J. W. Stein and David Zeigler, have been fortunate in booking good business of late.

The C. S. Gable factory at Strinestown, which had been closed down for some time, resumed operations to-day.

W. A. Lahr, of Red Lion, has been increasing his force of cigarmakers by a dozen or more.

Wolf Bros. & Zeigler, of Red Lion, have also added six additional cigarmakers to their list.

Some heavy receipts of leaf tobacco have taken place lately at Red Lion, Stewartstown and Wrightsville.

John F. Richard has been shipping heavily from Wrightsville; Roseman Bros. from Red Lion, and Michael Engel from Stewartstown.

The firm of Warren Beck & Bro., well-known cigar manufacturers of this city, is evidently going to comet the Possum market, judging from the number of brands they have been adopting in connection with the word Possum. This firm struck the idea of getting out a brand of cigars called "Billy Possum" about the time of President Taft's visit to Georgia recently. They were the first to adopt it, but soon found a number of imitators, and immediately took the stand that their rights were the first on record, and they propose to maintain that stand too. For the purpose of protecting their original brand as far as possible they have also adopted various combinations, all of which they will continue to use, but which they may not push as vigorously as the "Billy Possum" brand.

IMPROVEMENT ON IN BOSTON.

Chronicles of Ben Ali Regarding Tobacco Men at The Hub.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, March 8, 1909.

Business conditions have improved a great deal since last week, and trade is coming along nicely. Many of the members of the cigar and tobacco trade were among those who attended the inauguration of President Taft at Washington last week.

A. Pick, who has had charge of the pipe department of T. Rosenbaum & Co., for several years past, has resigned, and expects to soon engage in business on his own account.

The Imported Tobacco Mfg. Co., of New York have a representative in Boston now doing missionary work on their "Regatta" and "Prize Cup" cigarettes.

The Marathon Cigarette Co., of Boston, has just come out with a new package of ladies' cigarettes, which are gotten up in a very attractive form.

Ben Grossman has sold his cigar and tobacco store on Columbia avenue to M. Gullis, who was formerly with Tom Brown, the South Boston wholesaler, as salesman. Mr. Crossman has purchased the cigar and tobacco route of Wolf & Lunden, who have a business within a radius of fifteen miles from Boston.

Louis Shapiro, with the Nestor Gianaclis Co., returned from Connecticut on Friday last and immediately left for Portland, Me., in the interest of the popular Nestor cigarettes.

The Janes-Riker Co. have leased a store on Tremont street, near Temple Place, and when alterations are completed will open another branch cut-price drug store.

George Finn has resigned as manager of the cigar department of F. Metcalf Co., 39 Tremont street.

Joe Rogers and R. D. Carnes, with the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co., will both start in a few days to work the principal cities and towns in New England. Since the arrival here this week of the two U. S. battleships, New Jersey and Missouri, there is quite a demand for "White Rolls" cigarettes, which seem to be a favorite with the jackies.

The new No. 20 size of the Melachrino cigarettes is duplicating nicely. A. L. Myers, the Eastern representative, is doing some clever work in connection with these goods, and has already installed some very attractive window displays about town.

J. C. Mendelsohn, representing the Falk Tobacco Co., called on the trade here this week with a full line of samples of high-grade tobaccos, and is reported to have done a satisfactory business.

George Yavner, formerly manager of the Annex Cigar Store, on Milk street, has just purchased the cigar stand in the Penn Mutual Building. Mr. Yavner is well-known in that neighborhood and will doubtless increase the business of the stand considerably.

S. London, cigar manufacturer on Hanover street, has closed out his business. It is stated that he contemplated engaging in the millinery line.

Leveson Bros., makers of the popular "Boston Smoker" cigars, report a brisk increase in business for the past month. Their brand is well placed among the retailers.

The American Smoker Cigar Co. will shortly place on the market a new two-for-a-quarter cigar, which will be called Lord Barrington.

The United Cigar Stores Co. will soon open a branch store in Fitchburg and in Lowell, Mass.

"Corker," the new brand of plug tobacco made by the American Tobacco Co., is now being placed in this market.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO IN KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE.

[From Bulletin No. 343, U. S. Department of Agriculture.]

TIME TO BREAK THE GROUND.

Where the tobacco follows corn the ground is usually broken in the spring, early enough to keep down a growth of vegetation. Where tobacco follows tobacco a cover crop of rye, winter or turf oats, or barley should be sown. This must be turned under sufficiently early for the green crop to rot. Frequently tobacco follows tobacco or tobacco follows corn and the ground is allowed to go over winter without any kind of cover crop, but this is a bad system and should not be practiced.

FERTILIZERS.

Where fertilizers are to be used, it is best for farmers to buy the ingredients and do their mixing at home. This is less expensive than buying the commercial goods, and by doing their own mixing the farmers familiarize themselves with the amount of plant food in the raw materials. By acquiring this knowledge they will be better posted as to their intelligent use. If a commercial or mixed fertilizer is to be bought it is best to buy a high-grade article, one running high in those elements in which the soil is deficient. The low-grade and low-tonnage-price fertilizers are the most expensive. Farmers pay on the avergae 2 cents a pound more for plant food—nitrogen, potash, and phosphoric acid—in a low-grade fertilizer than for that in a high-grade fertilizer. In some instances they pay as much as 6 cents a pound more for plant food in a low-grade fertilizer than they have to pay for it in a high-grade article, besides having to pay twice the amount for freight, sacks, and mixing to get the same quantity of plant food.

In the Burley district, where the tobacco is usually set about 18 inches in the drill, the fertilizer is scattered along in the rows, but where the tobacco is checked the fertilizer is dropped in the check.

Fertilizers are sometimes applied broadcast, which is a better practice than the methods usually employed.

In the dark-tobacco district the usual practice is to set the tobacco in check rows and apply the fertilizer in the checks. If a drought occurs during July or August, hill-fertilized tobacco will fire worse than that broadcasted, for the reason just mentioned. The fertilizer usually gets the blame for this while the fault lies in the method of application rather than in the fertilizer.

PREPARATION OF THE SOIL.

After breaking, the soil should be thoroughly harrowed and rolled in order to reduce all clods and leave the surface smooth and mellow.

If a crust should form before transplanting, a light harrow or weeder should be used to break it. This prevents the soil from becoming dry and hard, stops excessive evaporation of moisture, and less rain will be required to afford a season suitable for transplanting.

Laying off the ground is the final operation before transplanting. In the Burley district the plants are set in rows 3½ to 4 feet apart and usually from 18 to 24 inches in the row. A greater distance between the plants, especially on rich soils, produces a coarseness of fiber that is undesirable. Plants set on poor soils should be farther apart than those on rich soils in order to secure the desired growth. In the dark belt the common practice is to plant 3½ to 4 feet each way and cultivate in both directions.

The old method of transplanting by hand is still exclusively used in some localities.

A 2-horse tobacco setter is used to some extent, especially where there are large fields. With this machine about 3 acres a day can be set, three men and a team being required for its operation. Its greatest advantage is that the crop can be set regardless of season. Growers claim that a larger percentage of plants will live when set by a planter than when set by hand.

At first, use is made of a shovel cultivator or turn plow, run rather close and deep, the object being to stir the soil near the roots so as to admit air and warmth. Subsequent cultivation consists of shallow plowing for the purpose of preventing the growth of weeds and conserving soil moisture. The use of any tool that will carry out this purpose will give good results. The hoe is not used in tobacco cultivation so much as formerly unless the hills become infested with grass and weeds. It is used very little in the Burley district. Hilling, following the last plowing, is still considerably practiced in the dark-tobacco district. There is a common impression that it produces a heavier tobacco. Cultivation is not continued to any extent after the plants have grown so large that they would be injured from broken leaves and disturbed root systems.

TOPPING.

When fourteen to eighteen leaves appear on a plant of the Burley type or ten to fourteen on one of dark tobacco, the top is broken out so that the leaves will spread and attain the proper body and thickness. Topping requires considerable discrimination on the part of the grower. He must be able to judge the capabilities of the individual plant and also the soil in which it grows. A slow-growing plant should not be topped as high as a rapid grower. The former will not mature as many leaves as the latter. For the same reason, plants grown on poor soil should not be topped as high as those grown on rich soil. High topping tends toward late maturity. ment Station in 1906 gave best results when the plants were topped at fourteen to sixteen leaves. The plots used had been in bluegrass sod for a number of years and were very fertile. In a second experiment plants were topped at twenty leaves, but did not produce any more pounds per acre and the tobacco was much lighter in body. Topping at twelve leaves reduced the yield very materially, especially of the bright and red leaf grades. The custom in the dark district is to prime off about four leaves next to the ground and then top from eight to ten leaves on poor soil and from ten to twelve on fertile soil.

After topping the plant, suckers are produced at the aixls of the leaves. The first crop of suckers appear soon after the plant is topped, the large ones in the top of the plant. A short time after their removal a second crop appears.

HARVESTING,

Ripeness of the plant is indicated by the appearance of yellow spots on the leaf and by the brittleness of the veins. Usually about thirty days after topping the plants are ready for harvesting. The stalks are split with a knife beginning at the top and splitting to within 6 inches of the ground, and are cut from the hill just below the ground leaves.

Five or six plants, the number depending on their size, are placed astride a stick. Within four hours if the weather is favorable the plants will wilt enough to be taken to the barn. To prevent sunburn, it is often necessary to "scaffold" immediately after cutting. Tobacco can remain on the scaffold for two or three days, or longer if necessary. Rain will not damage it much if it has not commenced to cure. Tobacco that has yellowed well on the scaffold before taking to the barn is less likely to house-burn than if it is housed on the date of cutting, before it thoroughly wilts. In handling the crop all possible precautions are taken to prevent injury by bruising.

Cigar Making School in Belguim

The following information concerning the school for teaching the manufacture of cigars in Liege is furnished by Consul H. Abert Johnson, of that city:

Trade schools have developed in a remarkable degree in Belgium in recent years, and among the latest innovations in this line may be mentioned a school for cigarmaking, which was inaugurated here on July 20, 1908. This school is at present in successful operation, school from becoming a factor in the cigarmaking industry it was decided that each pupil should make the fillers he used as well as the finished cigar.

This method was also more satisfactory, in that it offered better opportunities of gauging the work of each

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

Signs begin to multiply in this part of the Valley that there is to be tobacco grown here this year. Quite a number of carload lots of fertilizer have been left at our station. The prospect is that nearly an average acreage will be set this season, unmindful of last year's prices.

The crop of 1908 has nearly all been removed from the farmers' hands either by sales or has been put into the shops to be assorted, sweat and sold by them. Some local packers have sold their season's packing. I think in Whately there are but two or three packings left. In Hatfield there are more of the packers holding their packings. One Sunderland, Mass., packing has been brought to another place to be sweat by Mr. Swift. Also one Whately packing, that of Lyman A. Crafts, bought by Isaac Meyer & Co. The American Tobacco Co. has been taking over more tobacco; during the past week they loaded two cars at South Deerfield and one at North Hatfield, some of it pretty low in price. A day or so ago I bought some tobacco at our local store, paying 20 cents for it. "Twenty cents for that little mess," exclaimed the American's agent, who was present. Come up to the car and get a whole bundle for that money! So I conclude that they did not pay a high price for it. Well, the stuff has gone, hail cut fillers and broken stuff, and probably most of it will be manufactured at home after it has passed into the hands of the company. But had it been bought by independent buyers much of it would have been exported as very cheap stuff to very cheap people.

Our correspondents write:

Hatfield, Mass.: "I report the following crops of tobacco sold: Alfred Brea, 7 acres at 12 cents, bundle; Peter Saffer, 5 acres at 14 cents, bundle; J. H. Ryan, 5 acres; John Foster, 3 acres; Thomas Fitzgerald, 4 acres, in bundle, to R. J. Whalen for Ohio parties. A. H. Graves, has sold a part of his 1907 crop to Taylor, of Westfield, Mass., said to be at advanced prices. Samuel F. and L. A. Billings sold 20 acres at 19 cents, probably assorted and packed, to Whalen."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "Lyman A. Crafts sold 148 cases and Seth B. Crafts (heirs) 90 cases to Isaac Meyer Co., the whole lot to be sweated by Mr. Swift. Warren P. Crafts, 39 cases to be shipped to Pennsylvania, all of the crop of 1908."—American Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville.—Wallace Lee received at the D., L. & W. R. R. station Wednesday for his firm, Goff & Mather, of Elmira, taking in several car loads which were shipped to Elmira. E. C. Monroe expects to receive here next Tuesday for the American Tobacco Co. The warehouses of J. W. Upson, F. M. Dunham and M. Tobin are open and a force of assorters at each of them are busy handling the new crop.—Gazette.

EDGERTON, WIS.

The buying movement is slacking away very materially. Possibly the spring break-up of the country roads is one reason for the cessation of riding, but the American Tobacco Co. and other large operators have pulled their buyers out of the field entirely so that mostly local men are operating at present. Whether the orders of local packers are sufficient to clean up the balance of the crop or not remains to be seen. Prices continue along figures heretofore quoted as shown by the following sales coming to notice:

C. L. Holton, 10a at 9½c.
Julius Hagebery, 8a at 10 and 2c.
John Jacobson, 14a at 8 and 3c.
Otto Nelson, 6a at 8½, 7 and 2c.
Geo. Bunting, 8a at 9, 7 and 3c.
John Hoiness, 5a at 8 and 2c.
R. M. Wisestad, 8a at 8½ and 3c.
T. B. Young, 6a at 8 and 2c.
Wm. Bussey, 6a at 7½ and 4c.
S. Clark, 8a at 7½ and 4c.
B. Mesmer, 6a at 7½ and 4c.
Geo. Goldthorp, 8a at 7½c.

The deliveries of the early purchases are so well in now that the end of the warehouse handling is in sight with one or two of the larger concerns. Many others, however, will continue for some time yet.

There is but little news to report in old leaf. Only moderate sized lots seem to be moving, though a better feeling seems to prevail in eastern centers. Geo. Rumrill sold a 100cs lot of '05 B's to a New York firm recently.

Shipments: 957 cases.—Reporter.

NEW CIGAR FACTORY BUILDING

For Pendas y Alvarez to be Built in West Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., March 11.

By arrangements consummated yesterday between the Macfarlane Investment company and Pendas & Alvarez, the latter firm known throughout the country for its fine cigars, will locate a magnificent factory in West Tampa. This factory is one of the largest and oldest in Tampa and their deciding to locate in West Tampa is a fitting tribute to the desirability of this city for manufacturing purposes. The negotiations were conducted by Col. Hugh C. Macfarlane for the investment company, and Enrique Pendas for Pendas & Alvarez.

The new factory will be a handsome one, commodious and of the latest design. It will occupy a solid block of ground on Francis avenue, adjoining Palmetto street. The building will not be less than forty-five feet in width and some two hundred feet in length. It will be three stories high, and in addition, will have a basement. The work of constructing the building will commence at once.

Pendas & Alvarez occupy a notable position among the manufacturers of cigars in this section. Their business is a tremendous one, and when they decided to build a factory large enough to handle their increasing business they scanned the sites offered with care. West Tampa impressed them very favorably, and as a result, they cast their lot in the bustling city of cigar factories and homes.

Enrique Pendas, the head of the concern, who conducted the negotiations for the location with Colonel Macfarlane, is president of the Clear Havana Cigar Manufacturers' Association of Tampa, and of the Spanish Casino. Both himself and his associates have long been identified in a prominent way with the life and growth of this section, both commercially and socially.

In their going to West Tampa that municipality is deservedly complimented on securing a factory of more than passing importance.

The present factory site is on Spring street, near Fortune.

New Cigar Incorporation at Council Bluffs.

The Peregoy & Moore Cigar Company, of Council Bluffs, Mo., have filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State, with a capital of $30,000, which is held as follows: R. C. Peregoy, 1 share; J. W. Peregoy, 108 shares; William Moore, 109 shares; A. E. Brock, 1 share; and all of Council Bluffs; F. E. Shepard, 1 share; Ben. Shearer, 79 shares, and Geo. W. Groves, all of St. Joseph.

Establishments will be maintained at both Council Bluffs and St. Joseph, as heretofore.

NEW CHATTANOOGA CONCERN.

Local Business Men in a $20,000 Cigar Project.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 11.

John S. Whigman, J. H. Ballard, Burnett Rhodes, S. B. Strang and J. S. Fletcher filed an application in the office of County Court Clerk W. P. Hays for a charter for the Consolidated Cigar company. Mr. Strang stated that the company would begin business with a capital of $20,000, and would have its principle offices in this city. About one-half the capital is furnished by Tampa, Fla., parties, the remaining half being subscribed by local people. The intention of the corporation is to manufacture and deal in cigars and to import and deal in Havana tobacco. The main factory is to be located in Chattanooga, with one branch at a point in Florida yet to be decided upon.

SUFFIELD TAX ASSESSMENT

Levied on Out-of-Town Tobacco Packers Must Stand.

Suffield, Conn., March 10.

The decision of the board of relief relative to the out-of-town packers of tobacco paying taxes on the assessment levied by the assessors will have to stand and may be the means of the warehouses closing, as the tobacco men refuse to pay the high tax on cased tobacco stored in town. After several weeks of sitting and discussion the board of relief, composed of Arthur Sikes, George Sheldon and Herbert L. Spear, announced its decision this morning. The out-of-town packers who pack tobacco in Suffield warehouses and who objected to the high assessment, are L. Osterweis & Sons, $20,000; Keiser & Vosberg, $15,000; Kutinski, Adler & Co., $15,000; I. Kaffenberg & Sons, $10,000. The board reduced Kutinski, Adler & Co.'s list from $15,000 to $8750, while the others remain unchanged. The other work done by the board of relief was considerable, out of 25 applications received the board granting some relief to 16 and also making four additions. The amount in each case was not large, except that of Kutinski, Adler & Co., the total deductions being $12,032 and the additions $1405, leaving the net increase $10,627.

Buffalo Jobbing House Formed.

A new jobbing house has been opened at 185 Ellicott street by Samuel Heinreich, Thos. Link and Wm. Weitz, under the firm name of Link & Co. All of the above named were formerly employes of Reid & Co., and who have a wide acquaintance in the trade, and will no doubt succeed in securing a good portion of the business heretofore done by the firm with which they had been long connected.

BRIGHTENING IN TAMPA.

The Weekly Output of Cigars is Approaching Normal Figures.

Tampa, Fla., March 12.

Shipments of cigars from Tampa for the week were in excess of six millions, which is the best business for a considerable time. It indicates the restoration of the output to its former volume at an earlier period than had been anticipated. The distribution was spread all over the country, showing that the excellent clear Havana cigar made in this city has lost neither its popularity nor its recognition by experts as the best in the world. The importations and the withdrawals of leaf for immediate consumption are in about the same proportion, discovering that while the manufacturers expect a continuance of a fair stage of business they are not indulging in any extravagant expectations. The situation in Havana and elsewhere is satisfactory and the sum of indications is for a continuance of good business and a probable arrival at the three hundred million mark by the end of the year. The increase in output for the first two months of the year is ten millions, which points to not less than sixty millions for the year.

The increased output means more work for the men, more wages for distribution in the channels of business and a more comfortable and promotive state of things all around. In this connection it might be mentioned that there is a distinct improvement in the real estate market, a larger number of homes being erected, fewer vacant houses than at any date for the past year and a more hopeful tone among people generally. These things are reinforced by a greater inquiry from outside people for investment by purchase or loan and a larger acquisition of new people

American Snuff Co. Plans Change at Clarksville.

Clarksville, Ky., March 11.

Important changes were announced today by the American Snuff Company. P. H. Corbett, for the past six years manager of the Clarksville factory, has been transferred to Memphis, to take charge of the company's interests in that city, and will be succeeded by L. A. Bowers, whom Mr. Corbett succeeded when he assumed charge of the local plant. C. E. Skinner, superintendent of the Clarksville factory, will succeed Mr. Bowers as manager of the factory at Yorktown, Del. These changes will become effective within the next thirty or sixty days.

The Gray, Benzinger & Miller Cigar Co. has been organized at Beatrice, Neb., to purchase, manufacture and sell cigars and tobacco. They have a capital of $25,000. The company was incorporated by Ralph Gray, Frank Benzinger and A. C. Miller.

SOLD CIGARETTES TO MINORS.

St. Joseph Grand Jury After the Guilty Dealers.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 10.

The grand jury has found true bills against a number of tobacconists, charging them with having violated the law against selling cigarettes and cigarette wrappers to minors, if an unofficial report current about the courthouse can be credited. A law against such sales has been on the statute books for a number of years, but in St. Joseph, at least, it is said, has been practically a dead-letter. In his charge to the grand jury, Judge Ryan of the criminal court mentioned this matter, saying that reports had reached him indicating that the law was being generally violated.

A new law went into effect on the 6th inst., and on which are based the charges now brought.

BADGER STATE ITEMS.

Janesville, Wis., March 13.

Varying degrees of activity are being manifested by the different Janesville tobacco firms. Some are buying an amount equal to the product of the best season, while others have not yet started to buy.

The F. S. Baines concern is working at top speed, with over a hundred hands in the main warehouse and the two branches. New tobacco is coming in amounts varying from 150,000 to 200,000 pounds a week. The daily receipts range from 35,000 to 80,000 pounds. There is also great activity in old tobacco and case goods. The weekly payroll approaches the thousand dollar mark, and the season of activity promises to continue until the latter part of May.

M. F. Green and Son are putting new hands at work daily, and it is expected that the present force of ninety-three will be increased until the plant is running at its full capacity.

No increase in production is contemplated by Fisher and Fisher, but the present force of thirty-five will be kept steadily at work. They are doing no buying at present.

E. M. Calkins reports that he has received no shipments as yet, but expects the first lot to-day. He has been shipping small lots during the early part of the winter.

McGiffin & Birkemeyer are getting heavy shipments, but are doing little sorting and packing. The leaf is immediately shipped to the manufacturers upon its arrival at the warehouse.

Many of the dealers are out of town for the purpose of inspecting future deliveries. Among them are: Sanford Soverhill, H. S. McGiffin, J. Ryan and T. E. Welsh.

Edgerton, Wis., March 13.

J. M. Conway is home after a month spent in the East.

TOBACCO MATTERS IN YORK.

Stirring Times During Delivery of Leaf Tobacco by Farmers.

York, Pa., March 15.

Lately there have been some lively scenes at various points in this county during the delivery of tobacco by farmers. This was especially true at Red Lion, where, on the 11th inst., a buyer who had lots of tobacco coming to town, came near being roughly handled. It is stated that the firm for whom the tobacco was supposed to have been bought failed to put in an appearance. After keeping the farmers waiting for some time, the buyer finally offered to take the tobacco, but at a figure below what was to have been the price. This action brought about a climax, and the farmers, already angered at the protracted delay, took very unkindly to the proposition, but fortunately no fight was precipitated.

A local leaf firm at Red Lion bought a considerable part of the tobacco which was not taken in by the original buyer.

At Wrightsville a similar scene was enacted on the day before, upon which occasion an out-of-that-town buyer was charged by the farmers with attempting to defraud by short weight. It required the presence of the town constable to restore order.

At the Meyers warehouse, this city, considerable leaf has been received this week. It was cured mostly from the Druck Valley, which is regarded as among the best tobacco producing districts in the county.

John F. Reichard and the firm of Roseman Bros. & Blouse received several carloads of leaf at Red Lion this week.

D. A. Horn, of the Red Lion Tobacco Co., and A. M. Shepp, leaf broker of this city, attended the auction sale of leaf tobacco at Lancaster this week. After attending the sale Mr. Horn proceeded to New York.

W. H. Snyder, of Windsor, recently put his force of cigarmakers on full time.

Horace Shindler, of Red Lion, will open a cigar factory at Windsor, occupying the building formerly used by Peter Schmuck.

A. Scott Frey, of the firm of Frey & Shindler, Red Lion, has returned from a several weeks trip to Florida.

Wolf Bros. & Zeigler, of Red Lion, last week reported an order for 100,000 cigars from one firm.

Chas A. Rost, of Red Lion, a leaf dealer who had for some days been under medical treatment in New York, has returned to his home, and is again very active in the trade.

Bankruptcy in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., March 12.

Sam Pearlman, a cigar dealer at 120 West Main street, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court last week. He places his liabilities at $1,586.88 and his assets, consisting of stock on hand, amounts to $193. He claims exemption on a suit of clothes valued at $18 and a watch worth $6. There are twenty creditors, their claims ranging from twenty-five cents to $452.50.

Leaf Trade in Havana is Good, for the Season.

Buyers are Still Numerous, but the Scarcity of Desired Classes of Goods Limits Transactions. The 1907 Vuelta Abajo is in Good Supply, and Careful Buyers May Find Some Uuseful Stock. Bright Prospects for the 1909 Santa Clara Crop.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.)

Havana, March 8, 1909.

As we are now at the tail end of the season, very large transactions are out of question, but considering that buyers have not stopped coming here last week's transactions were fair enough for this time of the year. They would have been larger still if our market stocks had been larger.

There is enough of the 1907 Vuelta Abajo crop left for sale in first hands, and amongst the different vegas a discriminating buyer could pick lots which are well cured by this time and which have lost the rank flavor and taste peculiar to this growth. The sellers would be anxious to please the buyers as far as the price is concerned. As a mixer with milder sorts of leaf it will compare favorably, and therefore it seems only a question of time, when there will spring up a demand for these styles.

The inferior grades of Remedios, such as third capaduras, 6a and 8a, are showing signs of being wanted for export to Europe, although at prices which the holders at the moment appear unwilling to accept. As there is no demand for these classes in the United States, it looks as if the buyers will have their way before long, unless there should spring up a demand for some other direction. As the packers had calculated to obtain the same prices for which they sold these styles previously, it will mean a severe loss to them, particularly as they had sold their 1st and 2d capaduras at cost or with only a trifling profit.

If the Santa Clara province should be favored by dry weather there will be a large crop of Remedios this year, as the late abundant rains have developed the later plantings and also proved beneficial to the plants left standing in the fields after the first cutting. More rain now would do incalculable harm, however.

There is a demand for Partido wrappers by the Trust and also for resagos by Tampa manufacturers.

age the affairs of the Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Limited, in future. Don Gustavo Bock is universally liked, and when he had control of the original English Company, The Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Limited, he was a sharp competitor, but just in all of h's dealings, doing everything above board. As it is his intention to do away with the centralization and amalgamation system and let each factory of the Trust stand on its own feet again, thus regaining their individuality, it will mean a tremendous undoing, and it will be a work that requires time and patience. The cost of the reorganization will also be a considerable item, therefore no immediate results can be looked for. To make the Trust cigars as good as the Independents will help the latter in a general way, as it will destroy the mistrust which was created by the former using inferior leaf, and thus hurting the reputation of Havana cigars all over the world. On the other hand, as the consumption of Havana cigars is limited, it may take away some of the business which the independents have obtained by making superior cigars to the Trust ones.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 500,000 cigars last week. Their H. Upmann factory is well supplied with orders and is working with increased forces.

Behrens & Co. received good orders from England, Germany and Austria for their celebrated Sol and Luis Marx Cigars.

H. Upmann & Co. purchased 1100 bales of leaf tobacco for export for account of their customers.

Suarez Hnos disposed of 300 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

Abe Landfield was a buyer of a few hundred bales for his Chicago factory.

Avelino Pazos & Co. turned over 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido to their customers.

Sidney Goldberg is reported to have made some good sized purchases of Vuelta Abajo and Remedios leaf.

Rz. Bautista & Co. closed out 200 bales of Remedios tobacco.

John Boltz made several transactions in fine Vuelta Abajo vegas, which had been reserved for him.

Gonzalez y Miguel sold 150 bales of Partido leaf to a Tampa manufacturer.

F. Bolano purchased a couple hundred bales of tobacco for his Chicago customers.

A. M. Calzada & Co. were busy with two of their friends who always do business with them, and they sold them several vegas from their holdings.

Jules Adler and Thomas Engelhardt were buyers to some extent.

Charles Blasco has engaged Don Trinitario Vila as an addition to his staff.

LOOKS BETTER IN LANCASTER.

Manufacturers Encouraged by Increase in Cigar Output.

Lancaster, Pa., March 15.

There was only a comparatively small movement of leaf tobacco during the past week, but a much more healthful tone pervaded the market since the announcement of an increased output of cigars during the month of February. Factories are being placed in readiness for operations on a larger scale, and inquiries about goods are coming in more freely.

A few crops of 1908 goods are still in the farmers' hands, but they are constantly becoming more scattered. Prices have not changed materially in the past few weeks.

One of the most cheerful pieces of news to the cigarmakers was the announcement last week that John Slater & Co. would resume operations on the 18th inst., and notice has been sent to their former employes to that effect. A member of the firm informed the writer that while they still have some surplus stock on hand, it has, nevertheless, been depleted to such an extent that, with the accumulation of orders received the factory can, they believe, be operated on full time. Mr. Slater, the senior member of the firm, is expected to come on from his home at Washington, Pa., some time next week. The re-opening of this factory will afford employment to a good many cigarmakers who have been idle for some time.

S. M. Ottinger, of Mitchell & Ottinger, Florida specialists, is expecting to visit Quincy, Fla., his home town, leaving here on the 20th inst. This firm, since locating in Lancaster, has been placing with the trade a line of Florida tobaccos which seems to have struck a popular fancy, and upon several occasions they have had to replenish their stock. Mr. Ottinger's purpose in visiting Quincy at this time is to arrange for an extensive and fully adequate supply to meet the wants of those who have adopted the M. & O. line of leaf.

Through the energy and efforts of the Lancaster Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, a revision of Insurance rates on leaf tobacco has been secured, and a considerable sum of money has recently been paid to leaf men, in rebates representing the difference between the amount already paid and the new rates.

The Iona Tobacco Co., at 520-22-24 N. Charlotte street, has a large force engaged in assorting and packing leaf. This warehouse has been entirely remodeled and equipped with all the latest improvements, making it one of the most cheerful places of employment in the tobacco trade.

S. N. Wolf, of the cigar firm of Wolf & Hackman, Akron, left on Tuesday last on a four weeks business trip through the Middle West.

Prof. B. F. Heiges, principal of the Manheim, Pa., schools, appeared before Burgess Shenk and entered a protest against some parties in the borough who sold cigarettes to boys in the various grades of the schools. The Burgess very promptly ordered High Constable Lawrence to notify the dealers to discontinue selling to boys under twenty-one years of age, and anyone violating

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, March 16.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market has undergone a perceptible change during the past week. Stocks of old leaf had already been noticably reduced, and during the week they were still somewhat further depleted. Careful inquiry reveals the fact that the concensus of opinion is that there is yet on hand and in the possession of the lead trade, a quantity of tobacco equal to about one average year's crops in old goods of the domestic varieties of cigar leaf. Certainly not much more, for of Wisconsin and Ohio tobaccos perhaps not the proportion of one averagingly good year's crops remains. Of Pennsylvania the largest proportion remains. In further view of the fact that Ohio and Wisconsin crops of 1908 will not produce their average quantity, and that probably one-half of the Pennsylvania crops of 1908 is in the hands of the American Cigar Co., independent manufacturers can depend only on the remainder for their usual supply of Pennsylvania leaf, and, therefore, there would seem little likelihood of any recession in price.

Some routine business was done in Sumatra tobacco, and reports received concerning the new goods indicate that an advance in prices will have to be paid. At the first Inscription held at Amsterdam on Friday last, some 2000 bales were secured for the American market.

No material change has occurred in market so far as Havana tobacco is concerned. Business in this type of goods has not been active, and market conditions in Havana have also been rather quiet during the past week.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

There is every indication that this branch of the industry is gradually regaining its former volume of business. More help is being employed in the several departments of the principal Metropolitan factories, and general conditions are favorable to renewed activity. The only apparent hindrance is the possibility of labor disturbances in several sections of the country, but the trade is becoming more optimistic.

If we have favorable weather conditions, it will undoubtedly be a great impetus to permanent progress.

Fraudulent Sumatra Operations.

Detective Gegan, of the Central Office, brought a prisoner from Rochester last week, who said he was Ernest Werkhoven, and who, according to the statements of the police, has swindled various persons out of $25,000 by means of fraudulent tobacco operations.

Werkhoven, also known, Detective Gegan said, as Edwald Waltburg, Emil Werner and Emile Wilhelmi Marre, was arrested on a warrant issued by Magistrate Breen, the complainant being John Kaplan, an insurance man, who alleges that Werkhoven swindled him out of $4000 through a tobacco scheme. According to Gegan, the prisoner is also accused of having defrauded Captain E. P. S. Wright, president of the Locke Manufacturing Company, out of $5000 by another tobacco scheme. F. J. Cross, of Chicago, was another victim to the tune of $6500, and two men in Philadelphia lost $5000 apiece, the detective says.

The man's true name, according to the police, is Emile Wilhelmi Marre.

According to Gegan, Werkhoven, who is only thirty-four years old, could organize and incorporate companies and importing concerns with a few waves of his hand. When arrested the detective says he found quantities of advertisements in Werkhoven's possession which had been inserted in Cleveland, Toledo and Philadelphia papers.

It was one of these advertisements that attracted the attention of Kaplan, and he corresponded with Werkhoven and finally arranged with the latter, the police say, for the formation of a company for importing tobacco from Holland. Kaplan met Werkhoven in August of last year. In December he awoke to the fact, the police assert, that he had been victimized, for he found, they say, that when Werkhoven reached Holland he drew on Kaplan's money until all had been drawn out of the banks. The police say that other complainants will probably come forward, as they say that Werkhoven must have reached many persons through his advertisements.

First Sumatra Inscription

The first of the 1909 series of Sumatra inscriptions was held at Amsterdam on Friday last, at which time there were offered over 15,000 bales of tobacco, but of which only about 1800 bales were secured by American buyers.

The new tobacco promises some very satisfactory lots, running light in color and of excellent yield. The prices, however, ranged somewhat higher than those of last year.

New York houses were the principal buyers at the first inscription. Among the purchasers were:

Leaf House in Liquidation.

For more than a week past the business affairs of Gustav Salomon & Bros. have been in the hands of a representative member of the trade, with a view to its adjustment and ultimate complete liquidation. It seems that interested persons have deemed this course advisable, and that it would be in the best interest of all concerned. A local bank is among the largest of the creditors.

The firm is one of the oldest in the city, and lately consisted only of Mr. Sol. Salomon, a brother of the late Gustav Salomon who died a few years ago, and when the house was thought to be with several million of dollars. Shortly after the death of Mr. Gustav Salomon, his two sons who had been connected with the firm, withdrew and began operations on their own account, under the firm name of Gustav Salomon's Sons.

There is much reticence concerning the cause of the present embarrassment. It is attributed principally to an adverse market and other things.

American Tobacco Co. Statement.

Notwithstanding the business contraction, the yearly statement of the American Tobacco Company for the period ended December 31 shows an increase in net earnings of $1,333,386. This is one of the few large industrial combinations that succeeded in increasing profits. After allowing for dividends paid to common stockholders, which, by the way, involved $3,018,180 more than in 1907, there was a balance of $5,471,554. The total surplus is now given at $38,026,261.

Duys & Co.'s Enterprise.

The Sumatra importing firm of H. Duys & Co. last week purchased out of hand a lot consisting of 150 bales of Sumatra. It was a parcel of the Holland Sumatra Tobac My, and its purchase gives to this firm the distinction of having been the first to buy of this year's goods. At the inscription on the day following the house also secured a lot of 590 bales for the week. Of the tobaccos already bought by them they expect to have samples in readiness to show the trade by the 24th inst.

This is the principal annual function of the employes of the Metropolitan Tobacco Co., and has been attracting a large attendance. The committee having the affair in charge this year announce that they have succeeded in providing an excellent program, and they feel confident that the affair this year will be the most successful that they have yet had. Music will be furnished by Richheimer & Weiss' Orchestra and Military Band.

Trade Notes.

E. C. Downs, for several years past an office manager with the Florida Tobacco Co., at 131 Maiden Lane, N. Y., died last week at his home at Bath Beach, Brooklyn, after a lingering illness. Mr. Downs was well known in the trade, having been connected with it for the past twenty years. In 1890 he entered the employ of Schroeder & Arguimbua, and in 1903 resigned his former position and joined the force of the Florida Tobacco Co., with whom he remained up to the time of his death.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

Conditions in the leaf tobacco market of this city continue to improve week after week, and recently there were numerous inquiries for goods, as well as a goodly number of sales, although a major portion of the number were in small lots. Yet one transaction recently consummated of several hundred cases of domestic leaf brought the volume of business up to a fairly good amount. Local jobbing houses have this week shared in a more active trade than for several weeks previous.

There was but little business this week in the line of Sumatra tobacco, according to reports, as it seems that the trade is now awaiting the arrival of the new goods before they will venture any large purchases.

In Havana tobaccos there was a fair business, but no particular change in prices has occurred.

The cigar industry, generally speaking, is now progressing moderately well, and the manufacturers seem quite cheerful over recent developments, indicating that there is every possibility of a greater trade. As it is, the month's output in this district is likely to show an increase which will eclipse that of any month for more than a year past. Out-of-town trade is growing, to judge from the increased number of mail orders being received, and road men also report far more encouragement.

The Empire Leaf Tobacco Co. has this week had a more than usually busy week. Mail orders were coming in at a lively rate both from their customers and traveling representatives. Mr. B. L. Grabosky, of the firm, will again start out on a business trip through the State some time this week.

Another of the most active houses for the past week or more was Julius Vetterlein & Co., who disposed of several good-sized lots of domestic leaf.

A charter has been granted to the B. H. Stiefel Cigar Co., of this city. The incorporators were Isidore Baum, Nathan Baum and B. H. Steifel and the charter was granted for the purpose of manufacturing and selling, both at wholesale and retail, cigars, cigarettes, tobacco of all kinds, pipes and smokers' articles and implements of every description. The business was started several years ago under the firm name of L. Steifel & Bro., and the firm then consisted of L. and B. H. Steifel. The partnership was subsequently dissolved, and Mr. L. Stiefel retired from the business, which, however, was continued by B. H. Stiefel under the name of B. H. Stiefel Cigar Co., but was not incorporated. The factory is located at Souderton, Pa., and the main office and a retail department are maintained at Fourth and Race streets, this city.

President Julius Vetterlein, of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, has announced his appointment of delegates to attend the annual meeting of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, which will convene in Baltimore on May 10. The delegates named, together with their alternates, are as follows:

Delegates—Harry W. Bremer, E. A. Calves, Sidney Labe, Leopold Loeb.

Alternates—W. H. Dohan, George W. Bremer, Jr., Samuel Weinberg, L. G. Haeussermann.

In addition to the regular delegates there will also be several additional representatives from this city entitled to seats at the annual convention, viz.: Felix Eckerson, treasurer of the Association; John R. Young and Julius Vetterlein, members of committees.

The sudden death of Samuel Rice of heart disease on March 10, at his residence in Philadelphia, was a great shock to his many friends and business associates. He represented the P. C. Fulweiler & Bro. Co., cigar manufacturers, of Philadelphia, as salesman for the past 27 years and for a number of years was a director in the company. Thus passes away another salesman of the old school.

Mr. King, formerly of Rochester, N. Y., has come to this city to engage in a very lively campaign on the "Charter" nickel cigar of E. M. Schwarz & Co., of New York. Arrangements have already been perfected whereby the jobbing house of Frings Bros. Co. will become local distributers here. We have ventured the opinion that it will be a lively campaign, and do not think we have missed it very much, for we need only point out the fact that behind the project of this campaign is the big New York firm, and who have all the resources that could possibly be desired or required, and, what is even more, the vigor of the firm will enter right into it. These are all essential points, and we might even go further by saying that there is perhaps not another house in New York city so well equipped for such an undertaking as E. M. Schwarz & Co., for the simple reason that it requires a cigar of absolute merit to gain a foothold in this city, and every one who knows anything about the cigar business at all knows that E. M. Schwarz & Co. make good cigars, and that is why we say we believe they are going to win out.

W. P. Bushell, with the Jose Lovera Co., makers of the well-known "Jose Lovera" clear Havana cigars, was a recent visitor in this city, and announced that arrangements had just been completed by him by which Mr. Crooke, of Atlantic City, will take the distributing agency of their product at the City by the Sea.

It has been decided to sell the cigar stand of the Boch-Griffin Co., in the corridor of the Real Estate Trust Co. Building, at Broad and Chestnut streets, at public sale at the Philadelphia Bourse, on Monday, March 29. The matter of the disposal of this stand has been pending for some weeks, and this conclusion was arrived at recently at a meeting of the creditors.

BOSTON TOBACCO BUSINESS.

Wholesale Dealers Feeling Good, But Retailers Not Jubilant.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, March 15.

Wholesale dealers report a satisfactory week's business. Collections were also much better than during the previous week. Retail dealers, however, were not so jubilant, because their business was very materially affected by the bad weather conditions. Mornings seemed nice, but before night there would be a heavy rain, snow or hail storm; yet they feel confident that we shall have a good spring business, and they are all making preparations in accordance with those views.

The writer happened to be in a certain cigar store the other day when one of the clerks opened a case of the "R. B. Special" cigars, and in also came a customer to make a purchase. The customer casually glanced at the clerk who was unpacking the case of goods, and noticed that many of the boxes were stamped Colorado, and inquired if the whole case had come from the State of Colorado. My time was limited, and I did not wait until the clerk had finished relating the story of the meaning of the mark.

Julius Weiss, with Kauffman Bros. & Bondy, has been lately at the American House, where he made an exhibit of his firm's line of the newest styles in pipes.

J. Mendelsohn, representing the Falls Tobacco Co., is working Boston and surrounding towns lately, and meeting with good success.

Joe Rogers, with the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co., has been working Springfield during the past week. It was his initial trip through that section, but he reports having painted the old town purple with "Lynnhaven" cigarettes.

J. W. Greenleaf is now the manager of the cigar department at the T. Metcalf Co.'s Tremont street store. Mr. Greenleaf hails from Gloucester, where he had secured much experience in the cigar line, and which enables him to fill his new post most satisfactorily.

M. Fisher, of the Union American Cigar Co., was here during the past week, taking orders for a nice line of 3 for 5 cent cigars.

A gratis deal is being offered the retailers on "Bengals" and "Sub Rosa" little cigars. Mr. Muller, who is now in charge of this territory, is already making a good showing with the products of his department.

Ralph M. Gans, of Gans Bros., New York, makers of the well known "William the Fourth" clear Havana cigars, was here last week and did a very satisfactory business.

Charles Bernhardt, with Schinasi Bros., New York, has lately been looking after city trade here, and reports that their new "Royal" size is duplicating nicely. Mr. Bernhardt expects to make a trip through Connecticut this week.

George H. Russell, with the J. J. Bagley Tobacco Co., of Detroit, Mich., is now placing with the trade their "Buchingham" cut plug tobacco, which is put up in 1 2-3-ounce packages. This brand is said to be a big seller in some sections of the country, and it is intended to acquaint Boston smokers with it also by a proper distribution of the goods and a thorough sampling campaign.

S. Friedlander, 1378 Washington street, manufacturer of the 10-cent New England cigar, will shortly come out with a new nickel product under the name of "Brookline Smokers."

The Soudan Tobacco Co. has removed their cigarette factory from the south end to 194 Chambers street. The firm makes the "Turkish Flats" and "Turkish Triumphs," both of which have a good local trade.

The United Cigar Stores Co., who recently opened branch stores in Fitchburg and Lowel, have now also leased a store on Central square, Lynn, next door to the famous Pike & Co. store, and when alterations have been completed will open for business. The rental of the store is said to be $2500 per year.

Mr. Oppenheimer, representing W. P. Friedman & Co., of Baltimore, Md., makers of "Turban Presto," "Grand Council" and other brands of short smokes, has been in this city lately calling on the jobbing trade.

W. P. Moore, of the Alhambra Cigar Co., New York, is in Boston again looking after the sale of his "El Contrivo" cigar, and is also showing a line of Porto Rico cigars from the factory of Mendez & Gomez.

The Surbrug Co. have a crew of salesmen working the trade on their "Arcadia," "Bohemia" and "Players." Their pipe tobacco, "Arcadia," is doing nicely in Boston.

Chas. J. Lederman has returned to this city after an extended trip through Ohio.

The leaf tobacco auction sale which was advertised to take place on the 11th inst. at warehouse in rear of 404 South Prince street came off on schedule time, but I am informed that most of the tobacco offered was bought in, and not all was offered. It is stated that the prices bid were so low that the owners would not allow it to be actually sold. However, it is stated that another sale may be announced later.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

I have very little news of sales of tobacco, and when any such items come to light instead of showing a lively gait, they are more halting than ever. Prices have not advanced in the least, but have decreased instead, and now that there is so little that is left in the hands of the growers is sure to be picked up at about the willing price of the buyer. The late storms have put to sleep all the thoughts of the early birds engaged in raising domestic cigar leaf.

I hear that the sorting shop of Mr. Swift is starting up again to do up a few small lots that were hanging by the gills at the time of the shops closing. He will only put on about 20 or less hands and at that he expects only a short run. In the Ninth Pennsylvania district there were manufactured in the month of February 52,433,330 cigars which the correspondent thinks was quite a start in the right direction as compared with February, 1908, when only about 48,000,000 were manufactured. Well, it looks better to say the least. He writes that with only 22 working days in the month, it is a good showing.

Our correspondents write:

Wethersfield, Conn.: "About one-half of the 1908 crop has been sold. What is left will probably be cased as the buyers do not want to pay enough for it. The same old scare. They claim they paid too much for that bought early in December. Too bad it did not turn out all light wrappers! Crops sold: G. F. Warner and E. R. Smith to Fullers, of Hartford; A. H. Griswold and J. S. Wells to Griswold, of West Hartford.

Bradstreet, Mass.: "Belden Brothers sold to Litchtenstein & Co., a packing of about 190 cases at about the going prices for cased goods. Mrs. M. Flavin has sold to Solomons & Co., 12 acres hail-cut at 2¾ cents. Mr. Woltram said that he called it the best crop that Mr. Solomons had bought here this year."—Amer. Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville.—E. C. Monroe received on Tuesday at the D., L. & W. R. R. station for the American Tobacco Co. All of his purchases of new goods have now been delivered. F. M. Dunham expects to receive on Saturday. J. W. Upson's, F. M. Dunham's and M. Tobin's warehouses are all open and have forces at work handling the new crop, which has now practically all been bought up, very little of the crop still remaining in the growers' hands.—Gazette.

EDGERTON, WIS.

A decided decline in the buying movement has been witnessed during the week, owing somewhat to the break-up of the country roads, though it is apparent the large operators have taken their men out of the field for the season. It begins to look as if the balance of the crop will be left for the small concerns to take over, in which event competition does not promise to be strong. Prices, however, remain about as heretofore quoted as the following indicate.

Antone Olson, 12a at 11c asst.
Sam Noble, 6a at 9 and 2c.
Roy Saunders, 10a at 7½c.
H. Herwonson, 9a at 7½c.
Ole Quam, 8a at 7½c.
C. H. Bliven, 6a at 7 and 3c.
Ole Stockstand, 10a at 7¾c.
O. L. Hoel, 8a at 7c.
S. Peterson, 18a at 7c.
O. O. Loftus, 6a at 7½c.
And. Solem, 12a at 7c.
Nels Reindahl, 5a at 7½c.
Wm. Murphey, 7a at 7¼c.
E. Stark, 10a at 7½c.

The packing season is drawing to a close with some of the firms early in the field, but warehouse handling promises to be general at most of the packing points for some weeks yet.

No revival to speak of in the market for old leaf, though packers report an increased inquiry for samples and prices. A 325cs lot of '07 at Rio has been purchased by L. B. Carle & Son. C. J. Jones & Son report the sale of 300 cs of '07 to Eastern parties. sale of 300cs of '07 to Eastern parties. porter.

Whatever you do, do it earnestly; business life is serious and it is for your own good to keep up with the procession. Work always in the interests of your employer, provided you do it honestly. "Strike while the iron is hot." Whatever line of business you are in; whatever your position, you will soon be looking for another if you let grass grow under your feet. Do not complain continually of small pay and long hours—you are not the only one.

If You Work in an Office or Store

Study the man one step above you; familiarize yourself with his work, if possible; then when your opportunity comes you will be ready for it. Do not keep those who come into the store or office waiting if you can help it. Nothing is more disagreeable for a customer than to be kept standing, while the clerk goes on writing, or stands talking with his fellow employees. If you are unable to give your immediate attention, apologize and do so as soon as possible.

Do what your employer tells you to do, whether you like it or not. It is not necessary to show your dislike. Try to be always obliging to customers, even if their requests are unreasonable. Above all, answer questions cheerfully and as fully and concisely as you can. Don't adopt a condescending or blase air when addressing customers. They will like you better if your manner is simple and direct.

If You are an Agent or Salesman

Don't call upon people at unreasonable hours, especially if your business takes you to their residences. Don't neglect a "prospect" just because it does not look promising. Some of my best sales have come from most unexpected sources. Don't talk continually about your own goods to the disparagement of every other make. This is disagreeable and no one will take your word for it anyway. State the reasons for the superiority of your goods, but do not dwell upon the worthlessness of everything not made by your firm.—Contributed.

OPTIMISM at JANESVILLE, WIS.

Leaf Men Declare that Outlook is Steadily Brightening.

Janesville, Wis., March 12.

Although the tobacco market is at present quieter, the local manufacturers are sanguine in their outlook and most of them have opened their warehouses for the new season. Baines, Soverhill, Grundy, Welch, Soulman, Fisher & Fisher, Greene, Haskin, Carle and Pember Bros. all have sorters at work and the remainder of the warehouses are expecting to be of their number in the near future.

"I have been running since the middle of December," says S. B. Heddles. "My force numbers thirty. The general condition of the tobacco is sound and indications are that the crop will go through the sweat without much, if any, damage. It is generally conceded that 80 per cent. of the crop in this State has already been contracted for."

Sam Grundy's warehouse has been running for the last two weeks. He employs twenty-two in sorting. Mr. Grundy has orders ahead for quite a good many weeks.

F. S. Baines says: "I am employing 135 men at this time, and receiving on an average, 300,000 pounds of raw material a week. The tobaccos have been gathered up very fast within the past month and most of the market has been already contracted for. This is favorable weather for handling the crop. The snow hasn't affected the tobacco in the fields very much. Sometimes it drifts into the sheds through crannies, wetting the butts, but all the tobacco I have received so far has been in very good condition.

The ordinary crops are selling at from 6 to 7 cents, and the better ones at 7 to 9 cents—the latter coming mostly from the Northern part of the State. As to the old tobacco, that is not being disposed of in very large quantities. The Eastern buyers, in buying new tobacco throughout the different States, render the demand for the old goods quiet."

Among those not yet opened, H. S. McGiffin is contemplating a start by the first of the month, and states that most of the warehouses now closed will probably open then. "Things are picking up, after a fashion," he says. "When one thinks of the amount of poor tobacco in the country, anybody holding old stock that is good, should rejoice. We are having more inquiry, and have had more in the past six weeks, as regards old tobacco, than was had in the twelve months previous. As to the new crop, I should say that the weather for it is very favorable."

A. L. Fisher, among those that have started in again, says that he employs thirty-five sorters. "Eighty per cent. of the new crop has already been sold," he affirms. "It has been lifted from the hands of the farmers and is in process of delivery to the warehouses with all expedition. Sales in old tobacco are sluggish."

T. E. Welch says that he has had twenty-five sorters at work for the past five weeks and is receiving about two carloads a week from the North

John Soulman is receiving the same average number of carloads and has been employing twenty sorters for four weeks. Both Mr. Soulman and Mr. Welch expect to be through in about sixty days. The girls are working steadily and make $9 per week on the average. Old tobacco is reported quiet at this time, but the dealers are in hopes that there will be a favorable movement soon.

Sanford Soverhill reports: "Small call from manufacturers. Farmers selling new tobacco only for immediate wants. They are taking only for their present needs. Situation has been depressed for a year. Output of cigars hasn't recovered from panic yet." Mr.

Soverhill drolly remarked that he would write out a check for anybody who could tell him when the market will get better. He is receiving 30,000 pounds of the new every week and employs fifteen sorters. He states that he is unable to give employment to as many of the trade as apply for work at sorting.

Pember brothers announce that they have received large quantities of tobacco lately.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO IN KENTUCKY and TENNESSEE.

[From Bulletin No. 343, U. S. Department of Agriculture.]

CURING.

In the barn, sticks filled with green plants are hung about 10 inches apart on the rails, which are usually 4 feet apart, these rails being about 4 feet apart vertically. Shaking the plants when they are being hung in the barn will prevent the leaves sticking together, which is a frequent cause of damage from house burn, the texture and elasticity of the leaf being practically ruined when thus affected. Even if house-burn is not produced, uneven coloration is likely to result if the plants are not shaken.

The prime requisite of a barn for air-curing is that it shall be thoroughly ventilated. What is termed side ventilation is popular in the Burley district, i. e., the air is permitted to pass in at windows on one side of the barn directly through and out of windows on the opposite side. The old method was designd to admit air at the side and provide an exit at the top. The movement of the air is effective in driving a current through the barn and is more likely to give good results than is dependence upon a rise of temperature to carry the draft out at the top. For the protection of tobacco hanging in the comb of the barn some ventilation at the top can be provided, since tobacco in this portion of the barn is not much affected by the side draft. To accomplish the ventilation desired, windows should be arranged horizontally the full length of the barn, parallel with each tier, so that a current of air may pass between the butts and the tips of the tobacco on each set of rails. The windows should be about a foot wide and the length of a bin, usually 12 feet. Ventilators about 2 feet square may be located every 25 feet in the comb of the barn.

The general principle upon which air-curing proceeds is that the tobacco dries during the day and comes "in case," or takes up moisture, during the night. The barn should be opened in the morning, kept open all day under normal conditions, and closed at night during damp weather. During dry weather while the tobacco is curing it is desirable to keep the barn open both day and night unless strong winds prevail which would break or bruise the tobacco.

The most trying time is during fogs and warm drizzling rains when there is very little air stirring. Under such circumstances the air on the outside is saturated with moisture and the barn should be kept closed until the air reaches the saturation point within, which will be indicated by the sweating of the tobacco. Then it is better to open the barn and get the benefit of whatever draft there may be outside. Open fires of coke or charcoal are placed about on the floor of the barn whenever the draft is insufficient or the humidity so great that sweating continues. This creates a draft and increases the water-holding capacity of the inclosed air. Sweating may continue for forty-eight hours without serious injury, but if continued longer than this house-burn may occur and render fires imperative. The first two weeks is the critical period of curing; if no damage has been done at the end of that time the tobacco is comparatively safe. But even then, unless there is a very humid atmosphere, the barn should not be closed so tight that the air can not circulate through it. Two months are ordinarily required before a crop is sufficiently cured to be bulked and stripped out.

In the dark-tobacco belt fire-curing is practiced. The sticks are crowded to about 6 inches apart on the tiers, the space being governed to some extent by the size of the tobacco, and very little regard is paid to ventilation. About five days after the crop has been housed the yellowing process is completed and firing begins. If indications of house-burn should occur earlier it will be necessary to begin firing sooner than indicated The first two or three days slow fires are applied so as to continue the yellowing process. Hotter fires follow until the curing process is practically complete.

The practice is quite common after about one week's firing to allow the tobacco to "run," i. e., to come in case, which will be facilitated by the amount of moisture still remaining in the stem and stalk. As soon as the tobacco is in case, slow fires are added again, but continued for only a short time. "Running" is not practiced as much as formerly by many of the best growers. A common mistake is made by attempting to cure the crop too quickly, and green and off colors are set. Careful planters often fire for about ten days. Wood—hickory and oak are preferable—is used in firing. The odor and flavor imparted to tobacco by the smoke of wood are necessary where an effort is made to produce a dark export type. Coke and charcoal impart no flavors and for this reason are invaluable in emergency cases when Burley tobaccos are being cured.

STRIPPING AND GRADING.

Planters take advantage of rainy days during the winter to strip their crop. The moist air brings the crop in case so that it may be bulked in large piles; then it will not go out of case when fair days return. Care needs to be exercised not to bulk tobacco when it is not in case sufficiently, because it will be difficult to handle and breaking will occur. If tobacco is going out of case when bulked, it will continue to go out and become dry. Very high case must be guarded against, as tobacco will become very dark in the bulk, especially if much rainy weather follows. Bruising is likely to occur when tobacco in high case is handled. Tobacco bulked down in "winter order" during the winter months will funk during the months of April and May if not taken up and hung back in the barn to dry out. After June it can be taken down and bulked or prized in "summer order"; then it will keep for years.

Burley tobacco is assorted into five different grades, according to the color and body of the leaf. Beginning at the base of the stalk, the grades come in regular order as follows: Flyings, trash, lugs, bright leaf, and red leaf. The flyings are the light chaffy leaves at the base of the stalk; usually one or two leaves from each plant go in this grade. The trash is a little better grade than the flyings, and is usually of a bright color. The next grade is the lugs, which are of a bright color, and like the trash command the best price on the market. The bright leaf is the finest grade in appearance, but frequently does not sell for so much per pound as the trash and the lugs. From these bright grades already mentioned a special grade called "cigarette" is sometimes made. This includes only the best and brightest leaves, practically free from dark colors. Red leaf is the top leaves of the plant and is not so valuable as the bright leaf. The general principle to be observed is to secure uniformity of qualities within the same grade.

Dark tobacco is graded according to the same principle as Burley tobacco, but only three grades are made. This tobacco is usually topped at ten leaves; hence there is less opportunity for producing as many grades.

Bluegrass Company Organized.

Articles of incorporation for the reorganization of the Bluegrass Company have been filed and the new company will have a capital stock of $300,000.

John D. Moore, formerly of Louisville, but who in recent years has lived in Detroit, holds 51 per cent. of the stock. Mr. Moore will be the president and treasurer and W. J. Loughridge vice-president, while the secretary has not yet been selected. S. W. Todd and Kirke Lathrop, of Detroit, Mich., are, besides Mr. Moore, the only new stockholders. The business will be continued in this city, as it has been heretofore, and Mr. Moore will soon move his family from Louisville to this city, and take personal charge of the plant.

THE PAYNE TARIFF BILL REPORTED

Its Provisions, and Their Probable Effect Upon the Tobacco Trade. Import Duties Unchanged. Tax on Cigarettes Increased. No Duty on a Portion of the Philippine Product, and Licorice Pasie is Made Free.

The new tariff bill, which was being prepared for many weeks, was presented on Wednesday last to the Sixty-first Congress by the Honorable Sereno E. Paine, Representative from New York and chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means.

In section F, which refers to tobacco and the manufacturers thereof, practically no change at all has been made. It reads as follows:

Tobacco and Manufactures.

217. Wrapper tobacco, and filler tobacco when mixed or packed with more than fifteen per centum of wrapper tobacco, and all leaf tobacco the product of two or more countries or dependencies when mixed or packed together, if unstemmed, one dollar and eighty-five cents per pound; if stemmed, two dollars and fifty cents per pound; filler tobacco not specially provided for in this Act, if unstemmed, thirty-five cents per pound; if stemmed, fifty cents per pound.

218. The term wrapper tobacco as used in this Act means that quality of leaf tobacco which is suitable for cigar wrappers, and the term filler tobacco means all other leaf tobacco. Collectors of customs shall not permit entry to be made, except under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, of any leaf tobacco, unless the invoices of the same shall specify in detail the character of such tobacco, whether wrapper or filler, its origin and quality. In the examination for classification of any imported leaf tobacco, at least one bale, box or package in every ten, and at least one in every invoice, shall be examined by the appraiser or person authorized by law to make such examination, and at least ten hands shall be examined in each examined bale, box or package.

219. All other tobacco, manufactured or unmanufactured, not specially provided for in sections one or two of this Act, and scrap tobacco, fifty-five cents per pound.

220. Snuff and snuff flour, manufactured of tobacco, ground dry, or damp, and pickled, scented or otherwise, of all descriptions, fifty-five cents per pound.

221. Cigars, cigarettes, cheroots of all kinds, four dollars and fifty cents per pound and twenty-five per centum ad valorem, and paper cigars and cigarettes, including wrappers, shall be subject to the same duties as are herein imposed upon cigars.

Tobacco stems, meerschaum, crude or unmanufactured, amber and amberoid, unmanufactured, or crude gum, are continued on the free list.

The duty on matches remains the same as does the duty on pipes and smokers' articles, which reads as follows:

467. Pipes and smokers' articles: Common tobacco pipes and pipe bowls made wholly of clay, valued at not more than forty cents per gross, fifteen cents per gross; other tobacco pipes and pipe bowls of clay, fifty cents per gross and twenty-five per centum ad valorem; other pipes and pipe bowls of whatever material composed, and all smokers' articles whatsoever, not specially provided for in sections one or two of this Act, including cigarette books, cigarette book covers, pouches for smoking or chewing tobacco, and cigarette paper in all forms, sixty per centum ad valorem.

Trade with the Philippines.

The bill provides for reciprocal free trade with the Philippine Islands on all articles, but limits the sugar to be imported free of duty to 300,000 tons, wrapped tobacco to 300,000 pounds and 3,000,000 pounds of filler tobacco and 150,000,000 cigars in any one fiscal year, the excess of sugar, tobacco and cigars to pay full tariff rates. This exemption from duty is confined to the growth or products of the islands, however, and does not admit articles imported into the Philippine islands and from a foreign country without payment of full rates of duty on such importations.

A section is added applying the same rules to patents obtained in the United States by aliens that are adopted by the country of which these aliens are citizens, in respect to patents issued there to citizens of the United States. This will either compel foreigners obtaining patents in the United States to build factories and manufacture here, for our trade, or eventually forfeit the right of their patents.

Cuban Reciprocity Retained.

A section is inserted preserving the Cuban reciprocity provisions of the present law.

Provision is made to terminate the various commercial agreements with foreign countries, according to the terms of said agreements, by notice, and in the meantime keeping faith in those agreements. The provisions of section 4 applying to the minimum and maximum rates will take the place of these sections.

CINCINNATI'S TOBACCO TRADE

Enormous Losses to City's Trade is Final Result of Great Disturbance.

Cincinnati, O., March 17.

Comparatively few people outside of the burley leaf tobacco trade know or have given thought to the extent to which the recently closed "tobacco war" has hurt and injured the trade in this city, not only in the leaf tobacco trade itself, but in the many lines of business connected therewith.

For instance, certain hotels in Cincinnati were always crowded at this season of the year with planters, buyers for outside manufacturers, brokers who were heavy purchasers for foreign account, laborers engaged in the shipping and handling, commission warehouse men whose profits came from the auction sales and storage of the weed before and after its sale and teamsters who did the local hauling.

The losses to the trade of Cincinnati by these deals are shown with startling effect by an examination of the leaf tobacco market report of The Enquirer on its market page this morning. In the present week there were only 150 hhds. sold on the "breaks," while in the corresponding week of last year there were 1699 hhds. disposed of.

For the expired portion of the present year to date only 1938 hhds. were sold, and for the corresponding period of 1908 a total of 15,793 hhds. went over the auction "breaks."

The receipts for the present week were only 209 hhds., for the second week in March, 1908, they were 4052 hhds. For the present year to date receipts were only 1537 hhds., while for the corresponding period in 1908 they were 14,953 hhds.

Nor is this all, for as the tobacco planters are not coming now to the city to dispose of their crops, neither are they coming except to a very small extent to make their purchases, and they are missed in a hundred branches of the jobbing and retail trade, where formerly they made their purchases of supplies of all kinds.

Warehouse Co. Incorporates.

The Lexington (Ky.) Tobacco Warehouse Company filed articles of incorporation. The capital stock is to be $30,000, divided into 300 shares of $100 each. The incorporators and their shares of stock are: W. F. Land, 75 shares; L. M. Land, 75 shares; B. E. Allen, 75 shares; J. N. Gibbons, 75 shares.

The Cincinnati Tobacco Warehouse Company has declared its usual quarterly dividend of 1 per cent., payable April 15. Books close April 3 and reopen April 16.

SOUTHERN TOB. COMPANIES

Report Satisfactory Progress in Tobacco Cultivation in Florida.

Augusta, Ga., March 17.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Tobacco Company was held yesterday in the law offices of W. H. Barrett, Esq. This company is made up of Augusta money, though it operates in tobacco culture in Gadsden county, Florida.

Directors were re-elected as follows: Messrs. D. F. Jack, Dr. W. H. Doughty, Jr., C. R. Shaw, W. O. Tarver, T. S. Shaw, J. A. Barnes, B. K. Shaw, J. M. Berry. Mr. F. B. Henderson, of Aiken, was elected in place of Director Wilmer L. Moore, of Atlanta, who has retired.

The by-laws of the company were so amended as to make the fiscal year end on June 1, instead of March 1, as formerly.

The president of the company, Mr. C. R. Shaw, made his report to the company, which was received with much satisfaction tI showed a net profit to the first of the year of $52,000. The capitalization is $250,000.

At the directors' meeting Mr. C. R. Shaw was re-elected president. Mr. J. A. Barnes was elected secretary and treasurer to succeed W. O. Tarver, who resigned that position in order to devote his entire time to the American Leaf Tobacco Company, of which he is president. This company also operates in Florida, and Augusta capital is interested therein.

The Mobile County Sumatra Tobacco Company held its first annual meeting last week at the Commercial Club with the majority of the stockholders present. Much business of importance was transacted. It was announced that the initial crop and business for the 12 months past was very fine, both as to quantity and quality.

A resolution was offered by Harry Pillans expressing sympathy and regret upon the recent death of the late J. M. Trunk, the promoter of the tobacco industry in Mobile county. The resolution was unanimously adopted and a copy of the asme will be sent to the bereaved family, while the resolution in full will be spread upon the minutes of the company.

A. A. Randall, of Quincy, Fla., it was announced at the meeting, had been employed to cultivate this season's crop for the company. The following were elected directors for the ensuing year: E. H. Frohlichtein, R. R. Moyer, J. M. Friedman, George Fearn, Jr., and John Craft. The stockholders' meeting was then adjourned and the Board of Directors' meeting convened. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: John Craft, president; J. M. Friedman, vice president;

Much satisfaction was expressed by the stockholders upon the result of the past year's efforts and they think that it means more toward the upbuilding of the agricultural industry in Mobile than any other branch. The vacant lands during this season will be tilled by fifty tobacco farmers, which will mean much for Mobile county upon the harvesting of the tobacco crop during the present year.

NO BUMPER CROP FOR 1909.

Kentucky Tobacco Men Say that Burley Outlook is for an Ordinary Crop.

Frankfort, Ky., March 17.

Col. W. E. Thompson, the member of the District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society from Franklin County, has returned from Winchester.

Secretary G. A. Brooks reported that the amounts of the pooled crop of 1907, 32,409 hogsheads, had been delivered to its purchasers, representing one-half of the entire crop of the tobacco raised in the burley district. The money collected on this tobacco is $6,102,192.30, and it has been distributed among the growers.

The question of pooling the crop of 1909 was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided not to complete the plans until the quarterly meeting, June 8, and it is believed that there will be from 80 per cent. on up of the tobacco raised in the burley district this year pooled.

There was only sixty to sixty-five per cent. of the tobacco raised in the burley district last year pooled, according to the statistics of the equity men, but it is believed this year that there will be from 15 to 20 per cent. more of it pooled, for the report at the meeting was that many of the outsiders desired to get into the pool, realizing that the organization was the the best way to get good prices.

Another very important report was received at the meeting, and that was to the effect that there would not be a bumper crop raised this year, and that the crop will only be an ordinary one.

UNITED SEEKING SITES

New Rental Values Established in Competition with Brewing Interests.

St. Louis, Mo., March 17.

The United Cigar Stores Company has entered into competition with brewing corporations for downtown corners. Several corners, listed by the brewery interest as "choice stands," are being sought by the tobacco corporation. One of the best, the northwest corner of Eighteenth and Market streets, now occupied as a saloon, was yesterday leased by the cigar company. Several more deals are pending.

Samuel Bowman & Co. is acting for the United Cigar Company, and announced yesterday the closing of the lease opposite the Union Station, and incidentally the establishing of a new rental value for that section.

The company will have a space 30 by 72 feet, and has signed up for fifteen years at an aggregate rental of more than $100,000. Improvements will be made which will cost more than $10,000. It will be the finest stand of the company in the city and will be opened May 1.

Two of the other stands which the company wants are farther downtown, and options have been gotten on the sites. Deals are said to be under way by which old-established cigar firms will sell out their locations to the United Company.

Quiet Rules the Leaf Tobacco Market in Havana

Only a Few Buyers Remaining in the City, and Transactions Consummated are Generally to Fill Orders by Mail or Cable. Stocks of Desirable Goods are Small and are Held by a Few Firms. Attempted Murder of General Nunez.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, March 15, 1909.

Our market during the past week has ruled quiet, and as there were only a few buyers in town nothing else could be expected. Commission merchants are receiving orders from their customers by cable or mail, thus showing that business in the United States must be good for certain styles of leaf. Unfortunately the stocks on hand are low and the most desirable goods are no longer in first hands here. There was some demand for low grades of Remedios for Germany and England. Partido wrappers and fillers are inquired for.

On the 11th instant we had quite a heavy rainfall for several hours in Havana, which came, however, from the northwest, and does not seem to have entered into the interior of the island, therefore no harm was done to the still growing tobacco crop in Santa Clara Province, which requires dry weather until its maturity.

Our temperature is already summerlike, with the thermometer in the eighties during the day, but the nights are still cool.

Sales

during the past week amounted to 2,091 bales, consisting of 416 Vuelta Abajo, 475 Partido and 1,200 Remedios. Destinations were: For the United States, 1,180; for Europe, 650, and for local consumption, 261 bales.

Exports of Leaf Tobacco for the Week:

To United States	4,919 bales
To Europe	938 bales
To South America	100 bales
Total	5,957 bales

Buyers Come and Go.

Arrivals:—Robert Middlemas, of Walters & Co., London; James B. Regan, manager of the Knickerbocker Hotel, New York; Herman G. Vetterlein, Philadelphia; Allie Sylvester, of Sylvester & Stern, New York and Havana.

Returned:—Mark A. Pollack, from New York.

Departures:—Marcelino Perez, David Delmonte and William Taylor, for New York; Frank R. Diaz, for Tampa; William Lightbourne, for Key West; Felix Eckerson, for Philadelphia.

Havana Cigar Manufacturers

are at last beginning to see daylight again, as orders are coming in more freely and this general improvement seems to come from all quarters. Of course as the spring trade is never very active, we cannot expect to see a big business just now, but it may be a forerunner of a boom in the cigar line this coming fall. All of our big independent factories have a large stock of leaf of the choice 1908 crop still on hand, so no matter what the outcome of the 1909 growth may be finally, consumers of cigars will get a superior tasting product, uniform in quality, for the balance of this year. As there is no doubt that a large proportion of the coming crop will also be extra fine in quality, our manufacturers will be in a position to guarantee fine legitimate Havana cigars for the next two years.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 700,000 cigars during the past week. The H. Upmann factory is again running under full steam, owing to an accumulation of orders from everywhere.

Behrens & Co., makers of the celebrated Sol and Luis Marx brands, have also increased the number of their cigarmarkers, thus proving conclusively that they have orders on hand which warranted this step.

seller of 325 bales of Remedios, Vuelta Abajo and Partido. This well-known and old-established firm will continue to handle in future Vuelta Abajo and Partido tobacco, besides its large packings of Santa Clara leaf, although Don Casimiro Heres, who formerly had charge of the first-named, has separated his connection. Don Ladislao Menendez, the nephew of Don Manuel, is on deck again after his prolonged absence in Spain, and he intends to push business for all it is worth during the coming season.

Felix Eckerson was a buyer of 300 bales of Remedios.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzales sold 300 bales of Remedios and Vuelta Abajo during the past week.

Marcelino Perez increased his holdings of the 1908 crop by a few hundred bales of choice Vuelta Abajo, leaving for his home on Saturday's steamer, the Saratoga.

Jorge y P. Castæeda disposed of 275 bales of Partido leaf during the last eight days.

Frank R. Diaz was a buyer of several good vegas of Vuelta Abajo and Partido.

Perez y Obeso closed out 216 bales of Vuelta Abajo from their fine packings.

David Del Monte left also by the steamer Saratoga, well satisfied with the large purchases made by him of all kinds of leaf tobacco.

Avelino Pazos & Co. sold 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido during the past week.

John Boltz was erroneously reported as having left last week, while in reality he only arrived here, accompanied by Herman G. Vetterlein, the broker.

A. M. Calzada & Co. shipped 305 bales of leaf tobacco last week to one of their customers.

Our agricultural station at Santiago de las Vegas has published a very interesting report about the future betterment of the raising of the nicotine plant in Cuba by using only the best soil adapted for the same, after a careful analysis of the soil and subsoil, by employing only such fertilizers which the ground is particularly in need of, and by finally selecting only such seeds as will produce healthy and uniform seedlings. Irrigation upon a scientific plan is another improvement which is urgently needed, and which our government will have to undertake to help the farmers who are not favorably situated.

A league has also been formed by dealers and planters to help each other in the advancement of the culture of the weed, as well as in the handling of it after it has been cured and packed in bales. The following have been published as officers and directors: Honorary Presidents—Ortelio Foyo, Secretary of Agriculture: Luis Perez, Sub-Secretary of Agriculture; Doctor Antonio S. de Bustomante; President—Luis Marx. Directors—General Albert Nodarse, Senator Manuel Lazo, Panlo L. Perez, of Perez & Obeso; Severo Jorge, of Jorge y P. Castanedo; Antero Prieto, of Sobrinos de A. Gonzales; Casimiro Heres, Antonio Ma Suarez, General Emilio Nunez, Tomas Mederos, Nicolas de Cardenas, Avelino Pazos and Jesus Rodriguez Bautista, of Rodriguez Bautista & Co.; Angel G. del Valle, Secretary-Treasurer.

Vidal Saenz has returned from Spain and will, in conjunction with his brother-in-law, Don Casimiro Heres, embark again in the leaf business.

The firm of Rabell, Costa Vales & Co. has been dissolved, as per circular just issued, post dated January 2, 1909, and after Jesus Vales had been the sole proprietor he issued another circular, under date of February 6, informing the trade of the new firm of Vales & Padilla. The latter continues the brands of Ramon Allones, Cruz Roja and La Eminencia cigars and cigarettes. The trade is wishing the successors well-deserved prosperity in the future.

An attempt on the life of General Emilio Nunez, of the Loeb-Nunez Havana Co., was made last week by a would-be assassin, who fired two shots which passed close to Mr. Nunez's head. His assailant was captured by the police, and he asserted that he was moved to the deed by political reasons originating when Mr. Nunez was Governor of the Province of Havana. The trade congratulated the latter on his escape unharmed, and sympathized with him all the more because the criminal selected the day one of Mr. Nunez's daughters was to be married, in order to turn the ceremony into a tragedy.

CUBAN TRADE MARKS.

The Law Amended, Materially Altering Requirements.

Minister Edwin V. Morgan, of Habana, forwards a clipping from the Cuban Official Gazette containing a decree from the provisional governor amending the trade-mark laws hitherto in force in that island by the addition of the following clause to article 5:

"Provided that any manufacturer, merchant or agriculturist may use his own name, either individually or as a part of the name of any firm or corporation of which he may be a member or in which he may have an interest and assist in forming, upon or as a part of any trade-mark, sign or label, if its arrangement with relation to the device used as the distinctive feature of the same does not produce such similarity or likeness to some other trade-mark already registered and in force as to lead to confusion or error."

Article 2 reads:

"That all persons whose applications for registration of trade-mark have heretofore been denied upon the principal ground of the similarity of their own names used in connection therewith to the names appearing upon other trade-marks, may, upon application, have their cases re-opened and the petitions granted, provided the marks sought for are not otherwise in conflict with any registered trade-mark in force."

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, March 23.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf market for the past week was normal, and while a considerable quantity of goods of certain types changed hands, there were no unusual developments. Prices on all types of domestic leaf were well maintained, and stocks are acknowledged not overabundant.

Some activity prevailed in the Sumatra market during the past week, which may have been prompted by the fact that the prices for the new goods will necessarily be somewhat higher than was the rule last year. Moderate quantities were secured for the American market at the first two inscriptions now held at Amsterdam.

There has been a moderately good demand for Havana leaf of a satisfactory character and a business of moderate proportions was consummated during the week.

The Cigar Industry.

The cigar trade is still lagging almost despondently, and while orders are being received they are as a rule of such small quantities as to hardly even affect the stocks of goods already on hand at the principal factories. The productions are being curtailed wherever possible by manufacturers who are not actually requiring goods, and the result is that at present a large number of idle cigarmakers can be found in this city. It is generally believed that the stocks of the wholesale houses and jobbers are not very large, but it appears that the generally unsettled conditions are deterring them from filling orders for large quantities at present and consequently the industry suffers.

Hester's Resignation.

E. G. Hester, fourth vice president of the Havana-American Co., has resigned his position and the resignation is effective April 1. Mr. Hester intends removing to Tampa from New York and engaging in business there, although he has not divulged what particular line of business he will enter. He has been the fourth vice president of the big tobacco company since he gave up the management of the Tampa branch of the company, having been selected to the high office while manager in Tampa.

He is one of the best known tobacco men in the country, and although he has had headquarters in New York the principal part of his time has been devoted to traveling to Havana, Tampa, Key West and New Orleans looking after the cigar factories of the company at those points. His residence in Tampa was a most pleasant one while he was manager of the company's business there, and many friends will welcome his return to that city. After a stay of two weeks there he has come to New York to effect business arrangements whereby he can locate in Tampa as soon as possible after the first of next month.

Petition Against Premier Co.

Petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Premier Cigar Co., manufacturer of cigars, with an office at No. 1293 Second avenue, by Job E. Hedges, attorney of Thomas F. Moore, a creditor, for $1427 on an assigned claim of the York National Bank of York, Pa., for money advanced by cashing a draft. It was alleged that the company is insolvent and transferred all its assets to H. E. Walter & Co., of this city. The company was incorporated on January 23, 1905, under New York laws, with capital stock $30,000, and was controlled by the firm of H. E. Walter & Co., against which firm a petition in bankruptcy was filed on February 23. The company formerly had factories at York and Hillam, Pa.

Second Sumatra Inscription.

The second Inscription of Sumatra tobacco was held at Amsterdam on Friday last, and prices were sent skyward, owing, it is said, to the sharp competition of Germany. Some elegant tobacco was offered, the reports say, and about 2500 bales were secured for the American market. The largest purchases made at the inscription were those of A. Cohn & Co., who are credited with having secured about 800 bales; G. Falk & Bro., with over 500 bales; H. Duys & Co., with about 400 bales; S. Rossin & Sons, about 150 bales, and Hinsdale, Smith & Co., 150 bales. In addition to these Otto Eisenlohr & Bros., of Philadelphia, are reported to have secured about 300 bales.

Cleveland Factory for El Symphonie

E. A. Kline & Co., makers of the "El Symphonie" and other popular brands of cigars, have decided to open a cigar factory at Cleveland, O., which was formerly the home of Mr. Kline, and where he began the manufacture of the "El Symphonie" cigars. A suitable plant has already been secured, and which will afford facilities for the employment of about 300 hands. Mr. Kline expects to visit Cleveland this week for the purpose of getting everything into readiness for the opening, which, it is expected, can take place about the middle of next month. It has been stated that the Tampa factory would be discontinued, but this Mr. Kline stated has not yet been definitely decided upon.

State Tax on Cigarists.

A tobacco tax bill was introduced in the Assembly last week by John R. Yale, of Putnam, which measure provides for a scale of rates proportioned according to the population of the city, borough, town or village in which the tobacconist's business is carried on.

Every dealer in a city or borough of 1,500,000 or more must pay an annual tax of $100; in a city or borough, of between 500,000 and 1,500,000, $75; between 50,000 and 500,000, $50; between 10,000 and 50,000, $25; between 5000 and 10,000, $15; between 1200 and 5000, $10, and in any other place, $5.

Assemblyman Reed put in a bill providing that manufacturers and dealers in cigarettes shall pay a license fee of $25 a year to the Secretary of State.

Another tax bill, introduced by Assemblyman Cuvillier, imposes a tax of 25 cents per developed horse-power on improved waterways of the State. The owners of water-power are to make annual reports to the State Tax Commissioners.

So far as can be ascertained the dealers of this city are not greatly interested in the newly-proposed measure, yet the measure will probably be opposed by the trade, although it might serve to curtail the number of establishments where cigars, etc., are now on sale, such as barber shops and small stands, etc., and would therefore naturally result in driving more trade to the larger establishments, yet it is not believed that the measure would be allowed to become a law without some objection being raised to it, if it ever passed at all.

FACE TO FACE WITH THE TARIFF.

At last the trade and the whole country is face to face with the tariff question. Perhaps the very worst that can happen is now known. There are likely to be modifications, amendments, possibly not to any great extent in the House, it is true, but when the Senate takes hold many changes may yet be expected, and the tendency of the Senate may be to increase duties wherever the House may have cut too deeply.

But nothing stands in the way of the immediate consideration of the bill as drawn by the Ways and Means Committee of the late Congress. It has been made the bill of the committee of the new Congress, and for some days it will be discussed on the floor of the House. Then it passes over to the Senate, and meanwhile the Finance Committee of that body will have been examining its every feature. So the real revision of the schedules is yet for the future. For the present the tariff schedules alone will interest Congress and the country. The Ways and Means Committee seems to have endeavored to maintain faith, and as a rule it has revised downward with some additions made to the free list, and with a few drastic cuts made here and there.

It is yet too early to determine what effect the general reductions will have upon the country's business. So far, however, the tobacco industry seems to be affected adversely rather than in a way that was hoped for. There are still some opportunities for the trade to be further heard from before the Senate Finance Committee, and it is also likely that some further action will be taken.

While the Payne bill represents pretty fairly good intentions for revision downward on the part of the Ways and Means Committee, it was very bunglingly carried out. In fact, so badly has the work been done that unless the bill shall be materially modified, it is likely to prove in operation little better than the Dingley bill. This is especially true so far as its effect upon the tobacco industry is concerned.

Certainly the protective principles have an ample margin of safety in the bill, but the concessions prove a realizing sense on the part of the House Republican leaders of the force of public sentiment for tariff reform. How far the Senate guardians of the interests will yield to the popular demand is yet to be demonstrated.

Excerpts from the Daily Press.

Some test of the success Mr. Taft will have in securing tariff aid for the Filipinos may be found in the fact that Congressman Hill, of Connecticut, is sure that the tobacco interests of the valley will not be hurt by the clauses applying to the Philippines, but the beet sugar men from the West are ready for war on sugar. The limits of free importation in the two cases are:

Sugar to be imported free to 300,000 tons.
Wrapper tobacco to 300,000 pounds.
Filler tobacco to 300,000 pounds.
Cigars 150,000,000 in any one fiscal year.

The Filipinos themselves wanted entire free trade with the United States, but the committee evidently thought Col. Bryan's plan of cutting off the dog's tail by inches was preferable.—Exchange.

There is no danger that the five and ten-cent packages of cigarettes will be increased in price by the new tariff. While the price will remain the same, the cigarettes themselves will be reduced only in quality and quantity.—Philadelphia Record.

They can't cheat Sereno Elisha Payne out of the credit for this tariff. Other times they have let him work until his blue eyes hung out on his cheeks, and then the names of the men who fathered the tariff bills were played in big black type. And way down at the end of the story, as a sort of afterthought, "Sereno Payne also helped."

Not any more. Not for Sereno Elisha. When he lays an egg he will do the cackling. It took the Congressman from the Thirty-first New York district quite a spell to catch on to the combination. But he did catch on, and kept it. All the rest of the eminents in this Congress could twist the knob and play with the key of the safe as they pleased, but it did them no good. Sereno had set the time lock on them.

Not that he hasn't been given credit for his hard work at other times. But he didn't get the wild huzza from the public. That was reserved for other men, and Sereno E. Payne had to stay back of the stage and work the thunder machine. After a while the stars of the occasion would reluctantly bid adieu to the howling multitude, and as they wiped the grease paint off their cheeks this to Sereno they would say:

"Fine work, Sereno. I'll never forget what you have done for me. But, say! To-morrow night, when I get to the pathetic part of my speech, don't turn the crank quite so hard. Your thunder is fine, but play it pianissimo after this."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The leaf tobacco market seems to have again quieted down to a remarkably low point of activity, and no transactions of any consequence have been reported during the past week. Purchases have been made by manufacturers in a very small way, and apparently only such goods were selected as there was immediate need for. Although the manufacturing industry seems to be in a much improved condition they do not seem inclined to make extensive purchases at this time, although it has been repeatedly pointed out that there was a strong probability of an advance in the prices of nearly every type of leaf later on, if the output of cigars once begins to crawl up to the normal figures of previous years. It seems evident that such a possibility is not shared in among the manufacturers, otherwise no particular warning would be necessary to convince them of possible advantages of laying in larger supplies now.

The Sumatra market has not shown any change either, although there have been a few inquiries lately concerning the good news. The reported advancement of prices at the last inscription does not seem to have as yet aroused any anxiety on the part of manufacturers to lay in further stocks of old goods.

The Havana market is steady, with no change in prices, nor is there any apparent surplus offering of leaf.

The cigar industry is now admittedly in fairly good shape, and the output of cigars is growing at a fairly satisfactory rate. The output for February, according to the official report of stamp sales, showed a material gain over the corresponding month of a year ago, numbering 47,362,700 cigars, a gain of nearly 4,000,000. The figures, were, nevertheless, about 4,000,000 below the output of February, 1906.

Retailers are highly elated with the present exceptionally fine weather, and while it is yet too cold for the open door season, its approach is having a wholesome effect. Trade is reported to have been in full keeping with the condition of the weather and gains in amount of sales are reported by a majority of the more progressive stores. Preparations are being made for an extra trade at Eastertide, and we learn that quite a few exhibits of special lines of goods will be on display.

Felix Eckerson, of the Havana importing firm of F. Eckerson & Co., returned this week from a three weeks' stay in Havana, during which time he made selections of considerable quantities of goods for their trade here.

An inventory of the personal effects of the estate of the late Arthur Hagen, have been filed with the Register of Wills, and amount to $599,870.

B. Lipschutz of the 44 Cigar Co., has secured a four-story factory building at Eleventh and Wharton streets, for the sum of $26,000. The negotiations were conducted by A. Sokolove, on behalf of Mr. Lipschutz, with W. Bruce Barrow representing Mende Brothers, the owners. The building is erected on a lot 100 by 106 feet, and it will be completely remodeled and made into a first-class cigar factory building by the new owners. Mr. Lipschutz has been for some time prospecting for a site, as the facilities of the present premises are entirely inadequate to meet the requirements of the demand for the "44" and other brands of cigars made by the 44 Cigar Co.

F. W. Hock, trading as Fred. W. Hock & Co., and the American Cigar Brokers, has been adjudged a voluntary bankrupt. The liabilities are placed at about $5000, and assets at $250. He has been engaged in the cigar business for several years.

Charles M. Hipple, of the leaf tobacco firm of Hipple Bros. & Co., last week returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, having visited all important manufacturing points en route. He has placed a considerable quantity of the firm's importations of Havana tobacco, and is highly pleased with his trip.

George, John C. and Victor R. Frings, now trading as Frings Bros. Co., will apply for a charter of incorporation, for the perpetuation of their business as wholesale dealers and jobbers in cigars, tobacco, cigarettes, etc. The business was established many years ago by the late Julius Frings, and its operations have been extending continuously until it is to-day not only one of the largest but also one of the best known jobbing and wholesale houses in this city.

H. A. Slomberg, representing the Penn Cigar Co., of Pittsburg, has been a recent visitor in this city introducing a line of stogies manufactured by his firm at Pittsburg. It was Mr. Slomberg's first visit to this city, but he expressed himself as well pleased with the cordial reception extended to him.

D. E. Salomon, with John Leopold & Son, of New York, has been calling on the trade in this city during the past week. He had recently returned from a Western trip.

President Julius Vetterlein, of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade has quite aggressively taken hold of the affairs of the local Board, and in a short time his energy will no doubt be more fully realized and appreciated. In fact we have heard it intimated that Mr. Vetterlein was among the most practicable and best qualified men for the presidency of the National Association and where he would have a wider scope for energetic action.

Fred W. Reinemann, representing Otto Malchow & Co., leaf tobacco dealers of New York, was among the recent visitors in this market.

Pent Bros., at Eleventh and Filbert streets, have secured the services of Samuel Smith as salesman. Mr. Smith was until recently a member of the sales staff of Goldsmith & Arndt.

Knopf Bros. have succeeded to the cigar business of the late C. H. Brown, at 3734 Germantown avenue. They have placed in stock a complete line of the more popular brands of cigars, and complete line of cigarettes, tobaccos, etc. The location is a good one, and both members of the firm are recognized as energetic and thoroughly attentive to the requirements of the business.

LANCASTER GIRL'S SUCCESS.

Tobacco Man's Daughter Now an Operatic Success.

Lancaster, March 22.

The success recently achieved at Puccini's Opera, at Savona, Italy, by a former Lancaster girl, and a daughter of the late Morris Gershel, who was well-known to the tobacco trade throughout the country, has been the talk, not only of the society folk of this city, but of a host of Mr. Gershel's old friends and acquaintances.

Miss Bertha Gershel, as she was known then, was born in Lancaster and brought up here. She had made her home here during her girlhood days. She early showed great musical talent and natural inclinations led her into opera after a long training in Paris. In her recent debut she met with great success, and has been much lauded by both European and American critics.

The former Miss Bertha Gershel is now Mrs. William Cutty, wife of the manager of the Musical Cuttys. She concluded her studies under the famous master, Jean de Reszke. It is expected that she will ere long appear at one or more of the New York Opera Houses.

She is a sister of Mrs. A. H. Sondheimer, wife of the popular leaf tobacco packer of this city, and a niece of Mr. L. Gershel, of the leaf tobacco firm of L. Gershel & Bro., of New York.

LANCASTER MARKET IS QUIET

Packers Report Few Actual Sales, but Believe All Their Leaf Will Yet Find Buyers.

Lancaster, March 22.

There is still no change in the conditions of the local leaf tobacco market, and very few goods have been sold during the past week by packers, except in jobbing lots to manufacturers nearby. There is encouragement, however, in the fact that inquiries are coming in regarding leaf, and packers still believe that all the goods they have will be needed in due course, and therefore they are not in any way purturbed at the present apathetic condition. The packing of the new crops goes merrily on, and the major portion of the tobacco may be said to be already in boxes, with some of it already passing through the early stages of fermentation. There is an absolute unanimity of opinion regarding one point, and that is that the quality of the crops this year is generally very satisfactory, and that is a most cheerful aspect. Unless unexpected damage develops during the sweating process, packers will likely have an elegant article to offer, and one which will command a reasonable price affording a reasonable profit on the investment which has been made.

There is no great improvement yet in the cigar industry, yet factories are beginning to work more regularly and some few with increased forces of employes. The Slater factory in this city has again been put into operation and that alone affords employment for a goodly number of the cigarmakers which have for some time been entirely idle.

Fred Jacobs, a traveling cigarmaker, who has for some time past been residing in Denver, was taken to the county almshouse, on Tuesday, by Mr. M. J. Root, of Reamstown, he no longer being able to care for himself properly, and having no relatives in this section. He is a native of Germany, and took out his first naturalization papers in Louisville, Ky., and his last papers in Lancaster. He has been ailing for some time, and, under these circumstances, made application for admission to the almshouse, which was accorded him.

William T. Hartman has taken possession of the tobacco store at 830 Cumberland street, Lebanon, Pa., having purchased the stock and good will of William R. Householder, who conducted the business at this stand for the past several years. Mr. Hartman is a brother of A. J. Hartman, president of the South Mountain Lumber Company. Mr. Householder has not yet fully decided what business he will engage in, but will remove with his wife to Mt. Gretna within a few weeks to take up his residence there for the summer.

It is alleged that the habit of cigarette smoking is spreading very rapidly in this city, and especially by young boys who are going to school. An extra effort is to be made by the school authorities to check the habit. Reference is made to the law on the subject, which was approved on July 10, 1901, and another one on April 4, 1903.

The first is as follows:

"An act to prohibit the sale and furnishing of tobacco to persons under the age of sixteen years.

"Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., that no person or persons shall sell tobacco in any form to any person under the age of sixteen years.

"Sec. 2. That no person or persons shall, by purchase, gift or other means, furnish tobacco in any form to a person under the age of sixteen years.

"Sec. 3. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or to undergo confinement in the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days, or both, as the Court may determine.

"Sec. 4. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed."

Following is the act of 1903:

"An act for the protection of the health of persons addicted to the smoking of cigarettes and imposing a fine for the violation of its provisions.

"Whereas, The smoking of cigarettes is injurious to the health of the young; therefore

"Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., that

YORK FACTORIES WORKING

But Only with Moderate Forces, and No Great Gain in the Output is Expected.

York, Pa., March 22.

The tobacco trade continued in a lethargic condition in this section of the country, although cigar manufacturers are for the most part working with at least moderate forces. At the present rate of operation of the factories the month is not likely to show very great gains, yet it may change before the month is out, and manufacturers may yet forge ahead somewhat, for the time of the year has arrived when there should begin a greater activity and increased demand for goods.

Recent depredations among cigar factories have set the whole trade agog, and every one is wondering what will happen next.

Some nights ago the cigar factory of Allen Poet at Dallastown was destroyed by fire, which consumed, with the building, a quantity of leaf tobacco and cigars. When Mr. Poet laid the fact concerning the fire before the county officials, it was also revealed that he had missed upon recent but previous occasions small quantities of tobacco. Investigations which followed the story as related by Mr. Poet to the York police department led to a suspicion of a neighboring cigar manufacturer and who was immediately taken under close surveillance. The result was that H. C. Fauth, who had been operating a factory almost opposite to that of Mr. Poet at Dallastown, was taken into custody, charged with both arson and robbery. Almost at the same time the police department officials and the detective bureau were working on the robbery of the P. C. Fulweiler & Bros'. cigar factory in York.

Hearings in two important tobacco robberies at one time were held before Alderman C. F. Keech this morning, with an additional charge of arson against one of the defendants, H. C. Fauth, who is charged with burning down the factory of Allen E. Poet, at Dallastown, to cover up the theft of a wagon load of the leaf, valued at $150. The other case was that against Martin Lentz and Melvin and Walter Mann, for robbing the Fulweiler factory, on Fair avenue.

Fauth was held without bail for Court on charges of arson, felonious entry and larceny, while the Manns and Lentz were held under $1000 bail each. All were returned to jail.

District Collector Liggit, of the local revenue office, was present at the hearing, bearing a letter from department headquarters notifying him to make a report of proceedings in both cases that action by the government might be decided upon. He was also requested to secure descriptions, records and photographs of the accused men. These will be furnished by Chief of Detectives White.

In the Dallastown case Allen E. Poet testified to the burning down of his factory Sunday night, and Chief White related his arrest of Fauth and his recovery up to this time of all of the loot except one lot of cigars, at places where Fauth had stored or otherwise disposed of it.

Employes at Deardorff's livery stable testified that Fauth had secured a horse and a spring wagon there Sunday night after 11 o'clock, saying that he wished to take some trunks from the station to the country. He returned at 5 o'clock in the morning, saying that he had been to Tilden, a little town east of the city.

William Boyer, a drayman, testified to having hauled one box of the stolen tobacco from Fauth's factory here to a local wholesale dealer, who had purchased it.

In the case against Lentz and the Manns the manager of the Fulweiler factory, John G. Bergdoll, gave an account of the robbery, and of the manner in which his suspicion had fallen upon these men. Patrolman Moser testified that he had purchased a half dozen of the stolen cigars at Walter Mann's cigar store, where they were kept in a pasteboard box. He said Mann had been chancing off a razor, and giving one of the cigars with each chance.

Chief of Police Bush testified to having directed the arrests of the Manns and Lentz, and to an admission made by Walter Mann that he had bought the cigars from Lentz.

O. T. Given, an oyster dealer, said that Walter Mann offered a box of the stolen cigars for sale to him.

A knife found in Mann's cigar store was identified as having belonged to William Jacobs, a workman in the Fulweiler factory, who assisted in securing the information upon which the arrests were made.

The Manns refused to make statements at the hearing, saying that they will be represented later by an attorney. Lentz stated that he had seen a box of "Little Lou's," the cigars stolen, at Mann's cigar store, but that he had not sold them to Mann.

Tobacco assorters wanted at the pottery warehouse by A. Wallach.

A. Wallach opened a sorting room in the pottery warehouse on Monday.

William S. Brill left for his New York home Saturday morning after spending the packing season in this market.

T. B. Earle has a moderate sized force at work at his warehouse here and stock on hand for several weeks' run.

N. Weiss, vice president, R. L. Henry and H. P. Buell, of the leaf department of the American Tobacco Co., have been in the State during the week.

Mr. George Hoffman, leaf dealer of Lancaster, Pa., is making his first visit to the tobacco markets of Wisconsin this week. He has inspected samples of numerous local dealers.

A party of New York officials of the American Cigar Co. were in town Wednesday calling on Manager Hoen, of the Edgerton branch. They were Percival Hill, president; Albert Scheinler and N. Weiss, vice presidents of the American Cigar Co.; E. B. Ewell, R. L. Henry and H. P. Buell, of the American Cigar Co. State Manager W. T. Jefferson accompanied them on an inspection of the different local branches.—Reporter.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

Connecticut Valley.

It is not much of a time for the moving of the little balance of the crop now left in the hands of the growers. I have not seen or heard of a buyer in this locality for more than a week. But when I hear that a man is sampling a few hundred cases, I try to think that perhaps there may be a buyer calculating to straggle into this part of the valley in hopes he may find a fair lot of 1908 tobacco that has been through the sweat.

Well, let them come, we are not afraid of them, and if they should happen to purchase a hundred or two of cases there will be so much gone to fill up the city warehouses; for it will not be long before there will be a call for just such tobacco as we now have stored in our warehouses. We all know that the buying has not been done from hand to mouth just from preference, but a part of the cause has been that there is actually a shortage of tobacco now held in the large city storehouses, and the quicker some more is brought into the hands of the city salesmen the sooner some of our manufacturers can get another mouthful to tide them over for a while longer. This talk about waiting to see how Congress will revise the tariff is mostly bosh, for it has been fairly well known that not much will be done with the tobacco schedule.

For the last two or three months we have been telling our tobacco growers to go slow in selling good wrappers and binder stock in a hurry, for we believed the markets were becoming depleted of good stock, and now as an evidence of such a situation we annex the comment of the Tobacco Journal, in which they now claim that in the summer or early fall prices of all good grades of goods will probably advance two or three cents per pound, for the fact is that not in a decade has the Connecticut Valley been picked so clean. Who in this part of the valley knows of many crops still in the farmers' hands, and who can remember the time when the great trade papers have advised the cigar manufacturers to commence to lay in a stock for future use, on the supposition that the market was empty of most of the grades of domestic tobacco? We must remember that last year the country was well cleaned up from East to West of all of the desirable grades at least, leaving but little in the hands of the growers. That such a condition exists is all in favor of the growers, not only for what is now held by the grower of the last year's crop, but also of what may be grown this season.—Amer. Cultivator.

New York State.

Baldwinsville, March 19.—J. Wallace Lee, the local representative of W. E. Gheen, received at the D., L. & W. R. R. station Wednesday, shipping to Jersey Shore, Pa. Only a very small portion of the crop now remains in the growers' hands. The warehouses of J. W. Upson, F. M. Dunham and M. Tobin are still open with handling tobacco.

Wisconsin.

Edgerton, Wis., March 19.—The buying movement seems almost entirely suspended for the present and for the first time in many weeks we have no list of recent sales to report. Doubtless a moderate amount of riding will be resumed by local packers when the country roads are more inviting, though the present outlook does not warrant the belief that there will be any rush to take over the remnants of the crop. Packers are still receiving their purchases, but the deliveries are nearly in, and warehouse handling well along with most of the dealers. The season, however, will continue for some weeks yet in this market.

The market for old leaf is gradually assuming better conditions. Inquiries for samples and prices are more frequent and while no large transactions have developed, packers are confidently looking forward to a more normal trade. A. Jenson & Sons report the sale of 150 cases of '07 during the week.

The shipments out of storage reach 846 cases and six car loads of bundles from this market to all points for the week past. Since last report 42 carloads have been received from outlying points for warehouse handling.

Janesville, Wis., March 19.—A decided decline in the buying movement has been witnessed during the week, owing somewhat to the break-up of the country roads, though it is apparent the large operators have taken their men out of the field for the season. It begins to look as if the balance of the crop will be left for the small concerns to take over, in which event competition does not promise to be strong. Prices, however, remain about as heretofore quoted.

The packing season is drawing to a close with some of the firms early in the field, but warehouse handling promises to be general at most of the packing points for some weeks yet.

No revival to speak of in the market for old leaf, though packers report an increased inquiry for samples and prices. A 325cs lot of '07 at Rio has been purchased by L. B. Carle & Son. A. J. Jones & Son report the sale of 300cs of '07 to Eastern parties.

The shipments out of storage reach 1373cs and 14 carloads of bundles from this market to all points for the week. Since last report 23 carloads have been received for warehouse handling.—Recorder.

Tobacco Trade is Now Quiet, but a Good Spring Business is Confidently Expected.

[Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street]

Boston, March 20.

Business conditions have changed very little since my last letter. Although trade is quiet, the prophecies of a good spring business look very bright, and members of the cigar trade are giving orders for future delivery.

Saint Patrick's day was largely celebrated in South Boston and many of our retailers had window displays of the emerald color in honor of the occasion. The "Samaris" cigarette of the Khedivial, with its green package, was very prominent on the 17th.

Frank Swick, Eastern representative of the Surbrug Company, has returned from a brief visit to the factory at Richmond, Va. Mr. Swick reports that the firm's new 15c. size of "Arcadia mixture" is fast coming to the front in popularity. He has three able salesmen under him in Messrs. Naherzig, Levy & Barden, who are helping him popularize this brand of tobacco in the Eastern market.

George Yavner, who recently purchased the cigar stand in the Penn Mutual B'ld'g, is getting along nicely in his new venture.

Mort. M. Frank (De Florida Tobacco Co.), who has been selling leaf tobacco in this vicinity for the past two weeks, has left for the western part of the State.

M. Barnett, of M. Barnett & Co., leaf tobacco dealers, New York, was in Boston yesterday calling on cigar manufacturers.

L. Davis & Son, manufacturers of Turkish cigarettes, on Causeway street, have removed their factory to 151 Bryant street, Malden, Mass.

The Mentor Co. is now placing in each package of its famous "Ramly" cigarettes photos of all the prominent members of the baseball profession.

Charles Schleiffarth, representing the Campbell Tobacco Co., Newark, N. J., was here last week taking orders for "General Garibaldi," a 2½-ounce package of long-cut tobacco retailing at 5c. a package. This brand has quite a large sale in the Italian section of this city.

Harry Sachs has reached town and will remain for some time doing missionary work for the Falk Tobacco Co., of New York and Richmond. Mr. Sachs is using as a leader the "Manhattan Cocktail" smoking mixture, a package that retails at 10c. The quality of this tobacco is said to be one of the best ever put before the public to retail at such a small sum, and when this brand gets the proper distribution it will rank with our best sellers. Mr. Sachs is no novice in this line, having made good elsewhere. He comes here confident that he will soon make a good showing with the Falk line of smoking mixtures.

S. P. Greenstone, makers of the "S. P. Gr.," a two-for-5c. panatela, is getting a good distribution on same. In Lynn this brand can be found in nearly all cigar stores, and retailers report them good sellers.

N. E. Nichols (Phillip Morris Co.) is expected to be in town next week. Messrs. Woods and Battle have been taking good care of the Boston trade. Mr. Battle has been making numerous window displays and distributing handsome souvenir metal ash trays, advertising the famous brown package of "Cambridge" cigarettes.

The Eastern Cigar Co., who have been doing an extensive wholesale and retail cigar and tobacco business in the South End, have dissolved partnership. The business is now being conducted under the same firm name by Noah Levine as proprietor. Jake Finkelstein, the former partner, will shortly start in the wholesale business in partnership with M. Shapiro, who was in charge of the cigar department at Sol. Bacharach's on Summer street.

Mr. Frankel is now representing the Allen Tobacco Co. in the Eastern territory and will make Boston his headquarters. The Allen Tobacco Co.'s "Telonettes" and "La Letos" are selling just as well as ever.

P. M. Crane, who has charge of "Union Leader" cut plug and "Bull Durham" tobacco, is distributing some expensive signs advertising the "Union Leader" tobacco in connection with the arrival of our famous squadron of battleships.

Emil Abrahams and Morris Levy (American and West Indies Trading Co.) were in town this week going the rounds.

In one of the show windows of Daniel Frank & Co., on Washington street, can be seen a large photo. taken at a banquet at which were present President Taft, Mayor Hibbard, Postmaster Mansfield, Daniel Frank and other notables. The photograph is attracting much attention from passers-by.

S. P. Maloney, manager of the "B. D. L." cigar stand on Newspaper Row, has worked up considerable business in the novelty line in addition to his cigar business. All the latest novelties can be found here. His best sellers, however, are the trick matches and trick cigars.

The Markell Drug Co., on Scollay Square are featuring this week in one of their show windows the "Rosenthal Bros. Special," a 5c. Invincible shape cigar, and Manager Rankin, of the cigar department, tells me it is the greatest 5c. seller he ever had.

NEW FACTORY FOR REYNOLDS

May be Built on Ground Recently Bought, and Will be Mammoth Structure.

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 19.

With the intention of erecting a mammoth tobacco factory, one that will employ over a thousand hands, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company yesterday virtually purchased from Colonel H. Montague the old Miller Brothers' lot on the corner of Depot and First and Chestnut streets, the consideration being $20,000. The deal, which is the largest real estate transaction pulled off in this city for years, will be completed to-day.

The R. J. Reynolds Company has had an option on this valuable property for sixty days and yesterday Mr. W. N. Reynolds informed Colonel H. Montague, the owner, that the company would take the property.

How soon actual building will begin cannot be stated, as the plans are not yet ready. Mr. W. N. Reynolds was called up last night by a Journal reporter and he stated that another plant was contemplated, but he could not say when actual work would be started. It is understood that the new plant, when built, will give employment to a thousand or more people.

The lot to be contracted for to-day contains a little more than an acre of ground. The terms will be spot cash.

The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company already employs five thousand or more people in its several plants here, and the erection of another mammoth factory will give additional employment to a thousand or more.

CUBAN SUGAR AND TOBACCO.

From Habana, Consul-General James L. Rodgers reports, under date of March 5, that a decidedly optimistic opinion as to the sugar and tobacco production of this year now prevails in Cuba. His details follow:

While the abundant rains, especially in the eastern half of the island, have given some warrant for the belief that the sugar production would be curtailed, there is yet such a fine growth of cane in nearly all sections that low estimates of the yield are generally discredited, although everyone must admit that the outcome must depend entirely upon the weather of the early spring. It only seems safe to state that if the grinding season is approximately identical with that of 1908 there will be at least a near approach to the accepted estimate of 1,400,000 tons. However, the qualifying statement is to the effect that the spring of 1908 was abnormally dry and that there is evidence of the reverse this year. So the estimate of 1,300,000 tons is the favorite one of the conservative.

The prevailing good prices of Cuban sugars and the hope of a continuance, however, make the outlook satisfactory to both the pronounced optimist and the conservatives. There is little ground for the pessimist upon any condition relating to the volume and price of the output.

As to tobacco, the acreage, as stated in the early days of the planting, will be much reduced, but the quality will be exceptionally good and there should be correspondingly good prices because the surplus of poor stock has been absorbed.

THE PHILIPPINE CLAUSE.

An Interview with a Prominent Cigar Manufacturer.

No manufacturer of cigars in this country can afford to ignore the Philippine clause in the new Tariff bill, whether he makes Havana, seed and Havana, or domestic goods. If this bill is passed as it stands, the United States manufacturer will wake up some day and wonder why his trade in certain localities has fallen off to such an extent, and on investigation will get the answer from the jobber: "Well, we are doing such a rattling business on Philippine cigars that we are not giving as much attention to the old lines.

The novelty will undoubtedly bring out a big business on Philippine cigars, and before this novelty wears off some of the Philippine brands will undoubtedly have a good foothold and it will not be confined to nickel goods only.

The question is: Do the manufacturers in the United States want any further competition to fight? If they go to sleep and let this measure go through they will have serious competition on the Pacific coast and other localities. If the United States intended to hold the Philippines permanently, there would, of course, have to be free trade between the two, but the Government has promised to give them independence, and in that case there would have to be a tariff imposed on all goods from the Philippines, unless this country is ready to give up the idea of a protective tariff. The proposition of bringing in one hundred and fifty million cigars free of duty would be merely the opening wedge, and eventually let in the entire production free, in which case foreign companies would undoubtedly incorporate in the Philippines for the express purpose of exploiting the United States' business, and with their cheap labor would seriously injure the manufacturers in this country to the great loss, not only of the concerns, but of all their workmen. I am speaking simply as a manufacturer. The growers of tobacco in the United States will undoubtedly feel even more strenuously opposed to this bill, as it will be the opening wedge to let in a very large quantity of tobacco, similar in character to Sumatra, and which can eventually be developed into a very fine type of wrapper leaf, to say nothing of the quality of the fillers which it ought to be possible to raise on these tropical islands.

I hope every manufacturer and grower of tobacco in the United States, and every one interested in the tobacco business will oppose this part of the bill, and not let it go through, through indifference or carelessness, because just as sure as it does, there will be a sad awakening later on.

The Congress Cigar Co. has been incorporated at Chicago to do wholesale and retail tobacco business. The incorporators were: Samuel Paley, Jacob Paley and Benjamin Drell. The capital is $25,000.

NO MORE COUPONS.

New Tariff Bill Prohibits All Premiums in Packages.

Washington, March 25.

The practice of giving coupons in bags of tobacco and of printing the union label on packages of tobacco is prohibited by one of the provisions of the Payne Tariff bill. The provision relating to this subject is as follows:

"None of the packages of smoking tobacco and fine cut chewing tobacco and cigarettes prescribed by law shall be permitted to have packed in or attached to, or connected with them, any article or thing whatsoever, other than the manufacturer's wrappers and labels, the internal revenue stamp and the tobacco or cigarettes respectively put up therein on which tax is required to be paid under the internal revenue laws; nor shall there be affixed to or branded or stamped, marked, written or printed upon said package or their contents any promise or offer of or any order or certificate for any gift, prize, premium, payment or reward."

CHICAGO LEAF MEN MEET.

Re-elect John M. Meyer President, and Appoint Delegates to National Association.

Chicago, Ill., May 25.

At a meeting of the Chicago Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, John M. Meyer, of the leaf tobacco firm of John M. Meyer & Son, was re-elected president, which was a recognition of his valued services. G. H. Mack, of Mack & Co., was elected vice president; Jonas Brown, a leaf tobacco broker, was elected secretary, and Albert Kraus, of the Florida, firm of Kraus, McFarlin Co., was elected treasurer.

Delegates were appointed to attend the next annual meeting of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, which is to convene on May 10 in Baltimore. The delegates named are: Joseph Wedeles, of Wedeles Bros., and G. H. Mack, of Mack & Co., with the following as alternates: Jacob Sutter, of Jacob Sutter & Sons, and Leo Tuska, a leaf tobacco broker.

DEATH OF JOHN N. DRUMMOND

Formerly a Prominent St. Louis Tobacco Manufacturer.

Chicago, Ill., March 24.

John Newton Drummond, millionaire tobacco manufacturer, died at his home in Alton, Ill., at 1 o'clock this morning of a series of strokes of apoplexy. He began life as a bookkeeper in a tobacco factory and made himself president of the company many years afterward. He amassed a fortune of more than a million.

SUITS SETTLED BY PHONE.

Chancellor Hears Four Motions and Makes Two Orders in Little Rock, Ark.

Little Rock, Ark., March 25.

Four motions and two orders in the case of William S. Stickney Cigar Company vs. Argenta Wholesale Cigar and Tobacco Company, in the Chancery Court, were made over the telephone yesterday afternoon, consummating the final settlement of the suit and the dismissal of the receivership ordered by the Court Monday.

The hearing of the case over the telephone was unique, but was resorted to by agreement of the parties, through a desire to close the matter yesterday. The plaintiff and defendant had reached a compromise, but the attorneys appeared at the Court House after the Chancellor had left. After some effort they got him over the telephone, however, and secured his consent to have the hearing immediately.

The report of Will Akers, receiver, was read to the Chancellor over the wire, after being filed with the clerk. It showed $430.31 assets and $526.86 debts. A supplementary and final report and two motions were also read, and this was followed by two orders dismissing the receivership and the suit, which the parties had agreed to. Chancellor Martineau gave his consent to the orders and the action was dismissed.

Death of Reading Manufacturer.

Reading, Pa., March 25.

Fred E. Bitting, of the firm of Bitting & Hawk, cigar manufacturers, died of pneumonia at his home, 227 Orange street. He was ill only five days. Deceased was taken with a cold several weeks ago, but thought nothing of the sickness. Under constant medical treatment, trying to ward off a more severe attack, he managed to attend to his business up to last Monday, when he was forced to take to his bed.

Mr. Bitting's partner died two years ago, but the name of the firm was not changed. Deceased conducted a shop in the rear of his home and had a fine trade. He was 37 years of age and never married. His wide circle of friends was surprised to learn of his sudden demise.

Deceased was born at Walsingham, Perry county, and lived in this city 35 years. He learned his trade at Jackson's factory. He was in partnership with Mr. Hawk seven years.

Newport Cigar Co. (Inc.), Richmond. B. L. Ayres, president; R. C. Ragland, vice president; E. L. Campbell, secretary and treasurer—all of Richmond. Capital: Maximum, $3000; minimum, $1000. Objects: Wholesale and retail cigar business.

TAMPA IS PROSPERING.

Good Gains Shown in the City's Output of Cigars.

Tampa, Fla., March 25.

Cigar business of Tampa is much better than it has been in months past is the consensus of the cigar manufacturers. The past three weeks has witnessed a great revival in the industry which affords employment to more workers in this one city than any other one industry does to any two or three cities of the State together.

That there is reason for the cigar manufacturers feeling good over present conditions is apparent when it is considered that the cigar shipments for the year up to March 13, 1908, and the shipments of the current year up to March 13, show an increase of 10,000,000 cigars.

Additional men are being placed in all the big factories and the smaller shops, many of which were forced to suspend business during the period of business depression, have reopened with a creditable number of workers. With 10,000,000 clear Havana cigars to the credit of 1909 thus far over the same time for the preceding year, the manufacturers and others identified with the premier industry feel that at the end of the year the increase will show that the best of good old times have come again to remain seated in the "Queen City of the Gulf."

With the intention of showing conditions as they are six of the most representative firms of the local field were interviewed yesterday with this result:

The companies of M. Stachelberg and Esberg-Gunst report having increased the force at the big Nineteenth street factory 130 in the past two weeks. The management reports business good, more men soon to be added and the output much greater than the same period of last year.

Gonzales, Fisher & Co. are doing a nice business and expect a good year. Orders are coming in nicely from North, East and West. Fifty cigarmakers have been added to the force the past fortnight. A. Nistal, manager of the Tampa business for the company, is in Havana looking after interests there.

More than 500 cigarmakers are working at the factory of A. Santaella & Co. and the force is to be increased. More than 100 men have been added to the force recently. Comparison between the months of January, February and March for 1908 and 1909 show this year to have been an increase in business of at least 50 per cent.

Y. Pendas & Alvarez, for many years regarded as one of the most substantial and progressive manufacturers of the highest grade cigars, report 500,000 more cigars made this year than during the same time last year. Slight increase has been made in the working force and within the past few weeks the company

TOLEDO IS HOPEFUL

Of Securing a Plant of the American Tobacco Co. Percival S. Hill Visits the City.

Toledo, O., March 25.

Toledo may become a centre of operations for the American Tobacco Company, with a plant located here employing 1,000 men.

Percival S. Hill, vice president of the American Tobacco Company, and president of the American Cigar Company, was given a reception last week at the Secor.

Mr. Hill is on his way from Chicago to New York and stopped off in Toledo.

The purpose of the reception was to make the Eastern man acquainted with Toledo and Toledoans. This is his first visit to this city, although his company owns the old Zahm tobacco plant on Detroit avenue.

The reception was arranged by Marshall Sheppey, of Berdan & Company. Mr. Sheppey was instrumental in interesting the American Tobacco Company in Toledo. It was mainly through his efforts that the Zahm plant was disposed of to the Pinkertons. Since the American Tobacco Company took over the Toledo plant about a year ago the output has been doubled and the concern is now employing twice as many men as it did in the palmiest days of the Xahm regime.

When the American Tobacco Company located in Toledo it abandoned its Zanesville plant, though it cost $30,000 to dismantle the factory and move the machinery to this city. The move has been a good one for the company, which now looks upon Toledo as one of the greatest distributing centres in the country.

It is Mr. Sheppey's hope that Mr. Hill can be made to see the advantages of the city as a manufacturing centre, and to this end the reception has been planned. After the meeting at the Secor the head of the great tobacco company was taken in an automobile for a ride around the city, after which he visited the plant on Detroit avenue.

It is hoped that as the result of the visit here of Mr. Hill another big tobacco plant, employing about 1,000 men, will be started by the company in this city.

Those who attended the reception to the New Yorkers were: F. J. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank; M. W. Young, president of the Second National; S. D. Carr, president of the National Bank of Commerce; C. L. Reynolds, president of the Toledo Savings Bank & Trust Company; S. O. Richardson, Jr., president of the Liberty Glass Company; J. K. Secor, vice president of the Northern National Bank; Edward Ford, president of the Edward Ford Glass Company; Mayor Brand Whitlock, Judge J. H. Doyle, Charles T. Lewis, W. L. Milner, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Sherwood M. Pinkerton, manager of the Pinkerton Tobacco Company, of Toledo; J. H. Pinkerton, of Cincinnati, president of the Pinkerton Tabacco Company, of Cincinnati and Toledo; Marshall Sheppey and all the wholesale grocers of Toledo.

Inactivity Reported in Havana Tobacco Market

The Few Buyers in Town Make Few Purchases. Small Stocks on Hand Have Incited Shipments of "Libre de Pie," but Buyers Give it Little Attention. Small Vegas of the 1907 Leaf are Being Brought Forward to Replace the Vanishing 1908.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, March 22, 1909.

The sales reported this week include several transactions which had been made earlier this month, but had not become known. The actual business done this week has been small, principally caused by the scarcity of buyers in town. The chief operation was a shipment of 872 bales of Vuelta Abajo colas and botes for Germany, and which had been partly purchased direct from the farmers in the country. Some new libre de pie from the Remates and Oyas sections have arrived in our market, attracting, however, little or no attention to speak of, as the same shows the usual defects of this class of tobacco, having been gathered without any previous fermentation in the piles. In times of a great scarcity of tobacco it is used for mixing with heavier qualities, but as our manufacturers have enough stocks on hand and the cigar business is by no means active, there is no demand for that class of goods. To judge the coming leaf by libre de pie is also very misleading, as often enough the latter is defective, and the real crop is good, while the conditions may be just the contrary in other years.

The 1909 growth will contain some good leaf, some medium qualities, as well as some poor tobacco, but to determine the proportion of each at this date would be folly. Neither can the quantity be determined with any accuracy, although the general opinion seems to be that it will be as large as last year.

The stocks of the 1908 crop in first hands are only small, but there are still enough vegas of Vuelta Abajo from the 1907 growth to be had, waiting for American buyers to take hold of them. This class of leaf has improved by age, and the asking prices are very reasonable in order to attract dealers or manufacturers.

SALES

were 4291 bales, divided into Vuelta Abajo, 2,746; Partido, 445, and Remedios, 1,100 bales. Buyers were: Americans, 2,037; exporters for Europe, 1,042, and local cigar and cigarette manufacturers, 1,212 bales.

Exports of leaf tobacco from Havana during the past eight days were:

To the United States	4,591 bales
To Europe	1,340 "
To South America	421 "
To North Coast of Africa	12 "
Total	6,344 "

BUYERS COME AND GO.

Arrivals: Richard Sichel, of B. Rosenbluth, and A. Winterberg, of Montevierno & Co., New York; Edgar J. Stachelberg & Co., Tampa; F. B. Guito, of F. B. Guito & Co., and Louis Martinez, of Martinez Havana Co., Key West; Godfrey S. Mahn, of New York and Philadelphia; F. J. Myer, of Saginaw, Mich.

Departures: E. H. Smith, for New York; John H. Boltz and Herman G. Vetterlein, for Philadelphia; José Lovera, for Tampa; Luis Martinez, for Key West; Perico Martinez, for Bilboa, Spain.

HAVANA CIGAR MANUFACTURERS

are working steadily on old and new orders, which latter are coming to hand quite regularly, although the quantities could be still larger to please them. Evidently there will be no great activity until the new crop will be ready to be turned into cigars, and this will be next fall. By that time general business conditions all over the world ought to have improved sufficiently to allow the well-to-do class to enjoy the luxury of smoking an imported, legitimate Havana cigar again to a larger extent.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez closed 350 bales of Vuelta Abajo from their holdings. Their new warehouse, corner of Industria and Barcelona streets, is progressing, but it will be some months before it will be completed.

John H. Boltz and Herman G. Vetterlein left here well pleased with their purchases.

A. M. Calzada & Co. shipped 1,000 bales of leaf tobacco to different parts of the United States. Don Ant onio Calzada is actively preparing for the coming new crop.

A. Pazos & Co. disposed of 295 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Bartido during the past week.

Sylvester & Stern have made some big sales to their customers in the United States. They also purchased 500 bales additional of a prime Remedios escojida, first capadauras, for which they paid a very liberal price.

Suarez Hnos sold 295 bales of Vuelta Abajo to northern and local buyers.

J. F. Berndes & Co. shipped 275 bales of leaf tobacco to Bremen and 446 bales to the United States last week.

Manuel Sanchez, better known as "Praviano," and who is well known as one of our cracker-jack buyers of fine Vuelta Abajo vegas in the country, has made a connection with the old-established house of Manuel Menendez Parra.

Richard Sichel, who arrived here on Wednesday last, by the steamship Havana, has been seen in all of our warehouses, but so far the amount of his purchases has not been made known.

Judging by the number of carts seen unloading tobacco at O'Reilly No. 1, Charles Blasco must have been quite a buyer of leaf this past week.

SPRING IMPROVEMENT NOW ON

Hopes Strengthen as the Days Lengthen. Tariff Now the Disturbing Question.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street.

Boston, March 29.

Trade conditions have improved somewhat over the previous week; a few days of spring weather did the trick. There is considerable gossip going on about the Payne tariff bill, and should the present bill pass the House and be signed by the President, cigarette manufacturers will all advance the prices and the poor retailers will get it in the neck again, as the consumer will be able to buy at the old prices. The new bill, however, will cut off a lot of business from many of the cut-price dealers, whose usual aim is to sell goods for nothing, making very little himself and harming all his competitors.

N. E. Nichols, with the Phillip Morris Company, arrived in town Wednesday and the first thing he did was to go over to Cambridge where a cut-price war has been raging for the past month between the University Smoke Shop and the Roundevours, and 25c. brands of cigarettes were being sold for 16c. and 15c. packages at 9c. Mr. Nichols arranged matters in a satisfactory way between the rivals, and now 25c. brands are being sold at the regular price and 15c. brands likewise. Kid Nichols is certainly a wonder; his gift of gab can't be beat, and it came in mighty handy this week, as it was no easy matter to settle that controversy.

The old cigar firm of Hyneman Bros. has been dissolved. Bernard Hyneman retired from the firm and is now the proprietor of the cigar stand in the Old South Building. The firm of Hyneman Bros. is now composed of Asher, Louis and Ruby Hyneman. Ruby, a son of Asher, having been admitted to the firm. Hyneman Bros. are the New England distributers for the Hilson Co.'s Hoffman House Bouquet cigar and Rosenthal Bros.' famous R. B. brand.

Harry Sachs, who has spent several weeks around town working on the Talk Tabocca Co.'s line of smoking mixtures, left to-day for New York. He expects to return in several weeks to continue doing missionary work on the same goods.

Henry Weiss, representing E. G. Perez & Co., Porto Rican cigar manufacturers, was in town several days looking after the sale of his brands, La Solera and Dianita. While here Henry scooped in a number of nice orders.

Dave Bendheim (Metropolitan Tobacco Co.), and Carl Berger (S. M. Frank Co.), were two pipe salesmen here this week.

Jack Dubreuil (Khedivial Co.), was in New York this week visiting the factory.

Jokey Rogers (Ware-Kramer Tob. Co.), who has been visiting trade in Western Massachusetts for the last three weeks, returned Saturday night and reports having done a big business in that section.

A. L. Myers (M. Melachino & Co.), reports an increasing business on his various sizes of Melachino cigarettes. The new No. 20 size is duplicating nicely wherever placed. Handsome window

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World

New York, March 30.

New York Leaf Market.

There were comparatively few transactions in the leaf tobacco market during the past week, and those were not of any great volume in any instance. While the cigar industry has not shown much of a change, it is keeping fairly well in the line of progress established during the first two months of the present year, and the leaf trade feels that with only a depleted stock now remaining in hand, there is no apparent need for anxiety at a quiet week's business. Prices have certainly not been affected in a way that is adverse to the leaf holder, but in fact, in at least several types of tobacco, a slight advance is also imminent. The trade is somewhat cheered by the fact that the 1908 crop of Connecticut broad leaf is one of the finest crops grown in recent years, although not quite as light in color, perhaps, as was hoped for. Fine B's particularly, of the Zimmer Spanish and Pennsylvania broad leaf variety are a desirable holding, and the market is showing some signs of an advance.

The fact that Florida tobacco has not been moving off more swiftly was causing some comment in trade circles, although it is known that several of the larger packing firms have practically sold all of their holdings of the choicest leaf. Further, the fact that Sumatra tobacco must necessarily bring an advance in price for the new goods will also probably create greater activity for Florida wrappers in the near future.

In the Havana market, while no great activity was developed during the past week, the stocks of old goods are pretty well exhausted and prices are certainly well maintained.

Sumatra is showing some activity in the new goods, of which samples are now on exhibition. The general reports are that they are being very well received and regarded as the most satisfactory offerings that the market has had for several years. It is expected, however, that old goods, in view of the fact that they can be sold at a little more moderate figures, will continue to find a market as they did during the earlier portion of the year.

Holland Wants Florida Tobacco.

A prominent Water street leaf house recently received a communication from a leaf tobacco house of Holland, making inquiries about Florida tobacco, and asked for a line of samples. The writer of the letter stated that much had been learned on the other side about the utility of Florida wrappers and that he had become convinced that Europe would eventually prove an elegant field for the development of the sale of Florida grown leaf, since there was need in the old country for that type of goods.

At the House of Duys.

There was an unusual activity developed last week and the early part of this week at the Sumatra importing house of H. Duys & Co., and a very good amount of business was consummated on the new line of Sumatra tobacco.

Internal Revenue Violations.

Abraham Aleskowitz, a manufacturer of cigarettes, at 66 Moore street, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Frank Westervelt last week, charged with selling cigarettes without a stamp showing that an internal revenue tax had been paid. The arrest was made on a warrant issued on complaint of a Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue. With Mr. Aleskowitz was also arrested a girl named Annie Kravitsky, who is 17 years old. The girl made a defense that she was employed by Mr. Aleskowitz as his agent, but her bail was fixed at $500, and Aleskowitz refused to furnish a bondsman for her. Bail in his own case was also fixed at $500, and he succeeded in securing a bondsman and avoided having to go to jail. A plea of not guilty was entered by both defendants, but they were remanded for a hearing.

Liquidating Solomon Affairs.

The affairs of the firm of C. Salomon & Bros. are to be liquidated by A. Haas, who has been made a trustee. He is already exercising great energy in that direction, having recently effected sales of considerable stock, and hopes to complete his work in a couple of months. He has taken over all the property of the firm, including the stock of tobaccos, packing houses and other property.

Walter Offered Settlement.

H. E. Walter & Co. have made an offer of settlement of their affairs with creditors on the basis of 60 cents on the dollar, to which a majority of the creditors have assented.

Both the bank and mercantile creditors have already joined in accepting such a settlement, and it is believed that the matter can soon be put into such shape that the affairs of the firm can be withdrawn from the Courts in a very short time.

Extension of Premium Offer.

The premium department of the American Tobacco Company announce that until June 30 of this year they will redeem paper back tags from the following brands of tobacco: Horse Shoe, Spear Head, Old Honesty, Eglantine, Jolly Tar, Newsboy, Tinsley Sixteen Ounce, Granger Twist, Standard Navy, Town Talk, Sickle, Old Peach, J. T., Big Four, Pick, Ivy, Master Workman, American Navy, W. N. Tinsley's, Sailor Pride, Bridle Bit, Tenpenny, Black Bear and Old Statesman.

Organizing New Florida Company.

The street has been full of a rumor of the organization of a new Florida company with which New Yorkers will be prominently identified. Although every one supposed to be connected with it has been extremely reticent, it is learned that as a matter of fact the new company was virtually organized about four weeks ago, and a part of the plans is to take over one of the plantations in Florida which is now under cultivation and on which several crops have already been raised. The new company is to have a capital of $800,000, and we understand it will be headed by a Southern capitalist.

TRADE NOTES.

On Monday a meeting of growers and handlers of Florida tobacco was held to consider certain matters of mutual interest, but so far nothing has been given out for publication.

Col. William Taussig and Henry Taussig, of Taussig & Co., came on from Chicago on Monday last, and will spend several days at the New York headquarters.

P. S. Hill, president of the American Cigar Co., and vice-president of the American Tobacco Co., returned from a flying Western trip at the end of last week.

S. Ruppin, importer of Havanna tobacco, will remove on May 1 to 181 Front stret. A to-let sign has been placed on his present premises at 235 Pearl street.

Leaf broker William L. Ligety will soon remove his offices to No. 3 Burling Slip.

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 31, 1909

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

General quietness again characterized the leaf market of this city during the past week. The business done consisted principally of small sales. The only transaction of moment was a purchase of 700 cases Pennsylvania of the 1908 goods.

The outlook is regarded as brighter, notwithstanding the fact that sales during the week were not large. It is not amiss to say that there is now evident a shortage in the supply of fine B's, and particularly of Zimmer and Pennsylvania broad leaf types. Goods of this class are almost certain to come into general demand in the course of a little time, and possibly manufacturers will only realize it when they go into the market to find sufficient available supplies.

New Sumatra tobaccos have been offered in this market during the past week, and so far as can be ascertained the samples shown have given general satisfaction, notwithstanding the prices are somewhat higher than for some of last year's importations. Old goods are also selling moderately, but in small lots.

There was a considerable movement of Havana tobaccos and prices are getting really firm. There are only moderate stocks, and desirable offerings generally found ready purchasers.

The cigar industry is not particularly active, with possibly a few exceptions. The volume of business in that line has been entirely moderate, yet not altogether bad. It is not up to the expectations for this time of the year, when greater activity should be at hand. Reports from traveling salesmen are rather more encouraging, and manufacturers seem fairly cheerful under all the circumstances.

The widely-heralded sale of the business of the Boch-Griffin Co. was held on Monday afternoon at the Bourse, when Barnes & Lofland, auctioneers, sold at public sale, by order of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, as a whole, the fixtures, lease and stock of goods. The price received was $3700, which is considered by many as a good figure, although the purchaser, a Mr. Fischler, who made the purchase on behalf of his son, is well satisfied with the transaction so far as he is concerned.

With the fixtures, the customary visitors to this city are fairly familiar, and the stock consisted principally of high-grade cigars, among which were 9600 fine Porto Rico cigars, 7500 Key West cigars, 6000 Havana resagos, 4500 domestic cigars, 2875 imported cigars, 1350 stogies, 1270 broken lot Havana cigars, 1351 broken lot Key West cigars, 549 in broken boxes of Porto Rico cigars, several job lots of cigarettes, plug and smoking tobacco.

Although the auctioneers also tried out the plan of selling the fixtures, stock, etc., separately, not near the price received for the whole was bid, and the sale as a whole was declared accepted. It was confirmed by the referee in bankruptcy on Tuesday at 1 o'clock, and the new owner immediately took possession.

The sale of the Boch-Griffin Co. was attended by a goodly number of members of the local trade and visitors from out of town. Among the most interested spectators might be named A. Oppenheimer and Mr. Sulzberger, of the Sulzberger-Oppenheimer Co.; Henry Ashbrunner, representing Duncan & Moorehead, and who was also the trustee of the bankrupt estate; Robert Yahn and W. J. McDonnell, of Yahn & McDonnell; Henry Weis, representing E. G. Perez & Co., New York; C. W. Saunders, with the Cortez Cigar Co., Key West; A. J. Atherholt, with Boch & Co., Broad street retailers; N. Griffin, formerly of the Boch-Griffin Co.; W. G. Worthington and Mr. Cooper, of the Cooper Cigar Co., and others.

During an interview with Mr. Julius Vetterlein, president of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, Mr. Vetterlein remarked that he had seen his name used in the trade press as a candidate for president of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, which was contrary to his wishes, was wholly unauthorized, and, further, that under no circumstances would he permit his name to be used in that connection at the meeting soon to be held in Baltimore. He was even emphatic in announcing that under no circumstances would he accept office in any official capacity in the National Association. The writer was given to understand that he was certainly not in accord with some of the actions of the National Association, which he regarded as not having really been in the best interests of the trade at large, and that he personally could not indorse such a course. It was not said in a manner disparaging what had been done, but simply to make it clear that since he could not personally agree with it in every respect, he would not consider himself suitable to act in an official capacity. The attitude of the National Association on the tariff question is one of the things in which Mr. Vetterlein does not concur.

Lewis Bremer's Sons this week figure as the principals in several sales made to out-of-town buyers.

W. H. Sassaman and Cal. Shively, of Sassaman & Co., Sunneytown, Pa., were visitors in the leaf market this week.

Whether the "all-tobacco" cigarette is a "little cigar" or a cigarette in the meaning of the law against the selling of cigarettes to minors will have to be decided in the case of Louis Wasserberger, of 1900 Norris street, who was held by Magistrate Gorman last week on a charge of selling cigarettes to schoolboys.

Two boys volunteered information against Wasserberger, William Boyle, 15 years old, and Lytle Tramm, 17 years old, both of South Nineteenth street. Nine months ago Tramm bought cigarettes from Wasserberger, he swore, and Boyle swore that he was there at the time.

Wasserberger said he never sold cigarettes to any one under the age of 21. He had sold "little cigars" to schoolboys, he admitted. It developed that the little cigars were a well-known brand of all-tobacco cigarettes. He was held in $500 bail for trial.

Havana Tobacco Ferment

Merely Flavoring Your Tobacco
does not destroy the foreign and objectionable matter found in heavy, gummy tobaccos—nor does it give you satisfactory results.

You Must Destroy
and remove all this rankness and coarseness—and yet you do not want to destroy the leaf itself. You wish the Pure leaf for your cigars.

Havana Tobacco Ferment Does This:
It acts chemically on all foreign pigments and gums.
Thoroughly Destroys and Removes All Undesirable Elements.
It gives you the Pure Leaf and Best Part of it.
It gives a thoroughly clean leaf.

Then Use Any Flavor You Wish,
and you will have as fine a cigar as can be produced by any domestic or foreign tobacco. Each cigar that you sell, made of tobacco thus treated, means a satisfied customer who will buy your cigars exclusively.

transparency signs are being distributed about town featuring Salome and the Malachino cigarettes.

George Feinberg, formerly in the employ of Rosenthal Bros., Hanover st. wholesalers, has purchased the old McCarthy cigar store and poolroom on Meridian st., East Boston.

At George Cawthorne's cigar store in East Boston, the R. B. Special 5c. cigar is used as a leader, and George says it is certainly a great trade bringer. Mr. Cawthorne's clerk is very handy with paint and brush, and many attractive signs advertising the R. B. Special are hung around the store.

The new 10c. package of smoking tobacco, "Alumni," made by the U. S. Tobacco Co., is selling fine. J. P. Mangan, who first introduced this brand with the Boston retailer, did his work thoroughly, and the "man behind" never tires which usually makes a steady customer after the first purchase.

The Athletic Club of the Tobacco Colony, located at Winthrop, Mass., is having the club house overhauled and getting ready for the coming baseball season.

Bert. W. Frankel was here this week taking orders for the famous "Optimo" clear Havana cigars.

J. Herwitz, of the Lynn Cigar Co., Lynn, Mass., was in town on Tuesday. Mr. Herwitz reports a steadily increasing business on his "400" nickel cigar, which he has placed on sale at nearly every cigar store in Lynn.

A new United Cigar Co.'s store in Lowell, Mass., will open shortly next door to Calderwood & Robbins, who have been operating a wholesale and retail cigar business at that place for a great many years.

Fred Bieringer, the Exchange Street wholesaler and retailer, who has the agency here for the brands of little cigars made by the Petite Cigar Manufacturing Company, New York, reports that the Waldoria 10 for 15c. package is fast coming to the front, and the quality and workmanship of this brand of cigars has them all beat a mile.

Fred Roseboom (J. J. Bagley & Co., Detroit, Mich.), has started his missionary men selling Buckingham, a 1 2-3 ounce package of cut plug that is at present selling big all over the country, except in the Eastern market. Corncob pipes will be given to each purchaser of a 5c. package, just to introduce this tobacco, and great things are expected of the brand in a short while.

George Russell has been doing a nice business in Lynn this week with Buckingham tobacco, and, numerous window displays are in evidence.

Rekoms, the new 5c. smoker made by the Schubert Cigar Co., here, is selling very well for a new brand. Schubert's Smoker, the four-for-a-quarter cigar, has not lost any of its old-time popularity despite the fact that there has been no advertising done on it for some time.

Rumor of Removal Denied.

Cincinnati, O., March 26.

J. W. Pinkerton, president of the Pinkerton Tobacco Company, Baymiller and Carlisle avenue, denied Tuesday the rumor from Toledo that the Cincinnati plant, which employs more than 500 workmen, was to be removed to that city. "What we do intend to do is to enlarge the Toledo plant to about double its capacity," said Mr. Pinkerton. "It was too small to be operated at a profit."

New Factory in St. Charles, Mo.

St. Charles, Ill., March 27.

Another cigar factory has entered the A. L. Johnson Building. Yesterday J. S. Shister, of LaGrange, who has secured a lease of the rooms on the second floor of the building, began the manufacture of cigars. This is the second cigar factory now in active operation in St. Charles and the third to enter the Johnson Building in the past two years for business. Mr. Shister plans to manufacture cigars only in a small way at first, but may add to his force of employes and factory equipment as his business increases.

United Stores in Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., March 26.

Covering its movements with secrecy, the United Cigar Stores Company is reported to have secured leases on four store rooms in Des Moines, and will extend its retail cigar and tobacco business to this city. The location of its options in Des Moines can not be ascertained. A representative of the company is known to have spent several days here investigating the situation.

UNCHANGED AT LANCASTER.

"Waiting for the Verdict" on the New Tariff Provisions.

Lancaster, Pa., March 29th.

There is no change in the conditions of the local leaf tobacco market, and during the past week there were only a comparatively few inquiries received concerning goods. Everything is in an unsettled condition and no one seems to know just where they are at. While the new tariff bill was acceptable to the local people in part, they are still expecting to see some changes made, but just to what extent is the cause of all the present uncertainty. The Philippine question as taken up by the tariff bill, is causing some uneasiness among the farmers as well as the cigar manufacturers, and the result has been that the leaf trade has really become all the more stagnated.

Tobacco growers are working on their seed beds preparatory to early spring work, and some few beds have been sown and heavily covered with brisle and canvass to protect them against possible frosts. The acreage so far as can be learned, will not be reduced but probably somewhat increased.

The cigar industry is far from satisfactory, and while there is some business doing there are still a large number of factories that are greatly affected and running in very limited output; others are not open at all at the present time. The output for the month, which will be known in a few days, will probably show a little surprise looked forward to that March would record a wholesome increase in the output of cigars, but in this regard manufacturers do not now feel so sanguine.

The tobacco growers of this section have been aroused to action by the provisions of the Payne tariff bill, which provides for a liberal importation of both Philippine tobacco and nearly the whole of the present production of cigars, free of duty.

A conference was held in Lancaster between Congressman W. W. Griest and the officers and a number of the leading members of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' Association regarding that portion of the proposed new tariff bill relating to the introduction of Philippine tobacco and cigars. Congressman Griest said that as the conditions that are now incorporated in the new tariff bill are exactly those which had been proposed by the tobacco interests three years ago, when it was proposed to admit Philippine tobacco free, it would be next to impossible to change now what had been accepted then.

The association members unanimously agreed that a fixed duty on wrappers and fillers, say of 50 per cent. of the present rates, would be more acceptable to Pennsylvania tobacco growers than the admission of 300,000 pounds of wrappers and 3,000,000 pounds of fillers free of duty, as proposed by the bill.

The disproportion of the amount of fillers to the quantity of wrappers was discussed, and the hope expressed that the 3,000,000 pounds of fillers, allowed by the bill to come in free, might be cut down one-half.

Congressman Griest, acting with Senator Penrose, will attempt to have the bill amended to meet the requirements of Pennsylvania growers.

BADGER STATE ITEMS.

Mr. Carl Scott, son of L. W. Scott, who has been here during the packing season, left for his home in Boston on Wednesday morning.

Saturday was probably the last of the large delivery days of the season when close to 200 wagon loads were taken at different warehouses in this market.

George Gary has taken a lease of the Conway Bros.' warehouse and opened another sorting room in this market for handling a portion of the purchases made for the American Tobacco Co.

The leaf firm of H. E. Pease & Co., of Evansville has been dissolved, J. Herbert Brand, of Elmira, N. Y., having purchased the interest of H. E. Pease.

Ogden Cigar Company to Invade Salt Lake.

The Columbia Club Cigar Company, of Ogden, will open a strictly wholesale cigar business in Salt Lake, at 134 West Second South street, April 1, and will carry the product of its own factory in Ogden and also an assortment of Key West cigars.

Max Davidson, president of the Columbia Club Cigar Company, has been in Salt Lake for a number of days securing the premises the firm will occupy and getting the fixtures in shape for business.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The only activity in the tobacco line at present seems to be in the sweating of the cased goods that have been put up at the various local sorting shops, at least in this locality. The only other work being done is in hauling manure and fertilizers, mostly from the railroad stations. I think I never saw the delivery of fertilizers earlier than they have been this season.

The snow has mostly disappeared from the lands which have no northern exposure, and in some places where the ice does not interfere the ground is taking on the appearance of the coming spring, and now very soon the farmers will generally be busy in preparing the seed beds. Although the delivery of fertilizers has begun, there are a few farmers who have only bought what they need to apply to their seed beds, and are waiting the later deliveries. Some, of course, carried around what they would need for such work. At this time I have not heard of any beds being sown, for, in fact, it has been hard work to get the ice and snow removed. I heard of one man, Mr. N——, chopping ice on his beds two days, but has since put the glass over the frames. The local manufacturers have been kept quite busy for some time past in getting frames ready for delivery, and I presume the business will be pushed until the seed sowing is completed. American Cultivator.

OHIO.

Arcanum.—There have been good crops of tobacco raised in Darke county in 1908. One of the crops raised by Harry G. Monks, who resides east of Palestine. Off of four and one-half acres he raised 8459 pounds of Spanish, an average of 1902 pounds to the acre. The crop was delivered to Turner Brothers, in Greenville, the price paid being 10 cents per pound.—Enterprise.

Miamisburg.—There is some buying in tobacco circles, but it is done so quietly that but little commotion is caused. Ten cents seems to be the popular price with the buyer, but one hears occasionally of higher figures being given for extra good crops. Most of the buying so far has been in the northern part of the tobacco district, and but comparatively little is reported bought in the vicinity of Miamisburg. The buyers here are slow to sell at ten cents.—News.

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton, March 26.—The buying movement needs resuscitating if the balance of the '08 crop is to be taken over before the close of the handling season. Aside from a little picking away at the unsold portion at reduced prices there is less doing than any time since the crop commenced to move. Nowhere does there appear to be any organized effort made at present towards adding to the holdings of purchasers. Some large deliveries have been made during the week, the American Tobacco Company receiving about 12 carloads at Stoughton on Wednesday and Thursday. Packers generally have their purchases nearly in now and the warehouse work well along, though some of the large operators have stock in sight that will keep help employed for some weeks yet.

The promised revival of trade in old leaf has not materialized to any extent yet. The sales of the '07 packing of Campbell & Peterson, at Orfordville, of 260 cases is reported sold to Hoffman, of Lancaster, Pa., who also bought a 100-case lot of a local dealer.

There are some indications of spring present, but nothing has yet been done toward laying the seed beds of another crop.

The shipments out of storage reach 927 cases and 6 carloads from this market to all points for the week. Since last report 16 carloads have been received from outside points for handling here.—Reporter.

Janesville, March 26.—The buying movement seems almost entirely suspended for the present, and for the first time in many weeks we have no list of recent sales to report, says the Edgerton Reporter. Doubtless a moderate amount of riding will be resumed by local packers when the country roads are more inviting, though the present outlook does not warrant the belief that there will be any rush to take over the remnants of the crop. Packers are still receiving their purchases, but the deliveries are nearly in and warehouse handling well along with most of the dealers. The season, however, will continue for some weeks yet in this market.

The market for old leaf is gradually assuming better conditions. Inquiry for samples and prices are more frequent, and, while no large transactions have developed, packers are confidently looking forward to a more normal trade. A. Jenson & Sons report the sale of 150 cases of '07 during the week.

The shipments out of storage reach 846 cases and six carloads of bundles from this market to all points for the week past. Since last report 42 carloads have been received from outlying points for warehouse handling.—Gazette.

Interstate Cigar Company, of Blackwell, Okla., with a capital stock of $10,000, was organized last week. The directors are: S. C. Sparks, S. A. Sparks, A. Sparks and F. M. Thayer, all of Blackwell.

Vol. XXIX., No. 14 PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 7, 1909 One Dollar the Year

BIG FACTORY FOR CRESCENT CITY.

American Cigar Co. Expected to Greatly Increase New Orleans Branch.

New Orleans, La., April 3.

It has been planned to extend and develop the Hernsheim branch of the American Cigar Company into a mammoth cigar factory plant for this city. It will be completely reorganized on a new scale and along new lines. Probably a million or more additional capital will be invested in the factory here.

"The developments will be just as extensive at the Hernsheim branch as it is possible to make, and all the skilled labor will be employed that can be secured," replied Mr. W. R. Irby, founder of the Irby branch of the American Tobacco Company and also president of the German-American National Bank.

"It is impossible to say how extensive this development will be or how much additional capital will be invested or how many hands will be employed. The general idea is to establish and equip at once a large cigar factory here, using the Hernsheim factory as a foundation on which to work."

Mr. Irby said there was nothing in the reports as to changes at the Irby branch of the American Tobacco Company. It will continue as it is now. The understanding is, however, that Mr. Irby will become a director in the new Hernsheim branch. H. W. Cobb, formerly vice president of the American Cigar Company, of New York, is said to be slated for the presidency of the new concern. Present heads of departments, it is said, will be retained and there will be few changes in the local management except in increasing. Mr. Cobb was here several days ago, but has returned to New York to wind up his affairs and prepare to come to New Orleans to take charge and reside here.

From what can be learned of the new plans, it is said that all the old brands formerly manufactured here will again be made at the New Orleans factory, and that the business will be directed from here. Salesmen will cover a large section of the country from the New Orleans office and the business will be directed from this city, instead of New York. Among other things will be established a Havana department, through which the Cuban business, purchases, etc., will be directed, instead of through New York. After years of experience it has been found that climatic conditions in New Orleans are of the very best for the manufacture of high-grade cigars and the permanent establishment of a mammoth plant here is a result.

CIGAR STORES ABSORBED.

United Co. Takes Retail Business of the Waldorf-Astoria Co.

New York, April 2.

Negotiations have been completed for the purchase of the retail business of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company by the United Cigar Stores Company for a price approximating $500,000. The purchasing company will take charge of the various stores, and they will be conducted on the same general plan as the United Cigar Stores throughout the city.

The Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company was organized as an offshoot of the Waldorf Importation Company. George C. Boldt, President of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Company and of the importation company, is also President of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company. Charles B. Cameron is Secretary and Harry S. Röthschild Treasurer and has been active manager of the business. The company was incorporated several years ago for $1,000,000, and did a large wholesale and retail business. It is said that as many as 48,000,000 cigars, at an average price of 12 cents each, were handled last year.

The retail stores taken over include those located at 68 William street, one in the Hanover Bank Building, on Nassau street, 273 Broadway, at the corner of Chambers street; 643 Broadway, at the corner of Bleecker street, and 50 East Fourteenth street.

The cigar stands in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel are not included in the purchase, nor is the wholesale establishment at 340 Fifth avenue. It is the intention of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Company to continue the wholesale business.

FERNANDO C. FORD DEAD.

Well Known Retired Tobacco Man Suddenly Passes Away.

Lynchburg, Va., April 2.

Fernando C. Ford, a well-known resident of the city and retired tobacconist, was found dead in his bed Sunday morning, at his home, No. 1008 Harrison street. Death was due to heart disease, and it came suddenly. Mr. Ford retired as usual Saturday night, and he passed away quietly and peacefully. He had been in declining and feeble health for two years, but his end came as a great surprise.

The deceased was the last son of the late Culvin Ford, a pioneer tobacconist, who died many years ago, and with whom he was associated for many years in the tobacco business under the firm name of C. Ford & Co. Later he was associated with a brother under firm name of Ford & Brother. Ten years ago he retired from active work on account of his advancing years.

Mr. Ford is survived by his second wife, who was a Miss Woodruff, and nine children.

THE TRADE IN TAMPA.

Continued Increase in Weekly Output. New Firm Incorporated.

Tampa, Fla., April 3.

Shipments of cigars from Tampa continue to show gratifying increase and the industry appears to be improving in every way. The total shipments for this year up to March 20 were 48,470,000 cigars, against 37,105,000 for the same period of last year. The shipments for the week ending March 20 were close to 5,000,000 cigars—a good "boom season" average. The increase of 11,365,000 over last year at this early period of the year is very satisfactory, indeed.

Among the recent additions to the business concerns of Tampa is the cigar manufacturing firm of L. Sanchez & Co., articles of incorporation for which appeared in yesterday's "Times."

The firm is composed of men who are all familiar with the details and particulars of the cigar business, and are fully equipped to make the success of their undertaking which everyone of their friends will wish and predict for them.

"LANDSCAPE ADVERTISING."

Rumor that Independent Tobacco Brands May be Barred from Billboards.

Chicago, April 2.

Back of the sale of the R. J. Gunning outdoor advertising business to the Thomas J. Cusack Company lies a plan of the American Tobacco Company to keep independent-made cigars and tobacco advertisements off the billboards.

For the last five years, it is said, the American Tobacco Company practically has controlled the Cusack advertising mediums.

With the purchase of the Gunning outdoor systems the American Tobacco Company, it is said, controls every foot of wall or board space between the Allegheny and Rocky Mountains. It is reported that negotiations now are on between the American Tobacco Company and the C. J. Gude Company, which controls all the outdoor advertising space east and south of the Alleghenies.

WILKES-BARRE JOBBER EXPANDS.

Wilkes-Barre, April 3.

Max J. Lewis, the well-known cigar jobber and dealer, has recently expanded his business very greatly, and has now taken larger quarters at 27 South Penn street, to facilitate the handling of a greater volume of business. Possession was taken on April 1, and a large and complete stock of cigars, cigarettes, etc., has been installed.

Mr. Lewis recently also figured prominently in real estate operations in this city, having purchased some ground upon which a number of dwellings will be erected.

OPPOSED TO FREE PHILIPPINE LEAF.

New England Tobacco Growers Do Not Want It in New Tariff Bill.

Springfield, Mass., April 2.

Representatives of the New England Tobacco Growers' Association look with disfavor on the provision in the tariff bill, as reported from the Ways and Means Committee, which permits 300,000 pounds of wrapper tobacco, 3,000,000 pounds of filler tobacco and 150,000,000 cigars to be imported from the Philippines each year free of duty. They say that Florida and the Connecticut Valley, where wrapper tobacco is largely grown, will be more adversely affected by the admission of Philippine tobacco than any other section of the country. The protest is not occasioned, however, by fear that the tobacco interests of this valley will be immediately hurt, but by fear that this concession to the Philippines is only an entering wedge. If the bars are partially let down the Connecticut Valley growers are worried lest the movement is constantly for a greater freedom of trade with the Philippines, which means eventually trade without any limitations whatever.

How well justified are these fears is for the future to determine. There are those that contend that the free admission of Philippine tobacco to any amount cannot possibly injure American tobacco interests, whether those interests be of the manufacturer or the grower. It probably is true that if we were to get from the Philippines only such tobacco as is now produced there little or no harm would be done. The danger lies in the successful growing of Sumatra leaf in the archipelago. The soil and climate of certain regions of the Philippines is said to be similar to that of the island of Sumatra, and if Sumatra leaf can be advantageously grown, free trade with the United States will result in greatly diminished, if not completely ruining, the tobacco industry of the Connecticut Valley, which is chiefly concerned with the growing of wrapper tobacco. The Dutch companies that control the tobacco output in Sumatra, Java and Borneo would immediately transfer a part of their operations to the Philippines, if by so doing they could avoid the duty of $1.85 per pound that wrapper tobacco now pays.

The mere importation under present conditions of the comparatively small amount of tobacco and cigars provided for in the Payne bill probably would not be felt, but there are serious difficulties in attempting to limit the importation. The chances are that many more pounds of wrapper and filler and many more cigars than the number stipulated would be brought into this country. There is also the danger of educating the public taste so as to create a demand for Philippine cigars, which, while possessing a somewhat peculiar flavor, are sweet and mild and much coveted by those that have acquired the habit of using them.

The United States is the greatest tobacco-producing country in the world. During the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1908, we exported 330,812,658 pounds of unmanufactured tobacco, valued at $34,727,157. We also exported manufactures of tobacco to the value of $4,736,522. During the same period we imported 32,056,049 pounds of unmanufactured tobacco, valued at $22,870,328, and manufactures of tobacco to the value of $4,397,585. In comparison with these figures it is seen that the importation of Philippine tobacco and cigars under the limitations of the Payne bill would be insignificant, but from the point of view of the Connecticut Valley grower a principle is at stake. It is not the immediate effects of the proposed arrangement he fears, but the subsequent developments.

SMOKERS OUT $45,000,000.

Size of Tobacco Packages, Reduced in War Time, Never Restored.

A "joker" by which the tobacco users of the country were mulcted to the amount of nearly $45,000,000 has been discovered in the existing revenue laws of the United States by Representative Dawson, of Iowa, who at once introduced a bill to correct the error.

Under the Dingley tariff law the two-ounce package of tobacco sell to the consumer at 5 cents each and the four-ounce packages at 10 cents.

Reduced Through War Tax.

In 1898 a war revenue tax of 6 cents a pound additional was levied on tobacco. At the same time, in order to serve the convenience of the trade, authorization was given for the reduction of the sizes of packages from two, three and four ounces to one and two-thirds, two and one-half and three and one-third ounces, thus enabling the smoker to procure a 5-cent and a 10-cent package of tobacco "at the store."

In due time the war revenue tax was repealed. Somebody forgot, Mr. Dawson believes, to restore the packages of tobacco to the original sizes, and hence, ever since 1902, the consumer of tobacco has been paying the equivalent of the war revenue tax to the manufacturers.

Would Restore Full Weight.

According to the figures obtained from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, over 32,000,000,000 one and two-third-ounce packages have been sold during the past six years, and over 12,000,000,000 packages of three and one-third-ounce size. Representative Dawson figures out that the purchaser of each small package has been muleted out of 1 cent and the purchaser of the larger of 2 cents, and hence the joker has cost the consumer almost $45,000,000.

Mr. Dawson's bill proposes to restore the packages to the original size.

Little Doing in the Havana Tobacco Market.

Practically Only About 800 Bales Were Bought for the United States During the Week, 800 Going to Canada and 800 to Germany. One Sale of the 1909 Crop Reported. Gossip of the City Trade. Opening of the New Produce Exchange Building.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, March 29, 1909.

Although there are only a few American buyers in town and business for the States is rather quiet on this account, there was one large transaction by a local commission house, which purchased 800 bales of Remedios (8a) for a Canadian manufacturer, and is still in the market. For Germany also over 800 bales were bought, consisting of low grades of Remedios, Semi Vuelta and Vuelta Abajo tobacco. Furthermore about 800 bales secured by the local factories were in reality purchased previously this month, but as they had not been reported they were included in last week's sales to keep the statistics as nearly correct as possible. After making these deductions there are only a trifle over 800 bales left as new business done during the past eight days for the American market. This does not include, however, sales made by the American houses which are packers, dealers and exporters.

The weather in Havana has ruled dry and the same holds true of the country, excepting in some localities where light showers have occurred. A few farmers, who have enough of temprano cut tobacco on hand, are said to have taken advantage of the temporary humidity to take down the leaves from the poles, bundled them and thrown the bundles into piles to undergo the first fermentation. This may be a mistake, as has been the case in former years. As a rule, the tobacco ought not to be piled and packed until the real wet season has certainly set in. An exception may have to be made for the farmers who cut each plant separately, and which, being thoroughly, perhaps do not need a prolonged sweat in the piles.

One sale of the new Vuelta Abajo (1909 crop) has been reported in the country from San Juan y Martinez. The name of the veguero is Eusebio Lima, his finca "El Corojal," and the buyer's name is Antonio Garcia. Prices paid are said to be as follows:

12-10a to 12a, at.....	$400 per bale
13a-14a & Qdo4a, at	160 per bale
15a & Qdo5a, at	100 per bale
16a, at	60 per bale
17a, at	35 per bale
18a, at	10 per bale

Whether these prices are high or reasonable is hard to say, as everything depends upon the watchfulness of the buyer to see that the farmer makes a careful escojida later on.

SALES

were 3269 bales in all, of which 858 were Vuelta Abajo, 1046 Partido and 1365 Remedios. For the American and Canadian markets 1624 bales were purchased, for export to Europe 835, and for local consumption 810.

EXPORTS FOR THE WEEK.

To the United States.....	5077 bales
To Europe	888 bales
To South America	215 bales
Total	6180 bales

HAVANA CIGAR MANUFACTURERS report no particular change from the previous conditions. Business is fair and orders are coming in for immediate shipment to supply the pressing needs of importers and retailers in the North, as well as in Europe.

H. Upman & Co. exported 450,000 cigars last week of their own famous H. Upmann brand, as well as from other independent manufacturers. Their factory is working quite satisfactorily.

The Sol factory received some nice orders (high-priced ones) from Sir William Van Horne, who is president of the Cuban Railroad, and who never fails to secure a sufficient supply from Behrens & Co. for his own use, as well as for his numerous friends and acquaintances in Montreal and the United States, whenever he comes to Havana.

The Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Ltd., is making 350,000 cigars per day since Don Gustave Bock is again at the helm of this factory.

Don Jose Lastra left a week ago for the United States, in the interest of La Escepcion factory.

Laureano Torres, manager of the Castaneda factory, has severed his connection, and R. J. Serrano has been appointed manager in his place.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

A. Pazos & Co. sold 402 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido last week.

H. Upmann & Co. purchased 400 bales of all kinds of leaf tobacco for export to customers in the United States and Germany.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzales were sellers of 325 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Remedios leaf.

Richard Sichel, during his 10 days' stay in Havana, was a hard and conscientious worker in making selecstions of the best vegas still to be found here. He secured, according to a well-informed authority, close on to 400 bales of the finest vegas grown in 1908 in the provinces of Pinar del Rio and Havana. His house, B. Rosenbluth, of New York, can surely offer to its customers the most aromatic leaf which comes from the island of Cuba.

A. M. Calzada & Co. have sold two vegas of Partido fillers, amounting to 175 bales.

Harry Slavinsky was a newcomer to our market from the Windy City, and is said to have made some purchases of good leaf for the Havana Import Co.

Suarez Hnos. disposed of 170 bales of Remedios.

Charles Blasco was busy this week, as he shipped (including stripped fillers) an amount equal to 330 bales of leaf.

B. Diaz & Co. closed out 150 bales of Vuelta Abajo from their choice holdings.

Yesterday, March 28, the inauguration of our new Produce Exchange Building took place. According to Spanish custom, it was blessed by the Bishop and there was a select number of invitations given only to our bankers, merchants and best society in general. President Jose Miguel Gomez, the members of his Cabinet, Senators and Representatives were also present. This is the finest five-story iron and concrete building erected here. It fronts the Bay, and is situated in the old San Francisco Place. It was constructed by Purdy & Henderson, American constructors, and the total cost does not exceed (with the ground) $800,000. The floors are marble, and it is fire-proof, with all modern conveniences. The large cupola is surmounted by a gilt figure of Mercury.

LANCASTER LEAF TRADE QUIET.

Packers Preparing the 1908 Tobacco for Market. Little Damage Shown in the Crop thus far.

Lancaster, Pa., April 5.

There was again very little activity in the leaf market, and about the only purchases made were taken by local cigar manufacturers. A short time ago a lot of 700 cases 1908 Broad leaf was sold to a large leaf house, and it was the last sale of consequence which has been reported.

Excellent progress is being made by packers with their new goods, the great bulk of their purchases having been received. Considerable bulk sweating is being done this year, and the goods will consequently be ready earlier than is the case when the older method of packing in cases for sweating is employed.

An unusually small percentage of damage has developed this year, and that fact lends some encouragement, and it will also no doubt have a wholesome effect upon the market when the goods are ready for sale.

Some inquiries continue to come to hand, and that also has a tendency to make packers feel a little more hopeful of better market conditions coming.

Farmers are busily preparing for the tobacco planting season of 1909. Some seed beds have been planted, but the weather conditions have so far not been favorable to much progress being made. There is little discussion heard as regards possible average this year, but it is safe to predict that it will not likely fall short of last year, if, indeed, it does not exceed the acreage of 1908.

No improvement is apparent in the cigar industry, judging from conditions in this city and the reports received from towns throughout this country. Yet the indications are that the report of the Collector of Internal Revenue will show some gain during the month of March, as compared with February.

The State Legislature last week made an appropriation of $5,000 to the tobacco experiment station, which will enable the work to be continued this year.

S. N. Wolf, of the cigar manufacturing firm of Wolf & Hackmon, at Akron, returned last week from a business trip through the West. He reports somewhat of an improvement in business.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, April 6.

New York Leaf Market.

No radical change has taken place in the leaf tobacco market during the past week, and while there were a goodly number of inquiries received for goods, the volume of business done was not particularly large.

A few transactions in Wisconsin tobacco have aided the amount of business done to be of some proportions, and inquiries are for a general line of goods. Prices remain firm on all grades, with possibly slight advances for certain special varieties of leaf.

The Sumatra market shows some activity, and the amount of business done since the beginning of this year's inscriptions has been in goodly proportions. Prices for the new goods are necessarily somewhat higher than for some of last year's leaf, but the tobacco seems to be generally satisfactory as to quality.

Considerable quantities of Florida tobacco have changed hands during the past week, a sale of several hundred bales is reported by one packing firm.

The Havana market has been fairly active, and a ready demand has existed for desirable offerings of both old and new goods.

The Cigar Industry.

Business with cigar manufacturers seems to be gradually improving, but nothing like a boom period has set in. A boom is not particularly desirable, but a fair and steady gain will satisfy nearly everyone.

Forces of cigarmakers are being increased at a number of the factories. With an apparent revival of business in some sections, orders are coming in more steadily and for larger quantities. Surplus stocks on manufacturers' hands are not so large, which will necessitate more hands being employed as trade improves.

Another Sumatra Inscription.

The third of the spring inscriptions of Sumatra tobacco was held at Amsterdam on Friday last. At that sale the offerings were the largest of this year, and more goods were secured for American trade than at any of the previous sales.

About 3,000 bales were secured for the American market, of which New York houses were the principle purchasers. E. Rosenwald & Bro. purchased about 750 bales, A. Cohn & Co. about 500, American Cigar Co. 500 bales, H. Duys & Co. 450, and E. Spingarn & Co. 450; Joseph Hirsch & Son secured 150 bales, and S. Rossin & Sons also took 150.

President Duke's Statement.

The New York Tribune recently published a reported interview with President Duke, of the American Tobacco Co., as follows:

"James B. Duke denied yesterday a report that he was about to retire from the presidency of the American Tobacco Company, which he has held since the formation of that great corporation. Published articles yesterday, which included that rumor, also pointed to certain changes in the lists of officers and directors of the American Tobacco Company and the American Cigar Company as indicating that Thomas F. Ryan and the Widener-Elkins interests were strengthening their control of the companies, and that the Duke interest was being weakened correspondingly. In support of this it was pointed out that Benjamin N. Duke and George W. Watts had resigned as directors of the tobacco company and that Josiah T. Wilcox had succeeded William H. McAllister as secretary.

"These changes, however, occurred a year ago. At that time George D. Widener succeeded B. N. Duke as a director, Mr. Duke having retired because of ill health; Thomas B. Yulle succeeded Mr. Watts, and George W. Elkins took the place of the late C. E. Halliwell. The interest of the Wideners and the Elkinses in the tobacco company and their confident belief in its future have long been common knowledge in Wall Street, and no significance is attached there to the entrance of George D. Widener and George W. Elkins into the Board when opportunity offered.

"Other corroboration of the alleged strained relations between the Ryan-Widener-Elkins interests and the Duke interests was sought to be shown in the retirement on January 1 last, published at the time, of John B. Cobb from the presidency of the American Cigar Company and the approaching retirement of his brother, Henry W. Cobb, as vice president. John B. Cobb said last night that he had resigned because of a desire to obtain leisure and for no other reason. He is still a director of the American Tobacco Company. Henry W. Cobb leaves the American Cigar Company to become president of a subsidiary company in New Orleans."

License Bill Considered.

The New York Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, at a meeting held last week, took up the matter of the Yale License bill, which is now before the State Legislature. It was decided to oppose the measure as being an outrageous act. The most flagrant fault found, so far as the leaf trade is concerned, lies in the fact that under its provisions it might be possible that leaf tobacco dealers would be taxed as retailers for sending out sample pounds of imported tobacco which, duty and all considered, is too costly to be given gratis.

If such an interpretation was ever made, it would bring about a serious hardship to importing houses sending out samples of Sumatra, etc. A committee was named consisting of Joseph Cullman, Sr., James Ertheiler and Marco Flieschman, who were given full power to act in this matter for the local Board, and it can be depended upon that nothing will be left undone by this committee to carry the work to a successful conclusion.

Another Liquidation.

Within a month or little more, several local houses have entered into a liquidation of their affairs. Recently Joseph Abrahams, a leaf dealer and manufacturer of cigars at Maiden Lane and Pearl street, effected a settlement with his creditors.

Mr. Abrahams has been suffering from a stroke of apoplexy, but the business is being conducted by his wife, who has also indorsed on the settlement effected.

Ash & Co. Get New Factory.

Louis Ash & Co., one of the oldest cigar firms in this city, have secured a factory building at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., which, after being thoroughly remodeled, will be used by them for cigar manufacturing purposes, and several hundred hands will no doubt be employed at that branch. The building is known as the old Pelton factory, on lower Mill street. Several families from New York will remove to Poughkeepsie to make their permanent home. This selection for an additional factory was made at the instance of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce.

Trade Notes.

Theodore Perez & Co., a new Havana house, have opened headquarters at 212 Pearl street, where Mr. S. J. Janover, formerly a member of the Erlich Mfg. Co., will be in charge. Mr. Perez, the other member of the firm, will devote much of his time to the firm's affairs in Havana.

Robert Starr, leaf tobacco dealer, has removed from 97 Water street to 242 Pearl street.

E. I. Alexander, of Jos. S. Gans & Co., is this week on a visit to their packing houses in Pennsylvania.

A. W. Gieske, of the Baltimore leaf firm of Gieske & Neiman, was a recent visitor in this city.

Joseph Goldberg, of the leaf tobacco packing firm of Kramer & Goldberg, sailed for Europe last week on a vacation such as he has not taken in a number of years.

THE CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Boston Retailers Brightening and Overhauling their Establishments for the Glad Spring Festival.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street.
Boston, April 5.

April fool's day has come and gone. The trick cigar was very much in evidence on that day. The approach of Easter is being celebrated by many of our retailers who have given their establishments a thorough overhauling. In many instances new store fixtures have been installed, and window fronts rearranged so as to show up goods more attractively.

The American Tobacco Co. is now packing certificates in each cartoon of their cigarettes, which really reduces the price per M. to the retailer. A new package of sliced plug called Derby is now being introduced to the trade by the American. The package is made of aluminum, and with each purchase of 2½ lbs. of Derby tobacco the retailer receives four packages of the 10c size of Old English tobacco gratis.

Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary, the Menashi-Khoury Co., makers of the Menashi cigarettes, are in business to stay. Up to recently this concern's brands were being manufactured at the Mentor Co.'s factory under the supervision of Mr. Khoury, who did the blending for the Mentor Co.'s brands. The Menashi-Khoury Co. has just broken away from the Mentor Co. and has reopened its old factory on Atlantic avenue. Arrangements have been made for the purchase of two cigarette-making machines of the most modern type, and these machines will be installed in the factory by the first of May, and the Menashi-Khoury Co. will be in a far better position than ever to cater to the cigarette-loving people of New England.

Bro. Williams, the general sales agent for the Menashi cigarette, is an old-timer with plenty of experience, and at present he has this brand placed on sale at all our leading cigar stands, and especially at our finest hostelries the Menashi has a host of admirers.

Although the name of Goodwin Sisters is still above the door at the Scollay Square Subway station cigar store, these two girls, who at one time were very prominent in the retail cigar business here, are no longer in business. A Mr. Hinkley, who held a mortgage on the place foreclosed same last week and is now the owner. It is said that the liabilities of the Goodwin Sisters run to about $5,000; a local wholesale tobacconist being a creditor to the amount of $1,000.

Chas. Bernhardt (Shinasi Bros.), who recently suffered an attack of appendicitis, has left for his home in New York. Chas. W. Gilchrist is now covering th's territory doing missionary work on Naturals, Prettiest and Royals.

H. F. Goldstein, representing Josephson Bros., New York, makers of the Grand Vizier and other brands of clear Havana cigars, called on the Boston trade this week.

E. J. Mulligan, formerly with the Menashi-Khoury Co., is now doing the window dressing work here for the famous Melachrino cigarettes.

S. H. Kitsas (Khedivial Co.) is now in charge of the smoking tobacco department. Mr. Kitsas expects to make a good showing with Walker's Durham—a 1-ounce package of granulated tobacco.

Al. Bloom (Butler-Butler Co.) is superintending the putting up of many Pall Mall signs around town.

William Corson, a prominent Chelsea tobacconist who was burned out in the big fire of last year, has just reopened one of the finest cigar and tobacco stores in Chelsea. The fixtures are all of mission wood, and everything in the store is up-to-date.

Charlie Bryant has resigned his position with the Khedivial Co. and accepted a position with the Waitt & Bond Co., the large local cigar manufacturers, to represent the concern in Vermont and New Hampshire.

Mr. Salomon, of Salomon Bros. & Stern, New York, makers of clear Havana cigars, is at present calling on the local trade. His leading brand, Alphonso, is a high quality cigar and he has secured many trial orders from our retailers.

W. O. Howlett, representing the Anglo-American Pipe Co., was here last week taking orders for a line of fancy clay pipes.

Geo. Kraus (F. Villar & Co.), was in town calling on the trade and took a number of nice sized orders for his brands of Porto Rico cigars.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The leaf tobacco market during the past week has not shown much of a change and the volume of business done cannot be said to have greatly increased, yet we learn that there has been a steady movement in small lots mostly to the manufacturing trade who apparently want the goods for immediate use.

There has been some inquiry again this week about goods, but up to this writing no sales of moment have been consummated. It seems that while some of the regular purchasers seem to be somewhat anxious about certain available supplies and are being assured that the stock is not abundant, they still hesitate placing orders definitely at this time. The production of cigars, however, indicates that all the available stock will be needed sooner or later, and again we assert that if the demand for cigars continues to gain in fair proportions during the remainder of the year, the demand for more raw material must necessarily also increase and then may come the rub of getting sufficient supplies to meet the requirements. Particularly is this true of certain kinds of binder leaf, and fine filler stock, such as Pennsylvania and Zimmer Spanish.

Sumatra shows some activity during the past week and several sales of moderate lots have been made. The offerings of new goods have attracted considerable attention here.

The Havana market was fairly active and with no lack in inquiry for desirable goods, it becomes a question more of supply than of price, which, while it has not advanced materially, it is thoroughly firm.

The cigar industry throughout the month seemed rather quiet, but the official return from the Revenue office will in all probability show some gain to have been made, both as regards the previous month and also in comparison with March of last year. Traveling salesmen's reports now coming in show more encouragement, and in certain sections prospects are growing constantly brighter. There are comparatively few idle cigarmakers around this city, although at some of the factories there is a limit to the daily output. In a few instances, too, there have been slight increases made in the force of cigarmakers.

Retail dealers are apparently pretty well satisfied with the amount of business done recently. Box trade especially has been on the increase and nothing could be more encouraging than that. The balmy days of the past week have also been most agreeable and store doors were thrown wide open. That always has a tedency of drawing in customers more readily.

The "Corridor" cigar stand is blossoming this week. The stock is being overhauled generally and a larger line of goods is about to be installed. Business at the stand has been fairly good, about the only change that was experienced is such as much always be expected in a change of the management of a purely local enterprise.

John N. Kolb, President of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., returned last week from a visit to Amsterdam, where he made some purchases of a supply of Sumatra leaf. John T. Dee has just returned from a flying trip through the west. During the absence of Mr. Dee, Mr. Rigby was at the firm's headquarters here.

R. W. Boch, the well-known cigar purveyor, and who until the sale last week of the stand of the Boch-Griffin Co., was in charge of the place, has now permanently established himself at 925 Real Estate Trust Co. Building, at Broad and Chestnut streets, and is already doing a good brokerage business, having secured the selling agency of several very desirable accounts. Mr. Boch had somewhat tired of the confinement necessary to cigar store work and seems well pleased with the recent turn of events.

Another retailer has been announced as being in financial difficulty. At one time he seemed to be doing quite an extensive business and managed to buy goods to the tune of a good many thousands of dollars, but now the business seems to have dwindled down to a very small proportion, and little in the way of assets are in sight. Creditors are wondering what has become of all the goods that were supplied and no money available. It all transpired in an almost incredibly short time.

Leonard A. Cohen, of A. Cohen & Co., New York, was a recent visitor to this city.

Z. J. Norris, manager of the Philadelphia office of I. Lewis & Co., Newark, N. J., has, from all accounts, been "right on the job" lately, and despite the reported sluggist condition of the trade he has been keeping his firm's good well to the front here. The new package of "Cobbs" are still gaining ground and duplicate orders are coming steadily. The number of dealers handling them is also constantly increasing.

Harry Cline, representing A. H. Motly Co., of Reidsville, N. C., is highly elated over the news that his house has recently expanded by increasing its capital, and with it the facilities are to be also increased. The Motly products are meeting with favor here.

Yahn & McDonnell have been featuring the product of Calixto Lopez & Co. recently. The goods from the "Eden" factory are favorites in this city among the class of smokers who want a fine Havana cigar.

Duncan & Moorehead are placing on the market a new brand of imported cigars under the name of "La Mercantil." Of course, their "Marcello" Key West cigar is being in no wise overlooked, and their business shows some gain.

The March business with the El Draco Cigar Mfg. Co. was quite satisfactory. In fact all during the present year their volume of trade has been growing and their products are finding their way into the most desirable of establishments in the city.

TO HEAD OFF THE UNITED.

Salt Lake Cigar and Tobacco Men Form an Organization.

Salt Lake City, April 2.

Fearing an invasion by the United Cigar Stores Company, local cigar and tobacco dealers, wholesale and retail, together with manufacturers, held a meeting at the Commercial Club last week and effected a permanent organization. The following officers were elected: Julius Frumkin, president; Don Lewis, vice president; J. B. Malin, secretary; Frank Ball, treasurer. An Executive Committee consisting of George Whittaker, Oscar Hemenway, L. F. Hall, R. J. Jeff and B. F. Doran was elected.

Local tobacco dealers assert that the United Cigar Stores Company has made arrangements to open several stores in this city, selling seven 5-cent cigars for 25 cents and three of the 10-cent brands for the same amount. The large cities of the East are covered with the stores of the Trust, and it is asserted that a movement is under way now to sweep the country from San Francisco east to the westernmost of the Trust stores in St. Louis.

The sense of the meeting was that organization was necessary for the purpose of helping the sale of Utah-made cigars, "as well as promoting the social and business relations of the various dealers of the section."

SNUFF BY THE SHIPLOAD.

Providence, R. I., April 3.

With one of the most unusual charters in local coastwise history, the three-masted schooner Denna Briggs sailed for Philadelphia on Tuesday. The schooner for the next six months will carry snuff between Norfolk and Philadelphia, the charter calling for 200 tons on each trip.

Tobacconists estimate that each pound of snuff is good for 2616 sneezes, and that on every trip the Briggs will have between her decks more than 1,000,000 sneezes.

NEW STOGIE FACTORY IN WHEELING

Wheeling, W. Va., April 2.

When W. W. Wheatley completes his fine and up-to-date stogie factory on Monticello avenue, he will manufacture the popular Wheatley stogies on a much larger scale. The four years Mr. Wheatley has been in the manufacturing business he has met with splendid success and built up a fine trade, which demands better factory facilities. He is an experienced stogie-maker himself, having worked at the trade 25 years.

But Manufacturers Say there is Little Life in the Trade.

Reading, Pa., April 5.

Trade conditions generally are quiet here at present. Manufacturers, while working, say there is no life in the business, and some of them can see little brightness ahead. Comparatively few traveling men have been in town lately.

A change has occurred in the cigar manufacturing firm of John G. Spatz & Co., Mr. Simon Salz retiring from the firm, but Mr. Spatz is continuing the business as heretofore.

Considerable of a flurry was created here a few days ago when it was announced that the United Cigar Stores Co. had secured a site in Reading. In fact, a few of the retailers became rather alarmed. The writer has made a personal investigation and finds that overtures have been made toward acquiring the lease of a store room on Penn street, but nothing definite has yet been done. It seems that if a tenant can be found to take half of the space, the deal will go through, but if not, it may be passed by, at least for the present.

Paul Yocum, a son of the late James Yocum, who was a member of the cigar firm of Yocum Bros., has purchased from E. G. Readinger the cigar factory and store on North Sixth street heretofore conducted by Mr. Readinger.

M. Steppacher, the well-known manufacturer, is spending a few days this week among his customers.

John G. Neithammer has succeeded to the sole proprietorship of the N. & N. Cigar Co. A new factory has been opened at 37 N. 7th street, but the office will be continued as heretofore at 17 N. 8th street.

H. G. Burky, maker of union-made cigars, is devoting great energy to his Lord Ormont 10c cigar and to the Royal Judge, a nickel product.

T. R. Wheeler, with S. Rossin & Sons, New York; Meyer Sachs, representing A. F. Rico & Co., Boston, importers of Havana tobacco, and Barney Livingston, leaf salesman from New York, are among the week's visitors.

LEAF TOBACCO FROM IOWA.

Managing Corporation Purposes Planting 100 Acres This Year.

Janesville, Wis., April 3.

Samples of tobacco grown near Sauk City, Iowa, from seed furnished by Janesville dealers have arrived in town and, although not up to the standard set by Wisconsin growers, promise to improve steadily in quality as the Iowa growers learn more about the peculiar needs of the plant and select the proper kind of soil. The samples show that the leaves, while not long, are very spready and burn well. Judging from the samples, the leaf will be more of a filler than binder, but should the ground be changed, the leaf would in all probability equal the Wisconsin product. Crawford county is mentioned as being in the right locality for raising tobacco. The corporation which is managing the growing in that State planted fifty acres last year and, although the prospects for selling last season's crop are not bright, they intend to plant a hundred acres this year.

YORK CIGAR FACTORIES INACTIVE.

But March Revenue Returns Show Gain Over February, and also Over March Last Year.

York, Pa., April 5.

The conditions of the tobacco trade do not seem to indicate that there is great activity, and yet the internal revenue receipts for the month of March show a gain both as regards the comparison with the month of February and with the corresponding month of last year.

For the month of March the sale of cigar stamps in this division of the Ninth District amounted to $74,000. This is $4,000 more than that of February and $3,000 more than March, 1908. In number the figures represent an output as follows:

March, 1908	23,667,000
February, 1909	23,334,000
March, 1909	24,667,000

During the past month licenses were granted for the opening of ten cigar factories and one cigarette manufactory. According to the bonds filed the licensees will employ 48 hands. During March, 1908, eight factories, giving employment to 65 persons, were licensed.

The new license holders, the location of their factories and the number of persons in each are as follows:

Climax Cigar Company, York, five hands; Hinkle & Sprenkle, Wrightsville, four hands; Edward W. Kress, Hanover, five hands; Daniel F. Tyson, Red Lion, R. F. D. No. 1, three hands; Young & Busser, York, two hands; F. V. Topper & Company, McSherrystown, ten hands; Minnie A. Ziegler, Springvale, R. F. D. No. 1, three hands; H. M. Goodling, 272 West Market street, York, seven hands; Ida Strayer, Felton, two hands; George Patterson, Two Taverns, five hands; Zenith A. Warner, Felton, two hands.

Thieves entered the cigar store of J. C. Myers, corner of King and Sherman streets, some nights ago, and stole cigars, tobacco and other articles valued at about $10, after which they made their escape. It is believed that the burglary was committed between the hours of 2 and 4 in the morning, and that entry was obtained by a key. No damage was done about the store and the theft was not noticed until nearly noon.

This was the second visit of burglars to the store within a short time. On the other occasion Mr. Myers heard a noise and his investigation scared the intruders away.

Gus Beck, of Warren Beck & Bro., last week made a visit to Philadelphia and New York. It is reported that he booked some nice sized orders for his firm's product.

There are varying conditions among the cigar manufacturers throughout the county. Some have been increasing their forces of cigarmakers, and others have closed down their factories, which will not be again open for work until after Easter.

There have been a large number of visiting leaf men in this section lately, but they all complain of having done only a small business, if any. Manufacturers apparently are not inclined to buy much leaf at present.

Everything considered, the manufacturers at Red Lion seem to be doing fairly well at present. W. M. Gemmill & Co., T. E. Brooks & Co., and Wolf Bros. & Ziegler have lately added more help to their forces.

W. A. Lahr, of Red Lion, has recently been visiting the trade in New York.

The new drying kiln of Miller Bros., manufacturers of cigar boxes and lumber, has been completed.

Quite a few factories at Dallastown, Yoe and Windsor have been temporarily closed, owing to dull business.

A. D. Hoover, cigar manufacturer, formerly located at Star View, has removed to Mt. Wolf.

CONSULAR REPORTS.

TOBACCO IN FRANCE.

Special Purchasing Agents Visit America.---Reduced Shipments.

With reference to the purchase of tobacco by the French Government, Consul General Frank H. Mason writes from Paris:

The tobacco imported into France is purchased by special expert agents of the Regie, or that bureau of the Government that has charge of the importation, manufacture and sale of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, etc., and which is a strictly enforced Government monopoly. The special expert agents go to America and other tobacco-producing countries from time to time, according to the needs of the Regie here and the state of the raw tobacco markets abroad. Those who go to the United States make their headquarters at the French Consulate-General in New York, and American traders who have American tobacco to offer can get into touch with them there; or, if none are present at any given date, can ascertain when they may be expected to arrive. Sometimes, as I am informed, a French Government buyer will go to Kentucky or other tobacco State during the season to examine the crop, but usually purchases are made, so far as I can ascertain, from samples presented by

The importations of America tobacco into France in 1907 amounted to 15,886,613 kilos (a kilo equals 2.2 pounds), out of a total import of 37,959,792 kilos from all countries, including Algeria and other French colonies. [The American statistics show that in the calandar year 1908 there were exported to France 29,255,353 pounds, valued at $2,767,386, against 33,281,130 pounds, worth $3,160,839, in 1907 and 38,033,828 pounds, valued at $3,121,117, in 1906.—B. of M.]

Operations of the Monopoly.

Consul General Horace Lee Washington, of Marseilles, furnishes the following information concerning the working of the tobacco monopoly in France:

The annual report in regard to the French tobacco monopoly, covering the year 1907, has just been published. It shows that the total receipts for the year amount to $91,103,713, an increase on the preceding year of $2,416,491. The expenses amountd to $16,546,479, an increase of $615,334 over those of 1906. The sales to the public were as follows, in metric tons:

Description	1906. Tons.	1907. Tons.
Cigars	2,487.6	2,382.2
Cigarettes	2,521.8	2,793.9
Scaferlatis	28,388.1	28,723.8
Roll and chewing tobacco	1,162.6	1,149.3
Powder	4,830.6	4,851.0
Total	39,390.7	39,900.2

The increase in sales was almost entirely due to the greater consumption of cigarettes, $1,440,359, and scaferlatis, $674,650. The average rate of consumption per capita was 2.23 pounds, of which 0.27 pound represented tobacco in powder and 1.96 pounds smoking and chewing tobacco. The total sum devoted to the purchase of tobacco was $97,739,234, or $2.51 per capital, of which $2.31 was returned to the treasury.

The production of domestic tobacco, which constitutes an important source of revenue, is authorized in 27 departments. The results have been as follows for the years 1905, 1906, 1907 and 1908, respectively:

	1905.	1906.	1907.

TOBACCO IN CUBA.

Cost of Labor and Production in Western Part of Island.

To correct some misunderstanding concerning the cost of labor in the cultivation of tobacco in Western Cuba, as given in his report published in the Daily Consular and Trade Reports for January 9, 1909, Consul General Jas. L. Rodgers, of Havana, furnishes the following additional information:

Apparently some extracts from my published report have been given in tobacco trade papers, and the impression created that the cost of labor, as stated therein, means the total cost of raising tobacco. It was distinctly stated in the report in question that the total cost of tobacco as it entered into commerce was not communicated, and that the cost of labor represented only an attempt at the average, it being stated that in many cases it might go higher and in others lower.

Believing that an erroneous idea may be gained therefrom, certain of the important tobacco growers in Western Cuba have stated to me that the total cost of raising open-air tobacco in the Vuelta Abajo district of Pinar del Rio province is approximately 53 cents per pound, and in the Partido district of Havana province 85 cents. This means wrappers and fillers and includes the cost of packing. It is further stated that upon the most successful plantation in the Partido district the cost of shade-grown wrappers and fillers, including packing, is $1.25 per pound. These figures, however, represent the cost of intensive culture, which is entirely beyond the means and aside from the custom of the average tobacco grower. The return from this intensive cultivation, with its liberal expenditure of money, is proportionately large, and although no selling prices are communicated, it is known that such tobacco commands a high price and produces a fine profit. However, very few of the growers in Cuba could afford to spend such an amount upon their product, even if they attempted to produce the very finest grades.

These facts are communicated simply to correct the impression apparently prevalent, but they do not represent any amendment of the previous statements as to the cost of labor upon the average tobacco farm in the districts named.

—The appointment of a receiver for the estate of William E. Brown, wholesale tobacco dealer, at 173 Randolph street, Chicago, has been asked in a bill filed in the Circuit Court last week by his two sisters, who aver that of late he has exhibited symptoms of dementia and is now in a sanitarium. His estate is valued at $50,000.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

If there was ever a dead subject to write about it must needs be tobacco, with its movements the past winter and spring, for if the news of a sale was reported the price was so low that one has been ashamed to make much mention of such a sale, let alone the publishing of any figures, and I do not know but what if the A. T. Co. had not been busy in picking up the poor stuff, perhaps the growers would have been obliged to use the stuff for fertilizer in the end. But the rubbish has about all been cleaned up and the growers are well rid of it. Not so the consumer, for so far as I can see, the consumer will be compelled to use it up in some kind of cut tobacco, for they never sell only at an advance over the cost price. Well, those who use it have my sympathy.

Saturday I was in Deerfield and witnessed a novel manner of moving bundle tobacco. Arthur Ball, who had not sold, shipped his crop to Hatfield by trolley, and when they got loaded there must have been as much as four good large wagonloads. The second car was not loaded so heavily, probably about three wagonloads. Mr. Ball lives beside the line of the electric road, and the shop at Hatfield is situated in the same manner. I don't know the cost, but it would have taken seven teams nearly a day to have moved this crop of tobacco. One other grower at Deerfield has just commenced to assort his crop, as he had lost all confidence in selling in the bundle. He had better have commenced to assort it earlier.

I hear that L. F. Graves will be obliged to run his shop at least a week longer than he had anticipated, as he has received another consignment from Connecticut. The reason of these shipments of tobacco from Connecticut to Massachusetts is that the local authorities of some of the towns in Connecticut have got the idea of taxing all stored tobacco not grown on the premises of the holder. Well, I suppose it is called stock in trade, and a fit subject for taxation. But up our way we are glad to have sorting shops opened in our midst, for it gives employment to a good many men who need the work to splice out the small prices received for their crops.—Amer. Cultivator.

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton.—The tobacco market seems to be suffering from a bad case of the dumps just at present. The buying movement has dropped away to scattering transactions, where there is yet close to 10 per cent. of the crop in growers' hands, many of whom are anxious to dispose of their crops before the beginning of spring's work. If there was any one who wanted to increase their holdings it would seem an opportune time to invest now while there was practically a clear field. But it is the same story often repeated—buyers have their orders filled, the market lags.

The deliveries from early buying are now nearly all in, but warehouse handling will continue for some weeks yet.

Business in cured leaf does not yet show the promised revival, either in Eastern markets or at home. No transactions of any moment are reported for the week.

Nothing has yet been accomplished toward preparing the seed beds for another crop so far.

Shipments for the week, 814 cases.—Reporter.

Vol. XXIX., No. 15 PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 14, 1909 One Dollar the Year

A FILIPINO VIEW OF THE TARIFF.

Wants Free Admission for Philippine Sugar and Tobacco Only.

Washington, April 6.

The House resounded to-day for the first time to the voice of a Filipino. Palmo Ocampo de Leon, resident commissioner from the island possession, sharply criticised free trade between it and the United States on the ground that virtually the sole revenue of the island would be depleted and ultimately wiped out and independence of the natives indefinitely postponed. He said:

"Once foreign goods are driven from the Philippine markets the importer of American products would control the situation. The decrease of the customs revenues would inevitably compel the Philippine Government to go into bankruptcy, because there are no other sources from which to obtain revenues and meet its financial obligations.

"Viewing the question in its political aspect, is not there a danger that the future independence of the Filipinos would be hindered by the ties consequent upon the establishment of free trade? The trusts and other corporations that would establish themselves in the Philippines, encouraged by free trade, would place a formidable barrier against Filipino freedom.

"The only reciprocity we ask is that our sugar and tobacco be admitted free of duty, and in exchange allow all agricultural machinery and implements of manufacture free admission into all parts of the Philippines."

AID FOR TOBACCO GROWERS.

Measures Proposed to Allow Free Sales of Product.

Washington, April 6.

Representatives Stanley, of Kentucky, and Hull, of Tennessee, have introduced bills permitting free and untaxed commerce in unstemmed tobacco in the natural leaf. Stanley has another bill providing that growers shall have the right to sell "in the raw and unadulterated stage all tobacco of their own growing or cultivated upon their own lands, or to hand-stem or twist the same if manufactured in a form desired," free from taxation.

UNITEDCO. IN DES MOINES.

Des Moines, April 2.

Leasing from B. A. Younker for ten years the corner store room in the Good block, at Fifth and Walnut streets, the United Cigar Stores Company has invaded Des Moines. The room now is occupied by the Des Moines National Bank, which will remove May 1 to its new building. Improvements will be made at once and the store opened by June 1, next.

While the locations are not known, it is reported that the United Company, which is the largest cigar firm in the world, has secured options on leases for other store rooms.

TOBACCO TROUBLES OVER.

Differences Adjusted After Long Meeting In Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., April 7.

At a meeting that convened before noon to-day and lasted till near midnight, barring short recesses, independent manufacturers of tobacco adjusted differences that had sprung up between themselves and the Kentucky Burley association. Some matters still remain to be thrashed out and these will be taken up at a meeting to be held to-morrow. The meeting of independent manufacturers was attended by twenty-two leading manufacturers who met as individuals and was presided over by Hugh J. Campbell, of Richmond, Va., Louisville, St. Louis, Detroit, Memphis, New Orleans and other cities being represented.

LAW ON TOBACCO SALES GIVEN.

Minnesota Statute Quoted in Regard to Use by Minors.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 6.

In answer to the general demand as a result of recent tobacco selling arrests in Minneapolis, the Minnesota law in regard to the use of tobacco by minors is given:

Every person under the age of 18 years, and every minor pupil in any school, college or university, who shall smoke or use cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form on any public road, street alley, park or any other land used for public purposes or in any public place of business, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punished for each offense by a fine of not more than $10, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than five days; and any person who shall furnish any cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form to any such minor person or who shall permit any such minor person to frequent any premises owned, held or managed by him, for the purpose of indulging in the use of cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form, shall be guilty of misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not more than $50, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding 30 days for each offense.

CIGARETTES CAUSE ARREST.

Marinette, Wis., April 6.

Charged with selling cigarettes to minors, James J. Schleihs, Louis Cohan, and John Demas are under arrest. The arrests follow the confession of a number of boys charged with breaking into vacant houses.

—The tobacco factory of C. C. Bull & Son, at Springfield, Tenn., was burned on March 30. It was filled with tobacco belonging to the Imperial Tobacco Co., and the loss on building and contents will reach $100,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

OPPOSE THE PAYNE BILL.

Milwaukee Firms Take a Hand in Fighting Duty on Labels, etc.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 8.

The C. B. Henschel Manufacturing Co. and the Louis Kindling Co., Milwaukee, are interested in the fight to retain the present tariff schedule on cigar labels, flags, etc.

While there is said to be a tendency on the part of the ways and means committee to prohibit a debate on these schedules in the Payne tariff bill, Milwaukee manufacturers hope to get a hearing through the influence of Wisconsin congressmen and senators.

"The present duty on embossed gold leaf labels, mostly made in Germany, and which cannot be purchased in this country, is 50 cents per thousand," said W. P. Held, Henschel Manufacturing Co., Tuesday. "We believe this duty should be retained, as it is high enough to protect American manufacturers and low enough to make the labels within reach of those who import them. The Payne bill proposes to raise the duty to 70 or 75 cents a thousand. This will make the importation of this class of labels prohibitive."

CIGAR STORE PLUNDERED.

Duluth Establishment Despoiled of $350 Worth of Goods.

Duluth, Minn, April 7.

Early yesterday morning thieves entered the cigar store and factory of S. N. Claveaux & Co., through an alley door and made away with about $350 worth of cigars and pipes.

Amateurs, from all appearances, the robbers were nevertheless able to complete the job and get away with the booty before they were detected, and from the amount of goods taken it is supposed there must have been at least three men involved.

The store of Claveaux & Co. is at 325 West First street, and the proprietor of the place was there until late into the night. It is thought that the men had been watching the surroundings and when the proprietor left they made immediate preparations to do the job. Through the door in the alley they made their way in to the stock and sales room, where they stole about 1500 cigars. When they had secured all the cigars, they gathered up about 140 pipes valued at nearly $100 and left. No trace has since been found of the robbers.

NEW STOGIE CO. ORGANIZED.

New Martinsville, W. Va., to Have a New Enterprise.

New Martinsville, W. Va., April 8.

The West Virginia Stogie Company has been organized in the city, composed of the following local people: A. J. Ferrell, John Loehr, J. A. Potts, John Stamm, Jr., I. D. Morgan, G. F. Probst, G. B. Potts, Dr. J. R. Sole, L. W. Dulaney, B. F. Hill, M. U. Murray and Charles S. Farmer. The company will engage in the manufacture of stogies and will give employment to about fifty hands at the start. The new company has leased the Wells building on South Main street and will commence the manufacture of stogies just as soon as the charter arrives and a few other preliminary matters are arranged. The company has organized by electing A. J. Farrell, president; L. W. Dulaney, secretary, and Charles S. Farmer, treasurer.

The New Martinsville Grocery Company will handle the product of the factory, which insures a ready sale of all stogies that they can manufacture.

NO "APRIL FOOL" JOKE IN THIS.

Members of Once Bankrupt Tobacco Firm Pay Outstanding Accounts in Full.

A New York daily paper a few days ago published the following readable story of the commendable action of a former firm of leaf tobacco dealers:

The wholesale tobacco trade of this city will welcome this day of rest. It will give time to recover fully from an "April fool" joke that has been the chief topic of discussion in the lower Pearl street and Maiden lane offices and warehouses of the dealers and importers. The joke was of the most unusual as well as of the most practical sort. It was of a kind that gave support to the efforts of a newly organized club to change "All Fools' Day" to Optimists' Day," for the joke brought $55,000 most unexpectedly to a few tobacco men.

The perpetrators of the joke were Joseph and David Steindler, who under the firm name of Steindler Brothers were for many years in the leaf tobacco business at No. 173 Pearl street. About four years ago the firm had difficulty in the collection of outstanding accounts in Canada, and failed. The brothers were popular in the trade, and the failure was generally deplored. It was a source of great satisfaction to their friends when they settled with their creditors for 50 cents on the dollar, which, so far as such compromises go, was considered unusually good. They then left New York. In the turmoil of that busy section of town where the Steindler brothers had been potent factors they were soon forgotten.

A few days ago Joseph Steindler and David Steindler returned unexpectedly to the district. Then an unprecedented thing happened in the tobacco trade. The brothers, who are respectively about 55 and for 49 years old, visited their creditors, asked for statements of their accounts, and on the spot drew checks in full. Without any legal obligation to do so, the Steindlers paid all outstanding indebtedness, amounting to $55,000. One dealer received about $8000. The money came to the New York merchants at an opportune time, for the tobacco business has not been so prosperous lately as the trade would like to see it.

Shortly after the check incident the story of the remarkable financial recuperation of the brothers came out. The brothers, according to the story, went to Canada after their failure here four years ago. They were not troubled a bit by the fact that the scene of their unfortunate confidences that led to their commercial undoing was laid across the border. They became interested in a small way in a gold mining venture. It "panned out" successfully, and reports have it that the brothers are in a fair way to become exceedingly wealthy men.

After paying their already settled indebtedness they returned to Canada.

MORE HOPEFUL AT YORK.

Less Complaint than Has Been the Rule, and Some Factories are Taking on Additional Help.

York, Pa., March 12.

The trade conditions in this section seem somewhat brighter than they did, although a great deal more business could be taken care of if it came this way. However, there is less complaining here than there was a short time ago, and it seems that some of the factories are putting on larger forces of cigarmakers.

H. F. Kohler, of Nashville, was recently on a business visit to Washington, and reports encouraging success. Both his factory at Nashville and the one at Jacobus are at present pretty well filled with orders.

Joseph Blumenthal, a New York cigar man, has been visiting local factories during the past week and placing some orders for future delivery of goods.

W. A. Lahr, a Red Lion cigar manufacturer, has been recently visiting the trade in New York City.

An organized effort is being made among the cigar and tobacco manufacturers and dealers in York and Lancaster counties to urge Congress to prevent the annual importation, free of duty, of 150,000,000 cigars from the Philippine Islands, as provided in the Payne Tariff bill. About 20 petitions are being circulated in this city and adjacent territory and will be forwarded to Congressman D. F. Lafean at Washington, D. C. The interest of the Lancaster county manufacturers, growers and others will be looked after by Congressman W. W. Greist.

The petitioners say that the product of the Filipinos is in direct competition sylvania. They say that there was more stagnation in the cigar trade during the with the cigars made in Pennsylvania, and especially the Ninth internal revenue district. It is stated that it is probable that the entire lot will be purchased by a trust and sold in those cities in the United States which are the principal market for cigars made in Pennpast year than at any time in the history of the country. If the product of the Filipinos is permitted to be imported free of duty the result will be that in place of the cigar industry of Pennsylvania reaching its normal state, the output will be much curtailed and the industry receive such a setback that it probably will never recover.

In addition to referring to the fact that the cheap coolie labor receives about one-fourth as much as the cigarmakers in this country, it is stated that the farmers and growers of domestic tobacco will be directly affected, and the demand for the local leaf will be much diminished.

The petition being circulated in York county, and which is being freely signed, says in part:

"The annual importation, free of duty, of 150,000,000 cigars from the Philippine Islands would deprive many cigarmakers of their means of livelihood, work a direct injury to the thousands dependent upon their wages, would drive out of business all the small manufacturers by depreciating their investments in plants and manufacturing establishments. In addition, since this section of the country is chiefly a cigar manufacturing centre would greatly depreciate all kinds of property."

Little Havana Leaf Bought for United States.

Exporters to Germany Were Buyers of Low Grade Remedios, Helping to Clear Market of that Stock. Few Receipts Expected Until New Crop is Ready. Dock Fire with Great Loss of Life and Property. The Successful Result of Thirteen Years of Effort.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, April 5, 1909.

Business during the past eight days has again been dull, as only one leaf buyer from the United States has arrived. On the other hand, the German exporters have been purchasing heavily of low grades of Remedios and some Vuelto Abajo, and this helped to diminish the stocks of those kinds. Very likely for the next two months there will be no new arrivals in our market, or at least until the time when the new crop shall appear.

At the moment the country is suffering from a prolonged spell of drought and the farmers are anxiously awaiting the coming wet season, which will enable them to take down their dried "cujes" of tobacco leaves, bundle them, throw them in piles, and then later on start up the active packing season. The wet season of the year varies from the middle of April to the end of May, and in exceptional years farmers have been obliged to wait even as late as the beginning of June.

Don Luis Marx, who is generally the first planter to set out his seedlings, is also, as a rule, the first one to commence his packing operations here in the city of Havana, and this had happened again this year, as he has commenced his escojida in his especially adapted building at 75 Zanja street. A visit to this establishment by your correspondent will be described in another part of this letter.

HAVANA CIGAR MANUFACTURERS

are fairly busy, particularly the large concerns which are receiving constant orders, while the smaller factories do not seem to share to the same extent in the betterment of business, and probably their time will not come until later on in the summer and early fall of this year.

H. Upmann & Co. exported 450,000 cigars during the past week. The H. Upmann factory is kept busy and well supplied with orders through the activity and zeal displayed by its representative, Charles Landau, so far as the United States and Canada are concerned, while orders from Europe and South America are coming in upon the usual scale.

Sol has notified the National Cuba Company that its contract having expired, the same will not be continued in future, and that Behrens & Co. have appointed a special representative, who will travel in the United States and Canada exclusively in the intrest of the Sol factory. The name of this party may be published in my next letter.

SALES.

during the past week totaled 3075 bales, divided as follows: 750 Vuelta Abajo, 100 Partido and 2225 bales of Remedios. For Canada and the United States 1175 bales were purchased; for export to Europe, 1750, and for local consumption, 150 bales.

Don Jose Lastra, of "La Escepcion" factory, has returned from his flying trip to New York.

The Henry Clay & Bock & Co., Ltd., has increased its output to 375,000 cigars per day, and there has been a remarkable improvement in the workmanship on its cigars since Don Gustavo Bock has had the sole management of this concern. The colors are light, the texture of the wrapper of the finest, and the burn is perfect. Don Gustavo supervises the selection of each bale of wrappers and no sacrifices are spared in order to rehabilitate the former renown which the cigars of this concern justly enjoyed.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzales sold 300 bales of Vuelta Abajo during the past week.

Fred J. Davis was the largest buyer in our market, as his purchases must have aggregated over 500 bales of choice leaf.

Sylvester & Stern were sellers of 300 bales of Remedios from their select holdings.

M. A. La Boule made some excellent purchases of the finest vegas which could be found in our market.

Suarez Hnos. disposed of 150 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

Heinrich Neuberger exported 912 bales of leaf tobacco to Bremen last week.

A. M. Calzada & Co. closed out 150 bales of Remedios and Partido from their stocks, and Don Antonio, after these transactions were made, left for a trip of inspection of the new crop in Santa Clara province.

Manuel Menendez Parra sold 575 bales of Remedios tobacco during the past eight days.

The big fire last week at the large iron shed and dock of the Havana Central Railroad cast a gloom over the city of Havana, as it involved not only the destruction of this property, but also the total loss of the German steamer Altemburg, which was moored alongside and nearly ready to sail, and several schooners and barges and nearly a score of human beings were roasted alive or asphyxiated by the dense volumes of smoke. Owing to the large quantities of alcohol, oils and grease, the fire spread so rapidly that the steamer had no chance to use its engines and break the iron fastenings to the dock, and in this manner the loss of lives occurred. There was a strong wind blowing from the south, and in a few seconds the steamer was enveloped in flames and the dense smoke on the waters of the bay prevented the swimming seamen from finding the shore, as some corpses were found in the middle of the bay.

Your correspondent, by invitation of Don Luis Marx, had a chance to see this year's packing of Partido tobacco at 75 Zanja street, and already between 50 and 100 bales have been made. This is the most perfect crop which Don Luis has ever raised, so far as colors, texture, beautiful grain of leaf, quality and perfect burn is concerned. Any judge of leaf tobacco, if shown these leaves, would be mystified and could not distinguish the shade-grown from the sun-grown tobacco, as, after many years of labor and scientific experiment, Don Luis has managed to raise a closs of leaf under cheese-cloth which has all the good qualities of the tobacco grown in the open fields, and now is superior in every respect, as the leaves are perfect and have none of the faults of the latter. When Don Luis Marx purchased his present farms, Zorilla and San Antonio, the land was exhausted and almost worthless, but, by enriching the soil with the right class of manure, he has managed to make his property the model tobacco farm of Cuba. He sank a fortune in the soil at first, but after thirteen years of patience he has triumphed and demonstrated to our farmers what perseverance and science can do in raising tobacco in Cuba.

HINTS FOR CORRESPONDENTS

Engaged in Trailing Naturalists in South Africa.

Nairobi, East Africa.—Anticipating the arrival of ex-President Roosevelt and his party, a new code for hunting and trailing is promulgated as follows:

The traveler, the explorer, or correspondent will do well to bear in mind certain well known characteristics of the Faunal Naturalists, of which, on the whole continent of Africa, there is only one group.

If, in breaking one's way through the thorn-bush, one finds an empty Bull Durham pouch, it is a sure sign that a certain eminent Faunal Naturalist has been that way. Moreover, it is a sign that he has entertained the native chiefs and wise men, for the Colonel himself does not smoke.

In making one's way across the lonely veldt, if one finds, beside a recent campfire, the countenance of a dog, on a tobacco pouch (empty), this too is to be considered a sign that the Colonel has passed that way—but it indicates that, instead of Bull Durham, he has decided to offer his guests "Dog's Head."

The finding of an empty can, marked "Tortoise Shell Mixture," is to be regarded as an infallible sign that Secretary Kermit Roosevelt has passed that way. The presence of the secretary, as is well known, indicates the close proximity of Colonel Roosevelt himself.

It is not absolutely necessary, however, to depend on mere keenness of eyesight. A hunter with a delicate, well trained sense of smell—so well trained that he can recognize the delicate fragrance of Cameron pocket slice will know at once what that sign indicates. The instant that fairy fragrance is wafted to his senses, the well informed trailer will know that, somewhere up the wind is Secretary Kermit—and somewhere near Secretary Kermit is hunter Roosevelt.

Secretary Kermit, in fact, is about the best equipped smoker in East Africa.

Hunter Roosevelt does not smoke at all. But Son Kermit has been a smoker for the last five years, and the Colonel's watchful eye sees no harmful effects from it.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, April 13.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market has been somewhat quiet for the past week, yet there were a goodly number of inquiries for stock. It would seem that the lack of sufficient supplies of the varieties of leaf most desired was more the cause of a quiet trade than that there was a lack of need for goods.

The internal revenue returns for the month of March show a satisfactory progress in the production of cigars, and consequently there must also follow an increasing demand for raw material. Both Connecticut and Wisconsin have been dealt in to some extent, and the shortage of desirable filler goods is becoming more and more apparent.

The Sumatra market has been rather active through the past week. New goods are apparently giving uniform satisfaction, and old stock is bringing even advanced prices, in view of the higher figures for the new goods.

The Havana market, while not particularly active, has nevertheless been steady, with a tendency to the new goods.

In Florida tobacco there has been some movement of goods, and the market is now somewhat depleted of its stock.

The Cigar Industry.

An encouraging increase is shown in the output of cigars in the leading districts of this city during the month of March. This seems to be acting like a true stimulant and from nearly all factories there now come reports of increasing trade. The nickel line of goods, which seemed to be suffering the most severely for some time past, are now picking up nicely and manufacturers are much more hopeful.

A fairly satisfying volume of business has been coming to the clear Havana manufacturers, with good reason to believe that it will be of lasting duration.

Removing to Key West.

Manuel Lopez & Co. will on May 1 remove their factory from New York to Key West. Mr. Manuel Lopez, head of the house, has been engaged in the cigar business in this city for the past eighteen years, and declares that he has become convinced the very best results in the handling and manufacture of clear Havana cigars can be had at Key West. Factory headquarters have been secured in the Key city, and the premises will be ready for occupancy on the first of next month.

Bock & Co. Have New Factory.

H. Anton Bock & Co. have secured new factory headquarters at 1228-30-32 Second avenue, and expect to take possession of the new premises by the middle of the present month. The new location will afford increased facilities, which will nearly double the capacity of their present factory. The buildings have been long used as a cigar manufacturing establishment, being originally the factory of Powell, Smith & Co. and later of A. G. Kauffman & Co., but they have been completely overhauled and made a modern structure, well adapted to the needs of the new occupants.

H. E. Walter & Co.'s Affairs.

Judge Holt, of the United States District Court, has dismissed the petition in bankruptcy filed on October 23 against H. E. Walters & Co., cigar manufacturers, 1205 Second avenue, and York, Pa., and on March 11 against the Premier Cigar Co., of 1293 Second avenue, and York, Pa., which was owned by H. E. Walter & Co., on a settlement with creditors.

A charter has been granted to H. E. Walter & Co. to manufacture and deal in cigars. The capital is $50,000, and the incorporators were H. E. Walter, E. Ascher, E. Rich, New York city.

Tariff Bill Grievance.

The New York trade has lately been quite active in protesting against the proposed Philippine provisions of the new tariff measure.

In discussing the matter, Mr. J. F. Cullman, of 175 Water street, said that it was the opinion of the trade here that only large interests would profit through the proposed tariff action, as they would be able to control large available lots and also to monopolize steamship room. Another point made by Mr. Cullman was that it would be possible to smuggle Sumatra and other fine wrapper tobacco from the Dutch East Indies into the Philippines and send them into the United States as Philippine product.

"The Philippine cigars and tobacco already enjoy excellent markets in China and Japan, Spain, France and Germany," continued Mr. Cullman, "but I doubt if Filipinos actually would realize any profit from the proposed free admission of 150,000,000 cigars into the United States. Let the Government reduce the excessive duty on Sumatra tobacco, which has done more than anything to concentrate the cigar industry of this country in the hands of a Trust."

Fourth Sumatra Inscription.

The fourth inscription of Sumatra tobacco was held at Amsterdam on Thursday last and about 2300 bales were purchased for the American market. The principal buyers were A. Cohn & Co., 720 bales; American Cigar Co., 400 bales; W. K. Gresh & Sons, Norristown, Pa., 300 bales; S. Rossin & Sons, 200 bales; G. Falk & Bro., 175 bales; Joseph Hirsch & Son, 150 bales, and Haas Bros., Cincinnati, O., 100 bales.

Prices are again ranging very high.

Suesskind-Schatz Co. Affairs.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Suesskind-Schatz Co., manufacturers of cigars, at No. 142 East Fifty-ninth street, for Elias Bach & Son, $235; H. Duys & Co., $1163, and the Friend Havana Tobacco Co., $316. Preferential payments is alleged as an act of bankruptcy. The Suesskind-Schatz Co. was incorporated under New York State laws in March, 1905, with a capital stock of $20,000.

Francis H. Griffin was appointed receiver by Judge Hough, and he was authorized to continue the business for five days. The assets are estimated at $2000.

The House of Duys.

In the advertising columns of this week's issue will be found a special announcement of H. Duys & Co., importers of Sumatra tobacco, announcing some of the desirable marks of their purchases of this year's offerings of leaf. The line has already attracted a great deal of attention, and, in fact, a few of the marks have been already so largely selected from that the purchases are being materially reduced.

Reasonable prices are held out to all their customers, and the colors are running beautifully. Samples will also be submitted by request to the house. Samples of some of their latest purchases have just reached the New York office.

Trade Notes.

The Hernsheim Co., Ltd., has been organized in Jersey City, to manufacture tobacco, etc.; capital, $225,000. The incorporators were L. J. Relyea, W. E. Frasier and F. J. Griswold.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent. on the common stock of the United Cigar Mfgrs. Co., payable on April 25, has been declared.

Oscar Reinach, a well-known cigar salesman, has connected himself with the clear Havana manufacturing firm of Garcia, Pando & Co.

Louis Hirsch, of the Sumatra importing house of Joseph Hirsch & Son, is this week returning from Amsterdam, where he attended several inscriptions and made some purchases.

S. Monday & Sons, of Brooklyn, have incorporated with a capital of $40,000. The incorporators were M. and J. Monday and P. Munter, all of Brooklyn.

The Regal Cigar Manufacturing Co., of Brooklyn, has been incorporated with a capital of $50,000 by A. E. Summer, R. D. Summer, Brooklyn, and W. D. Scisco, Jr., of New York.

The Greek Tobacco Co., of New York, wholesale and retail tobacco dealers, has been incorporated with a capital of $5000. The incorporators were Stephen C. Christy, Henry J. Bingham and Oscar Wagner, all of New York.

The Progressive Cigar Co., of Utica, N. Y., has been incorporated with a capital of $6000, to deal in cigars, tobacco, newspapers, etc. Incorporators were Charles S. Hughes, Michael J. Dwyer and Walter D. Taylor, all of Utica.

PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 14, 1909

THE TARIFF BILL TO DATE.

The curtain has fallen after the first act in the tariff bill. For more than a week past the Senate has been waiting for the House to yield the tariff bill to it. According to the Constitution revenue bills must originate in the House, but in modern practice there is apt to be vast differences between the original state of a measure as evolved by the House and its perfection by the Senate.

During the discussion of the present tariff measure the House became too unwieldy for the real seriousness of the measure, and iron-clad rules have limited the discussions and fixed the hour for vote taking, with the result that business was rushed with anything but an orderly manner. Hence it is upon the Senate that the country must rely for anything like genuine consideration. The House has shot off its pyrotechnics, but it is hoped that the Senate will reject fireworks and get down to serious deliberation, and every business interest in the country will no wturn its eyes toward the Senate.

The tobacco trade, while justly excited over the results thus far obtained with the proceeding of the measure, has probably wrought itself into a state of almost fever heat without taking sufficient cognizance of the fact that the Senate yet had its say before the measure could be finally passed to the President for his signature.

It is only too true that the members of the House had it hot and heavy for a few days. Democrats and "insurgents" had a pitched battle with Speaker Cannon, but what did it all amount to? It was all interesting enough, but it really decided nothing. Let us still hope. Better still, let us be up and doing while there is hope.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

There was more animation in the leaf market this week than for several weeks past, and inquiries for several types of domestic leaf were quite strong. The sales consummated during that period were not as large as might be desired, but there are evidences that the trade is gradually getting around to a point when it will become necessary for the manufacturers to replenish their stocks, and with that end in view they are now, evidently, making investigations. That there must of necessity come a time when purchases of leaf will increase is clear, from the fact that the output of cigars for the month of March showed a very material gain, and consequently there was also consumed a larger amount of raw material which has still further reduced whatever stocks manufacturers have had on hand.

Sumatra tobacco has been selling moderately, both in old and the new offerings. Prices for old goods are a trifling more firm, not to say that there has been an actual advance.

Havana tobaccos are being sought for in fair quantities and prices are well maintained.

The cigar industry in this District as was intimated above shows a market progress during the month of March, as the official returns given out by the Collector of Internal Revenue will show:

Production for the month of March was 56,233,650. For the corresponding month of last year the production was 49,192,500, showing a comparative gain of 7,041,150 cigars. Furthermore, during the first three months of the present year the production has exceeded the corresponding period of last year 13,738,500 cigars. There was some closing down of factories lately, owing to the intervening holiday, followed by a usually short day on Saturday. Since there was no particularly pressing demand for the shipment of goods, manufacturers simply took advantage of the opportunity of reducing stock somewhat more.

Mr. Harry C. Vetterlein, son of Julius Vetterlein, the veteran leaf tobacco packer and dealer, has this week been the recipient of numberless congratulations upon the arrival of a young son. In fact, the felicitations were not only extended to the younger Vetterlein, but the happy grandfather, and the perpetuation of the well-known family of Vetterlein which will be graced by the grandson of the present father of the house.

Theodore Bremer, formerly of the leaf firm of Lewis Bremer's Sons, and father of Harry W. Bremer, the present head of the firm, is still ill. At present he is at Atlantic City, and it is hoped that the balmy air of the shore will speedily bring about a recovery of good health.

The local retail trade suffered somewhat the past week by the very cold spell which prevented the opening of doors. The Easter trade usually is catered to with some special attractions, but in this regard there were but few special decorations that we noticed during the past week. One of those was the always beautiful displays in the show windows of A. Valentin, at Nineteenth and Ridge avenue, and they were this year again particularly handsome. Downtown stores had a passably good business, but not quite what was expected might be the result.

A special meeting of the Tariff Committee of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade was held on Monday afternoon at the office of Felix Eckerson. This committee consists of Messrs. Julius Vetterlein, Felix Eckerson, John R. Young, E. A. Calves and George Burghard. The committee is preparing matters on behalf of the local Board, which will in due time be presented at Washington. It is evident from the general attitude of the trade here that the Tariff bill in its present state is anything but satisfactory, and efforts will be made to bring about some desired and deserved changes.

The El Draco Cigar Mfg. Co. has made some local changes, and have also secured the services of J. H. Shaw, Jr., who is well known in the local trade by his former connection with E. G. Steane & Co., of this city. The firm has for some time catered largely to the club trade of this city, and was encouragingly successful, but with Mr. Shaw's connection that trade has already begun to show a decided further increase. Changes have also been made in the appearances of their packages, which have considerably improved.

Everybody's Cigar Store, at Ninth and Filbert streets, which was opened to the public a little more than a week ago, has started out most auspiciously, and the business thus far done has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of Mr. Gustav Hoch, the proprietor of the new establishment. The store is under the personal attendance of Mr. Frew Hoch, who is a past master in the art of window dressing, and who is already exemplifying his handicraft with several exquisite exhibits.

Jacob Labe, of B. Labe & Sons, is making preparations to leave for Amsterdam during the latter part of this month to attend some of the Sumatra Inscriptions. He may be accompanied on his trip across the big pond by Adolph Loeb, of K. Strauss & Co.

C. W. Saunders, of the Cortex Cigar Co., has been on a visit to the customers of the firm in this city recently, and reports a fair trade here.

John T. Dee, of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Co., is at present on the Pacific coast. Mr. Kolb, president of the company, is at his desk, and in the absence of Mr. J. A. Rigby, who is at Mansfield, O., Mr. Kolb is keeping the office routine in elegant shape with the aid of the large force of assistants, which the firm requires for the handling of the immense volume of business being done.

Morris D. Neuman, of M. D. Neuman & Co., has returned from a western business trip, upon which he met with substantial encouragement in the way of some large sized orders for his firm's products.

A. E. Wallick, representing the lithographic house of Heywood, Strasser & Voight Litho. Co., New York, is this week looking after the interests of his firm in this city, where an extensive clientele is being built up.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT LANCASTER.

Bitner Tobacco Warehouse and Contents Entirely Destroyed.

Lancaster, Pa., April 12.

The leaf tobacco warehouse of C. W. Bitner & Co., on Harrisburg avenue, was destroyed by fire on Friday evening last, together with its entire contents of something like 1400 cases of leaf tobacco. The estimated value of the tobacco is $90,000, but it is believed to be fully covered by insurance.

A portion of the building is occupied by the Shirk Leaf Tobacco Co., who also suffered damage by smoke and water.

This is the largest fire loss in the tobacco trade since the destruction of the S. R. Moss plant a couple of years ago.

PAYNE BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Strikes a Solar Plexus to the Tobacco Industry. Increased Tax on All Little Cigars, and 70 Cents Duty on Filler Tobacco. Proposed Philippine Measure Still Stands. The Anti-Coupon Clause Stricken Out.

Washington, D. C., April 9.

The Payne tariff bill was passed by the House on Friday last, and the measure not only carries with it the increased tax on cigarettes, which was incorporated with the bill with great deliberation, and a higher rate of $1 per thousand on little cigars. At the eleventh hour the duty on unstemmed filler tobaccos was changed from 35 cents a pound to 70 cents a pound; stemmed filler tobaccos was changed from 50 cents a pound to $1.00.

The former anti-coupon clause was stricken off entirely, and provisions were made so as to allow farmers to sell their cured tobaccos locally without paying six cents a pound tax.

The Philippine clause of the bill remains unchanged and by it will be admitted practically the entire present production of these islands free of duty. Reciprocally, all products of the United States are granted free admission into the Philippines. This would mean that tobacco from the United States can be sent to the Philippines free of duty and there used in combination with Philippine tobacco, manufactured into cigars and brought into this country again without the payment of one cent of import duty. Some American-grown tobacco has already been used in test in the Philippines, with a view of determining its utility, and that fact now becomes all the more significant.

The Payne tariff bill as it stands now is upon the whole the most adverse measure that has ever been fostered upon the tobacco industry of this country. The only hope which now remains is in the probable action of the Senate, which body is making active preparations to take the matter up.

FEARON CIGAR BANDING MACHINE.

The announcement appearing on another page of this issue is bound to attract the attention of the entire cigar trade, which is much interested in the subject of cigar banding, and especially so since it is now possible to do away with the old system of banding by hand, which was always a tedious work, as well as rather costly.

This machine is the result of years of study and experiment by James F. Fearon, an expert mechanic and engineer, and by Thomas E. Fearon, a cigar manufacturer. It represents the highest mechanical skill combined with a thorough knowledge of the needs of the cigar manufacturer, and of what the machine will be expected to do. It is therefore thoroughly practical.

The following is a short cathecism of the almost innumerable points of advantage and utility in the use of the Fearon Cigar Banding Machine, and they should be carefully read and thought over by every cigar manufacturer:

What It Does.

Bands any kind, shape or size cigar.

Puts on any style, shape or size band.

Puts the band on any part of the cigar.

Does the work more accurately than it can be done by hand.

Does not rough the wrapper in any way.

Bands cannot become gummed to the cigar.

Does the work of a number of hands.

How Used.

Can be operated by hand or by steam or electricity. Can be easily run by any one. Takes up the room of an average typewriter—ten inches by ten inches. Is small enough to go on any packer's table and not be in the way. Can be moved from one packer's table to another, thereby following the work, instead of bringing the work to the machine. Does away with much of the handling of cigars necessary in banding by hand. Saves floor space so valuable in factories.

Its Cost and Saving.

All machines leased, none sold.

Rental so low it practically wipes out the labor cost of banding.

By using this machine you can afford to band every cigar you make.

Delayed shipments are often caused by slow work in banding.

Delayed shipments mean that some one else's goods are being sold in place of yours.

One telegram explaining a delayed shipment often costs more than the price of the machine for one day.

Advantages of Banding.

Every cigar you make should be banded if you want it to look at its best.

Banding cigars prevents the sale of any goods but your own out of YOUR box.

Any dealer can easily sell an inferior brand out of your box if you don't band your goods.

The greater the demand for your brand, the more reason why you should protect not only the brand, but the smoker also, as he creates the demand for your brand.

Goods well presented are one-half sold. Bands will do this for you.

Remember banding protects your standard brands and helps sell all brands.

With this machine you can afford to band even the cheapest cigars.

It will save you many times its cost in actual expenses of banding.

You cannot afford to be without it.

Any further information that may be desired can be obtained for the asking by addressing the Fearon Cigar Banding Machine Co., 1026-28 Filbert Street, Philadelphia.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton, Wis., April 9, 1909.—The dullness in the market still continues and is liable to remain so for some time to come. Not only is the buying nearly closed for the season, but the movement in old goods is at a standstill. Manufacturers and jobbers are calling for but little of the cured goods as yet. It is currently reported that John Soutman, of Janesville, has sold about 500 cases of '06 and '07, and one or two small deals are about ready to be closed in this city.

Warehouse handling is nearing the end, as next week will see some of the largest houses closed for the season.

The warm spell the past few days induced a few growers to prepare the beds, but the wiser ones will wait for settled weather.

The shipments out of storage reach 716 cases and six carloads of bundle goods the past week. Since last report 21 carloads have been received.—Reporter.

Janesville, Wis., April 9, 1909.—Sitting tight and trying to appear as if they enjoyed the present season of tranquillity in the tobacco market seems to be the role assigned to the Janesville tobacco dealers. Most of them are well along with their warehouse handling and are waiting for the buying season to open if for no other reason than to break the monotony. As far as can be learned, the greater number of the dealers have bought all the '08 leaf they intend to handle, and with few exceptions have finished sizing. J. Donahue has put a force to work sizing, while T. E. Welsh has laid off his hands. Green & Son shipped ten carloads of 1906 leaf East this week. There are no sales of any kind reported, though it seems to be the general impression that several large deals are being considered but are not far enough advanced to warrant any particulars.—Gazette.

OHIO.

Arcanum, Ohio.—The tobacco raisers through this immediate section have been very fortunate in disposing of their tobacco crops at good prices, while our neighbors, both North and South of us, are mostly without buyers for their crops. The outlook for higher prices is not flattering. In fact, the tendency is lower. Two Greenville firms started buyers this week, offering eight cents for Spanish, and claim to be meeting with some success. At Greenville the buying has been confined to a few spots.—Enterprise.

Miamisburg, Ohio.—The local tobacco buyers have commenced to get busy. It has been a dull winter for the average buyer, but signs of activity are now visible, and several well-known buyers have commenced to circulate among the farmers and "take notice" of crops. All of which is hoped to indicate a speedy purchase of the 1908 crop in this vicinity at a fair price, as all lines of trade are benefited by a general movement of the tobacco crop. —News.

Many Attractive Easter Displays Made by the Cigar and Tobacco Trade at "The Hub of the Universe."

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street.

Boston, April 12.

Numerous Easter displays were in evidence all week. The American Tobacco Co. had a number of Helmar cigarette displays around town. Kid Nichols had Window Dresser Battle busy all week making attractive displays. Among the best I've seen in some time are the displays of Phillip Morris cigarettes to be seen this week at Pillsbury & Co.'s on Boylston street, and the one at Klein's Washington street store.

The American Tobacco Co. is packing certificates in each carton of their cigarettes. Two certificates from any of the Turkish goods with one from any of the 5c. goods are redeemable by the company for 25 cents in cash.

United States revenue officers have been visiting many of our cigar stores of late looking for violations of the law, and in many cases the storekeepers have been fined. Storekeepers would do well to see that the box covers of cigars in their cases are properly attached to the original box, also that their plug tobaccos are in the right boxes.

Many of our shopkeepers in South Boston were arrested last week for selling cigarettes and tobaccos to minors. In each case a fine was imposed on the offender.

Goldsmith, Silver & Co. are doing considerable advertising here on their M. C. A. 10c. cigar.

Jack Warsaw, the comedian salesman of the Khedivial Co. reports having had a good week's business on Oxfords packed in the new style tin packages. There is no more clever salesman here than Jack, who sometimes has to resort to doing a song and dance or springing some kind of new joke in order to land an order. However, he is always on the job. You can't do me noddings. I said "Scuse me."

Charlie Winterberg, of A. Montevierno & Co., manufacturers of the well-known El Rayo clear Havana cigar, spent several days this week calling on The Hub trade.

Benny Silverstein, formerly owner of a cigar stand on Adams square, has just purchased the new cigar store recently opened at 37 North street in the market district. Mr. Silverstein knows the cigar business from A to Z, and no doubt will soon give a good account of himself.

Charlie Bernhardt (Shinasi Bros.) has returned from New York, having recovered from his recent illness. On his way here Charlie stopped off at Springfield and made a very attractive window display at Barnett & Co.'s store there. In fact, the display was such a clever one that Charlie took several photos of it, which he shows with pride to many of his Boston friends.

C. R. Lovell, of the C. R. Lovell Cigar Co., New York, was here this week calling on his many friends in the trade with an up-to-date line of cigars, and reports having done a satisfactory business.

A. Leroy Myers, the Boston representative of the popular Melachrino cigarette, has removed his office from 31 Central square to 28 School street. Mr. Myers, since he took hold of this account, has made a very good showing in the Eastern market. The Melachrino brand is well placed and duplicating nicely.

I. Dane, the Boston wholesaler, was in New York for a few days this week.

Many alterations are taking place at Alfowich Bros.', 212 Hanover street. A complete new show front is being put in, and when same is ready this store will be one of the finest on Hanover street, and will be better known as "The big store with the little proprietors."

H. Y. Folette & Co., State street cigarists, are meeting with much success with the E. G. Perez & Co. line of genuine Porto Rican cigars. Folette & Co. are the distributers here of the Dianita and La Solera brands.

I. Teitelbaum, of the E. Trenhaft Cigar Co., Cleveland, O., was here last Monday calling on a few of our large jobbing houses with a nice line of union made cigars. His leading brand, Telling, is a big seller all through the Western country.

A new business partnership has been formed between Albert Rollman, who has been in the employ of Louis Jeselsohn for several years, and Simon Nathan, who at present conducts a cigar store at 55 Court street. The new firm has rented the store at 493 Tremont street and will conduct a wholesale and retail business at this address under the title Liberty Tobacco Co. Mr. Rollman is a young, progressive fellow who has made many friends in the trade, and they all wish him the best of luck in his latest undertaking.

R. D. Carnes, the genial Eastern representative of the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co., has just returned from a very successful trip in Western Massachusetts. The Lynnhaven cigarette is gaining much headway here, irrespective of the many deals put on similar brands made by other manufacturers.

Julius O. Cohen, proprietor of the Bowdoin Square Cigar Emporium, reports that the March business at his store was more than anticipated. In fact, trade is coming along nicely for Julius, who, reports state, is about to kidnap a lady bookkeeper from one of our wholesale tobacco stores and whom he intends to use as side partner during the balance of his life.

Sam Marcuson (Turco Am. Tob. Co.) has returned from his trip through York State. Mr. Marcuson will spend the next few weeks around Boston doing some tall hustling with his Astron, a 15c. package of high grade cigarettes made up in gold, plain straw and cork tip.

Ben Ali.

Villa & Alverez Cigar Co. will engage in the manufacture of cigars here.

GETTING ANXIOUS AT LANCASTER.

Inquiring as to the Location of Stocks, But Not Anxious Enough to Buy Much When Stscks are Produced.

Lancaster, Pa., April 12.

The only noticeable increase in the leaf tobacco trade of this city during the past week was in inquiries received. These would seem to indicate that the trade is getting somewhat anxious about the supply of raw material, but yet they seem to also hesitate about laying in additional stocks at present. This is probably due, in a large measure, to the uncertainty of the final result of tariff revision. As a result of the lethargic condition the sales for the past week have been exceptionally small and also few in number.

It was pointed out in this correspondence a short time ago that it was quite likely that the cigar output for the month of March would probably prove somewhat of a surprise, and so it happens to be. The figures given out by the Collector of Internal Revenue show that there was a very wholesome gain during the month of March, both in comparison with the previous month as well as with the month of March a year ago.

The output of cigars during the month of March in this district amounted to 58,196,200. During the month of February the output was 52,433,300. This was a gain of 5,763,000.

The comparison of the output of March, 1908, and March, 1909, shows a gain of 5,935,900. As was intimated might be the case the figures proved to be an agreeable surprise to the entire trade, for during the major portion of the month there seemed to be exceeding dullness, and it is very evident that the manufacturers in this immediate vicinity did not contribute very materially to the increase, but that it was really the production from other sections that made the comparatively good showing.

Speaking of the uncertainty of the result of the tariff revision provisions as they may be finally passed, reminds us that there was considerable agitation lately with the then proposed provisions, and now all those aspects have been again changed, by the imposition of a duty of 70 cents a pound on filler tobacco and the old duty on wrapper leaf, and yet the original provisions of the entry of certain quantities of Philippine tobacco free, as well as certain quantities of cigars, remains unchanged.

Farmers are making preparations for the 1909 season of tobacco culture. If the weather conditions prove favorable there is likely to be an early planting season this year, and it is altogether likely that the acreage will be somewhat greater than it was in 1908, if the average price received during the past year or two is any inducement at all.

The packing of the 1908 crops has progressed very well, and the major por-

PLEA FOR PHILIPPINES.

President Taft Sends Special Message to Congress.

Washington, D. C., April 15.

The President to-day sent to Congress a special message in relation to the Philippine tariff. This message transmits recommendations by the Secretary of War for a revision of the Philippine tariff, so as to permit as much customs revenue as possible for the islands, and at the same time to extend to the islands the principle of a protective tariff for its industries.

Under the conditions which will arise from the enacting of the tariff bill pending in Congress, which provides under certain conditions for free trade between the Philippines and the United States, the revenues of the islands will be considerably affected.

The propoesd amendments to the bill are to interfere as little as possible with these free trade conditions and at the same time permit collection of ample revenue.

The Message.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

"I transmit herewith a communication from the Secretary of War, inclosing one from the chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, in which is transmitted a proposed tariff revision law for the Philippine Islands.

"This measure revises the present Philippine tariff, simplifies it and makes it conform as nearly as possible to the regulations of the customs laws of the United States, especially with respect to packing and packages. The present Philippine regulations have been cumbersome and difficult for American merchants and exporters to comply with.

"Its purpose is to meet the new conditions that will arise under the section of the pending United States tariff bill, which provides for certain limitations for free trade between the United States and the islands. It is drawn with a view to preserving the islands as much customs and revenue as possible and to protect in a reasonable measure those industries which now exist in the islands.

"The bill now transmitted has been drawn by a board of tariff experts, of which the Insular Collector of Customs, Colonel George R. Colton, was the president.

"The board held a great many open meetings in Manila and conferred fully with representatives of all business interests in the Philippine Islands. It is of great importance to the welfare of the islands that the bill should be passed the same time with the pending Payne bill, with special reference to the provisions of which is was prepared.

"I respectfully recommend that this bill be enacted at the present session of Congress as one incidental and required by the passage of the Payne bill. "WILLIAM H. TAFT.

"The White House, April 14, 1909."

Secretary of War Dickinson in forwarding the papers to the President says:

"I have not had time to examine the bill in detail and have not sufficient acquaintance with the subject to say whether or not it is what it should be, but General Edwards, who is familiar with the matter, recommends it and I have no doubt that with your own familiarity with the subject you will be able to dispose of it."

The letter of General Edwards, dated April 1 and addressed to Secretary Dickinson, describes the measure and its purposes in much the same language as President Taft.

REVENUE PROSECUTION.

Bondsman Alleged to Have Made False Statement.

Lancaster, Pa., April 16.

Abram Hess, of Millway, has been prosecuted before United tSates Commissioner Howard Lowell by internal revenue authorities on a charge of perjury and falsely executing a bond. Hess became security on a bond of Aaron Hackman, of Akron, a cigar manufacturer. In this bond he swore that he was the owner of property, and it is alleged that his statement is false. He has waived a hearing and gave bail for his appearance in the United States Court at Philadelphia. Hess was arrested by United States Marshal Thomas, of Philadelphia.

REGIE WANTS PROTECTION.

Italian Tobacco Monopoly Seeks Protection Against Night Riders.

Washington, D. C., April 17.

The diplomatic correspondence of the State Department in 1906, made public to-day, shows that the Italian Government was buying yearly, in Kentucky and Tennessee, about 34,000,000 pounds of tobacco for the needs of the tobacco monopoly.

It was in connection with these purchases that the Italian Ambassador at Washington made a formal protest at the State Department for security against the depredations o night "riders."

In replying to the Ambassador's representations, Secretary Root suggested that the Italian Government was purchasing the tobacco in its private capacity rather than as a sovereign.

"In such a case the Italian Government," said Mr. Root, "might seek redress in our Court of justice, because it is a settled law of this country that Courts of justice are open to sovereigns upon the same terms as to private individuals for the protection of property rights."

RECORD TOBACCO SALES.

Raleigh, N. C., April 16.—Reports of leaf tobacco warehousemen to the State Commissioner of Agriculture regarding last year's tobacco crop show the record-breaking sales of 139,500,000 pounds, against only 108,000,000 for the previous year.

BALTIMORE LEAF MEN OPPOSE

The Philippine Section of the Tariff Bill. Say the Free Admission of Eastern Tobacco Will Affect the Trade.

Local tobacco merchants are considerably agitated over the passage of a section of the Payne Tariff bill allowing a great quantity of cigars and tobacco to enter this country from the Philippine Islands free of duty. The bill, which, they say, passed the House, was a great surprise to local tobacco dealers and to merchants throughout the country. Not only will an immense amount of Philippine tobacco be admitted free, but it is said that the duty on Havana fillers will be raised from 28 cents a pound to 56 cents a pound.

Both increasing the duty of Havana tobacco and exempting the Philippine tobacco from duty may work a hardship on all of the tobacco dealers in the country. Baltimore especially may be affected, as this city ranks high among the tobacco markets. The Havana clause will, the merchants say, make a big difference in the price of Havana tobacco, for it will cost the manufacturer much more to make his cigars.

Local dealers seem to agree that the greater part of the burden will fall on the consumers, and that the grade of the cheap cigars especially will be lowered when these new tariff clauses go into effect. As yet the dealers do not seem to understand how far the Payne bill will affect business, but a delegation of local dealers will go to Washington to investigate.

Mr. Gieske, president of the Baltimore National Cigar Leaf Board, said in reference to the bill:

"Although I am not certain what action has been taken in Washington, I received a message from my representative in that city saying that an immense quantity of Philippine tobacco will be admitted free every year and that the tax on Havana tobacco will be doubled. He also said that each year 150,000,000 cigars will be allowed in this country from the islands free of duty, as well as 3,000,000 pounds of filler tobacco and 300,000 pounds of wrapper tobacco. This means that about 3 per cent. of the total amount of tobacco sold in this country will be admitted free from the Philippines.

"Of course, all of the members of the trade are excited over the new bill, and I intend to go to Washington and investigate thoroughly. We hope that no bill will be passed which will injure the tobacco trade of the country at large, or this city."

Pipestone, Minn.—Geo. R. Tousley, manufacturer cigars, sold out to Sam Hirsch. He will remove to Beloit, Wis., where he has purchased a cigar store.

DOINGS AT TAMPA.

Great Increase in Cigar Output During First Three Months of the Year.

Tampa, Fla., April 17.

Increase of the cigar shipments from Tampa the past three months of the current year over the corresponding period of last year amount to almost 13,000,000. The prospect for a heavy shipment the remaining nine months of 1909 is considered excellent and no one doubts that the increase for the year will be at least 20 per cent. and may be 25 per cent.

At this time there are four or five of the largest clear Havana cigar manufacturing concerns of the country contemplating removing their factories to Tampa and these will afford employment to a great many more workers.

The past week has been a notable one in the industry, since it has witnessed the decision of one of the largest cigar manufacturing concerns in the world to remove to Tampa from New York. This busineess is that of E. Refiensburg & Sons, and the business of the concern is in the same class with that of A. Santaella & Co. and the Stachelberg-Esberg-Gunst Company. Also it has witnessed the choosing of a temporary quarters for the company pending the erection of a commodious home for the buiness in Ybor City.

To-day there are many more cigarmakers employed and many more operatives employed in every department of Tampa's premier industry than in a year past. From time to time in the next few weeks many more people will be secured for the carrying on of the great business.

Representatives of Tampa concerns are all over the country and all the factories report their representatives sending in many large orders. The market for Tampa cigars has opened up all over the United States. It is estimated that 10 per cent. more cigars were manufactured the past week in the city than were turned out during any previous week of the year.

With the securing of the Regensburg factory for Tampa the weekly payroll will be greatly increased through the continuous emplyment of several hundred more cigarmakers.

Negotiations are on at this time for the locating of other concerns and it is reasonably certain that other large manufacturers will come here from New York within the next few months.

Regensburg & Sons expect to have a large force at work within the next fortnight at the old A. B. Ballard factory in Ybor. Laureano Torres, of the Castaneda factory in Havana, will be the factory manager for Regensburg here. He is accounted one of the most expert cigar men in the business.

Export Stamp Issued by Cuban Independent Cigar Manufacturers

Authorized by the Government of the Republic of Cuba

Either the name of the Manufacturer or that of his Brand will appear printed in the blank space of this Precinta or Stamp.

...IMPORTANT NOTICE...

The above Precinta, or Warranty Stamp, is only used by the members of the Cigar and Cigarette Manufacturers' Union of the Island of Cuba as a guarantee that Cigars, Cigarettes and Cut Tobacco packages which bear these Stamps were made in Cuba by such Independent Manufacturers belonging to the Union.

BE IT KNOWN: That said Guarantee Label only the manufacturers belonging to the Manufacturers' Union have the right to use and to attach on all cigar boxes and other packages of their goods.

COLORS OF THE PRECINTA: Black with pale blue ground; fac simile of the seal of the Presidency of the Republic: dark blue.

There is also a strong probability of A. Guidalia & Sons locating in Tampa. J. Guidalia has gone to New York in connection with this matter. This concern manufactures a great number of cigars and employs a large force of operatives.

Jose Suarez, a large leaf broker of Havana, who purchases the tobacco for Rengensburg & Sons, has been in the city several days. He left the past week for Havana after visiting the various factories of Tampa and declared himself much impressed with conditions and satisfied the shipments from Tampa this year will continue to increase in large numbers.

That the big cigar business done by Samuel I. Davis & Co. has greatly outgrown their El Sidelo factory in West Tampa is the statement of a member of that firm who has been in the city for several weeks. The Davis Company has been experiencing excellent orders and now has 500 men at work. More are needed and the problem is where to put them. It is probable that another factory will be rented for a time and that in the fall an entirely new factory will be erected by the company in addition to the one they now operate.

THE MARSH STOGIES.

An Important Wheeling Establishment that Has an Enviable Record.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 15.

Wheeling is known the world over as a great stogie centre.

Right near the heart of the great tobacco-growing district, it has superior advantages for the manufacture of this popular cigar.

Beginning in the early days of river transportation the Wheeling stogie and the toby became popular. They have grown more and more in favor ever since.

Mifflin Marsh, founder of the extensive business and great establishment of M. Marsh & Son, was the originator of the old Wheeling stogie. To his practical ability, his wonderful resources as a manufacturer and his keen foresight the business grew from that of a small beginning to one of remarkable and wonderful proportions.

Even in those early days, through his sagacious enterprise, the Wheeling stogie for flavor, quality and excellence attained a reputation throughout the land and has always held its popularity, until to-day it is in greater demand than any other cigar manufactured. The original business was established in 1840. In 1869 W. M. Marsh was taken in as a partner, and at the death of his father, Mifflin Marsh, in 1901, the present firm of M. Marsh & Son was incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, with W. M. Marsh president and J. H. Gollner secretary-treasurer and general manager. Mr. W. M. Marsh is a practical cigarmaker and tobacconist, and Mr. Gollner has been associated with the business since early boyhood and has familiarized himself with all its details. It has been through their personal energies that the business has been brought to the gigantic proportions it now enjoys, and the concern stands foremost without a peer in the stogie business. The company are manufacturers of the world widely-known Old Reliable Stogies that are made of the same excellent grade of tobacco as they were made of 69 years ago. Their Little Havanas have been made for more than 40 years and continue popular. It is an old reliable seed stogie that is unequaled for flavor and strength. About three years ago Marsh's Big Havana was introduced and made a wonderful hit. It is today the leading stogie in the country and has a constant and growing demand. It is the best 2 for 5 stogie manufactured, retailing at $1.10 per box of fifty. The output of the concern is 30,000,000 stogies annually and the firm increased their business last year $83,000 over 1907, in the face of a season of financial stringency and business depression in other lines. The outlook for this year is beyond calculation. It is quality that counts. It was quality that made the demand for Marsh Old Reliable Stogies and their Big Havanas. The comapny has two immense plants. They opened last year a new factory for the exclusive manufacture of Big Havanas, one of the most modern in the country.

Little Business Doing in Havana Leaf Market.

Scarcity of Buyers, Poor Selections of Leaf, and Church Holidays Form a Combination to Restrict Trade. Good Grades 1907 Vuelta Abajo Coming into Demand. Late General Rains Expected to Aid Packers. Gossip of Factories and Warehouses.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, April 12.

Owing to three causes—absence of buyers, poor selections of leaf and the just passed Holy Week—not much could be expected so far as transactions in our leaf market were concerned. The third cause, however, would have been the least obstacle to overcome, provided there had been many buyers in town and a large stock of goods and suitable vegas at reasonable prices, as during the busy season most leaf warehouses are open on Sunday mornings and many trades are closed.

That, owing to the scarcity of fine tobacco of the 1908 crop, there would spring up a demand for the good Vuelta Abajo of the 1907 crop I have intimated before, and now one of our principal holders of this style of leaf reports that he has disposed of 1000 bales during the past week to Northern buyers and to local manufacturers. While this leaf had grown under favorable weather conditions, the chief fault, however, was caused by the farmers and packers not giving the raw tobacco enough "pilan," as with a sufficiently long fermentation process in the piles the tobacco would have lost its raw taste and rank flavor. Through the prolonged curing process in the bales this tobacco has become more mellow, and would make a good mixer with lighter sorts.

As per last week's reports, rains have fallen in sufficient quantity in the Pinar del Rio province, thus enabling the farmers to take down the dried tobacco leaves from the poles, make them into "matules" and throw the latter into piles. If the weather continues humid the packing can begin next month and there will be some new Vuelta Abajo in our market before the end of May. Havana province has not been favored with enough rain yet, but as it did pour down in the city of Havana in the night between Saturday to Sunday, it is likely that the first operations may also commence this week. From the Santa Clara province eight bales of the new crop arrived here eight days ago, which were sold at once to a German exporter, and more small shipments of the temprano leaf are expected here this week. The regular packing season is, however, not expected to begin until the month of June, as the heavy portion will need at least 40 days of fermentation in the piles. It is said that the crop will be larger and generally good in quality, but this ought to be taken with a grain of salt, as it remains to be seen how the tobacco will cure in the piles, as well as in the bales later on. Some sales are reported to have been made at from $7 to $10 per quintal for the green tobacco, but how this will figure out is a conundrum to be solved later on, as it will depend upon the percentage of classes in the final yield. All the low grades for export to Germany and Spain will have to be figured very low this year, and as the cost of making a bale has risen to $16, including freight to Havana, the cost of the first and second capaduras for the United States may not be much lower than last year.

SALES

during the past week amounted to 2633 bales, consisting of 933 Vuelta Abajo, 75 Partido and 1625 Remedios. American buyers purchased 658 bales, exporters for Europe took 1825, and local consumers 150.

HAVANA CIGAR FACTORIES

report no change from the previous situation. Orders are arriving from the United States in better quantities, but the English market is dull, the demand from France is good, German is quiet, owing to the still unsettled tariff question, and the other countries are holding their own. Most factories closed down from Thursday to Saturday, inclusive; a few kept open on Thursday and Saturday, while on Good Friday only five or six factories worked.

H. Upmann & Co. only exported 300,000 cigars during the past week, but this was caused by the Holy Week shutting down of the factories. The H. Upmann factory followed the traditional Spanish custom of closing from Wednesday night to Monday morning. Their banking house kept open until noon on Thursday and then shut down, opening again on Saturday morning. Alll our banks and bankers did likewise.

Sol had some urgent orders to execute, and therefore worked Thursday and Saturday in order to give the cigar exporters a chance to clear their goods. The Ward liner Saratoga received freight until 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, instead of 10 o'clock A. M., as usual. Max Schatz is the sole representative of the Sol factory for the United States, while Charles Landau & Co. have the control for Canada. The former left with a full line of samples, and being a hustler from the word go, he will doubtless open up new connections for the well-known Sol and Luis Marz brands.

The Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Limited, also shut down its factories Wednesday night and did not open them again until this morning. Don Gustavo Bock is as busy as a beaver, being at work the first in the morning and the last at night.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzales sold 633 bales of leaf tobacco during the past week. Their new warehouse, corner of Industria and Barcelona streets, is progressing, but as there is to be a basement or cellar under a large part the excavation takes more time than they expected, owing to the rock nature of the soil.

E. Boasberg was a buyer of close on to 600 bales of various kinds of tobacco, and left again well pleased with his purchases last week.

Planas & Co. sold 200 bales of Remedios tobacco during the past eight days.

H. Upmann & Co. purchased 1200 bales of leaf for export.

Jose Fernandez will leave for Spain next month for a well-earned vacation. He has been the buyer and packer of the superior Remedios escojidas made by Manuel Menendez Parra for the last 14 years. Don Ladislao Menendez, nephew of Don Manuel will take charge of the packings this year, and as he has been brought up in this business it will be a guarantee to the trade that the same care will be used in buying only the choicest vegas, and that the packings will be as clean and uniform as heretofore.

Heinrich Neuberger shipped nearly 1000 bales to Germany. Don Federico Lederer is expected here on Wednesday next.

J. F. Berndes & Co. were the first buyers of new Remedios last week.

Don Luis Marx has already made 200 bales of his new Partido packing, and as he is working at the rate of 20 to 25 bales per day, he may finish by the end of May. As he has an experienced cigarmaker in his employ, who examines each carat of the different bales and classes, Don Luis is enabled to give a guarantee to the buyer that each bale will produce so many cigars, so any manufacturer using his tobacco will know with absolute surety what each bale will yield, and he can thus make his calculation of the cost of the cigars with certainty. Don Luis expects to take his usual vacation this year when his packing is finished, but he will stay no longer than perhaps a few months, as he is bound to be on deck again when the campaign for the raising of seedlings for the 1910 crop begins.

Yesterday was a great day for Havana society and the number of tourists who are still visiting us, owing to the automobile races at the Hjppodrome. There was a big crowd, over 5000 people being seated in the grandstand and coaches. Don Luis Marx was the victor with his Mercedes automobile in the best race. Some minor accidents happened, but fortunately there was no loss of life.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, April 20.

New York Leaf Market.

The leaf tobacco market during the past week developed little activity, and the volume of business done was, indeed, small. There was, of course, some trading in nearly all varieties of leaf, and a few houses appeared to be doing something, but the majority had no trouble in taking care of all the orders that were received and still have ample time to spare for other purposes. There was some changing of ownership in the 1907 Wisconsin leaf, but even in that type of leaf there was room for great improvement. Filler stocks seem to be getting scarcer nevertheless, and if business opens rightly with the cigar manufacturers there is certain to be needs that must create a lively tone in the leaf market.

The market in Sumatra tobacco was moderately good. New goods continue to be favorably received, and even of the old goods there were sufficient sales to indicate that there will be a market for all the stocks yet remaining on hand.

Some business was done in Havana tobaccos, but there were no noteworthy large single transactions. The aggregate was fairly satisfactory.

The Cigar Industry.

The conditions which existed in the cigar trade for the past week were not quite so good as they were during several weeks previous. Orders really seem to have fallen off somewhat. And yet, there is still a hopeful air that there will soon come a change for the better. Indeed, if it continues at the present rate much longer there will necessarily be a curtailment in the production and that will mean the laying off of cigarmakers, which action the cigar manufacturers have been hoping to avoid.

Leaf Board Meeting.

A meeting of the New York Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade was held at the Board's headquarters, in Maiden Lane, on Tuesday afternoon last, which was the occasion of the annual election of officers. There were also appointed at that meeting the delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, which will convene this year in Baltimore, on Monday, May 10.

The officers' report showed that the New York Board was in elegant shape financially; in fact, the best it has ever been in. Several committee reports made also tended to cheer up the assemblage, the attendance being pretty good.

The following were elected Trustees for the ensuing year: E. A. Kraussman, James Ertheiler, Charles Fox, Ferdinand Cranz, A. Cohn, Joseph F. Cullman, Sr., Benno Neuberger, G. W. Spitzner, Harry S. Rothschild, Sigmund Koenig, F. M. Dolbeer, Jerome Waller, Carl Vogt, Jr., Marco Fleishman and Frank Bach.

The following were elected as delegates to attend the convention in Baltimore: A. Bijur, G. W. Spitzner, Harry S. Rothschild, Marco Fleishman, Leonard Cohn, Sigmund Koenig, Jerome Waller, F. M. Dolbeer, Edmund Smith, James Ertheiler, Cral Wobbe and Aaron J. Bach. The alternates are: Julius Lichtenstein, Allie Sylvester, Joseph E. Hoffman, Morris Rosenberg, Charles Meissner, M. L. Gershel, John W. Merriam, David Goldberg, L. A. Borneman, Julius Marqusee, Jesse Falk and Richard Baum.

There was considerable discussion of the present state of the tariff question, and it was clear that the Philippine provision would meet with stiff opposition from the trade.

Max Mendelsohn & Son and B. Costellano & Co. were elected to membership in the local Board.

A meeting of the Trustees was held immediately after the close of the regular meeting when the Board reorganized for the ensuing year by the election of officers: President, E. A. Kraussman, re-elected; vice-president, James Ertheiler; Treasurer, Ferdinand Cranz, re-elected, and secretary, Charles Fox, re-elected.

Cigarette Manufacturers Will Fight

A movement has been set on foot by the manufacturers of Turkish cigarettes of New York, to fight the provisions of the tariff bill which provide a higher duty on Turkish tobacco, and for this purpose a meeting was held last week at the offices of Philip Morris & Co., Ltd., when preliminary steps were taken to draw up suitable resolutions to present to Congress, and also to obtain a hearing before the proper committee or Senators, in case the latest proposals with reference to the Turkish tobacco tax are allowed to remain in the tariff bill.

This invitation issued for a meeting was almost unanimously responded to and the following houses were represented at the meeting:

M. Melachrino, of M. Melachrino & Co.; M. Stephano, of Stephano Bros.; S. H. Pehlivan and Abe Strauss, of the Imported Tobacco Co.; John W. Surburg, of the Surburg Co.; A. N. Barson, Mr. Drucklieb, Poulides Bros.; Prudential Tobacco Co., Turco-American Tobacco Co.; M. L. Herzog & Co.; F. S. Lucey and Alexander Herbert, of Philip Morris & Co., Ltd. Mr. Lucey acted as chairman of the meeting.

It was the unanimous opinion that a strong protest should be immediately sent to Washington, and it was finally decided to leave the shaping of the protest, as well as the matter of further arrangements for looking after the interests, in the hands of a special committee composed of the following named gentlemen: Messrs. F. S. Lucey, M. Melachrino, Abe Strauss, John W. Surburg, C. Drucklieb and Mr. Bouton, of M. L. Herzog & Co.

Cameron Leaves Waldorf-Astoria.

Charles B. Cameron, for a number of years past vice president of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Co., resigned from his connection with that company last week, but he carried with him the hearty good wishes of all his former associates. As a tribute of the high respect in which Mr. Cameron was held, the executive officers of the company tendered a banquet on Wednesday last at which covers were laid for 21.

The resignation of Mr. Cameron made necessary several changes in the personnel of the company. Merwin J. Bulkley, now secretary of the company, was elected to the position of vice president and Robert E. Vierling was elected secretary to succeed Mr. Bulkley.

The United Company Expanding.

Great activity has been going on at the headquarters of the United Cigar Stores Co. in the last few weeks. Following closely upon the acquisition of the Waldorf-Astoria Co. retail stores, there now comes the announcement that The United Co. are preparing to open one hundred new stores in the city of New York. The campaign, however, is not to be confided alone to New York city, but numerous additional stores are also be opened in large centres, as well as in smaller places, where favorable opportunities would seem to present themselves.

THE CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Opening of Baseball Season Rouses the Boston Retail Trade, and an Improvement is Reported.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World,"
212 Hanover Street.
Boston, April 19.

The base ball season opened here this week at the National grounds, and the "fans" were out in great shape. Many of our retailers in the South end noticed an improvement in business with the opening of the ball season, which is usually the sign that spring has surely arrived.

The retail end of the cigar business is improving nicely as the weather improves. Our local cigar manufacturers are advertising their brands in various ways. H. Frazier & Co. are advertising judiciously their Pippin cigar in our newspapers. The Waitt & Bond Co. also are advertising their "Blackstone" and "Totem" brands.

The certificates now being placed in all the brands of cigarettes made by the A. T. Co., and which are redeemable by the company for cash, are very interesting to our retailers, who are eager to accumulate them. This is a blow to independent-made brands, the manufacturers of which have to come out with some similar proposition before the retailer puts all his energies into pushing only the brands which contain the cash certificates of their powerful rival.

A bon voyage dinner took place Thursday night in the banquet hall of the American House. The guest of honor was Maurice Hanauer, of the wholesale jobbing house of Bieringer Bros. Co., who leaves to-day with his family on a two months' trip to visit his folks in Steinsfurth, Germany. This is the first trip Mr. Hanaeur has made to his old home since he came to this country, when he entered the employ of Louis Jeselsohn, the wholesale tobacconist, with whom he remained until a year or so ago, when he went into partnership with Bieringer Bros. Mr. Hanauer has certainly put in some strenuous work, and his success in life was due to nothing but hard work. The farewell dinner was attended by 23 members of the trade, and from reports it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A sad feature of the affair was that A. Bieringer had a small bone broken in his leg while attempting to see who could kick the highest, but I understand the injury is a slight one and Mr. Bieringer will be able to attend business again in the course of a few days. Among those who attended the banquet were Abr., Leo. and Fred. Bieringer, Ely Levy, manager at L. Jeselsohn's; J. Perlstein, Federal Cigar Co.; W. Judson, Monopol Tob. Co.; Al Bloom, Butler-Butler Co.; C. Chandler, Nestor-Gianacles Co.; Frank Swick, Surbrug Co.; Fred Roseboom, J. J. Bagley & Co.; Sam Marcuson, Turco-Am. Tob. Co.; Charles Abrahams, Erlich & Kopf, and Herman Levine.

After many toasts had been proposed, Mr. Hanauer was presented with a handsome gold watch charm, with a diamond in the center, and on each side were the emblems of the Odd Fellows' and Masonic Orders.

C. W. Saunders, Cortez Cigar Co., was in town last Monday, going the rounds of the trade with Charley Ellis.

John J. Bowes, formerly with J. Whitelaw & Co., is now calling on the local trade in the interest of The Hilson Co., selling Magnums, Chicos and The Corker cigar.

A. S. Bearse & Co., wholesale and retail tobacconists, 12 Green street, have purchased from Goldsmith, Silver & Co., the right and title of their 5c. cigar, Black Hen, and are now the sole owners of the brand. They have started working the local trade, and have engaged the service of George Cawthorne to do the missionary work. Advertising matter will be distributed, and the quality of the cigar will be improved upon.

E. Kleiner, of E. Kleiner & Co., New York, makers of the well-known Lord McCauley seed and Havana cigars, was here this week. Kleiner & Co. report a nice increasing business on their Grand Republic cigarros, a 6 for 10c. package. Valuable coupons are being placed in each package.

J. Burns, representing the Globe Tobacco Co., Detroit, Mich., expects to call on the Boston trade on or about the 21st inst.

J. J. Bagley & Co. have started in a lively campaign on Buckingham cut plug tobacco. A corncob pipe is being given to each purchaser of a 5c package. Charles E. Murray has just been added to the Boston crew of salesmen.

A. F. Geist, 28 Charles street, has sold his cigar and tobacco store to W. Ginsburg, who formerly kept a retail cigar store in East Boston.

The United States Tobacco Co. is now placing with the local trade a new brand of high-grade smoking tobacco called Saratoga Chips. The tobacco is a slice cut plug, packed in an elaborate 4-oz. tin package. Retailers are purchasing trial orders, and many say the tobacco has sold nicely since its introduction.

D. Rosenthal has sold his cigar store, 38 Leverett street, to Herman Bros.

Miss Alice Melhado, a popular South End young lady, and sister of George Melhado, who conducts wholesale tobacco establishment on Washington street, is soon to leave on a six weeks' hunting trip down Maine, and her many friends wish her a very pleasant time while on her vacation.

The New England Cigar and Tobacco Co. is the name of a new concern which has started in the jobbing business here, with headquarters at 1187 Washington street. J. F. O'Neill is treasurer, and S. B. Semerjian manager of the concern.

Ben Ali.

A notice was issued to the trade on April 12 that John E. Turner, formerly sales manager of the Glove Tobacco Co., Detroit, Mich., has been elected general manager and secretary of the Scotten Tobacco Co., also at Detroit.

The New England Tobacco Co., Boston, Mass., to do a general tobacco business, has been incorporated with a capital of $10,000. The officers are as follows: President, Stephen B. Samerjiam, 1185 Washington street, Boston; treasurer, James F. O'Niel, 4 Michigan avenue, Dorchester; clerk, Fred S. Moore, 93 Normandy street, Roxbury, Mass.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The leaf tobacco trade seems to be retrogressing during the past week or two, and one importing and packing firm remarked a day or two ago that it was decidedly worse than it was during the early months of last year. Although cigar manufacturers seem to be doing a little larger volume of business, they were apparently buying less goods this year, and yet it was expected that before this time they would be virtually compelled to lay in additional stocks. This they are not doing, but just how much longer they can hold out is the problem with which the average leaf man is grappling.

Strange, too, that there continue to come steady inquiries for various types of domestic leaf, but sales do not materialize as they should. Even when goods are inspected in local warehouses, the visitor will offer a multitude of excuses for not buying now. The opinion seems to be pretty general among manufacturers that the present dull times in cigar factories is likely to affect the leaf market in such a way that prices will recede somewhat. The leaf men, however, declare that such cannot be the result, for stocks remaining in their hands are not sufficiently large to cause anyone of ordinary financial standing to make any sacrifice by slaughtering the price of goods, and that on the other hand, all the present stocks will surely be needed, if the supply will be sufficient, as soon as the cigar manufacturers find out that the demand for their goods will be steady if not an increase.

Sumatra tobacco has been selling in moderate quantities only in the local market, but no change in price has occurred, nor is it expected that there will be.

In Havana tobaccos the trade demands have been very moderate, and all requirements could be readily supplied. Prices are still firm.

The cigar trade is not as brisk as it might be, and several of the larger factories were closed down for several days during Eastertide. There has been a general resumption, but the output at several factories is limited to moderate quantities per cigarmaker each day. This is no doubt done to prevent a too large stock to be carried on hand. Orders from the more distant points seem to have fallen off somewhat during the past few weeks.

Business with the retailers of this city is also quiet, although during a couple of the exceptionally fine days of last week there was quite a jump in the volume of business. They are buying stock very sparingly and jobbers are complaining of the small orders being given them. In number there is no great difference between their present purchases and those of other years, but the quantities ordered at a time have been greatly reduced, and that is very noticeable to the jobbing houses, which also report that collections are slow.

No definite action has yet been taken by the tariff committee of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, which held a meeting last week to consider the most suitable action with regard to the provisions of the Payne Tariff bill, as amended by Mr. Aldrich and finally adopted by the House. It is proposed, we understand, that the several members of the committee formulate their ideas and reduce them to writing, and when a later meeting is held their respective views will be compared and final action decided upon.

George I. Watson, of the cigar manufacturing firm of Sig. C. Mayer & Co., and also Secretary and Treasurer of the Quaker City Cigar Co., has resigned from active participation in the latter, that he may devote his entire time to the business of his firm, which is growing at such a rapid rate that he could not well devote much of his time to other interests. Mr. Watson, upon his retirement, received high commendation from his former associates in the Quaker City Cigar Co., for his highly efficient services.

Anthony J. Gonfon, proprietor of a cigar store at 2708 Jefferson street, attempted suicide last week, by shooting himself twice in the head with a revolver and cutting both wrists with a pocketknife. He had been drinking heavily of late, and just three weeks ago he was discharged from the House of Correction, but his wife refused to live with him again. It was his marital trouble that is believed to have caused him to commit the act. He was removed to a hospital, but recovery is regarded as doubtful.

H. F. Martin, a cigar manufacturer of York, Pa., was a visitor in this city last week, showing the jobbing trade a new line of his product, with which he met highly encouraging success. Mr. Martin's business has grown quite rapidly since his removal to the enterprising city of York.

Morris Levy, of the American West-Indies Trading Co., was a visitor here recently en route for a four weeks' trip through the South. Mr. Levy spoke encouragingly of the trade in Porto Rico goods, and stated that he had excellent prospects for this year.

Goldsmith & Arndt, local cigar distributers, are making rapid progress on several of their lines. The sales of the El Provedo cigars are rapidly increasing, and operations on the Tom Keene brand have also been extended. Recently A. J. Craig, who was formerly connected with E. G. Steane & Co., become associated with the sales force of Goldsmith & Arndt, and will represent the firm in Pennsylvania, carrying a line of the El Provedo and Tom Keene cigars. The house has added the Lawrence Barrett cigars of Bondy & Lederer, New York, to their line, and a very comprehensive advertising campaign is to be entered upon at once. General sales manager, J. A. Rosenheim, of Goldsmith & Arndt, will add several additional salesmen to the force.

W. W. Kohlberg, traveling for M. Kemper & Sons, of Baltimore, was a visitor in the trade here last week. He was joined on Friday by I. L. Kemper, of the firm.

Joe Perlman, of Perlman Bros. & Co., also of Baltimore, was a visitor here last week.

S. R. Kocher, well-known cigar manufacturer and leaf tobacco packer of Wrightsville, Pa., was among last week's visitors in this city. Mr. Kocher has an old established trade on his product in this city, which he visits regularly.

Rube Ellis, with Melachrino & Co., New York Turkish cigarette manufacturers, was among the trade in this city lately, and Thomas E. Bowen, with Guerra, Diaz & Co., clear Havana cigar manufacturers of Tampa, also shook hands with some of his many friends in this city last week.

The Philadelphia branch of the American Snuff Co. is shipping out more snuff from the local factory than it ever did before. An average of a carload a day is being now maintained by the company. The long store rooms at 224 South Front street are filled with snuff, and the record of shipments shows that the product is going largely to the South, where the use of snuff is the largest.

OPPOSE FREE PHILIPPINE TOBACCO.

Lancaster Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade Adopts Strong Resolution.

Lancaster, Pa., April 19.

At a special meeting of the Lancaster Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, held this day, the following resolution was adopted by unanimous vote:

Whereas, there is now pending before the Senate of the United States a tariff revision measure, Section 5 of which provides for the free entry into the United States of three million (3,000,000) pounds of filler tobacco, three hundred thousand (300,000) pounds of wrappers' tobacco and one hundred and fifty million (150,000,000) cigars free of duty from the Philippines; and,

Whereas, This number of cigars, together with the cigars which will be made from the above amount of tobacco, exceeds the number of cigars manufactured in the Philippines during the year 1907, and is equal to one-fiftieth of all cigars manufactured in the United States during 1907, we believe the passage of this measure would work untold injury to the tobacco growers, tobacco packers, dealers and jobbers, cigar manufacturers, cigar jobberds, bench workers and the many thousands of people who in one way or another make their livelihood out of the tobacco industry; and,

Whereas, The free entry of this number of cigars and this amount of tobacco is equal to one-seventh of all to-

DAMAGES FOR CONSTRAINT.

Night Riders Must Pay for Forcing Tobacco Men Into Pact.

Cincinnati, April 15.

Upon the ground that any person is entitled to damages to the shocks to his feelings caused by an invasion of his personal liberty, Judge Cochran, of the United States District Court of Covington, Ky., instructed the jury to render a verdict for W. S. Henderson, the plaintiff in the famous night-riders' case, to-day.

Under these instructions, Henderson, a former tobacco merchant of Augusta, Ky., now a resident of Cincinnati, will recover damages from 14 residents of Bracken county for an assault upon him committed in Augusta two years ago, during the height of the "night-rider" troubles. He is suing for $25,000 damages.

"The men who formed the party which called on the various buyers in Bracken county, including Henderson, and made them sign an agreement, were acting under a sense of economic wrong," declared the Court.

LANCASTER TRADE SLUGGISH.

The Bitner Fire and the Revenue Stamp Sales in March about the Only Topics Discussed.

Lancaster, Pa., April 19.

There is still general dullness in the leaf trade here. Aside from the talk over the recent disastrous tobacco fire in this city, there was really little interest in the trade. The 1908 crops have been about all packed, and warehouse men are now cleaning up generally, and attending to the wants of local manufacturers who come into this market for a supply of certain goods. Of course that trade goes principally to the jobbing houses, and the larger packers do not share in the business very greatly at this time.

There has been a great deal of comment on the output of cigars during the month of March. It is generally admitted that trade seemed to be dull and that many factories were working on limited production. Therefore it was somewhat of a surprise that the figures showed up as well as they did. It is accounted for by one large manufacturer in this way: That the production during the month was not really as great as the revenue reports show stamp sales for, but that more goods were probably shipped out, and therefore stamps were bought. It matters little whether the revenue figures show the quantity of goods made during the month or whether they indicate to a fair degree the amount of goods stamped, because goods are not generally stamped very long before they are shipped out, and as long as orders in sufficient quantities are received, all will be well.

There is nothing definite known of the origin of the Bitner tobacco fire, and it is still believed to have been of incendiary origin. The total loss will, it is estimated, reach $100,000 or over. Aside from the loss sustained by C. W. Bitner & Co., the Shirk Leaf Tobacco Co. and J. H. Shirk & Co. are also sufferers. A good line of insurance was, however, carried by all, so that the individual losses may not be very great.

C. W. Bitner carries insurance on the contents of his warehouse in the following agencies: John A. Bausman, $12,500; Lancaster Real Estate Company, $22,000; H. R. Breneman, $2500; Herr & Bro., $7500; Howell & Son, $10,000; S. D. Bausman, $7000; Victor Landis, $14,500; total, $70,500. On the building the insurance is: John A. Bausman, $3000, and Cochran & Heinitsh, $5000; total, $8000.

There is a mixture of firms in the Shirk warehouse. One is the Shirk Leaf Tobacco Company and the other J. H. Shirk & Co. It is very difficult to obtain the amount of their insurance, but combined it is about $20,000. Mr. Bitner also had insurance on tobacco of his own in that warehouse for $7500 with A. V. Landis. The warehouse of Mr. Bitner is insured with John A. Bausman for $3000 and Cochran & Heinitsh for $5000. Miss Anna Bitner's warehouse is insured for $3000 with Widmyer & Prangley.

Grove & Co., of Maytown, this county, have been receiving considerable quantities of tobacco from York county. It was secured in the Manchester and East Manchester township districts.

A number of cigarmakers employed at the Kleinfeltersville factory of John H. Witter, of Newmanstown, were laid off last week, owing to a slack demand for goods.

At a special meeting of the Lancaster Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, held to-day, a resolution was adopted strongly protesting against the proposed Tariff measure, which will appear in full elsewhere.

Delegates to attend the annual meeting of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, which convenes in Baltimore on May 10 and 11, were also elected, and are as follows:

Delegates—M. Rosenthal, A. B. Hess, C. Emory Long, M. H. Ranck. Alternates—B. F. Good, S. Siessel, J. H. Hoober, L. Kramer.

Niles & Moser Sell Cigar Stand at Merchants Hotel, Moberly, Mo.

Grant Wells, who has been managing Niles & Moser's cigar stand and pool room since that firm opened in the Merchants' Hotel block, closed the deal yesterday for the purchase of that business and is now sole owner. Mr. Wells will make extensive improvements in the business, which when completed will give him one of the swellest concerns of its kind in interior Missouri.

WAREHOUSE CHANGES OWNERS.

Winston, N. C., April 17.

One-half interest in the Star tobacco warehouse, located on Main street, has been purchased by Messrs. R. B. Horn and J. H. Hill, the consideration being $12,500. These gentlemen have an option on the other half, now owned by Cicero Tise and his sister, Mrs. S. A. Ogburn. The interest purchased belonged to Mrs. Martha Masten, Mrs. C. W. Rawlings and T. H. Tise. The warehouse business will be conducted after this season under the management of Mr. J. H. Hill, who has had many years' experience as a dealer in leaf tobacco. Mr. Horn will continue to devote his time and attention to candy manufacturing.

Messrs. Horn and Hill also have an option on the former Beard place, corner of Main and Sixth streets, and if this deal is consummated the warehouse will probably be enlarged.

KAISER BARS SMOKING.

Army and Navy Officers Must Puff Outside Ballrooms.

Berlin, April 10.

By decree of the worth "$5,000,000 at least," but also that are forbidden to smoke in ballrooms or elesewhere in the presence of ladies in evening dress. Smoking is henceforth to be confined strictly to those apartments set aside for it.

The decree applies wherever officers find themselves in the society of ladies, whether at court or in hotels, restaurants, clubs or private houses. Smoking, too, is prohibited in the courtyards and vestibules of the imperial castle.

While the officers may not smoke, no such restrictions apply to ladies, who may enjoy their cigarettes anywhere they please. Smoking by women is becoming commoner each season at German social functions, as well as in public places.

Milwaukee, Wis.—J. W. Spence & Co., cigars, etc., sold out to The Caswell Supply Co., Hugh Sharp, manager.

CIGARS WEST OF WINNIPEG.

Men Who Can Make Good Smokes are Needed in that Section.

"I want to place myself on record as saying that a good cigar cannot be purchased west of Winnipeg for less than 15 cents," says a writer in the Bookkeeper, "and then, to be entirely candid in the matter, they're so rank that our ordinary five-cent brands smoke like choice Havanas in comparison.

"There is room for 500 good cigarmakers in the three provinces, and there is room for as many more in other parts of the Dominion; but I recommend only the West, where any man who can make a good cigar to sell for 10 cents will be independent within a few years.

"Medicine Hat was the only Western town in which I found first-class cigars. An American from Chicago made the cigars. He sold them for five cents each, and thousands were smoked every week. The man was making a fortune.

"Cigars are a good illustration of ordinary business methods now in vogue. You pay five cents for a certain cigar in Toronto. At Moose Jaw you pay 10 cents for the same cigar and at Calgary it costs you 15. If you object the prairie business man grins and says, Well, this isn't Toronto.' One of them said candidly to me, 'Why, sure, we make 11 cents profit on that cigar. They get a quarter for it in Alaska.'

"Western Canada isn't Alaska. It is a network of railroads. Its freight rates, while high, are getting steadily cheaper. The business methods in the majority of towns might well be representative of those 1000 miles nearer to the dome of the earth.

"If an army of 10,000 American business men, manufacturers and promoters should invade the Dominion West to-morrow they would do more toward the development than 1,000,000 immigrants. No three regions in the world are more prosperous than Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba. Banner crops have made the farmers independent, and each succeeding crop adds to the honey which the American business bee has not seen fit to touch."

CIGARETTE LAW ADOPTED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 14.

Governor Johnson to-day signed the anti-cigarette bill, which makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture, sell or give away cigarettes or cigarette papers.

The bill exempts jobbers who do an interstate business. It will become effective on August 1.

WITH THE TRADE IN MILWAUKEE.

What is Being Done by Tobacco Men in the Busy Western City.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.

Fay Lewis & Bro. Co. have made a bid of $12,000 for the bankrupt I. M. Leaderer stock. D. C. Green, trustee, has notified the creditors that unless a larger bid is received before April 26th, the stock will be sold to them. It is learned that Steve Surman made a bid direct to the interested creditors, I. M. Leaderer also made a bid and Best & Russell, of Chicago, are understood to have bid on the stock through Mr. Paulson, of their sales force. There is a possibility of a higher bid being made by a local west side dealer who, it is said, is anxious to get an east side store.

Among the Abraham stores trade is good. Joe Leisser, formerly of the Caswell store, has been transferred to the Majestic Building, and Norman Epstein succeeds him at the former stand.

Joe Feiger has returned from Minneapolis, and will assume the management of the Abraham stores.

Leo Abraham has incorporated his confectionery business as the Sweet Shop, and Frank Abraham will be manager.

Fay Lewis & Bro. Co. report a good trade at both stores, sales are increasing at the Fifth street store. They have a display of Savaronas at the Pabst Building store this week.

Charles Engel, in charge of the Lederer store, has a neat display of Farraguts of Y. Pendez & Alvarez, and La Mutas of the Phil Verplane factory.

Steve Surman & Co. report a good business. An attractive display of the La Magnitas (Waldorf-Astoria) adorns their windows.

Hendee intends to make a big noise to have a swinging door placed at the rear of his stand, leading into the Baltimore Lunch Room. If he succeeds it will be increased sales considerably. Charles J. Esch is now in charge of the store. Among the manufacturers trade seems to be increasing.

J. & E. Kerns are busy making National Fads, which the Beerbaum Company are placing, and which are now being handled in the eating houses of the C. & N. W. Ry.

B. Fernandez & Bro. (Mi Carmen), Edward Kalman (Mi Vera), Louis Kindling Co. (Alcazar) are all doing a good business.

A novel and realistic window display, the creation of Charles M. Silver, adorned the Third street window of Leo Abraham's store. It represented a box car, the door being open showing a consignment of Dan Sully's to the Abraham stores. A tramp lounged in the doorway smoking some of the stock and evidently enjoying them.

Many passersby stopped and commented on the display, which was the first of its kind in the city.

A new arrival in the cigar fraternity of the city is John Schmidt, formerly of Jefferson, Wisconsin., who has opened a cigar factory here.

Albert Gritt, a new recruit, takes to the business quite well at Sam Bach's Grove street store.

Allen & Langemo are doing a good business at the Norman Building store.

THE CANADIAN MATCH TRADE.

Local Manufacturers Supply Both Home and Fore gn Mar ets.

Recognizing the fact that American matches are shut out of the Canadian market, Consul General John Edward Jones, of Winnipeg, advises that trade opportunities are still offered to manufacturers of the United States in the supplying of match-making machinery and other equipment; also in furnishing raw materials (other than wood), as sulphur, phosphorus, paraffine and the cotton material which forms the core of the wax match. His report upon the establishment of a match factory at Selkirk, Manitoba, and on this Canadian industry in general will be of interest:

Manitoba, and more especially Winnipeg, its metropolis and controlling business centre, has not as yet reached the manufacturing period in the course of its industrial development. Lumber, bricks and other articles, which might be denominated "first aid to the settlers," are amply produced. Even large quantities of lumber are exported from the eastern part of this province, but varied manufactures exist only in the experimental stage, quite limited in numbers. The announcement, therefore, that a $40,000 stock company is establishing a match factory at Selkirk has been received with great approbation throughout the province. Winnipeg will give encouragement to the enterprise by providing trade and market facilities for the product. The plant when completed will have a capacity of 50 10-gross cases per day, and will employ about 60 hands. It is expected the factory will be in full operation in March. All classes of matches which the trade demands will be manufactured.

Abundant Materials—Export Trade.

Selkirk is on the west bank of the Red River, 22 miles north of Winnipeg, at the head of deep-water navigation from Lake Winnipeg. It is a midway station on the Lake Winnipeg branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and is the terminus of the best suburban electric line running out of Winnipeg, with facilities for carrying freight. It is in the midst of an extensive district covered by a thick growth of native poplar.

The sawmills in the forests which occupy the shores and islands of Lake Winnipeg produce enough slabs, which the lake renders easy of transportation. Native poplar is abundant and cheap. At the end of winter the Indians of the reservation come to Selkirk with great trains of ox teams, drawing sleds loaded with poplar wood which sells for $2 to $2.50 per cord delivered. During these few weeks the residents lay in their supply of cord wood for the next winter season. The wood is light and burns rapidly. It is proposed to use this variety for the match splints, for which it is well adapted.

There are three other Canadian factories in operation (addresses on file at Bureau of Manufactures) which have a combined working capital of $250,000, one of which, with $190,000 capital, largely controls the trade. The three factories employ 278 hands, while the 24 Canadian match factories operating in 1871 employed 1127 hands. The small factories have been closed up.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

New England.

During the past week I have made a pilgrimage among the tobacco growers of this valley. Singular as it may seem, not any that I talked with desire any tinkering with the tariff schedules, and do not with any free importation of Philippine tobacco or cigars until such time as the men in this country are unable to manufacture what few cigars are consumed here, and then they would rather import from Europe men qualified to become cigarmakers.

In Suffield, where they grow 3300 acres of tobacco, opinion is divided as to the growing of the Halliday tobacco, for the leaves are set so closely on the stalks that some think it cannot be cured in the sheds in the way practiced by the growers at present. If the practice were followed of hanging our poles with twine or with lath, the leaves in the centre or middle of the stalk would need to be picked or primed in order to cure without pole burn. So in all the towns visited by me the idea was held. I think that there will be some experimenting on a small scale, not only in Connecticut, but here with us. But I think it will be with the Halliday seed rather than with the new hybrid brought out by the experiment station, at least for this year. Some claim that eventually we shall try the priming to a partial extent. But up here, so far from the cities, help is too scarce to do priming to any great extent, while those towns I have visited the farmers can draw help from Hartford or Springfield. It must be a slow process to hang one leaf at a time, but, as was said, boys, girls and women can do the tying as well as men. If women and children were employed it would only need men to carry away the laths when filled and to pick the leaves.

The amount of tobacco to be planted in the valley town this year will be about normal with past seasons, so far as I could learn.—Cultivator.

Wisconsin.

Edgerton, Wis., April 10.

A thorough canvass of the warehouses here reveals nothing of importance to report in the way of transactions in cured goods, though two or three deals for '06 just escaped being made and the holders are still confident that they may yet go through. The report last week that John Soulman, of Janesville, had disposed of 500 cases of '06 was without foundation. At Stoughton Edward Simonson is still picking up a few of the remaining crops.

At this writing the first real indication of warm, springlike weather presents itself, and if it continues the coming week will see growers busy in preparing plant beds. It is hardly probable that preparations will be made to increase the acreage this season, but those competent to judge estimate that it will hold its own with last season.

The shipments out of storage reach only 315 cases and 3 carloads of bundle goods the past week. Since last report 14 carloads have been received.

Vol. XXIX., No. 17 PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 28, 1909 One Dollar the Year

THE FLORIDA CIGAR INDUSTRY.

Interesting Trade Notes from Tampa and Key West.

Tampa, Fla., April 24.

Tampa's cigar shipments steadily increase over the record of 1908. The shipment for the present year, up to April 10, amounted to 63,670,000 cigars, against a total for the same period of last year of 50,110,000—an increase of 13,560,000 for a little more than three months of 1909.

E. Regensburg and Mortimer Regensburg, of the firm of E. Regensburg & Sons, proprietors of the big cigar business soon to be removed to Ybor City from New York, are in the city registered at the Tampa Bay. With them are Attorney Henry L. Cohen and Simon A. Schwartz, of Schwartz & Gross, a firm of New York architects, and Frank Sanchez, of the Sanchez & Haya Real Estate Co., who negotiated the deal with the Regensburgs for the location of the big factory in Ybor. Jose Suarez, leaf buyer and Havana representative of the company, is also here from Cuba in conference with the other members of the party.

The Regensburgs favor the construction of a large fire-proof structure, which will be a model factory for the entire country and in every respect a beautiful one. Architect Schwartz is here for the purpose of drafting plans for the building before returning to New York, and the building work will be under the supervision of Schwartz & Gross.

What material will be used has not been decided, but it is possible steel and concrete will figure extensively in the work.

It is declared that every effort will be made to erect the large factory on North Sixteenth street as soon as possible and have it in operation with all possible speed, the old A. B. Ballard factory to be used until the new home for the business is located.

An arrangement has been completed whereby Laureano Torres, of Havana, who is now in New York, will be the manager of the big factory. Mr. Torres formerly was with the Castaneda factory in Havana and is regarded as one of the ablest tobacco men in the world.

Key West, April 24.

Manuel Lopez & Co. are to move their cigar factory from New York to Key West, and it is said that they will be ready for operations about May 1. In speaking of the change, Mr. Manuel Lopez says that after eighteen years' experience in the manufacture of clear Havana cigars he has convinced himself that Key West is the place where the best and most satisfactory results can be obtained in the handling of the Cuban leaf and the production of the best clear Havana cigars.

NIGHT RIDERS THREATEN TENANT.

Continue Depredations in Southern Indiana in Order to Pay for Tillage.

Washington, Ind., April 24.

The "night riders" in Southern Daviess county have not ceased activities and it is known that at least one threatening letter has been received by a tenant. The letter was mailed at Petersburg, Ind., and addressed to John Potter, a tenant on the farm of William Schrolucke, of Washington.

Several nights ago Potter was visited by a gang of 20 men and told not to farm any of the Schrolucke land at the one-half rental price, but after a consultation with the owner he continued his work. The letters afterward received caused him to grow apprehensive and he at once gave up the idea of further work.

The land owners are in correspondence with detective agencies, and it is said the secret service men will be brought into this section for the purpose of ridding the community of its lawless element.

TOBACCO FACTORY BURNED.

Big Plant Destroyed in Owensboro, Ky. Loss Over $200,000.

Owensboro, Ky., April 23.

J. M. Vaughan's independent tobacco afctory was burned to the ground on Tuesday morning by fire which originated in the drying room. The loss is estimated at between $200,000 and $300,000.

One hundred and fifty employes had a narrow escape, as the drying room was under the stemming room. Mr. Vaughan will rebuild.

FACTORY FOR ST. JOSEPH, MO.

Consumers' Co-operative Co. Organized with $15,000 Capital.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 24.

As one of the results of the increased tobacco acreage in Northwest Missouri, a company has been incorporated with a view to manufacturing and marketing the product. It is to be known as the Consumers' Co-operative Tobacco Co., and has a capital of $15,000, and this is divided into $6000 common and $9000 preferred stock, the preferred stock to bear 8 per cent. interest before any dividend is realized on the common stock. The stock is all subscribed and $7500 is paid in in cash.

The common stock is held as follows: John A. Diss, St. Joseph, 58 shares; Charles W. Lyman, St. Joseph, 1 share; George D. Steele, Kansas City, 1 share. Preferred stock is held by the same persons in the following proportions: John A. Diss, 80 shares; Chas. W. Lyman, 5 shares; George D. Steele, 5 shares.

TOBACCO IN WISCONSIN.

Approximate Results of the 1908 Crop in the Badger State.

Janesville, Wis., April 22.

The 1908 crop is now so well moved out of first hands that a fairly good estimate can be made of the average price realized by growers, as well as the influence of returns obtained may have upon the probable acreage to be planted the coming season. As is well known, the early buying brought quite remunerative prices, so that by the time half the crop was taken over the great bulk of it had brought the growers from 9 to 11 cents for the grades. After the first rush of buying had subsided the American Tobacco Co. came into the field and began taking over the lower-grade crops at reduced prices, ranging from * to 7½ cents. At the latter figures probably close to one-third of the crop has been removed. If one were to attempt to strike an average they would arrive at something like 8½ cents, possibly a trifle more. Of course, this is not a very fat profit to the grower, but at this figure tobacco growing yields fair returns. However, it is hardly enough to encourage farmers to increase their acreage and on the other hand is not lean enough to curtail the acreage in the older growing sections. On the whole, the results from a crop that at no time was considered quite up to the average of Wisconsin tobacco ought not to be a determining factor in influencing the acreage to be planted the coming season. If it reaches 35,000 to 40,000 acres it will be ample for the needs of the market.

One thing should be borne in mind, there is no visible surplus of old stock on hand to disturb market conditions. But for the remnants of the high-priced '06 leaf yet unsold there is very little stock in country packers' hands to draw from to meet the needs of manufacturers if business should regain its normal proportions. This getting back to lower levels of prices has been a long, tedious process. Manufacturers have been living on a hand-to-mouth policy for a year now, all the time hoping the bottom had been reached before laying in their usual surplus of stock. They can hardly continue along this line indefinitely; some time they must replenish their stores and then the real condition of the binder market will be apparent. Then we may see a return of such a revival of the leaf market as has been witnessed often in this State. Unless all signs fail, it cannot be such a long time coming, either. Continued business depression alone can delay it, and the sooner Congress disposes of the present tariff agitation the sooner business will get back to nearer normal conditions.

W. A. Williams is about to engage in the cigar business at Waterloo, Ia.

WOULD LIMIT FREE CIGARS.

Cigarmakers' Union Would Permit Free Entry of 150,000,000.

Duluth, Minn., April 22.

Although the Capitol at Washington is quite a distance from Duluth, the local trades and labor assembly is sending a little reminder to the Ways and Means Committee of the lower House of Congress about the duty on cigars brought in from the Philippines, one of the matters which is receiving consideration from the Congressmen at this session.

The Cigarmakers' Union of America has decided that 150,000,000 cigars a year should be brought into the country free of duty from the Philippines, and that the regular duty should be imposed upon all importations over that amount.

The cigarmakers' delegation in the local labor assembly presented the views of its organization to the assembly at the last session, and the assembly promptly indorsed the 150,000,000 cigar sentiment, and instructed the secretary to write to the Minnesota Congressmen, informing them how organized labor in Duluth stands upon this question of cigar receipts from the Far Eastern possessions, and urging them to use their influence in this direction.

WHAT THE REGIE BOUGHT.

Italian Government Bought 34,000,000 Pounds of American Leaf Tobacco.

Washington, April 22.

The diplomatic correspondence of the State Department in 1906 shows that the Italian Government was buying yearly in Kentucky and Tennessee about 34,000,000 pounds of tobacco for the needs of the tobacco monopoly.

It was in connection with these purchases that the Italian Ambassador at Washington made a formal protest to the State Department for security against the depredation of night riders.

In replying to the Ambassador's representations, Secretary Root suggested that the Italian Government was purchasing the tobacco in its private capacity rather than as a sovereign, and "might seek redress in our Courts."

BALTIMORE LEAF MEN AT CAPITAL.

Baltimore, April 24.

A delegation of Baltimore tobacco men—Messrs. A. G. Gieske, I. L. Kemper, William Boucher, Samuel Dealham, Henry Laubheimer, H. Atlschul, Ottenheimer and H. C. Pfaff—visited Washington this week and were gratified to learn that there will be only 1,500,000 pounds of filler tobacco admitted free of duty from the Philippines, according to the Payne bill, as amended by the Senate, instead of 3,000,000, as first provided by the bill in the House.

LIQUOR WAR HITS CIGARS.

Indiana Local Option Law Blamed for the Closing of Factories.

Last year the two principal cigar manufacturers of Brookeville, Ind., sold something over a million cigars, a business that brought a trifle above $35,000 into the business channels of this community, says the Democrat, of that city.

Of this money $3000 went to the general Government as stamp taxes, and $17,000 was paid out in wages to the working people who were employed in the two shops.

About eighty-five per cent. of the business was from outside and was a clear income to our home trade. With the coming of local option closures of their customers out over the State these sales stopped, and the stock piled up in the warerooms, so that at the first of the year a policy of retrenchment caused men to be let go, and finally last week the manufacturers found they could no longer buy stock and pay men without encroaching on their capital.

Both shops were compelled to close down and twenty-one more were added to the already too large contingent of the unemployed. If these employes do succeed in getting employment it will be at the expense of some other community. We have no better citizens than Messrs. Hathaway and Baker, men who are conspicuous for their loyalty to their home town and business. It is more with sorrow for the men whom they are compelled to turn adrift than for themselves that they shut down.

The national Government is just beginning to feel the rigors of the panic, and there is an excess of expenditures over receipts down at Washington.

The three thousand dollars that the two cigar men sent to Washington last year to help pay for pensions, free rural mails, etc., will not go there this year; $3000 isn't much at the national Treasury, but at the same time Brookville is a small part of the entire nation.

Mr. Baker had partially contracted for a steam-heating plant for his residence, but when the agent of the company was to see him last week he was compelled to rescind the order, and the agent showed him where local option disturbance of business had shut out over $70,000 worth of orders in Indiana. The far-reaching effects of the matter will best be understood if one will consider the numerous local industries which will be affected on the line indicated.

SENATE ASKS INFORMATION.

Washington, April 22.

WISCONSIN CIGAR TRADE NOTES.

What is Doing Among the Retailers at Milwaukee and Other Points.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 24.

There have been no new developments in regard to the I. M. Lederer stock. Up to this morning no bid has been received higher than that of Fay Lewis & Bro. Co. ($12,000), and it is expected that on Monday the stock will be sold to them.

At Surman & Co.'s trade has been fair, but owing to the weather, business has not been up to the standard with any of the local dealers.

C. C. Hendee, who recently succeeded M. K. Hendee & Co., has moved his store around the corner on to Michigan street, where the rent is not so high—$137 was a large price for such a small stand. His new location, while off the main thoroughfare, presents a neat appearance, and he should be able to do some business there.

Fay Lewis & Bro. Co. have been quite busy at the Pabst Building store. They are making a display of El Sidelo Secundos in their windows.

John A. Dadd & Son are making a display of the National Fad, of local manufacture (H. E. Kerns).

With Leo Abrahams trade is about the same as during the past few weeks. Joe Leisser can be seen daily with several boxes under his arm working up trade on the outside.

But few visitors called on the trade this week. Among them, however, was Harris, of the Khedivial Co.

At Fond du Lac trade is good. Dana & Reeves will have the management of the "Fannery," the store purchased by R. M. Hamburger & Co., of F. W. Bond and Son.

Racine dealers also report business fairly good. KROMP.

SAVED HIS CIGAR—STARTED PANIC.

Man's Coat Began to Burn and Audience Thought Stage Afire.

Chicago, Ill., April 22.

A man of saving disposition last night placed a half-burned cigar in his pocket when entering the National Theatre, thinking wrongly he had crushed out the fire. He had a front seat, and, when the cigar had nursed its half-extinguished fire into vigorous life, those back of him thought the stage was on fire.

A policeman thought the main part of the house was ablaze and turned in an alarm. Nearly a hundred persons ran out of the theatre, and the entire audience was on the point of decamping pell mell when the deceived individual, smelling of burning clothing, hurriedly quitted the building. There was more smoke than fire and the firemen had nothing to do.

DECISION by U. S. COURT of APPEALS

The suit of the Racine Paper Goods Co. vs. John J. Dittgen, decided in favor of the Dittgen Paper Goods Co. in the U. S. Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin a year ago, and appealed to the U. S. Court of Appeals, has been again decided in favor of the Dittgen Company.

"Between Seasons" in the Havana Market.

Very Few Buyers Now on the Island, and Sales for the Week Did Not Reach 1500 Bales. Some New Vuelta Abajo Received, but Dealers are Cautious Buyers. Heavy Shipment of Cigars by the French Steamer. Warehouse and Factory Notes.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, April 19.

The past week has been a very quiet one in our market, as only a trifle over 1000 bales were sold, the major portion of which consisted of low grade Remedios. As we are now in the "between the seasons" period, the good part of the old crop having almost disappeared, and it being too early for the new growth, there is no incentive for buyers to come here. Besides, it is said here that business in the cigar manufacturing line in the United States is by no means satisfactory, and consequently there is no urgent call for our leaf. However, as soon as the revision of the tariff in the United States shall have been settled there is bound to be a revival in all trades, as uncertainty is the worst enemy commerce has all over the world, and as no merchant can make any prudent calculation upon imports, exports or future contracts, all large enterprises are impossible for the time being.

Some new Vuelta Abajo has arrived this past week from the country, but it consists mostly of the libre de pié styles. Owing to some more rains in the country many farmers have taken advantage of the humidity to bundle and pile their green tobacco, but if the same atmospheric conditions prevail in the country as exist in the city of Havana, it may have been a mistake to be in a hurry. Old, experienced farmers usually wait until the rainy season has set in for good, and then the fermentation process is bound to be what it ought to be, while otherwise, with a dry temperature, the same is interrupted more or less, thus giving us a leaf which will not cure well in the bales.

Most of our leaf dealers are very cautious this year, as before buying the green leaf they want to see how it has passed the "pilon," or come out of the first fermentation process, particularly as the crop is large and manufacturers are still well supplied with old stocks, so there is no hurry at all. The lesson of 1907 has not been forgotten yet, particularly as the year 1908 has not been a money-maker for the majority of them.

SALES

during the week total 1436 bales, divided: Vuelta Abajo, 450; Partido, 290, and Remedios, 969 bales.

American buyers (which term includes the commission merchants here who buy for their clients in the United States upon cable or mail orders) purchased 900 bales, exporters for Europe 450, and local manufacturers 86.

very sparingly until the tariff question shall be settled. For France, 2,420,000 cigars were exported on the 15th inst. by the French mail steamer La Navarre.

H. Upmann & Co. exported 600,000 cigars during the past week. Don Teodore Garbade left for a short vacation in the United States by the S. S. Havana on Saturday.

Sol is doing well. Its new representative, Max Schatz has begun to hustle, and has sent Behrens & Co. some good orders for the Sol and Luis Marx brands.

The Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Limited, shipped over 1,000,000 cigars to France by the French S. S. La Navarre. This company is now turning out five new sizes, which, under Don Gustave Bock's personal management, are the acme of perfection as regards light colors and perfect workmanship.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

H. Upmann & Co. purchased 300 bales of leaf for export last week.

J. Bernheim & Sons were sellers of 300 bales of Remedios.

Aug. Kuttnaeur was a buyer of several Vegas for Rothschild, Sons & Co., amounting to nearly 500 bales of all kinds of leaf tobacco.

A. M. Calzada & Co. sold several lots during the past week, although, as Don Antonio was away in the country, the exact quantity could not be learned.

Fritz Lederer, of Heinrich Neuberger, arrived here on the 14th inst. by the S. S. Havana, and as he is a big buyer, he was warmly welcomed by our leaf dealers.

Cardenas & Co. exported 616 bales of leaf tobacco last week.

Charles Blasco was seen registering in a large number of our warehouses last week, and should have made some notable purchases.

The death of Captain Stevens, late commander of the S. S. Havana, and commodore-captain of the Ward Line, was deeply felt in the tobacco trade, although he had been laid up here in the American Hospital for several months. His body was carried on board the Havana on Friday afternoon, and among the mourners were the American Minister, Edwin V. Morgan, and ViceConsul General Joseph Springer, Don Enrique Bernheim, Don Bruno Diaz and Don Jose Gonzalez, of the tobacco trade attended the funeral services.

MINNESOTA'S TOBACCO LAW.

Dealers Who Sell to Minors and Minors Who Smoke in Public to be Punished.

St. Cloud, Minn., April 22.

Mayor Hugh Evans, of this city, has issued an order to the tobacco dealers warning them against selling tobacco to minors. The police have also been instructed to report all who violate the law. The order is the result of a report made at the recent school board meeting, and is as follows:

"Numerous complaints have been made to me in regard to boys under the age of 18 obtaining and using tobacco; therefore, I wish to call the attention of all tobacco dealers in this city to the State law governing the sale of tobacco to minors and ask that all comply with this law.

"HUGH EVANS, Mayor."

The law is as follows:

"Section LXVI. Any person within the State who sells, gives to or in any way furnishes cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form to any person under eighteen years of age, or to any minor pupil in a school, college or university shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $50 or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed thirty days for each offense.

"Section LXVII. Any person under eighteen years of age, or any minor pubil as described in Section 1 of this act, who shall smoke or use cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form or on any public highway, street, alley, park or other lands used for public purposes, or in any public place of business shall be arrested by an officer of the law who may be cognizant of such offense; and further, it shall be the duty of such officers on complaint of the citizen to arrest such offenders and take them before the proper Court. The Court shall impose a punishment at its discretion in a sum not to exceed $10, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed five days for each such offense. Provided, if said monor can give information which may lead to the arrest of persons or persons violating Section 1 of this act, in giving to, selling, or in any way furnishing the said minor person tobacco, and shall give evidence as a witness in such proceedings against said party or parties, the Court shall have proper power to suspend sentence against such minor persons.

"Section LXVIII. Any person who harbors or grants to persons under eighteen years of age, or to any minor pupil, as described in Section 1 of this act, privilege of gathering upon or frequenting any property or lands held by him for the purpose of indulging in the use of cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form shall be held Section 1 of this act; Provided, that Section 1 of this cat; Provided, that no part of this act shall be so construed as to interfere with the rights of parents in the rearing and management of their minors, heirs or wards."

Over 200 slot machines operated in saloons and cigar stores at Red Wing, Minn., were put out of commission by an order issued by Mayor Pierce to the effect that slot machines must be stopped. Most of the slot machines were owned by outside parties and were placed in Red Wing on a percentage plan.

John R. Rose, retired tobacco merchant of Louisville, Ky., who was one of the pioneers in the business in that city, died last week after a long illness. He was 60 years of age and leaves a widow, two daughters and a son.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, April 27.

New York Leaf Tobacco Market.

It was another week of inanimation in the leaf tobacco market of this city. There was, from all accounts, a slow trading of small volume. There seems to be a fair inquiry for goods, but the demands are mostly for classes of goods that the market is short on, and consequently not so many sales are the result.

The steady gain in the output of cigars during the present year must of necessity be felt by the leaf dealer sooner or later, and so long as the output continues to increase from month to month there would seem to be a real cause for actual alarm.

U. C. S. Increases Capital.

In a move to double the number of stores throughout the country, the purchase of additional property and an enormous expansion of business in general, the corporation of United Cigar Stores was formed to-day at Albany, with a capital stock of $10,000,000. The incorporators are George J. Whelan, president; Frederick A. Whelan, vice president; Elliott Averett, secretary, and Louis Biel and Angier B. Duke.

In regard to the incorporation the following statement was made at the head offices of the corporation, at 44 West Eighteenth street:

"The determination of this enterprise is to double the number of stores throughout the country. This has made necessary the formation of this organization as a corporation. To accomplish this end greatly increased capital is required and a general infusion of new blood in the management of the stores. During the last three of the eight years of existence of the company real estate investments involving millions have been made, through the outright purchase of property or the acquiring of the same by long term leases."

Duys Returns-Duys Goes.

Last week John H. Duys, of the Sumatra Importing firm of H. Duys & Co., returned from Amsterdam, where he had been attending several of the inscriptions and procures for their American trade considerable quantities of leaf.

On the 24th inst. H. M. Duys, the junior member of the firm, sailed for Amsterdam and will attend some of the remaining spring and summer inscriptions in the interest of the firm.

Speaking of the 1908 goods now being offered, Mr. John H. Duys said that at this year's inscriptions there was a great deal of very nice tobacco offered, but, like all years, there was also some offered that was not so very desirable. Prices ruling high as they did was the result of the competition put in by German buyers. The new tobacco, said he, continues to find great favor, and already they have sold several complete parcels.

Rumor of Affiliation.

Stories of an affiliation of the United Cigar Stores Company with the Schulte interests, its strongest competitors in the retail trade in this city, and announcement of a prospective early increase of the United's retail shops by one hundred or two hundred new ones in the five boroughs interested the tobacco trade yesterday.

The Schulte interests, which have been operated by the A. Schulte Company, composed of David A. Schulte and the estate of Anthony Schulte, have expanded by additional corporations, which will open several new stores. As to the affiliation of the Schulte with the United interests no confirmation could be obtained.

In the United Cigars Stores Company offices, No. 44 West Eighteenth street, it was stated that it positively has no business arrangement of any kind with the estate of Anthony Schulte, but when asked for a similar denial of joint interest with David A. Schulte no denial or affirmation was obtainable.

Representatives of the United are now inspecting all the five boroughs and especially the northern portion of Manhattan, seeking locations for new stores. It was stated in its offices that one hundred at least will be opened this spring or summer, and that the company wants to open two hundred if attractive locations can be obtained. It was made plain that the United is seeking to blanket all New York with its agencies.

A LEADING NOVELTY HOUSE.

Consolidation of Tager & Epstein and Epstein & Kowarsky, under the Title of the
KNICKERBOCKER LEATHER & NOVELTY CO.
A $60,000 Corporation.

New York, April 26, 1909.

Way back in 1892 the firm of Tager & Epstein began the manufacture of advertising novelties in a very modest way, having headquarters then on the Bowery. The intuition of the men composing the firm was quite clear, and they quickly discovered that the opportunities afforded in their undertaking were far greater than they had perhaps even dreamed of, for nearly every industry in the country was approachable on the subject of efficient advertising; and, after all, it was advertising goods that the firm wished to offer to manufacturers and others. There were so many kinds of industries which it was desirable to reach, but all could not be taken up at once, and in a moment of careful reflection it was decided that the cigar trade was certainly one of the industries which should have need of such a line of goods, as they were then preparing themselves to offer. While it was not a matter of acting upon the impulse of the moment, certain plans soon developed into feasibility, and a personal canvass was made of the trade. When it was revealed that the progressive manufacturer hailed with delight the opportunity of presenting to his trade novelties that possess all the truer characteristics of advertising virtue, such as attractiveness, utility, and moderation of cost.

Change Tray

Even then, it was not all easy sailing, but by dint of energy and the closest possible personal application to the business, it began to grow, and showed a large increase in volume each year thereafter. About this time, there came a change in the firm, by the organization of a new firm composed of two members of the old firm, and under name of "Epstein & Kowarsky," they began business at 351 Broadway. The old firm of Tager & Epstein then removed to 420 Broadway, and both houses continued to prosper, even though they were confined to practically the same line of business. Subsequently the firm of Epstein & Kowarsky removed to 314 Broadway, where increased facilities, which the greater volume of business was demanding, were procurable.

The present day tendency toward concentration of business interests to bring about if possible a reduction in the cost of manufacture and to enable hitherto competing houses to offer their wares at a reduced price, and thereby to still more greatly increase the volume of business, it was decided that a consolidation of the two firms, under one general head was very desirable. Therefore, there was organized a few months ago under the law of the State of New York, the Knickerbocker Leather & Novelty Co., and which absorbed the business of Tager & Epstein and of Epstein & Kowarsky, with an ample amount of capital, and in which the principals of the former two firms are all interested, and in a very active capacity.

Safety Match Case

The officers of the new company are S. L. Kowarsky, president; William Tager, vice president; Morris Epstein, treasurer, and Barnett Epstein, secretary. Every one of these gentlemen are well and favorably known in commercial circles, and particularly so in the cigar trade.

As has been said, the principal part of the business is the manufacture of advertising novelties, made wholly or in part of leather. The new company has a splendidly equipped plant, fitted up with all the latest improved machinery, tools and appliances, and is located at 312-314-316 Broadway, the additional floor space at 312 Broadway having been only recently acquired, and employment is now afforded to a very large force of workmen, who are required to be specially skilled in this particular line of work. The large and varied list of goods includes a line of articles especially suitable for cigar manufacturers.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

There was a little business in the leaf market this week, but there is still lacking the spirited buying which the trade has been looking for ever so long. Manufacturers seem to have made a few purchases for immediate use which gave the market some semblance of activity. Inquiries are coming in for various types of goods, but sales consummated are not in proportion in either number or volume. The cigar production of the country, according to the Government report of the sale of stamps, seems to indicate that manufacturing is progressing steadily since the present year began, and that must naturally also redound to the benefit of the leaf trade. Manufacturers are believed not to have heavy stocks on hand of either raw material or manufactured product, so that when the trade once again begins the buying movement that is likely to be some disappointment in getting sufficient supplies of the desired goods.

Sumatra sales have been moderately good, although in small lots, yet some additional orders are now being received for both old and the new goods.

The Havana market shows no particular change. Prices are well maintained, and the offerings are not overabundant.

The cigar manufacturers of this city seem to be meeting with a fair demand for their product and the output of this district for the month of April, it is believed, will show very satisfactory figures. A few of the factories are running full time and with a full complement of cigarmakers. Reports from traveling salesmen now out are becoming more and more encouraging as the year progresses, and it is now confidently expected that there will be a fairly good business until the time of the usual summer dullness.

F. B. Robertson, otherwise Ambassador of Commerce, has secured the account of John Slater & Co., of Lancaster, Pa., manufacturers of high grade stogies. Mr. Robertson has an exceptionally wide acquaintance in the trade here and will undoubtedly place the line of goods in hundreds of stores where the product has never before been properly introduced.

H. Dolinsky & Son, Third street leaf tobacco dealers, last week figured quite prominently in the real estate news of this city, when they purchased the properties at Juniper and Race streets at public sale for $27,700. The properties occupy a lot 40 by 94 feet, and are assessed at $20,000.

John Piercy, wholesale tobacconist, at 49 South Front street, died last week in the seventy-second year of his age. He was one of the best-known figures in the downtown section, and although in feeble health, he was at his business place up to the day of his death. Interment was made from his home at 730 West Lehigh avenue.

The most important item of news in the trade during the past week was the effected settlement with creditors of the Moore Cigar Shops, which was made possible by the formation of a new concern under the name of Moore Cigar Co., and its consolidation with the Broomall-Lafayette Cigar Co. Although the details have not yet been fully consummated, the plans have so far progressed that there is no longer any likelihood that they will miscarry.

Under the order of things the retail store on Filbert street, above Broad, will continue as retail store, as will also the Broomall-Lafayette store on Thirteenth street, but the Third street store of the Moore concern will be made the wholesale distributing establishment, and all of the three stores will be under the personal direction of Mr. E. Burley, who has for some time been in charge of the Broomall-Lafayette store.

Frank Rogers, well known in the retail cigar trade as a cigar store clerk, formerly employed by Boch & Co., and later by the Boch-Griffon Co., but who for some time has not had a regular place of employment, last week caused considerable excitement at Fifteenth and Chestnut streets, when he suddenly began dashing among the pedestrians, screaming that some one was trying to throw vitriol in his eyes. He was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital, where the physicians said he was probably demented. He was later removed to the Fifteenth and Vine streets police station and later sent to the Philadelphia Hospital.

The firm of Cooper Cigar Co., in the Real Estate Trust Co. Building, has changed its personnel by the retirement of Mr. Cooper, whose interest in the business was purchased by K. R. Worthington, a son of W. G. Worthington, one of the partners and a grandson of B. C. Worthington, who started in the wholesale cigar business in 1849 at 537 Poplar street, and in 1860 opened a retail store on Sixth street, the site now occupied by the Public Ledger.

The grandfather of the younger Worthington, who is again entering the trade, imported 1000 cigars from Havana for the late Geo. W. Childs, to be presented to General Grant, the cost of which, duty and all, amounted to $3000. The firm will make a specialty of the product of E. G. Perez & Co, and have also just taken the account of the La Sira brand of Jose Cosio & Co., of Key West.

Al Metzger, with Berriman Bros., clear Havana cigar manufacturers, Tampa and New York, was a recent visitor in this city.

Henry Weiss, with E. G. Perez & Co., stopped off in Philadelphia a day last week, en route to Baltimore.

Knickerbocker Leather & Novelty Co

corporation, the enterprise is developing into even more important proportions than heretofore, and under the wise guidance of the capable and progressive management, it is certain to experience a substantial increase of patronage with each succeeding year. The strong personnel of the company cannot fail in the accomplishment of the desired object.

An extensive mail-order business is being done, nevertheless the house has also personal representation in the field constantly. S. L. Kowarsky, the president of the company, is in personal charge of the sales department. Mr. Kowarsky has an exceptionally large acquaintance in the cigar trade through New York, Pennsylvania and other States, and it is his purpose to call on his old customers at intervals, as has been his custom for a number of years past. William Tager, the vice president of the company, will be the general purchasing agent of the firm, and he is regarded as one of the best and most capable purchasers of leather in the country. Barnett Epstein, the secretary of the company, is a thoroughly practical man in his department, and will have charge of the manufacturing end of the business. Upon Morris Epstein will fall the duties of the financier.

We call special attention to the several illustrations shown above, which will give the reader an idea of the attractiveness of the novelties presented by this firm. Of course, it must be remembered that the above is but a very small assortment of the line offered by this, the largest house of its kind in the country.

For illustration, there is the Change Tray. This is a very convenient article for the retailer because of its great utility. It is an admirable change tray and can be used at the same time as a mat in which to lay out cigars for the customer and avoid the greater danger of breaking, if laid in a hard surface.

The Safety Match Safe is another elegant novelty which is always useful and convenient for carrying in the pocket. It is not bulky; it isn't made of metal and therefore does not tear the pocket; most of all, it is not an expensive article and can be used to elegant advantage by all cigar manufacturers for effective advertising at moderate cost.

The new patented cigarholder which is offered can be used for two rolls of cigars without making the case look clumsy, and besides, it is said to be the only case that actually protects cigars against breaking while being carried in the pocket.

If space permitted there could be enumerated several hundred articles, every one of which has certain attractive features, but the above will serve to give the reader an intelligent idea and further particulars can be had from the firm upon the asking.

YORK AND ITS VICINITY.

Trade is Quiet and Many Factories are Running on Short Time.

York, Pa., April 26.

The tobacco trade in this section is still generally quiet, with few exceptions. Some orders are coming in, but many of the factories are still working on short time, and a good many cigarmakers are idle.

H. C. Fauth, of Red Lion, was convicted in Judge Wanner's Quarter Sessions Court of arson and felonious entry, and received a sentence of five years' imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary. The crimes proven against Fauth were the burning of Allen Poet's cigar factory at Dallastown, in the early hours of Monday, March 15, after Fauth had broken into the factory and stolen about 4000 packed cigars, a case of scrap and a lot of binder tobacco, besides two cutting boards and knives and a cancellation stamp. The evidence against Fauth consisted principally in the finding by Chief of Detectives White, who made the arrest, of the above articles, which Mr. Poet positively identified as his property, in a stable owned by Mrs. Keyworth, in South Court alley, in this city, which had been rented by Fauth. It was also proved that Fauth, at 10.30 o'clock on the Sunday night before the fire hired a horse and spring wagon from Liveryman Deardorff, which was returned to the livery stable at 5.30 o'clock the next morning. Fauth had offered some of the wrappers for sale to Jacob Winter, this city.

Fauth told an improbable story in his own defense. He said he received the tobacco, cigars and other articles from a man named J. W. Grim, whom he met for the first time in Center Square on Friday, March 12. At that time Grim approached Fauth and addressing him as "Mr. Katz" asked him to buy a lot of wrappers. "Katz" agreed, and immediately paid $25 on account, the goods to be delivered on the following Monday morning. The delivery was made before daylight Monday, Fauth said, because Mr. Grim wanted to go away early on Monday morning. Fauth denied knowing where the Poet factory was located, and said he had not been in Dallastown in years. Fauth admitted that he had served six months in jail in 1908 for breaking into a factory and stealing cigars. The jury promptly found a verdict of guilty on both charges. Judge Wanner sentenced Fauth to three years on the arson charge and two years on the felonious entry and larceny case.

Martin Lentz, Walter Mann and Melvin Mann, of this city, were put on trial in Judge Wanner's Court last week, charged with having feloniously entered the cigar factory of P. C. Fulweiler & Bro. Co. on the night of February 11 last, and with having stolen therefrom a lot of "Little Lou" cigars and a knife. Some of the cigars and the knife were afterward found in the possession of Walter Mann, who keeps a small cigar store on Vander street. Mann explained their presence by saying that he had bought them from Lentz. Lentz says he did not sell them to Mann, but that he heard Melvin Mann trying to sell them to Walter one evening. Lentz has served time before for a similar offense. The case was given to the jury about 4 P. M. The jury being unable to arrive at a verdict before adjourning. Court adjourned until 7 P. M., at which time the jury returned a verdict.

Lentz was found guilty on all three counts and was sentenced to one year and a half in the Eastern Penitentiary. Melvin Mann was acquitted and Walter Mann was found guilty on the third count, receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

The Mills Cigar Co., Chicago, with a capital of $10,000, has been incorporated to manufacture and deal in cigars. R. Mills, Harry Schiffman and M. Roth are incorporators.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The last great rain has somewhat retarded the work of fitting the land for planting. Except on the light tobacco soils no plowing can be done, and as a rule the farmers are not quite ready to plow much for tobacco. The later the plowing and harrowing is done the less will weeds be in evidence at the first hoeing, thus giving the horse cultivators a better chance to show their superiority over the hand work that is necessary to be done when weeds get a good start. Some of the farmers report good stands of plants on their seed beds, while some others have but lately sown their beds and cannot as yet report the presence of the little two-leaved plants. But with favorable weather conditions I think we shall be able to report some early setting of the crop, and with real good weather I donbt not that the tobacco plants will be transplanted about the usual time of such work.

I have heard of two men who will cut down their acreage, one was a large grower, the other only raised four acres, this year he will split it in halves. The former will about make thirds of his field. There may be some reductions in this part of the valley, but it will be unnoticed when the time comes to harvest. Still I may be mistaken, for the local papers predict quite a falling off in the planting. But when we ask the farmers if they will plant the usual amount, they say: "What else can we do; we have got the sheds and all of the appliances for raising tobacco, and it seems a pity to see everything at a standstill. We cannot use the buildings for any other purposes, and we think we will try one more crop," adding that perhaps they will be sorry in the end. Some would, if they could, sell or rent their tobacco sheds and glass frames, and try to get a living outside of tobacco growing. If some could be induced to cut down their acreage one or more acres I think they would produce more pounds of marketable tobacco, if at the same time they would instal some appliances to prevent pole sweat. But their fathers "used to hang so many acres in those sheds and they were not troubled with pole sweat," forgetting that they raised a different variety of tobacco with from four to five thousand plants to the acre, and used barn yard manure to grow it with. This tobacco was a heavy bodied tobacco, while to-day at least seven or eight thousand plants are set to the acre, and it is grown with a highly concentrated fertilizer to make a thin gauzy leaf more suited to the demands of the trade. There is quite a wide difference between the two leaves and quite a wide difference in its capability to withstand the changes in the atmosphere to say nothing of the greater number of plants to be hung.

Our correspondents write:

Wethersfield, Conn.: "Not much to write about in the tobacco line. Very few beds sown as yet. No sales of late. There will probably be about the usual quantity grown this year as last."

North Hatfield, Mass.: "What tobacco plants there are are looking fine. I heard of two men who had plants with four leaves, some though will not tell of having such plants for ten days to come. This afternoon we had a thunder shower with a very high wind, and the large shed of Lyman A. Crafts was razed to the ground. The shed of Herbert Monson was also demolished and another on the Cainhan place was blown down. These sheds were all in Whately. No damage at this point."—Amer. Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

Baldwinsville.—Interest here is mainly confined to preparing the beds for the new crop. Seeds are being selected very carefully and there is every reason to believe that the New York 1909 will make a healthy improvement. No sales of any magnitude have been reported, but inquiries for old leaf are received from day to day and there is prospect of a needed revival of buying.

OHIO.

Miamisburg.—Wagons loaded with tobacco can occasionally be seen now at the Miamisburg warehouses, and deliveries are becoming more frequent. The tobacco market is livelier than for some time, and buyers are purchasing with some freedom. The prices range from 10 to 12 cents. Buyers are using their individual judgment more this year than usual, and are departing from the old flat price system of offering the same price for all kinds of tobacco, good, bad and indifferent. This will be appreciated by the careful and experienced grower, who pays attention to his crop in handling, during the growing season and afterward.—News.

Arcanum.—The tobacco raisers through this immediate section have been very fortunate in disposing of their tobacco crops at good prices, while our neighbors, both north and south of us, are mostly without buyers for their crops. The outlook for higher prices is not flattering. In fact, the tendency is lower. Two Greenville firms started buyers this week, offering eight cents for Spanish, and claim to be meeting with some success. At Greenville the buying has been confined to a few spots.—Enterprise.

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton, April 23.

A slight revival of buying that has been quietly proceeding of late has lifted several hundred acres of the remnants of last season's tobacco crop and is fast cleaning up the last of the bundle goods. The prices that maintain range around the 7-cent mark, as the following transactions will indicate:

Thomas Stearns, 16a at 7¾ and 8c.
William Wilder, 10a at 7c.
William La Fay, 10a at 7½c.
Herried & Osterberg, 8a at 7¼c.
Ed. Bitters, 6a at 7¼c.
A. Nettum, 6a at 7½c.
Olson & Burie, 8a at 7¼c.
O. Viney, 4½a at 7¼c.
O. Webb, 5a at 7½c.
J. Bitters, 3a at 7½c.

There is some tobacco still standing out on contracts to be delivered which will prolong the handling season, but many of the warehouses at packing centres have about finished.

There is little news to note in old leaf market. The sale of a 250cs packing of '07 at DeForest is reported to Friendman, of Cincinnati, aside from some minor transactions.

A few seed beds have been laid, but most growers are awaiting the coming of warmer weather before sowing the sprouted seed.

Shipments for the week, 594 cases.—Reporter.

The Yost & Conroy cigar factory, Fort Wayne, Ind., whose owners recently mysteriously left the city, has been closed and practically all of the debts liquidated. The debts, stock and everything were taken over by Biens & Martin, a Cincinnati leaf tobacco house. A representative of this concern has been in Fort Wayne for some time settling up the affairs of the factory.

The Consumers' Co-operative Tobacco Co., with a capital of $15,000, has been incorporated at St. Joseph, Mo., by John A. Diss, C. W. Lyman and Geo. D. Steele.

THE CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Satisfactory Business Conditions are Reported from The Hub. Jobbers and Manufacturers Busy.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World."
212 Hanover Street
Boston, Mass., April 26.

Business conditions are very satisfactory here; visiting salesmen all report good business and our jobbing houses have been very busy, owing to many new starters in the retail line. Many places have opened at the beaches, but as the lid is to be on at the beach this summer, according to what the police say, I expect to see many close up and go elsewhere.

Our large cigar factories are busy. Goldsmith, Silva & Co., manufacturers of the popular 10c. cigar, M. C. A., are doing considerable advertising, and in consequence this brand is selling well.

H. Traiser & Co., since their incorporation, are also advertising their Pippin 5c. cigar, and jobbers report an improvement in their sales of that brand.

Charlie Bernhardt (Shinasi Bros.), has developed into an expert window-dresser. His ideas are very original. With the use of small dummy packages of the Royal cigarettes he has built so far six automobiles, which he calls Royal Racers. One of these displays is in the window of Erlich & Kopf's store on Court street, and is attracting considerable attention, and in consequence Shinasi's Royals are having a good sale. Charley expects to leave on a brief trip to Rhode Island and Connecticut.

F. L. Farlee, representing J. A. Poist & Co., cigar manufacturers, McSherrystown, Pa., is in town calling on our jobbing trade. Mr. Farlee reports having had good trade along the line.

J. Armstead, Jr., representing the American Cigar Company, is here taking orders for their line of clear Havana goods.

Pictures of all the prominent baseball players are now being packed in each package of Sweet Caporal cigarettes.

Robert Schubert Co., manufacturers of the Rosco 5c. smoker, has removed its factory from 98 Dudley street to 34 Central street.

Harry J. Mandel, proprietor of a cut-price cigar store on Cambridge street, has just bought the privilege to conduct a cigar department in the grocery store at Union and Hanover streets, and will shortly open for business.

The grand opening of the Liberty Tobacco Co., the new wholesale and retail tobacco house at 493 Tremont street, took place Saturday. Matchsafes were handed out for souvenirs, and the opening was a big success.

Vermont and reports he had a good week's business on Lynnhaven and White Rolls cigarettes. Both these brands are selling nicely here. The coupons now being packed in the White Rolls have a cash value of one cent each, and this has stimulated the sale of the goods wonderfully.

The many friends of George W. Farrant, who formerly represented the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co. here, will be surprised to learn that George died a few weeks ago, at his home in Norfolk, Va. His death came very suddenly. George was a young man, only 23 years of age, and made himself very popular with the trade here. He resigned later to enter the wholesale business in partnership with his brother in the Farrant Tobacco Co., at Norfolk.

Louis Edelson and another salesman have been put to work by Sam Marcuson to sell the various brands made by the Turco-American Tobacco Company.

Watchmaker & Miller, wholesalers and retailers in the South End, have just leased the next store to their present location and will, after alteration, occupy both places, and will then have better facilities to accommodate their growing trade.

Mr. MacKenzie, representing the Seidenberg Co., New York, was here a few days selling El Roi Tan and Cubanola cigars.

Rosenthal Bros., the Hanover street wholesalers, who are having big success with a 5c. Invincible shape cigar called Rosenthal Bros'. Special, will shortly place with the trade a genuine Porto Rican cigar called Luredo, made up in ten different sizes. The cigar is to be one of quality.

Levenson Bros., makers of the popular 5c. Boston Smoker, report trade quite brisk. They have 14 cigarmakers working steady, and intend shortly to lease another loft at their present location, to be better able to turn out the work.

Frank Swick (Surbrug Co.), has done effective work the past two months on Players and Bohemian Mixture, and both these brands of smoking tobacco are now for sale at all our prominent cigar stores.

Herman Levine, manager at Bieringer Bros'. Co., wholesale establishment on Cross street, took the 32d degree in the Masonic Order the other evening.

UNCHANGED AT LANCASTER.

Small Sales to Local Manufacturers the Only Leaf Transactions Reported.

Lancaster, April 26.

There is not a particle of change in the conditions of the leaf tobacco market since the report of last week. Little or nothing is being done at the warehouses, which are engaged now largely in cleaning up the remaining work of the season's packing. So far as sales of old goods are concerned there was really nothing done in the past week, save several small lots to local cigar manufacturers, as far as can be learned. Packers are apparently not expecting an immediate change, but are apparently willing to abide their time and allow the goods to remain in their hands for a while longer if necessary. Market prices are not affected.

The cigar industry also remains rather quiet, although there is perhaps just a little more business than there was several weeks ago, yet not enough to make any noteworthy difference. Plenty of cigarmakers could be secured now if they were needed, but the general dullness seems to be keeping a good many out of employment altogether or on short time.

The Don Carlos cigar, marketed here by J. G. Shirk, the well-known cigar jobber, is making a decided hit both in this city and all through the State. Mr. Shirk has devised a plan of profit-sharing with his customers, which is working out most satisfactorily. It consists of a coupon placed under the band of each cigar and which have the full value of other coupons issued by Mr. Shirk, and can be redeemed for gifts in connection with others of his coupons. The plan has therefore reduced itself to practicability, and is known to be helpful both to the dealer handling the goods and also to the consumer. It is expected that this coupon plan will become one of the best drawing cards that has ever been put out by Mr. Shirk. Although it has been on the market a short time only it has already brought the goods into popular demand in all sections where it has been offered. The territory is being constantly expanded.

W. L. Kendig, erstwhile leaf tobacco man in this city, was last week on trial in Court here on the charge of false pretense, preferred against him by Christian Esbenshade, of this county. The action arose from a transaction in the formation and marketing of computing scales, and Mr. Esbenshade is said to have advanced the sum total of $30,000 to further the enterprise, but which failed, and nothing was left with which to reimburse Mr. Esbenshade. The Court, however, after hearing the evidence, offered by the prosecutor, ordered a verdict of not guilty to be found by the jury, and the costs were placed on the county.

W. U. Hensel, attorney for P. E. Slaymaker, transferee of Charles J. Lederman, on Saturday last filed a bill in equity against the Nissley Leaf Tobacco Company. The bill of complaint sets forth that the parties had a contract by which they were jointly-engaged in the tobacco business. The plaintiff now asks that a receiver be appointed, and that the defendants be ordered to file an accounting of the business. Counsel for the defendants strenuously objected to the appointment of a receiver, and held that under the contract such action could not be taken. The Court refused to appoint a receiver, but granted a preliminary injunction restraining the defendants from selling or in any way disposing of the tobacco in dispute.

The bill states that in pursuance of the agreement between the parties 2037 cases of leaf tobacco were purchased. Of this sum about 1150 cases have been sold. The amount of the purchase was about $43,000, and of the sale about $51,000, and the claim is made that over $40,000 worth of tobacco remains on hand. The plaintiff complains that the defendants mismanaged the business, and have refused to render an accounting of the business.

Vol. XXIX., No. 18 PHILADELPHIA, MAY 5, 1909 One Dollar the Year

OPPOSED TO NEW TOBACCO TARIFF.

Ohio Leaf Packers Condemn Free Entry of Philippine Leaf and Cigars.

Dayton, O., April 28.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of The Ohio Leaf Tobacco Packers' Association, an association comprising in its membership all the representative packers of Ohio leaf tobacco, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, There is now pending before Congress a tariff bill, in which a clause provides for the free entry of 300,000 pounds of wrapper leaf tobacco, 1,500,000 pounds of filler leaf tobacco and 150,000,000 cigars from the Philippines, as found in Article 471 D, page No. 189, of said tariff bill, as reported by Mr. Aldrich on April 12, 1909;

And Whereas, If such bill becomes a law, it will work a great injustice and cause untold injury to our tobacco industry, comprising as it does all the growers, packers, dealers, jobbers and cigar manufacturers, both in this State and throughout the United States:

And Whereas, The free importation of cigars in a limited quantity, as specified in said bill, simply works to provide employment for 2000 of Filipinos at a low rate of wages, and takes away the livelihood of the same number of American citizens, whose cost of living demands, and who receive fair wages for their work;

And Whereas, Said tobacco, which is proposed to be imported free, is raised by cheap Filipino labor, whose cost of living is so small that a very meager wage scale suffices for their support;

And Whereas, The specifying of a "limited quantity" of either the raw or manufactured article will put into the hands of one or a few large operators the possibility of absolutely controlling the importation of this limited quantity, at an abnormal margin of profit;

And Whereas, the importation of a limited quantity will do more harm to the general trade in the United States than it will benefit the Philippines;

And Whereas, Along the present lines of duty established by the Dingley Tariff Bill, the tobacco trade and the producers of tobacco are all fairly satisfied, now that different interests have become adjusted to those rates;

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we, as a trade organization and being one of a number of similar organizations located throughout the tobacco-growing districts of the United States, whose purposes are to promote and foster the growing of leaf tobacco, and the handling and manufacturing in all its branches, and to look after the interests of tobacco raisers, tobacco packers, tobacco jobbers, cigar and tobacco manufacturers, and their employes, do hereby strenuously protest against the admitting free of duty of any tobacco or cigars whatsoever in the United States from the Philippine Islands;

And, be it Further Resolved, That five hundred copies of this resolution, duly signed, be printed and distributed among the members of the association and kindred associations throughout the country, each to be forwarded to their respective Congressmen and Senators, with a personal request that they use their best efforts to defeat the passage of the proposed measure.

And, be it Further Resolved, That a special appeal be made to Senator Dick, of Ohio, who is a member of the Finance Committee, to use every endeavor to prevent the passage of the Philippine Free Clause in the Senate Bill.

IOWA'S ANTI-CIGARETTE LAW

Absolutely Prohibits Use of Cigarettes by Boys Under 21 Years of Age.

Des Moines, Ia., April 30.

There is much interest in the State in the new anti-cigarette law enacted by the last General Assembly, and Deputy Secretary of State John Jamieson is receiving inquiries daily as to its provisions from tobacco dealers and cigarette fiends. The new law is decidedly drastic. It absolutely prohibits the smoking of cigarettes by any boy under the age of 21, and makes each offense punishable by a $10 fine. The original law made it a misdemeanor for any person to permit a minor to smoke cigarettes on his premises, but this was stricken out. The new law lightens the penalty if the minor will give information as to where he received the cigarettes or "makings," since it has long been against the law to furnish cigarettes or materials to minors.

MAY EVADE MINNESOTA'S LAW.

Some Dealers Think it May be Done with Impunity.

St. Paul, Minn., April 30,

The anti-cigarette law will go into theoretical effect August 1 next, but it seems generally understood among tobacco dealers that they will make no attempt to live up to its provisions. They have been given to understand, in the first place, that according to United States Supreme Court rulings, it is unconstitutional; and in the second place, that it is very easily evaded.

The tobacco stores, as a whole, will continue to carry cigarette stocks as they do now, but they will not be exposed in glass cases. Customers who ask for them will get them. This is the plan that will be tried; and if the authorities in certain towns insist on enforcement of this regulation against the "coffin nail," then "the makings" will be sold in a way that it is believed cannot be prohibited. The cigarette papers will be sold as at present, in little books, but they will be labeled "eyeglass cleaners," instead of "cigarette papers." The cigarette tobacco will be sold as in "The good old days," but it will be labeled "pipe tobacco." And is the man who buys the "eyeglass cleaners" and the "pipe tobacco" sees fit to combine the two into the naughty, naughty cigarette, who has scorned the law?

REGENSBURG FACTORY AT TAMPA.

All Arrangements Now Completed for the Big Model Plant.

Tampa, Fla., April 29.

Final arrangement has been made for the location of the big cigar business of E. Regensburg & Sons in the city on a block of land adjacent to Michigan avenue on the south and situated between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets. All parties interested have deposited a large sum of money to assure the compliance of all terms of the contract and from this time on the Regensburgs are prominent factors in the development of Tampa's premier industry.

Probably within a very few days, the concern will begin the manufacture of cigars on a large scale in the old Ballard-Fernandez factory in Ybor City. Chairs have been ordered for the cigarmakers and these will be placed in the building, which is to serve as headquarters in Tampa for the firm until the new home is completed, at the earliest practicable time.

By June actual construction work will begin on the factory which will be the most model one in the world and from which E. Regensburg & Sons expect to manufacture more cigars than any other concern in the city, excepting the manufacture of cigars from all the factories of the Havana-American Co. The building will be completed within six or eight months.

It will be three stories in height, with a very large basement, and will be built on plans designed by Schwartz & Gross, New York architects, F. J. Kennard to be the resident architect. The dimensions will be about 60x260 feet, and the cost will aggregate between $50,000 and $60,000.

When the company is once settled in that home on Michigan avenue, which will be a credit to industrial Tampa, work will be afforded a force of cigarmakers to the number of between 700 and 1000.

Ybor City feels great pride in the acquisition of the Regensburg business and there is a disposition on the part of all the business men and developers of that section to extend every aid to the firm in hurrying its plans through so that the full force of cigarmakers may be employed ere long and the city may feel the full force of the additional payroll in circulation here.

Laureano Torres, of Havana, who is to be the factory manager, has arrived from Havana, where he has been connected with the Castaneda factory, and is hurrying preparation for the opening in the temporary headquarters.

The Gunnonde & Zurmuellen Co. has been incorporated at Council Bluffs, Ia., with a capital of $50,000, to deal in cigars, pipes and tobacco.

NEW GEORGIA ENTERPRISES.

Wholesale Grocers to Engage in Cigar Manufacturing.

La Grange, Ga., April 28.

La Grange is to have two cigar factories. The Roper Wholesale Grocery Company will begin the manufacture of cigars, using the top floor of their large wholesale store on the A. & W. P. Railroad for the factory.

The services of an experienced cigarmaker, Mr. Bowen Reese, have been engaged and he will be foreman of the plant.

The other enterprise will be known as the La Grange Cigar Company, with Mr. F. R. Knight, of Tampa, as manager. Mr. Knight is already in the city and arrangements have been made with the La Grange Wholesale Grocery Company to handle the entire output of the plant. Mr. Knight has had many years' experience in the business in Tampa.

It is understood that both factories will be ready for business about May 1st.

NEW DETROIT FACTORY.

Spietz & Worch Co. Will Build a Large Factory on Forest Avenue.

Detroit, Mich., April 30.

The Spietz & Worch Company, cigar manufacturers at 606 Chene street, has purchased a factory site on the south side of Forest avenue, between Grandy avenue and Chene street, and will at once commence the erection of a factory building to cost between $70,000 and $75,000.

The property has a frontage of 120 feet and a depth of 180 and the new building will cover the entire site. It will be three stories and a basement and the new institution will give employment to about 1800 persons.

The property was owned by J. H. and Barbara Toepel and the deal was put through by Ignatius Lerchenfeld, of the Recorder's Court.

The Spietz & Worch Company was formerly Marcero Bros. & Spietz.

FIRE DAMAGE AT MOHNTON, PA.

Reading, Pa., April 30.

The cigar factory of John J. Eshelman, at Mohnton, near here, was badly damaged by fire, as well as all the contents, some of which were rendered absolutely worthless. It is understood that a goodly amount of insurance was carried, and Mr. Eshelman will immediately resume business, although he has not fully decided whether he will rebuild on the site of the old building or build a new factory out and out. The cause of the fire is not definitely known. He has an old and established trade on his goods.

William Kiger has bought out the Tauchert cigar factory at Kahoka, Mo.

UNION MEN WANT TARIFF TO STAND

Demand that Philippine Tobacco and Cigars Shall be Barred.

Duluth, Minn., April 29.

"Give us a protective tariff—keep out those Philippine cigars," was the cry of the union cigarmakers at the last regular meeting of the Duluth Trades' assembly in Kalamazoo Hall.

A long communication from the International Cigarmakers' Union protested against the amendment to the tariff bill which allows Philippine cigars and tobacco to enter this country without revenue.

After a discussion and much comment by local cigarmakers and other union men, the communication was placed on file and given the approval of the assembly.

H. Perault, cigarmaker, declared that the importation annually of 150,000,000 cigars from the Philippines and huge quantities of filler and wrapper would be disastrous to the industry in this country. The trade is in bad enough shape now, he said, without adding this injury.

The communication placed on file states that there are about 12,000 idle cigarmakers in this country at the present time, and that there will be more when the importation of the product of the Philippines brings the cheap labor of those islands into competition with American labor. The effect of the removal of the tariff as far as Philippines tobacco is concerned, it was stated, would annul all the benefits accruing to union labor from the Chinese exclusion act.

The trades assembly discussed the advisability of giving a dance or excursion during the coming summer to raise funds. Definite arrangements were not made.

HAVANAS AND NEAR-HAVANAS.

Dealers Sometimes Profit by the Latter, at the Expense of Genuine Goods.

Two friends met in a cigar store today.

"You invariably smoke Havana cigars?" asked one.

"Indeed, I do," was the reply.

"I don't smoke much, but when I do I want my cigar to be an Havana."

"But how do you know you are smoking an Havana cigar?" asked the other with an odd twinkle in his eye.

The smoker looked at the fragrant weed between his fingers as if to receive from it the reply, and then said: "Why, the dealer always tells me."

The parting rejoinder of the fellow-smoker was:

"How many smokers know where the tobacco in their favorite cigar comes from?"

The question remained unanswered.

Havana is to tobacco what gold is to the metals. As gold is the standard of metal values, so is Havana the standard of tobacco values, and as there is no law against misrepresentation, as there is against the fraudulent stamping of karat marks on gold, many varieties of tobacco never raised under Cuban skies are foisted on the smoker as Havana. And how is the average smoker to know?

Porto Rico tobacco, straight or blended with domestic tobaccos, and many tobaccos that have never been out of the United States, pass as Havana. Some kinds are grown from seed gathered in Havana and grown in the United States, and are commonly known as "seed Havana." It is a very easy matter for the dealer to forget the word "seed" and pronounce only the word "Havana."

These are only samples of the many devices used in deceiving the smoker and preventing him from knowing where the tobacco he smokes comes from. There is no indifference on this point among devotees of the weed, but reliable information is hard to get, and the absence of such knowledge is often an opportunity for unscrupulous dealers to turn a smoker from a good brand to one in which there is a bigger profit for the dealer.

The dealer may say "the none-such cigar you have been smoking has fallen off lately; try these." The smoker usually takes the dealer's word. The "so-goods," which he offers, are a different smoke, but the smoker can rarely judge from the first few puffs whether they are better or not. Sometimes the novelty of a change tempts the smoker.

Thus is trade stolen and brands "run in," whose chief merits are the high profits they afford the dealer.

The best brands suffer more from such work than any others, and with reason. They are generally of the best tobacco obtainable, and as the crops vary from year to year, such cigars have to follow the crops in flavor, while always made of the very best tobacco. This variation is the opportunity the little dealer looks for.

For instance, the Havana tobacco crops in 1904 and 1905 were good, while 1906 and 1907 were much inferior. The makers, who buy only the choicest leaf, were compelled to take the "best obtainable." While this "best" was not as fine as before, their pre-eminence as the best cigars remained, but with difference enough to aid the unscrupulous dealer in the sale of his "long profit" substitute.

The crop of 1908, which is now being consumed, while not quite equal to the fine harvests of 1905, is still far superior to the '06 and '07 plantings, and as a result the discriminating smoker can now obtain a welcome improvement.

One of the best known manufacturers of Havana cigars is said to have sold out his entire stock of '07 leaf at a sacrifice, in order to bring his present product up to the higher standard of the 1908 crop. Such sacrifices are rare, but if smokers knew how jealously the intrinsic merit of a well-known brand is guarded, and how great care is taken to give the best value, they would never listen to the voice of the substitution tempter.

The smoker of the best cigars can, however, find some consolation in the knowledge that if his favorite brand is a famous one, really made of fine Havana tobacco, its superiority will always be evident.

J. R. Kearns has sold his one-third interest in a cigar store at Fort Scott, Kan.

Leaf Tobacco Business in Havana is Quiet.

Very Few American Buyers are Now on the Island. Commission Merchants Report No Large Orders. The New Leaf Received to Date is Not of a Desirable Class, but No Positive Opinion of the 1908 Crop in General Can be Reached for Some Time.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, April 26.

Business in our leaf market has again been quiet, a natural conequence of the almost total absence of buyers (as even a couple of swallows does not prove that summer is here), and as our commission merchants are not receiving any orders of importance. Stocks of the old crop (excepting Vuelta Abajo of the 1907 growth which are in good supply) are small, and the cream has been sold long ago. There are, however, some acceptable vegas to be found if a seeker will only hunt for them, and as the owners are disposed to realize upon them, some sales could be made to the advantage of the buyer. The 1907 Vuelta Abajo tobacco is attracting the attention of good judges of leaf to some extent.

What has come to market of the new Vuelta Abajo (principally from the Remates section) consists mostly of libre de pie and common filler. It is not considered as desirable for the clear Havana cigar industry, being too heavy in character, and it remains to be seen how this style will look after the leaf has passed the sweat in the bales.

Generally speaking, this year's crop of Vuelta Abajo has grown under unfavorable climatic influences, absence of rains when they were most needed; therefore according to the accepted theory this tobacco will be unfit for the clear Havana cigar manufacturers. This will not apply to the vegas, where they had an artificial system of irrigation, but they are in a great minority. Besides, in the hilly part, rains fell at the critical period, so these sections may give a good light leaf. The vital point is, however, the fermentation process in the piles, as well as later on in the bales; tobacco which was considered as poor from the start has improved vastly, and vice versa, good leaf has turned out to be poor tobacco in the bales.

For these reasons it is still too early to form a correct opinion about the 1909 crop, as far as quality is concerned, and everybody who is connected with tobacco will have to study the problem a good deal before coming to a definite conclusion.

As far as Partido is concerned, there are two more escojidas working in town, besides the one of Don Luis Marx. There are some sales reported of matules (bundles) in the country, and for wrappers as high as $2 and $2.50 per matul has been paid. Escojidas have not started yet.

Dry weather still prevails in the Santa Clara province, and packings in this part of the island will not commence upon a large scale before June at the earliest.

SALES

last week amounted to 1215 bales, consisting of 620 Vuelta Abaja, 935 Partido and 500 Remedios. For the United States 400 bales were purchased, for Europe 530, and for the local consumption 285.

HAVANA CIGAR MANUFACTURERS

are working fairly well, considering that this is the dull part of the year, when orders are generally only for small quantities, and that this year particularly the pending tariff questions in the United States and Germany are influencing the trade injuriously.

H. Upmann & Co. exported 400,000 cigars during the past week. The famous H. Upmann factory is doing splendidly, considering the times. That Charles Landau, sole representative of the H. Upmann factory for the United States and Canada, has engaged the services of Charles Cameron, formerly the crack salesman of the Waldorf-Astoria Segar Co., speaks volumes for the popularity of the H. Upmann cigar in the two countries.

Behrens & Co. beg to inform the trade that the temporary address of their sole representative for the United States, Max Schatz, is at 76½ Pine street, New York, where all information as to the different sizes and shapes of Sol and Luis Marx cigars, as well as duty paid wholesale prices, can be obtained. The Sol factory is working with increased forces.

The action of the majority of the members of the Union of Manufacturers in rejecting the agreement between its president, Don Rafael Garcia Marques, and Don Gustavo Bock, as President of the Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Ltd., for a modus vivendi, in forming a working alliance for the mutual protection of the cigar industry is to be regretted. Instead of a harmony to uplift, the rivalry existing heretofore will continue.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

Jose F. Rocha was a seller of 520 bales of Vuelta Abajo, mostly 1907 crop.

Celestino Corral purchased 350 bales, or more, of Vuelta Abajo during his stay here.

Rz. Bautista & Co. sold 330 bales of Remedios and Partido leaf last week.

Heinrich Neuberger was a liberal buyer again in our market, and exported 390 bales of leaf last week.

Sylvester & Stern must have been doing an excellent business, if it can be judged by the large volume of weekly exportations from here, and which during the past eight days amounted to 478 bales.

THE CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Recent Stormy Weather Handicapped the Retail Trade, but a Promised Clear Sky Will Increase Business.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street.

Boston, Mass., May 3.

Although the retail trade has been up against it the past week, owing to the bad weather we've had, the prospects are that the winter season is now at an end for goods and that real spring weather will follow and the trade will be in accordance. Our jobbing houses have been quite busy, much business coming in from suburban towns. Jobbers have been receiving shipments very slowly from the American Tobacco Co. and owing to this have had many difficulties in filling orders for the goods.

T. W. Hall, representing the Graham-Ernst Co., Quakertown, Pa., manufacturers of the Seminola high-grade nickel cigar, was a caller on the jobbing trade this week.

Many rumors are afloat that the Jaynes-Riker Drug Co. has purchased the building on Scollay Square at present used by the Epstein Cut Price Drug Co. The fact of the matter is the Epstein Drug Co. has just secured a new lease for ten years on the premises, and has also taken a lease of the jewelry store adjoining; the Jaynes-Riker Company offered to buy the business of the Epstein Drug Co., but as the price offered was not large enough to satisfy the Epstein Drug Co. the deal fell through. The Epstein Co., besides doing a good drug and soda trade, enjoys an excellent cigar and cigarette business. The management of this department is under the care of W. Murphy, a young man who has had plenty of experience in this line in Hartford, Conn. The window display at Epstein's this week of the cigar end of the business is a very attractive one. An artistic Melachrino display is in the background which is worthy of mention. The display was designed and arranged by Edw. J. Mulligan, who is now making displays here for M. Melachrino & Co.

Alfred Ball, with S. Monday & Son, Brooklyn, N. Y., was here several days and took a number of nice orders for Beacon Lights, Imperialettes and Hunter cigarros.

W. G. Akers has sold his cigar and tobacco store, corner Broadway and Stockton streets, Chelsea, to D. F. O'Keefe.

Emil Abrahams, representing the Centennial Cigar Co., is in town introducing to the trade a new 10 for 15c. package of little cigars called Scorer. The package is a very attractive affair, and the quality of the cigarros is said to be equal to any five-cent cigar. Mr. Abrahams was well pleased with the number of orders he took in town from our jobbing trade.

Charlie Bernhardt (Shinasi Bros.) will leave Boston in a few days to work the principal cities and towns in the New England States. Charlie will paint the towns gray with Royal cigarettes, as he is the boy that can do it. Charlie's automobiles will soon follow him. In his absence H. B. Black will look after the local trade. Charlie has been breaking him in this week, and it looks as if Black will soon be a crackajack.

A. Rollman, of the Liberty Tobacco Co., which recently opened for business at 493 Tremont street, reports business very encouraging since the opening. The retail business is coming along nicely under the management of Mr. Barry, and Mr. Rollman is outside most of the time looking after the wholesale trade.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, May 4.

NEW YORK LEAF MARKET.

The leaf market during the last week again fell back into a condition of lethargy. The much-heralded reports of improvements among cigar manufacturers is failing of verification by the returns of the revenue offices. Therefore it is not surprising that the leaf market should also again become dull. There was a hand-to-mouth or routine business only, save in certain new types. There has been a slight, but yet not noteworthy, movement in Connecticut broadleaf stock.

There have been modest transactions in Sumatra leaf, and notwithstanding the higher prices for the new goods there have been a number of instances in which they were given the preference. The fact that the purchases are not more extensive is attributed to the higher prices.

THE CIGAR INDUSTRY.

It is admittedly dull in the cigar trade. While the official returns from the revenue offices are not yet made public, it is believed that the output for the month of April in the metropolitan districts will again show a falling off in the volume of business. There are perhaps a multitude of causes for the apparent decline in the demand for goods, not the least of which is the unsettled tariff question, yet that is not alone. The local option movement in a number of States has undoubtedly affected the cigar trade to a marked degree and the movement is still spreading, and until there has been brought about a readjustment of things to conform with the newer conditions in connection with the liquor traffic its effect is bound to be felt. There are also other local conditions which have a certain bearing, all tending to delay the return of normal times in the industry.

CIGARETTE MANUFACTURERS FIGHT IMITATORS.

Phillip Morris & Co., Ltd., recently secured a temporary injunction in the Supreme Court of the State of New York restraining Phillip Morris & Co. from manufacturing and marketing cigarettes under a label which strongly features the name Phillip Morris & Co.

It is stated that the latter concern consists of one Phillip Morris, who was formerly in the taxicab business, and who associated himself with one Morris Rosenbaum, who was formerly a designer and illustrator, and that these two gentlemen have formed the firm of Phillip Morris & Co., which had established offices at the corner of Forty-second street and Broadway. The product, however, was not manufactured there, the place being used merely as headquarters for sales, for the marketing of the goods. It was also alleged that the new concern had held to prospective customers that the name would help them sell the goods and that their prices were much lower than those of the firm of Phillip Morris & Co., Ltd., who are already well known to the trade. While the appearance of the package might not be regarded as exactly an infringement, if the alleged method of the new firm can be fully substantiated, the firm of Phillip Morris & Co., Ltd., should have little difficulty in obtaining a permanent injunction, and thus effectually stopping such a nefarious undertaking.

KEY WEST CASE IN COURT.

A case is now before the United States Circuit Court for the Southern district of New York which will require a decision as regards the right to the use of the word Key West or Key West, Fla., on cigar boxes, when the goods have not been actually made in Key West.

Recently action was brought by the attorneys representing the Key West Cigar Manufacturers' Association against Max Rosenblum, the acknowledged head of the Edwin Cigar Stores Co., as well as the company itself, who were accused of selling cigars under the name of the Key West Havana Smokers, but which goods, it was stated, were actually made in New Jersey. The counsel for the defendants argued that the name Key West was not a trade-mark, and further maintained that the bill of complaint asserted that the association was a Key West corporation; that it was not really a business, but a non-stock membership corporation, which could have no property rights, since it does not manufacture or sell cigars, and has no ordinary course of trade. He further argued that the Key West Havana Smokers, as sold by the Edwin Cigar Stores Co., were made from Key West tobacco cutting, and that these cigars as seconds did not reach a standard of quality that would be classed as unfair competition.

Counsellor Perry, on behalf of Stewart & Stewart, who are the legal representatives of the Key West Cigar Manufacturers' Association, informed the Court of a number of decisions which he felt justified his naming the association a complainant, as well as its members separately. He dwelt upon the words Key West, Florida, and outlined the campaign which he had been waging to preserve that property right.

The papers were taken by the Court and reserved for decision.

TRADE NOTES.

J. S. Gans & Co. announce that Chas. A. Goldsmith, of York, Pa., is not connected with their sales forces, and that his connection with the house has been severed, and that E. I. Alexander, a member of the firm, and John F. Schnupp will hereafter call on the trade at York and vicinity.

GENERAL DULLNESS AT LANCASTER.

Only One Leaf Sale of Any Importance Reported During the Week.

Lancaster, Pa., May 3.

The leaf dealers generally report continued dullness, although there was one transaction consummated recently which gave a little color to the general complexion of trade conditions. It was a sale of some 200 cases of leaf made by Stoner & Co., leaf packers, at Lititz, to E. Rosenwald & Bro., of New York. Other sales reported were, however, of comparatively small proportions. Even the jobbing trade with local manufacturers has been very quiet during the past week. Little progress can be made by the new tobacco plants during the continuance of the exceptionally cool weather, although farmers are anxious to get their crops planted as early as possible, for the sooner they can get it out the earlier the time for the harvest should be and the safer from frost attacks it would be.

Quite a delegation from Lancaster journeyed to Washington last week to attend a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee on the Tariff bill, so far as its tobacco measures go. In the delegation were B. Ezra Herr, M. L. Greider and George Hibshman, president, vice president and secretary, respectively, of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' Association, together with a representation of the leaf trade. Just what effect their presentations will have on the committee cannot be stated, but it is hoped that it will result in at least some modifications of the Payne bill.

When Common Pleas Court met before Judge Landis at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon last the case of W. T. Killinger against L. P. Kimmig & Co. was attached before Judge Landis. It was a suit to recover $305.31 in a tobacco transaction. Plaintiff claimed that in October, 1906, he entered into a contract with the defendant company for the sale of six acres of tobacco at 15½ cents through. There were 8044 pounds of the tobacco. The tobacco had been bought from A. B. Landis at Rohrerstown. It was delivered at the defendants' warehouse in this city, but they refused to accept it. Plaintiff then sold the crop to Andrew Miller for $1088.76. The suit was brought to recover the difference between the price agreed to by the defendant company and the amount realized by the sale to Miller. The defense was that the tobacco was not up to the condition in the contract, and, therefore, could not be accepted. It was also contended that Killinger never advertised a sale of the tobacco when it was disposed of to Miller.

When Court met before Judge Landis on Tuesday morning the jury in the case of W. T. Killinger against L. P. Kimmig & Co. returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $339.94. John E. Malone for plaintiff and W. U. Hensel for defendant.

Jacob Stroebel, representing the Miami Valley Leaf Tobacco Co., of Dayton, O., was a visitor in the trade here last week.

H. B. Cochran, representing the lithographic firm of Petre, Schmidt & Bergman, of New York, and Samuel Kaufman, with Wm. Steiner, Sons & Co., also New York lithographers, were making the rounds of the trade here last week.

C. F. Steiner, of Akron, is now placing on the market a new brand of cigars, with which he is meeting with encouraging success.

John Zudrell, formerly engaged in the cigar manufacturing business at Ephrata, has rented his factory building to Paris Hildebrand, of Reading, who expects to employ a good number of cigarmakers.

John Slater & Co., have been having a good run of business on their various stogie products during the past few weeks. Mr. John F. Hare, of that firm, has gone to Mt. Clements for the benefit of his health. He has been a severe sufferer with rheumatism, and his visit to Mt. Clements, it is hoped, will prove highly beneficial to him.

TRADE NEWS OF YORK COUNTY.

Tariff Uncertainty Hinders Business Revival. Hanover Factory Burned.

York, Pa., May 3.

The receipts from the sale of cigar and other stamps at the internal revenue office in this city during April amounted to $68,000. The sales of the office during the corresponding month of last year totaled $71,000, or $3000 more. The March receipts this year were nearly $74,000. The decreased business is attributed to the uncertainty of the Tariff bill.

During the month licenses were granted for the opening of 17 cigar factories, in which 106 hands are to be employed. Several of the new factories will be located in and about Red Lion. The largest number of persons will be given employment by D. J. Dehoff at Halam. During April, 1908, licenses were granted for only five cigar factories, to give employment to 26 persons. Two tobacco manufactories were opened, however, that gave employment to 100 persons.

Last month's licenses, location of their factories and the number of hands to be employed are as follows:

Carvin E. French, Red Lion, R. F. D. No. 3, 10 hands; E. B. Kinard, Craley, 3 hands; D. J. Dehoff, Hallam, 20 hands; S. J. Collins, Two Taverns, 3 hands; Charles A. Dellinger, Red Lion, 5 hands; Horace E. Shindler, Windsor borough, 5 hands; Harvey C. Wolf, Red Lion, 4 hands; Charles

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

The conditions of the local leaf tobacco market remain unchanged and only a very moderate amount of business has been done. True there has been some inquiry made for goods, but manufacturers seem to keep finding enough old stock on hand to keep them going, and under existing conditions they are not inclined to make large purchases of goods for future use.

There has not been even a specialization of a particular type of leaf. It very often occurs, when there is a general dullness of trade, that there is a certain kind of leaf that manufacturers become interested in and some business results in consequence. At present there is not even that much activity.

The Sumatra market has also been rather quiet during the past week. A few lots of small quantities only have been sold. Prices, of course, are well maintained, particularly for the new goods.

The Havana market is not materially changed, and there seems to have been a little business in this type of leaf.

It is now regarded as doubtful whether the output of cigars for the month of April in this district will show up as well as the preceding months of the present year so far did, because it seems that there is a more pronounced dullness among some of the State factories than there had been. One thing is certain, the output will come principally from the larger establishments, as nearly all of the smaller factories are feeling a greater depression than the largely operated establishments do at present. Mail orders are not as strong as they have been, and traveling salesmen now out also report that it is with difficulty orders are secured for any volume of business at all. The sections of the country which some good-sized orders had been coming from seem to have also fallen back and are not now ordering as many goods as they have been heretofore taking.

Local retailers are also complaining of a slow business. Even the better weather conditions of the present week do not seem to help a great deal in attracting customers. All along they have been figuring on an improvement as soon as the open-door season arrived, but it seems they have been doomed to disappointment. Box trade seems to be slower than it was before the advent of fair days, and individual purchases are invariably only for a few cigars.

The leaf tobacco firm of D. Pareira & Co. is reported in financial difficulty, and a receiver has been appointed by the Court, which named Mr. Alfred Mayer, who has an office in the Drexel Building and is well known to the trade here. The extent of the liabilities and of the amount of assets is not yet fully known. It is variously estimated, however, that the assets may amount to in the neighborhood of $1000 and the liabilities to about $6000. The exact figures can not be known until an appraisement has been made. Of course, there are certain tobaccos which have been hypothecated, and these cannot be released unless the receiver sees fit to put up an amount of money which will repay the advances made on them. Of course, if there should prove to have been any equity over and above the loan the bankrupt estate will receive the same.

In speaking of Mr. Pareira, the senior member of the firm, the writer was informed that he would go into bankruptcy. He did not expect to enter business again, but said he thought it likely that he would take a position as leaf salesman, probably with a New York house.

Duncan & Moorehead are showing the trade a new line of recently-imported La Mercantile cigars, which are made up in numerous sizes and of extraordinarily nice workmanship, and they are offering them at a price which the dealers say is surprisingly low.

Sam Greenwald, who has been for several years at 107 Chestnut street, has transferred his operations to 5 Market street, formerly operated by B. F. Batten. Some exterior alterations are soon to be made and the general appearance changed, with a view to making it one of the most attractive stores in that busy section.

J. Harvey McHenry, of Arthur Hagen & Co., last week made a flying trip through the State of Pennsylvania in company with Marcus Feeder, of the Marcus Feeder Cigar Co., of Cleveland, O. He reports having met with encouraging success, and that the Feeder line of goods was placed with a large number of wholesale houses who had not heretofore been carrying the goods.

Jacob Trobel, representing the Miami Valley Leaf Tobacco Co., of Dayton, O., was spending some days in this city. He was showing a superior line of Ohio tobaccos, and it is reported that he effected a fair number of sales.

Hilbronner & Jacobs, on North Eighth street, are very busy at present, employing a more than ordinarily large force of cigarmakers, and shipments are going steadily out each day. They regard present prospects as good.

Stock of the new United Cigar Stores Co. is to be offered in this city through a local brokerage firm. The company was recently incorporated with a capital of $10,000,000.

I. G. Weinberg, with S. Weinberg, leaf dealers, returned recently from a trip through Eastern Pennsylvania, covering Quakertown, Bethlehem, Allentown and other points.

The Charter Cigar, made by E. M. Schwartz & Co., is receiving considerable attention in this city, and is coming to the front quite nicely, we are told. It is really a high-grade nickel product.

Lewis Bremer's Sons received this week from Cuba, per steamer Havana, 142 bales of Havana tobacco. This is one of the largest lots of leaf that has arrived here for several weeks from Havana.

Henry G. Alces, with Simon Batt & Co., was in town last week, showing his line of clear Havana cigars. Mr. Alces is always well received by his Philadelphia friends.

Robert Boyce & Bro., at Thirteenth and Walnut streets, fancy grocers, who have also been cigar purveyors, have failed. Just what disposition will be made of the business is not yet known.

The Untited Cigar Stores Co. stand at Broad and Walnut streets is offered for rent. The fixtures are being removed to the store at Fifth and Market streets.

A fire of unknown origin completely gutted the cigar factory of J. Frank Sneeringer, at the rear of Carlisle street, near the Pennsylvania Railroad, Hanover, on Friday night. The loss is estimated at about $15,000, partially covered by insurance. The buildings consisted of a two-story brick building about 35 by 24 feet and a two-story frame building, 28 by 29 feet. The structures belong to George S. Krug, cashier of the People's Bank.

The fire was discovered at about 10 o'clock and an alarm was immediately turned in, which was responded to by both companies. Upon their arrival the buildings were in flames. It took nearly two hours of hard work before the fire was under control.

The loss to Mr. Sneeringer will amount to about $12,500. He had about 200 cases of tobacco stored in the basement of the buildings and about 20,000 stamped cigars packed ready for shipment. A number of the destroyed cases of tobacco were just received Friday. His loss, with the exception of about $7000, will be covered by insurance.

Mr. Sneeringer has a force of about 60 hands during his busy season, but at present only about 24 men were kept employed. He could give no cause for the fire.

It was only by the energetic work of firemen that the flames were kept from spreading across the alley to the cigar factory of Jesse Frysinger.

Business is reported to be somewhat improved with several of the McSherrytown factories, although there is not yet the activity which the factories there are so well accustomed to. C. E. Mattingley & Co. report that their business has been fairly good so far this year until during the past two weeks, when there seemed to come a lull in the demand for cigars. Several others, however, report that they are now beginning to receive a few more orders than had been coming their way for some weeks.

The operations of the Imperial Cigar Co., of McSherrytown, are to be greatly extended, and it is hoped that a large force of cigarmakers will soon find employment there. The enterprise is headed by S. J. Johns, the well-known tobacco man, and who has secured the service of Thomas James, a well-known New York salesman, and who some years ago did a big business for Mr. Johns. Charles Buzby has been retained as foreman of the factory, and Mr. Blaine Johns, a son of S. L. Johns, is also associated with his father in the enterprise.

It is stated in Hanover that a cigar manufacturer recently suffering a heavy loss by fire is offering a settlement with creditors on the basis of twenty cents on the dollar.

The Sneeringer fire is the second fire of considerable loss that has occurred in Hanover recently.

H. M. Shook, who recently opened a cigar factory at Spring Grove, is getting under way nicely and seems to have elegant prospects ahead of him to build up a large business.

H. F. Kohler, at Nashville, is pretty well pleased with business conditions, and the demand for the better grade of cigars, he says, has not materially fallen off with him.

It is stated that there will soon be reported the dissolution of a cigar manufacturing firm in a small town near York, which has been quite prominent in the trade for several years, and there is much regret that the firm will not continue as before.

D. B. Goodling, cigar manufacturer at Loganville, closed his factory last week for a period of time owing to dull demand for goods just now.

G. W. Gable, of Windsor, recently received some good-sized orders for his product, and it has had a good effect on the townspeople of Windsor generally.

W. A. Lahr, of Red Lion, returned at the end of last week from a business trip to New York, during which time he booked some good-sized orders for goods, and which will keep his factory in running order for some time.

CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Concluded from p. 9.

John Dubreuil (Khedivial Co.) has added another salesman to his staff, M. Gilchrist, a new beginner in the cigarette line, who has already showed he can make good in any company. Mr. Dubreuil calls his crew the Big Four; they are Messrs. Warsaw, Solaway, Kitsis and Gilchrist. The Khedivial Co. has a good trade here; the new 15¢. Oxford tin package is a winner and is duplicating in great style.

The alterations at Alfowich Bros.' cigar store on Hanover street have been completed and the store is now the finest on that street. The new front shows up the goods in the windows very prominently, and a big increase in business is expected very shortly. The Boston office of The Tobacco World is located at the rear of the store, and members of the cigar trade are invited to call at any time to inspect the same.

The Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co. is distributing a lot of advertising matter featuring their Lynnhaven cigarette. Jobbers report this bbrand as selling well.

The Alumni sliced plug, manufactured by the U. S. Tobacco Co., of Richmond, Va., is duplicating nicely for a new piece of goods. This brand, although not advertised at all, is selling well on its merit. Ben Ali.

CIGAR TRADE IN MILWAUKEE.

Fay Lewis & Bro. Co. Takes the Lederer Stock. Fair Business Reported by the Dealers Generally.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 1.

Last week we reported that no higher bid than the $12,000 offered by Fay Lewis & Bro. Co. had been made for the I. M. Lederer stock, but on Monday Lederer was successful in having the sale postponed until Wednesday, the 28th. Mr. Leopold Powell, of New York, was here and went over the matter with him, but did not seem to think it worth over the amount bid, and on Wednesday the new owners took possession. Ralph Wettstein, formerly inventory clerk, has been made manager. Charles Engel, who has been in the store since Lederer took possession a year or so ago; will leave, probably going to Rockford, where he will join the Fay Lewis forces.

Trade with the local dealers has been reasonably good considering the weather, which has kept the streets pretty well deserted.

Steve Surman & Co. report collections good and business normal. They have a display of La Javelot, of the Waldorf-Astoria make.

The Abraham stores are doing their usual business. To-day Joseph Feiger becomes manager of the five stores. Joe is well liked and understands the business thoroughly.

C. Cass Hendee has had the front of his new stand painted white, to bear out the title of the Marble Cigar Store, which he adopted while in the marble store of the Baltimore lunch room.

F. H. Crombie has settled down to business again after his honeymoon. Business is good with him.

McGuire's report the usual business. Part of their windows are being utilized in displaying Pollock's stogies this week.

John A. Dadd & Son are giving the Little Tom a boost this week with a display in the corner window.

Most of the other dealers report their share of business. The local manufacturers are all working in full force.

Kindling Co. report business good and improving right along.

The H. & E. Kern factory is still running full time on the National Fad, which appears to be making more of a hit than their Dan Patch, which had a big run some time ago.

A. C. Brenckle Co. are busy and report outside trade good.

Among the trade visitors this week was A. Boyd Wilson, representing George S. Nichols with a line of imported goods. The representative of F. Garcia & Bro. also called on the local dealers.

Charles Wabyick, a local jobber with an office in the Casewell Block, has offered a compromise of twenty-five cents on the dollar.

Gov. Johnson has vetoed the so-called anti-tobacco bill, but it is reported that an amended bill will be presented shortly. Kromp.

UNITED CIGAR STORES EXPAND.

New Company with $10,000,000 Capital Incorporated at Albany.

With a capital of $10,000,000, the Corporation of United Cigar Stores was incorporated at Albany recently. Regarding the formation of the new company this statement was given out at the general office of the United Cigar Stores Co., No. 44 West 18th street, New York:

"The determination of this enterprise to practically double the number of retail cigar stores operated by the company throughout the country has made necessary the organization to be known as the Corporation of United Cigar Stores. To accomplish this end largely increased capital will be required, as well as an infusion of new blood in the management of the stores.

"During the last three years of the eight years' existence of the parent company, real estate investments involving many millions of dollars have been made, either in the outright purchase of desirable property or by long-term leases.

"The incorporators in the new company are: George J. Whelan, president of the United Cigar Stores Co.; Elliott Averett, secretary of that company; Louis Biel and Frederick A. Whelan, vice presidents of the company, and A. B. Duke."

WEST VIRGINIA STOGIE CO.

New Concern Begins Operations with 22 Employes.

New Martinsville, W. Va., April 30.

The West Virginia Stogie Co., recently organized by local business men of this city, commenced operations in the Wells Building last week, giving employment to twenty-two hands. The factory is destined to become one of the leading industries of the city, and the number of employes will be increased when in full running operation.

Basil T. Hill, an experienced stogie manufacturer, is foreman and manager. Already a sufficient number of orders have been secured to keep the factory running for several weeks, and it is understood that the New Martinsville Grocery Co. will handle a large amount of the product.

The entire building on South Main street has been rented by the company, and all of the floor space will be occupied. The company was organized to supply the trade formerly held by the Kaminis factory, which gave employment to about forty people.

PLANT BEDS EXPOSED.

Continued Night Rider Outrages in Kentucky.

Carlisle, Ky., April 29.

Reports of canvas being stolen from tobacco plant beds and the tender plants being exposed to the elements continue to come from various sections of the white burley district and is causing the growers much annoyance. In some counties of the district the available supply of canvas has been exhausted and the growers in many cases are unable to secure cotton to replace that removed.

In some localities the growers are determined to break up the removal of cotton from the plant beds, and it is reported bloodhounds may be used to trace the offenders.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The weather has been too cold and blustering for the rapid growth of vegetation, especially the tobacco plant, which is as yet keeping very close to the ground. Some growers report their plants well up and growing finely. But those who make such reports have their seed beds well protected either by adjoining buildings or high fences, or by some other protection (not tariff), and such beds will furnish plants for early setting, while those unprotected beds will come straggling along some time the fore part of June, or perhaps later in the month.

A few old boards put up on the north and west sides of the beds will hasten the growth of the plants even though the beds are further protected by good frames covered by glass sash. The wonder to me is that the farmers are so neglectful of their interests. With artificial protection a little earlier start might be made in transplanting at least a portion of their setting, so partly dividing the hail and frost, provided only a part of their crop can be harvested before the great hail season strikes them. If only a small portion of the crop is housed in safety all is not lost. I hear of two men who have plants so large that a quarter of a dollar will hardly cover them. Such plants will be ready to transplant early in May, and in nine cases out of ten such tobacco will be ready, and it will, as a general thing, be harvested without harm coming to it, and it will be ready to take down and be stripped before some of these later farmers begin their harvest. As our tobacco crop is strictly a money crop they will be ready to meet the trade with bundles of tobacco to be sown, and, as a rule, they will be the first to put the money in their pockets, much to the surprise of the late men. It is one of the strong points in the game to be early to get that money laid away, it is the foundation of next year's experiments. For, say what you may, tobacco growing is an experiment as yet in this country although we began to grow the weed when we were a British colony, away back in 1639, and it does seem as though in that long time some advance over what we see at present should have been sought out, but for the careless and shiftless manner that we Americans have of doing what we call, business, who among us is willing to subscribe even one dollar towards experimental work? Who among us does not turn his nose up when the word "Science" is mentioned. No sir; he sits quietly down and allows the Government to appropriate a limited amount to carry on a scientific experiment and he chats with his friend and casts reflections upon the results attained under trying conditions. Put your hand into your pocket and invest a little to help along the cause that gives you a living; to investigate the crop upon which you must learn to supply ready money. I have seen recently an article that some or the most of those men who introduced artificial heat into their seed-beds are disposed to take out the pipes, as the heat caused the surface of the beds to become dry! What would you have; a heat that would dampen at the same time that it heated the soil? We cannot do it by the usual method, but if one is too lazy to water the bed every day, if necessary, to keep the surface moist, why not put in a valve in every length of pipe and allow a small amount of steam to escape, and produce by condensation, partly or wholly, enough moisture under the cloth or glass, thereby changing the manner of moistening, which will probably suit such shiftless ideas as was expressed in the article. I for one would rejoice in the fact of the water, knowing that every time the bed got dry the plants had been compelled to grow in spite of the cold on the outside. I see by the papers that the last of the 1906 Connecticut tobacco has disappeared from the New York markets, and we wonder what the trade will do now. As is well known, there is nothing to take its place. The 1908 is not yet in condition to take any active part in the manufacture of cigars, as it is too recently from the sweat rooms, and it will not be available for two months or more. The 1907 can in no way be counted on as a successor to the 1906 crop. It is sadly in want of quality. I do not see but the trading must go on in the hand to mouth style for some time yet, although probably considerable of the 1906 can be gleaned from farmers and local packers to carry on the late style of buying for some time, and in all probability some of the first sweating of the 1908 will be forced by every means known to the trade to fill the gap as much as possible. But yet there is the 1906 in Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, and perhaps some other States may be called over and some lots found that will substitute for New England and never be known outside the trade.

Astonishment was made prominent by the fire that burned a set of packing buildings at Lancaster, Pa., where it was revealed that 1200 cases of 1906 tobacco was stored. No one supposed there was so much of that crop stored at any one place in the city.—Amer. Cultivator.

NEW YORK STATE.

South Granby.—Fuller & Palmer delivered their tobacco to Fulton last week. Seed beds are being sown late on account of so much cold and bad weather. Less tobacco will be raised and more corn and peas for the canning factory.—Baldwinsville Gazette.

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton, April 30.—The buying season is now very nearly brought to a close. The quiet absorption going on the past month has reduced the remnants to a very small fraction and only scattering lots remain in growers' hands. Neither do late prices vary from those quoted frequently heretofore. Considerable receiving of the late buying has been going on and when this is finished it looks as if the movement of the 1908 crop would be practically at an end. Culton & Weil have opened two or three warehouses lately for the handling of considerable leaf purchased recently. The local branch of the American Cigar Co. and the Eisenlohr warehouses have closed during the week.

The market for old leaf has developed no new features. Transactions are still confined to small lots to meet the pressing necessities of manufacturers, though Eastern journals report there is a feeling of expectancy of a more liberal movement as the summer advances.

A week of cold rains has delayed the laying of seed beds and all farm work as well, neither are the weather conditions propitious for seed already planted.

Shipments, 491 cases and five carloads of bundles.—Reporter.

Soldiers' Grove.—Almost impassable condition of country roads put a stop to tobacco deliveries, although probably there are few crops in the country remaining unsold and undelivered. At most of the packing points sorting is drawing to a close, and that is practically the case in Viroqua. None of the places have shut down, but work is about done and cleaning up is left only to do. It has been a very busy season.

The Bekkedal tobacco warehouse closed a very successful season's run last week. During the season over 1200 cases have been assorted and packed which with the filler, etc., makes in the neighborhood of 400,000 pounds which has been handled in this warehouse. This has given steady employment to an average of about 45 people for over three months. The warehouse began operations on January 7 and finished April 15.—Scout.

The Mills Cigar Co., to manufacture cigars, has been incorporated at Chicago by Taussig & Co., with a capital of $10,000.

Eleventh Annual Convention OF The National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association

Proceedings of the Meeting in Baltimore——President Cullman's Address
Reports of Committees——Discussions of the Day

An Elaborate Banquet on Tuesday Evening Crowns the Work

Hotel Belvidere,
Baltimore, Md., May 10.

The morning of Monday, May 10, was ushered in at Baltimore with a crisp atmosphere, somewhat to the surprise of those delegates who had arrived Sunday night, at the close of a day that was ideal and the morning sky was found clouded. Those delegates who had not arrived on Sunday were on hand in good time on Monday morning, and at 10.20 the assemblage met in the Eleventh Annual Convention of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association were called to order by President James F. Cullman, Jr.

A. W. Gieske, president of the Baltimore Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, in a few well-chosen words welcomed the delegates to the monumental city and extended to them the hospitality of the city. His remarks were greeted with a hearty applause.

The report of the Credential Committee was called for and responded to by A. W. Gieske, chairman, and the report was read to the meeting by Secretary Fox.

The reading of the President's Annual Report was next in order, and was read alternately by President Cullman and Secretary Fox. The report, which will be found elsewhere, was received with hearty applause.

After the Finance Committee had reported on the Treasurer's Report, the report was presented by Treasurer Felix Eckerson, and showed the financial standing of the association as follows:

Balance on hand, May, 1908	$2027.44
Receipts during year	2217.04
Total recipts	$4244.48
Expenditures	2085.41
Balance on hand	$2169.04

John R. Young, on behalf of the Board of Directors, reported that during the year only one meeting had been held, at which time the principal business was in reference to the proposed tariff revision, and that certain recommendations had been made by resolutions to the effect that the matter should be looked after by the Legislative Committee in conjunction with the president of the association. The report was accepted.

Chairman Bijur, of the Legislative Committee, announced that there was no report by that committee beyond what had been presented in the president's annual message.

Joseph F. Cullman, Jr., New York, Re-elected President.

At this juncture Mr. Young asked for the floor, and it precipitated some little discussion as to that privilege, but Mr. Young won his point. He wanted to know what had been done by the Legislative Committee and why no specific report was made by that committee. He could not ascertain, and the members of the association did not know. He referred to the fact that at the meeting of the Board of Directors certain instructions had been given the Legislative Committee, particularly regarding the resolution then adopted, which was to the effect that the Legislative Committee, in conjunction with the president, should use all honorable methods of bringing about a modification of the tariff.

Mr. Bijur replied that there had really no specific instructions come to him as chairman of the Legislative Committee, and that furthermore there had been no real action taken at the last meeting of the association with reference to the tariff revision, such as was intimated in the resolution of the Board of Directors referred to, and therefore the Legislative Committee had not failed to take cognizance of any instructions. Had he received any instructions he would certainly have followed out the wishes of the association.

This about settled the discussion, and the meeting proceeded to consider further reports of committees.

Joseph F. Cullman, Sr., reported for the Arbitration Committee that the committe had not been called upon to adjust any disputes.

For the Insurance Committee, F. M. Dolbert read a report, and it was deferred for a consideration until a later session.

The regular rules were suspended, and the election of officers was also deferred until the conclusion of any new business.

It was agreed that a Resolution Committee, consisting of five, be appointed.

The meeting then adjourned until 10 o'clock Tuesday.

After returning from a trip to Annapolis, the State capital, the delegates assembled in a late session at 10 o'clock P. M. at the Hotel Belvedere.

President Cullman had in the meantime appointed the Committee on Resolutions, which consisted of the following gentlemen:

John R. Young, Philadelphia.
W. J. Lucaswitz, Dayton, O.
I. Bijur, New York.
Benj. L. Haas, Hartford, Conn.
A. B. Hess, Lancaster, Pa.

Reports were called for from the committee, but none were yet in hand to present, except such as the committee reported on in behalf of the meeting.

A resolution of regret for the illness of Internal Revenue Commissioner John C. Capers was presented and adopted. A resolution of thanks to the President and officers for their energetic work during the past year was presented and passed by a unanimous vote.

A resolution urging a provision in the pending tariff revision Act to provide for the disposal of seized goods, to the effect that such goods be not sold for less than the amount of duty thereon, or that the goods shall be destroyed under Government supervision, or sold for export subject to bond for the faithful performance of the exporting to be given by the purchaser.

The measure was adopted.

W. L. Crounce, the Washington representative of the Association, was tendered a vote of thanks and was retained for the ensuing year.

IMPORTANT ST. LOUIS LEASE.

United Gets Desirable Corner. Said to be Seeking Others.

St. Louis, May 7.

The Weisels-Gerhart Real Estate Company closed another important lease in the downtown district, leasing to the United Cigar Stores Company for a long term of years the storeroom at the southwest corner of Eighth and Pine streets. The room has a frontage of 16 feet on Pine street and 22 feet on Eighth street, and the annual rental is $3600 a year, which is considered a record price in that vicinity. The deal was made for Max Jacobson, who has been conducting a cigar store there for the past two years. He is retiring from the retail business to enter the manufacturing field. The United Cigar Stores Company also purchased from Mr. Jacobson the good-will of the business and the fine fixtures in the store. The new lessee will assume possession on May 15th. Extensive improvements are to be made, and the rear storeroom, known as 128 North Eighth street, will be subleased.

The Cigar Stores Company is figuring on other downtown corners. There was a rumor abroad yesterday that the company had closed a lease on the northwest corner of Seventh and Olive streets, in the Missouri Trust Building, and was to pay $18,000 a year for a space 18 by 30 feet. The property is owned by the Southern Real Estate and Financial Company, Louis A. Cella, president. The report could not be confirmed. It is known, however, that a Broadway firm is figuring on taking the corner of the building, while several deals for the small stores to be located on the Seventh street side of the building, through subdividing the old quarters of the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Company, are under way.

BOUGHT CIGAR STORES.

Now Sues for $30,000 Damages, Alleging Conspiracy.

Des Moines, Ia., May 3.

D. C. Glasser, the millionaire owner of the Glasser Tobacco Company, of Dubuque, and Chester V. Gibson, of Des Moines, were this afternoon made defendants in a sensational suit for $30,000 damages filed against them in district court by Ira D. Soper.

Soper alleges that Glasser and Gibson, taking advantage of his youth and inexperience in business, conspired to cheat him in the sale of the cigar stores at 211 Fifth street and 418 Walnut street, and that Glasser wrung a $20,000 farm in Carroll county from him by threatening to prosecute him for embezzlement.

Soper sets up that Gibson, in compliance with an agreement with Glasser, formed a partnership with him, Soper, and purchased the two cigar stores from Glasser. Glasser and Gibson made a false inventory of the two smoke shops, Soper says, and placed their value at $14,000, when in reality they were worth but $1500. After the purchase Gibson stayed in the firm but five months, Soper says, and then, in compliance with the agreement with Glasser, dropped out and left the burden upon him.

Then Glasser stepped in, Soper says, and by threatening to have him arrested for embezzlement, made him deed over the $10,000 farm and sign an additional note for $3000.

The whole deal was a conspiracy to defraud and cheat him, he says, and has caused him damage, both actual and exemplary, in the sum of $30,000.

The petition of Soper was filed this afternoon in district court by McLaughlin & Shankland, attorneys.

D. C. Glasser, of Dubuque, co-defendant with C. V. Gibson in a suit for $35,000 damages, charging fraud and conspiracy in the sale of two cigar stores, instituted by Ira D. Soper, in district court, filed a motion asking that the case be transferred from this district to Dubuque. He asserts that Gibson, who resides in Des Moines, is not a proper party to the action, but that he was made co-defendant for the sole purpose of bringing the case in the local district court. He also asks that he be awarded $75, which he has been forced to pay out in attorney fees because of the wrongful bringing of the action here.

STRIKE AT P. & W. FACTORY.

La Crosse, Wis., May 6.

Because they were dissatisfied with the scale of wages offered them for making three certain kinds of cigars, fourteen cigarmakers, employed by the Pamperin & Wiggenhorn Cigar Company, walked out last week, taking their tools with them. The men claim they were offered a reduction in wages for making these cigars, which go to make up a special order of 100,000 from an Eastern jobbing house. The men demanded one dollar more than the price offered by the company, and upon being refused they walked out.

W. A. Wiggenhorn says the scale offered the men is on the same terms as that paid on other goods heretofore and he says the demands of the men are unreasonable. He further said that applicants are already asking for work, and the places of the strikers will be taken by other cigarmakers.

Arrival of a Few More Buyers Enlivened Business. Holders are Willing and Visitors Can be Sure of Favorable Terms. Nothing Positively Known About the New Leaf, as Packers and Dealers are Cautious. Cigar Men Fear an Increase in the British Tariff on Their Product. Death of Jose Gonzalez.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, May 3, 1909.

Owing to the arrival of several leaf buyers the past week our market has shown more life than during the last two weeks. Prices, of course, were low, as the sellers, in order to close out their holdings, were willing enough to meet buyers. Visitors to Havana at this time could be reasonably sure of making favorable purchases of certain kinds of tobacco, as, of course, the fine factory vegas of Vuelta Abajo and Partido are gone, as also are prime Remedios, first capaduras, at the former market price. There is still one fancy Santa Clara escojida to be had, but as the owner is at least $10 per quintal above the highest prices which were paid here, it is not likely that anybody will care to purchase it, at least not as long as good tobacco can be bought cheaper in New York.

Regarding the new Vuelta Abajo and Partido crop nothing has transpired. Our dealers and packers this year are proceeding slowly and prefer to wait, in order to see how the leaf will look after it has passed the sweat in the piles. As everybody is expecting to see lower figures (of course, excepting the farmers), no one seems anxious to be the first to pay the prices which the vegueros are asking now, lest his neighbor may purchase upon more favorable terms later on. This refers, however, principally to Vuelta Abajo, as a few large packers in the Partido section have already made some purchases for their escojidas.

In the Santa Clara province the season is still more backward, as the farmers prefer not to make their piles until the rains have started in for good. The reason for this is that, as all tobacco is sold per quintal, it will absorb the moisture more with continuous rains, and therefore weigh heavier than if piled with only a moderate degree of humidity. There is, however, one disadvantage for the farmers, that if the green tobacco contains an excessive amount of moisture it may spoil in the piles and the buyer will reject this class of tobacco at the time of carting it away.

industry, as now Great Britain has also commenced to talk about an increase in the duties upon cigars, in order to meet the deficit in the treasury and to provide extra revenue for its increased naval construction. While the projected increase is only $3 per thousand, and could easily be borne by the higher priced cigars, it may however curtail the consumption of the lower priced grades, of which England has been quite a consumer. Should the increase become a law the new duty would be equal to $2.75 per lb., while the United States, even with the 20 per cent. rebate allowed to Cuba, still charges $3.60 per lb. and 20 per cent. ad valorem. The large independent factories seem to be still well supplied with orders, but the smaller ones are only working moderately.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 450,000 cigars during the past week, and the factory is working as steadily as heretofore.

Behrens & Co., of Sol and Luis Marx fame, have received some very good orders from their sole representative for the United States, Max Schatz, chiefly fine sizes.

The Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Ltd., is working well. The La Corona factory is now established again at its old headquarters, 1 Reina street, the famous former Aldama palace.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

Jose Menendez had a very good week, as he sold 110 bales of leaf to several customers during the past eight days.

D. Frankel was a buyer of 600 bales of tobacco for his San Francisco factory, which has risen, Phoenix-like, from the ashes of the earthquake and fire. Both partners are hustlers and understand their business.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzalez were sellers of 250 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

Charles Vogt purchased his 500 bales of leaf tobacco for his customers, the right goods and at the right prices, within four days of his arrival, and left yesterday for his home by the steamship Havana, well pleased with his flying trip.

Manuel Menendez Parra closed out 150 bales of Remedios and Partidos last week. The many friends of Don Manuel in the United States will be sorry to learn that he has been sick for the last two weeks, but it is to be hoped that his good constitution will pull him through before long and that he will regain his former health.

Harry Ehrlich made some good purchases of leaf.

Muniz Hnos & Co. disposed of 100 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

Jose Gonzalez, who held the power of attorney for Gustavo Salomon & Bro., for a number of years, and lately was established at 114 Monte street on his own account, went to his rest, in his 70th year of age, on Monday last, the 26th of April. He was buried the next day, and the tobacco trade was well represented at his funeral.

Don Antonio Calzada has gone to Santa Clara province to look over the fields and prepare for his coming escojidas in Remedios this year.

If there should be any demand for Vuelta Abajo seed in the United States, Charles Blasco is in a position to furnish the same of the best and legitimate quality, through his many connections in this part of the island.

No Change for the Better Yet in Sight. Decreased Cigar Output in April.

Lancaster, Pa., May 10.

A truly lethargic condition is still prevalent in the leaf tobacco trade of this city. During the past week there was practically nothing doing. That is, not among the packers. The only houses doing any business at all, it seems, are the jobbers, who have been selling some few goods, but in small lots only, to local cigar manufacturers.

No immediate improvement is looked for in the leaf trade, because the conditions in the cigar trade are now also such that it is not expected that the manufacturers will buy stock of any consequence until there comes a change that is favorable to them.

The official revenue returns for the month of April are anything but favorable. The figures show a decided falling off in the output of cigars as compared with the previous month, and what is more, it was less than the output of the month of April, 1908.

Following are the figures in numbers of cigars for which stamps were sold during the respective months:

April, 1909	53,746,890
March, 1909	58,196,200
April, 1908	55,738,960

This shows a decrease during the month of April, 1909, as compared with the previous month, of 4,449,310. In comparison with the month of April, 1908, the decrease was 1,992,070.

The representatives of the trade here who last week visited Washington and attended a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee on the tariff bill, feel that they made a favorable impression upon that body, and believe that it will in all probability prove of some avail.

The delegates who were elected to attend the convention of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association left for Baltimore this morning. It is quite likely that we shall hear a good account of them and the active interest which these delegates are likely to take in the proceedings. There was a goodly number of visitors accompanying the regular delegates on their trip.

During the past week very good progress was made by the young tobacco plants, and with continued favorable weather they are likely to be ready for transplanting in good time. Farmers are very anxious to get the planting done early this year, and are hopeful that the weather conditions will favor them.

The United Cigar Company, which operates the cigar factory in the large Kimports Building at Ephrata, and had been working full handed in this place, though they had shut down elsewhere, is now working four days a week, the new schedule having gone into effect last week. A number of large orders have been received since, and it is believed that the short time schedule will be only temporary. Other cigar factories in that town have been working on short time for several months.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World

New York, May 11.

NEW YORK LEAF MARKET.

The leaf tobacco market has been without much interest during the past week. Trading continues in a hand-to-mouth sort of a way and the volume of business is far from what might be desired, although, of course, there is constantly some business being done. May is not starting out very promising, but that may all have changed before the month comes to a close. The indications at present, it must be admitted, are not very favorable to such an end, and before there can be expected to be a noticeable change for the better the cigar manufacturers will have to be receiving more business, otherwise it is very unlikely that they will go into any extensive purchases of additional stocks. As it is, they seem to be turning such products as are required by present demands out of whatever stock they still have on hand.

THE CIGAR INDUSTRY.

The output of cigars during the month of April, as shown by the sale of internal revenue stamps, shows a decided falling off in both of the principal metropolitan districts. This fully verified the statements made by the manufacturers during the month that the demand for goods was not lively enough to warrant them in making any extensive purchases of raw material, but which by some had been doubted. It is even a question whether the manufacturers themselves had really expected as much of a falling off to be shown as the figures actually reveal.

In the Second District the sale of cigar stamps shows a falling off in the output of full fledged cigars over 1,000,000 as compared with the month of March, and in comparison with the month of April, 1908, the reduction is even greater—about 50 per cent.

In the Third District the stamp sales show a reduction in the output of cigars of 1,500,000, as compared with the month of March, and 1,750,000 as compared with the corresponding month of 1908.

In cigarettes there are some interesting figures, showing that in the Second District in particular this is true Of the class of cigarettes bearing a $1.08 stamp there was a reduction in the revenue of over $18,000, as compared with the month of March, but in comparison with April, 1908, there would be shown an increase of over $10,000.

In the production of tobacco and snuff there was no material change.

Leaf Men's Convention.

The delegates of the New York Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade left here on Sunday afternoon for Baltimore, where they will meet in convention on Monday morning. It was a jolly crowd who believe in doing all the business possible, but not without a little recreation along with it. That the spirit of good fellowship will be fully maintained throughout the deliberations is plainly apparent. There are innumerable matters to come up before the convention, and the New York delegation left here well prepared for active participation in all matters affecting the welfare of the trade.

Newark Dealer Bankrupt.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Henry A. Rosner, a well-known retail cigar dealer, of Newark, N. J., and A. P. Freeth was appointed receiver. The action came as a result of the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage held by the H. A. Rosner Cigar Co.

Good Sumatra Sale Made.

The Sumatra importing firm of H. Duys & Co. recently consummated an important sale of the new Sumatra tobacco. The negotiations were concluded by J. H. Duys, of that firm, with a Detroit manufacturing firm, during a recent visit of Mr. Duys to Detroit.

Commemorated Anniversary by Incorporating.

The well-known Brooklyn manufacturing and distributing house of S. Monday & Sons recently celebrated its fiftieth business anniversary by incorporating the business which was established a half century ago by S. Monday.

The officers of the new corporation are: S. Monday, president; M. Monday, vice president; J. Monday, secretary and treasurer.

Extra A. T. Dividend

The regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. on the common stock and an extra dividend of 5 per cent. was last week declared by the directors of the American Tobacco Co., and these dividends are payable June 3 to stockholders of record on May 15, at which time the stock books will be closed.

New Leaf Firm Organized.

A new leaf firm has been organized under the name of H. Bacharach & Co., of which the principal is Henry Bacharach, who has been the manager of the New York office of Taussig & Co., of Chicago. H. Bacharach & Co. have taken over the distributing agency of the Florida and Texas tobaccos of Taussig & Co., which latter firm will discontinue direct operations here.

Headquarters have been secured at 101 Water street, and although the firm only began business on May 3 good progress has already been made.

* * *

Trade Notes.

M. F. Schneider, importer of Sumatra tobacco and for some years past located at No. 2 Burling slip, has secured new headquarters at No. 4 Burling slip, where new and commodious offices have been installed.

Henry Traiser, a prominent Boston cigar manufacturer, sailed for Europe on the S. S. Mauretania.

THE LOCAL TOBACCO NEWS

Business has been especially quiet during the last week in the leaf districts. The needs of manufacturers seem to be nil at present, yet there has been some inquiry for goods, which have thus far not resulted in sales.

The cigar output for the month of April proved an agreeable surprise to all. It was rather expected that a decrease was certain to be the result of the April business, while the sales of stamps show an output of 52,517,800, which is a gain of more than 2,500,000 over the month of April, 1908, although a decrease of 3,700,000 as compared with the month of March, 1909.

At noon on Saturday last six hundred employes of the Theobald & Oppenheimer Cigar Company, Fourth street, below Girard avenue, were scheduled to protest against the Philadelphia Rapid Transit fare increase by parading, each bearing cards saying "I walk." When the time came, however, only about one hundred participated in the march, and among these were ten women.

These walked out Girard avenue to Broad street and thence to the City Hall. By the time the procession had reached Broad and Buttonwood streets all except four of the women had dropped out, and the ranks of the men were getting thinner.

Miss Elizabeth Ipenger, of No. 1241 Orianna street, was one of the members in the women's ranks. The turnout was under the leadership of Isadore S. Levy, the organizer; M. Kramer, of Seventh and Ritner streets; Harry Parker, of No. 715 Tree street, and Israel Lipski.

Joseph A. Bremer, a retired tobacco man, died early last week at the home of his son, Lewis Bremer, 1925 N. Broad street, in the seventy-ninth year of his age.

Mr. Bremer was for many years a prominent figure in the leaf trade and in financial institutions of this city until his retirement from active business about fifteen years ago, at which time he was the head of the firm of Lewis Bremer's Sons, 322 North Third street, which was founded by his father, Lewis Bremer.

Mr. Bremer is survived by two sons, Lewis Bremer, now head of the cigar manufacturing firm of H. C. Nolan & Co., Lansdale, Pa., and Henry F. Bremer, a lawyer in Baltimore, two brothers, Geo. W. Bremer, father of Geo. W. Bremer, Jr., and Walter Bremer, composing the leaf firm of Bremer Bros.; Theodore Bremer, father of Harry W. Bremer, present head of the old leaf house of Lewis Bremer's Sons, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Miller and Mrs. Jacob Rommel.

A special meeting of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade has been called for Thursday next at the brokerage office of J. S. Batroft, when action will be taken on the death of the former member of the trade.

B. Labe & Sons last week received advices from Jacob Labe that he had purchased at the Sumatra inscription held at Rotterdam on Friday last 100 bales Sumatra tobacco, which will be dispatched at once.

Irwin Loeb, youngest of three sons of Leopold Loeb, head of the enterprising leaf firm of Leopold Loeb & Co., leaves this week for Amsterdam, to attend the several remaining Sumatra inscriptions. Young Loeb is an acknowledged judge of good tobacco, and will doubtless render a good account of himself in the selections he makes.

The Juan F. Portuondo Cigar Mfg. Co. is placing on the market a new brand of nickel cigars under the title of "All Alike," which is a Havana-filled cigar, and it is expected that it will become a strong leader.

A large number of orders have been reaching the house lately, and additional cigarmakers are being advertised for.

Bayuk Bros. have taken possession of their new factory building at Third and Spruce streets, where they have erected a modern five-story structure especially adapted to their requirements.

W. M. Mooney, an old-time cigar man, formerly connected with Frank Teller & Co., Aslam-Rose Co. and others, has just returned from the U. S. Sanitarium at Erie, Pa., where he had been under treatment for some time.

Miss R. Seemon, a daughter of J. Seemon, who for many years kept a tobacco shop on Ninth street opposite the Post Office, will continue the manufacture of the Post Office Mixture, at 131 South Tenth street. This brand was first placed on the market by Mr. Seemon many years ago.

Chris. Wogen has been placed in charge of the Thirteenth street store of the Broomal-Lafayette Cigar Co., and many of his old friends in the trade are calling in to see him.

H. B. McBurney, representing Garcia, Pando & Co., New York and Tampa, has been visiting his friends here recently.

B. Wasserman, a well-known New York importer of cigars, has been a visitor in this city lately.

Harry Victor, wholesale and retail tobacconist on South Second street, was found shot to death early on Saturday morning, at his home, 804 South Second street, while his wife and three children lay asleep upstairs.

Police investigations showed to the satisfaction of the officers that Victor was not a suicide, and later they arrested on suspicion of the murder Harry Rosensweig, who had been in Mr. Victor's employ.

Victor was in the best of health, his business was in fine shape and he had no domestic troubles. So far as the police could determine there was nothing in the world which might be assigned as the reason for a suicide.

Rosensweig told a straight story of the affair. He had come in a bit early, he said, through the veriest chance, and had found his employer seated at a desk, completely absorbed in his thoughts. He had shaken him by the shoulder and had roused him after some difficulty.

Later he had left the room for a moment. Scarcely was he outside the door, he said, than he heard the shot. Rushing back inside he had found Victor with blood streaming from a wound in the right side of his neck at the base of the brain. The wound was so severe that a pool of blood had already been formed and a note which Victor held in his hand had been smeared. Rosensweig says he picked up the note and dashed out into the hall and met Mrs. Victor.

Victor, when his wife arrived, was placed in a patrol wagon of the Second and Christian streets station, and rushed to the Pennsylvania Hospital. He died on the way to the institution, but an examination was made and it was found that the bullet had pierced his jugular vein. Later the body was taken back to his home.

At this time the supposition was that the shooting had been a suicide. The police were prepared to report that Victor had taken his own life, although they could find no reason, when Epstein came forward with the information that the dead man was unable to write.

After investigation disclosing further ground for suspicion, the police arrested Rosensweig.

He came along without any resistance and was taken before the Coroner at once. Here a preliminary statement was taken from him. He denies the crime and sticks to the suicide story.

An examination of Victor's books and papers revealed, according to Coroner Ford, that Rosensweig was short in his accounts. The shortage is said to be large, but the exact amount has not been ascertained.

Relatives of Rosensweig declare that Victor committed suicide. The finding of a package of Paris green near a bottle of milk in the Victor home by Policeman Kling strengthens the belief of the Rosensweigs in this direction.

The detectives attach little importance to the discovery of the poison, and believe that Rosensweig placed it there to strengthen the suicide theory. If the prisoner took money from his employer, however, there is no evidence as to what he did with it. His home is extremely plain, and he was a man of simple habits.

Rosensweig was held without bail day by Magistrate Scott for a further hearing on Wednesday. Detective Timlin, who arrested him, testified that Victor's bankbook showed a balance of $6000, and that his business generally was in a prosperous condition.

In addition to the alleged shortage in Rosensweig's accounts, the police regard the note written in Yiddish, which was found on Victor's desk, as strong evidence against the prisoner. This illegal will, which lay a few inches from Victor's head, was as follows:

"Dear Rosensweig: I leave everything to you, but take care of my family. I cannot live longer."

According to statements of the dead man's relatives, Victor has not written anything in the Yiddish language for ten or twelve years. The police believe that Rosensweig wrote the note for the purpose of substantiating the suicide theory and possibly gaining some of the estate.

The prisoner was requested to write a statement of the case in Yiddish. His writing was compared with that of the note found on Victor's desk, and the police say that it was very similar.

Michael Shapiro, a brother-in-law of the suspected man, said on Sunday:

"This charge against Rosensweig is all wrong. We hope to find a man tomorrow who saw Victor shoot himself at his desk. As far as I can learn this witness is highly nervous, and is afraid of being drawn into the case. But we will get him regardless of his feelings in the matter, because my brother-in-law's life may be saved by his testimony. We will be able to prove by persons in the neighborhood that Victor was in depressed spirits for several days prior to his death. We know one man in particular to whom Victor complained of his business affairs. He told this man that he needed $10,000, and was at a loss as to how to get it. In regard to the note found on Victor's desk, we will prove that he frequently wrote in the Yiddish language."

CONVENTION in BALTIMORE

Concluded from p. 3.

Mr. Young, chairman of the Resolution Committee, invited resolutions fromindividuals or delegates.

Mr. Mack, of Chicago, submitted a complaint of an article which had appeared in a trade paper and which conveyed a wrong impression regarding the attitude of the Chicago trade with reference to the tariff measure and the Philippine clause. He was, however, referred to the Journalistic Committee. This, so far as could be ascertained, was the only complaint of any kind that the Journalistic Committee was or will be called upon to investigate and report upon for the past year.

Mr. Taussig arose and said: "I wouldn't say nothing. I want to suggest that we should report insurance paid and loss sustained during the past five years, so as to provide the Insurance Committee with certain data, and that it be reported by the various local secretaries to the chairman of the Insurance Committee." The action was adopted.

At the suggestion of I. L. Kemper, a cablegram was directed to be sent to Ferd Cranz expressing the regret of the Association at his absence.

The meeting was then adjourned until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

TUESDAY MORNING SESSION

The morning session of the convention was called at 10 o'clock, when the meeting promptly resumed business.

INSURANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Further consideration of the report of the Insurance Committee was taken up, and some discussion ensued, with the result that a special committee of three was appointed who are to confer with local boards with a view to having inspected such premises as members may desire.

RESOLUTIONS.

The Resolution Committee then reported the following resolutions:

Federal Bankruptcy Law.

Resolved, That we reiterate our opposition to all measures in Congress contemplating the repeal or emasculation of the Federal Bankruptcy Law, which, while by no means perfect, is far superior to the patch-work legislation of the several States formerly in force; and the Secretary is instructed to forward a copy of this Resolution to the chairman of the House Committee on the Judiciary when appointed.

The Tawney Anti-Coupon Bill.

Resolved, That this Association views with satisfaction the movement in Congress to secure legislation to put an end to the demoralizing practice of certain manufacturers who have sought to stimulate the sale of their goods by offering cheap premiums, and we pledge our co-operation to the Independent Tobacco Manufacturers' Association in the effort to obtain the passage of the so-called Tawney Anti-Coupon Bill.

Free Leaf Bill.

Whereas, the Ways and Means Committee has adopted as an amendment to the Payne Tariff Bill the measure known as the Gaines Free Leaf Bill, which if enacted would work serious injury to all branches of the tobacco trade, reduce the internal revenue to a disastrous extent, open the doors to frauds by unscrupulous manufacturers and prove of no real benefit even to the small class of farmers in whose alleged interest it has been drafted, therefore, be it—

Resolved, That we heartily approve the action of the Senate Finance Committee in striking this amendment from the Tariff Bill, and we earnestly urge the Ways and Means Committee to yield the amendment in conference; and be it further—

Resolved, That the officers of this Association be instructed to communicate this resolution at once to the Ways and Means and Finance Committees.

Havana Freight Rates.

Resolved, That a committee of three be selected from Havana importers and appointed by the President to consider the question of freights to and from Cuba, and that said committee be given power to act on behalf of this Association.

The resolution was adopted.

Porto Rico Revenue District.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Association that a United States Internal Revenue District should be created to embrace the Island of Porto Rico, in order that all products subject to internal reveme tax in the United States shall be properly stamped before removal from the Porto Rican factory.

This resolution was adopted.

Five and Ten Cigar Packages.

Resolved, That the Ways and Means and Finance Committees of Congress be requested, in connection with the pending revision of the revenue laws, to authorize statutory packages containing five and ten cigars, each package to bear the appropriate internal revenue stamps.

This was also adopted.

Relating to Tariff Revision.

Whereas, The readjustment of the tariff schedule is and has always been a serious disturbance to the business interests of the country; and—

Whereas, The tariff issue is no longer a radical partisan issue as it has been in the past; therefore be it—

Resolved by this Association in convention assembled, That this organization recommend to the President and Congress of the United States the establishment of a permanent, non-partisan Tariff Bureau, whose duty it shall be to study carefully and investigate thoroughly the interests of the varied industries of the country as related to the matter of tariffs, and to recommend to the President and Congress of the United States from time to time such changes as to them shall seem pertinent and advantageous; and be it further—

Resolved, That in the future it is to be the sense of this Association that the executive officers of the National Cigar Leaf Association shall take no action toward tariff revision of any kind until such action be directed by a three-fourths vote in convention assembled.

The Dock Weight Law.

The withdrawal measure was again endorsed by the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Association reaffirm the position already taken in opposition to the present dockweight law, and instruct the Legislative Committee to endeavor to have incorporated in the new tariff law an administration provision authorizing the assessment of duty on the withdrawal weight of imported merchandise.

Concentrative Tobacco Rate.

The Transportation Committee was instructed to endeavor to effect a concentrative rate from the railroads of tobacco-growing States similar to those now existing in Wisconsin.

Cuban Reciprocity.

The matter of handling the possibility of a further Cuban Reciprocity Treaty was effectually done by adopting the following:

Resolved, That we recommend that Cuban tobacco imported into the United States be appraised and classified at the original point of shipment, and duties be levied on that appraisal and classification.

It was decided that the Insurance Committee prepare and have printed a full report of their views and recommendations, and circulate the same among the members of the Association.

Chairman Dolbeer, of the Insurance Committee, stated that information secured revealed the fact that the losses on tobacco risks in twenty years had amounted to only 1 per cent. of the amount of premiums paid.

The meeting adjourned at 12.15 o'clock, to reconvene at 2.30.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION

The Philippine Measure.

When the afternoon session convened the consideration of a resolution bearing on the Philippine question was taken up. This brought out the fact that there was not a unanimous opinion, and that some dissensions were imminent, but a full discussion only followed when a resolution was formally presented. Remarks were made on the resolution offered by Messrs. Lucaswitz, Reeder, Taussig, Mitchelson, Hess and Bijur, and it was finally adopted by a vote of 26 ayes against 19 nays.

The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, It is our firm conviction that the proposed free entry of certain quantities of Philippine cigars and tobacco as provided in the pending tariff bill would be of no permanent practical advantage to the Filipino manufacturers or growers because of the proposed ultimate independence of the islands, but would work serious injury to the industry in the United States; and—

Whereas, The President of the United States stands committed to the proposition that the tariff concession referred to shall be granted; and—

Whereas, It is of the highest importance that the pending tariff bill should be disposed of at the earliest practicable date, to the end that the business of the country may be speedily relieved of the harmful agitation from which it has suffered for many months; therefore, be it—

Resolved, That we reiterate our opposition to any concession on Philippine products, but recognizing the force of existing conditions, the officers of this Association be directed to concentrate their efforts to secure the greatest possible reduction in the quantity of cigars and tobacco to be imported free of duty, such importations unquestionably constituting the most serious menace involved in the Philippine question.

Thanks to Baltimore.

There was some excitement, of course, but it quickly faded away, and then Chairman Young, of the Resolution Committee, announced that the committee desired to present a resolution of thanks to the Baltimore Board for providing so enjoyable an occasion, which was adopted by a rising vote.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Immediately that it was announced that the election of officers was in order, Mr. Hess, of Lancaster, Pa., arose and in an almost verbatim repetition of his nominating remarks last year again presented the name of Joseph F. Cullman, Jr. The speech and the nomination were greeted with hearty applause, the nominations were declared closed and the Secretary was instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Joseph F. Cullman, Jr., to succeed himself as President of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association.

Mr. Cullman accepted the action of the convention, and expressed his appreciation of the confidence placed in him as an evidence of the apparent good will of the entire trade.

In quick succession John Staun, of Cincinnati, was also elected Vice-President, and Felix Eckerson and Charles Fox re-elected Treasurer and Secretary, respectively.

COMMITTEE ON NOMINATIONS.

A Committee on Nominations was directed to be appointed to consist of three. The committee was composed of E. A. Kraussman, of New York; L. A. Wheeler, Troy, O., and J. C. Mitchelson, Tariffville, Conn.

It was resolved that the report of the President be printed and copies sent to the secretary of each local board for distribution among the firms of the various localities, whether members of such local boards or not.

HARTFORD IN 1910.

While the Nominating Committee was deliberating, the matter of the place of holding the convention next year was taken up. Invitations were extended by Karl Kaffenberg on behalf of the Boston trade, and also by L. B. Haas on behalf of the Connecticut trade.

Hartford was chosen as the place of holding the convention in 1910.

ADJOURNMENT.

Upon motion the meeting was then adjourned, to meet again on Monday, May 9, 1910, at Hartford, Conn.

A ROYAL WELCOME TO BALTIMORE

It would be difficult to imagine more royal or elaborate entertainment than was extended by the trade of Baltimore to the delegates and friends at the Eleventh Annual Convention held in the "City of Conventions" on Monday and Tuesday.

The program was an almost continuous round of pleasure, extended in that true spirit of hospitality which is so characteristic of the Baltimorean.

The following was the Adjourn at pleasure.

Fourth Session
At call of President—Adjourn at pleasure.
Banquet, May 11th
Belvedere Hotel, 7 P. M.

The entertainment provided for the guests was begun at 1 o'clock on Monday, when the guests were conveyed by trolley (special cars) from Hotel Belvedere to the foot of Calvert street, where they boarded the steamer Latrobe for Annapolis. A session of the convention had been scheduled to be held on board the steamer, but it was found that the members were too deeply interested in the sights of the trip, and not wishing to disturb their thorough enjoyment the President did not call a session. It was subsequently shown that nothing had been really lost by the intermission, which was fully made up for by the more energetic work upon the return from the trip and during the next day.

The trip was a feature of this year's meeting that will be long remembered, and it will be talked of for weeks.

There were refreshments in plenty, and a party of colored musicians enlivened the occasion. In fact, they proved themselves a veritable minstrel troupe, with songs and dances. Nor was there any lack of other forms of amusement.

Immediately after landing at Annapolis, which was about 4 o'clock, the party proceeded directly to the grounds of the Naval Academy, where the guests thoroughly enjoyed witnessing a drill of the middies. Privileges to an unusual degree were extended to the visitors by the officers in charge of the grounds, and after a visit to the armory they were shown through Bancroft Hall, where the remains of John Paul Jones now rest prior to removal to their final resting place in the chapel, a new building now being completed.

Having taken in as many points of interest as the time would permit, the party assembled at 7 o'clock at the Carvel Hall (of historic associations), where an elegant dinner was served in true Maryland style.

At 8.30 the party was conveyed by electric train to Baltimore and thence by trolley to the Hotel Belvedere, where a short business session was held, as reported elsewhere.

That the trip was most thoroughly enjoyed will be attested by all who had the pleasure of participating. Special mention is deserved by the committee in charge.

The Banquet & Reception

As the time drew near for the expected banquet the lobby of the Hotel Belvedere gradually filled with the guests, most of whom, except members of the local trade, were guests of the house, until it finally became almost overflowing.

After being assigned to their places the orchestra played "America" and all arose. Immediately after the completion of the song there was a vociferous outburst of applause, and it was with some difficulty that those gathered around the festive board were quieted while Mr. I. L. Kemper, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, made a few remarks and introduced several specially invited guests of the evening, the first of whom was Hon. J. Barry Mahool, Mayor of the city of Baltimore.

The Mayor made few, but highly pleasing, remarks, and was followed by William F. Stone, Collector of the Port at Baltimore, whose remarks were also heartily applauded.

The orchestra struck up "Maryland, My Maryland," and the audience arose and joined in the chorus.

The progress of the banquet was interspersed by choruses of popular song which were joined in by the banqueters, and not a few of the songs were led by the versatile W. J. Sneeringer, Jr.

With the dinner completed, Chairman Kemper announced the completion of his part of the program, but that the end was not yet. And, truly, it was not, for he turned the affair over to Mr. Samuel Dealham, chairman of entertainment at the banquet, and by whom it was introduced.

President Baltimore Cigar Leaf Association

As the diners entered the banquet room a surprisingly beautiful picture met their eyes. The room, of oblong shape, was beset with a series of tables seating six persons, each decorated with candelabras and vases of carnations. At the front was a good sized stage, well elevated and peculiarly suited to the purpose. A banner had been suspended in front of the curtain bearing the sign "National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, Baltimore, 1909," while over the door was the city coat of arms, draped with the city colors.

I. L. KEMPER
Chairman Entertainment Committee

Baltimore has set a new pace, inasmuch as it has carried into practical effect a continuous performance act. The arrangements throughout were superb, and not a moment of time was lost. Every minute was made to count for something. It is doubtful if ever before in the history of the trade so much actual business and so much actual pleasure was crowded into so short a length of time, and while, as we are informed, it was all done by committee or team work, the casual observer could not fail to feel that the Baltimore trade had simply resolved itself into a committee of the whole for seeing to it that things were done. The result of it it all was simple and practicable perfection.

LANCASTER CIGAR MEN PROTEST.

Argument of Mr. A. B. Hess Before the Senate Finance Committee.

The following is an argument presented to the Senate Finance Committee at a hearing recently given to the tobacco trade. The presentation was made by A. B. Hess, president of the A. B. Hess Cigar Company, Lancaster, on behalf of the Lancaster manufacturers:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Finance Committee:

"In this hearing we have the honor to directly represent the cigar manufacturers of one of the great cigar manufacturing States. Pennsylvania alone manufactures approximately two billion cigars annually, which is about one-quarter of the total annual output of one of the greatest industries of our country, and which annually manufactures under normal trade conditions over eight billion cigars. The total value of this product being about three hundred and fifty million dollars, and for which we pay in wages alone over seventy-five million dollars, and contribute toward the maintenance of our Government an internal revenue tax of over twety-five million dollars annually.

"This great industry has been built up and is maintained under a protective tariff. Prior to 1863 the cigar manufacturing industry of this country was practically nil. Nearly all the cigars consumed here were made in and imported from Germany. At that time, all told, less than three thousand people were employed in the cigar-making trade in the United States. To-day we give employment to one hundred and twenty-five thousand skilled mechanics, and employ in and about our factories over two hundred thousand American citizens, representing one million human beings who are dependent upon the cigar industry for a livelihood.

"The cigar manufacturers have suffered greatly during the present period of industrial depression, and in many instances we have kept our workmen employed despite the fact that our stock rooms are crowded to the limit with cigars for which there is no market in sight.

"The trade has already and is now suffering the effect of anticipated hostile tariff legislation. We have been promised adequate protection to the industries of our country, and we fail to see why the Congress should endeavor to avoid its pledges in this direction.

"Remove the duty from the cigars imported from the Philippine Islands, and just to that extent you curtail the production of cigars in this country, displacing American workmen, who under normal trade conditions are employed in the production of these cigars.

"Owing to the enormous difference in the wages paid in this country and the Philippine Islands, and the difference in the cost of raw material, light, fuel, rent, etc., the ability to successfully compete with the Philippine Islands on a free trade basis in cigars is positively out of the question. The difference in wages alone amounts to one dollar or more per day, to say nothing of the advantage they possess in the way of cheap raw materials and other favorable means of production.

"We have shown that the cigar industry has grown to its present magnificent proportions, and given employment to two hundred thousand people, with an annual disbursement to the wage-earner alone of seventy-five million dollars, and a revenue to the Government of twenty-five million dollars under a protective tariff. We earnestly protest against legislation, of which we are not only firmly convinced, but about which there can be no dispute, that it will have a disastrous effect on this great industry, and without any resultant good to the people of our country in general.

"The cigar manufacturers of this country have invested upwards of one hundred million dollars and expend annually for raw material alone seventy-five million dollars. We respectfully submit that legislation destructive to the best interests of this great industry merits your careful attention. We cannot compete on a free trade basis, even to a limited extent, with the Philippine Islands. Upon this point the cigar manufacturers, the tobacco growers, the leaf tobacco dealers, and the working men and women employed in this industry, are united in their opposition to the transfer from the United States to the Philippines of that industry—from a generally prosperous business and fairly paid labor to the competition of the cheapest workers in the world."

THE CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Busy Boston Jobbers Now Expect to be Able to Make Prompt Deliveries.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World,"
212 Hanover Street.
Boston, Mass., May 10.

Our jobbing trade is very busy. Now that the turbine steamers Harvard and Yale are again running to New York for the season, shipmen to will arrive oftener and there won't be so much difficulty in filling orders as in the past month.

We have been having a long spell of unseasonable weather, but with all that, retailers in the city have not fared so bad, but those at the beaches have been somewhat discouraged.

Our local representatives for cigarette concerns have been very busy doing window display work. N. E. Nichols (Philip Morris Co.) has returned from a very successful two weeks' trip through New York State. Mr. Battle, who is doing the window display work here, has been doing some strenuous work in this line, and manages to get a Philip Morris display in every good location. He uses as designs motor cars, airships, wheels, etc., all arranged by simply using dummy cigarette boxes, and both the Cambridge and Morisco brands are having an increasing demand in this section.

Edw. Wodisca, of Coral, Wodisca & Co., clear Havana manufacturers, was in town this week accompanied by his representative, Hi Hammer.

Roby Hyneman, of Hyneman Bros., has returned from a trip through the Granite State, where he found the Hoffman House Bouquet cigar and his other brands selling as well as ever.

The Khedivial Co. has just announced the following gratis deal: With every purchase of 500 Oxford 10s and 500 Naturals there is 20 per cent. free on either Oxfords or Almas, and with every purchase of 500 Samaris and 500 Naturals or 500 Alma cork 10s and 500 Naturals, 8 packages of Samaris cigarettes are given gratis.

Coupons are now being packed in each package of the 5-cent Natural cigarettes, and 100 of these coupons are redeemable for an Ever Ready safety razor.

J. H. Keogh, representing Powell & Goldstein, Oneida, N. Y., manufacturers of the well-known Napoleon seed and Havana 10-cent cigar, was here this week calling on J. M. Dean, their local distributer.

George Yavner, proprietor of the cigar stand in the Penn Mutual Building, reports doing an excellent box trade. His leader in clear Havana goods is the Optimo brand. He uses Perez & Co.'s Dianita as leading Porto Rican goods, and says they give good satisfaction.

A new concern has just started in the cigar manufacturing line at 153 Court street, under the title of Bowdoin Cigar Co. The firm is composed of John R. Cohen and F. A. Reinhard. They will use as their leading brand New Boston 1915.

At John J. Bagley & Co.'s Boston office, 34 Broad street, everything looks busy. Tobacco is coming in and going out all the time. Frank H. Roseboom, who is in charge, states their Buckingham cut plug is making a big hit here, and his two salesmen, Messrs. Russell and Murray, are doing some clever work in the introduction of this brand.

George Harris, who formerly was in the cigar and pipe business on Pemberton Square, has opened a nicely-fitted-up cigar stand in the Devonshire Building, corner State and Devonshire street.

Sam Marcuson has resigned his position as representative of the Turco-American Tobacco Co. of New York. Mr. Marcuson has purchased the Central News Co. in Syracuse, N. Y., which has the exclusive agency for many of the leading magazines and New York papers. Sam's many friends here wish him luck in his latest venture. It is expected that Louis Natelson will in the future represent the Turco-American Co.'s interests here.

TOBACCONISTS SECURE DISCHARGE.

Omaha, Neb., May 6.

County Attorney English has moved to dismiss the indictments found against forty or more tobacconists and grocers charged with selling tobacco to minors. Nolles were entered in Judge Sears' docket Wednesday morning. Two men were tried on this charge some time ago, and in each case the jury found for the defendants. The county attorney determined convictions could not be secured because the only evidence was that of police officers.

A sign bearing the following inscription appears on the front of a store in Globe village: "Cigarettes, pigs' feet, postal cards, postage stamps and shoes shined."

A purchase in a German tobacco shop entitles you to one telephone call.

BADGER STATE TRADE NOTES.

Anti-Cigarette Bill Killed. Notes from Milwaukee and Other Places.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 8.

The Senate refused to concur in the Assembly amendment of the Cady Anti-Cigarette Bill, the amendment being designed to correct an error made in engraving the bill. The action of the Senate virtually kills the bill, which was intended to prohibit persons under eighteen years of age from smoking cigarettes.

The weather having improved, local cigarists report trade somewhat better. Jay Lewis & Bro. Co. have turned their new acquisition over to the painters and decorators, and it now looks very attractive. Gilt and gold leaf have not been spared, and all comment upon the nice appearance. They are gradually working off the old lines and have added the Tom Moore, Savarona, Webster and one or two others for which there is a demand.

They report business fairly good at all stores. At the Pabst Building they are giving the Savarona a boost by a window display, the other being turned over to the Santa Gloria.

Business at the Pfister Cigar Company is also good. Joe Pollock, formerly manager of one of the Abraham stores, has joined their forces.

Sam Kind, well known to the buying public, has joined the Abraham forces, being in charge of the Wisconsin street store.

Business is good at all five stores, out to stimulate trade a one-half pound box of The Sweet Shop (Abraham's confectionery store) bitter sweets is being offered with every purchase of $1. Rademas and Charters are used for display this week.

Al Hanson is enjoying his usual good business. He is boosting the El Siglo this week with an attractive display.

The Wright drug-store people are taking advantage of Peter Pan being played at a local theatre, and have a display of that brand in their windows this week.

Charles Engel, one of the best-known members of the local fraternity, is still at the Wells building store. Charlie certainly hates to break home ties, and is undecided as to the future.

A. O. Meister reports doing a fairly good business at his Kirby house store.

Arthur Pfeiffer manages to hold his own at Third and State streets and the United. Flatz and Goldstein, who are also located on that corner, are all doing fairly well.

Brenckle's continue to enjoy a good business, while Kahlman, Fernandez, Kindling and the others are also working all hands.

Steve Surman & Co. report business picking up.

A. Badweisser, the pipe man, called on the local trade this week.

Bert D. Carr, with the Bagley Tobacco Company, of Detroit, Mich., was taken ill while in the city this week, and died of heart disease upon reaching St. Paul, where he makes his home.

STATE NOTES.

Superior—Harry H. Hall has sold his cigar store to W. O. Palmer.

Fond Du Lac—Reeves & Dana will have the management of R. M. Hamburger & Co.'s cigar store here. It will be known as the Pannery.

Madison—M. G. Slechta, cigar manufacturer, has discontinued, and George W. Weincher has discontinued his cigar business Boscobel—H. F. Shrader, formerly of Platteville, will soon open a cigar factory here.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

We are recovering from our April snow storm. We got but very little of the snow, but we had, and still have, the cold weather, incident to such occasions, and with the two days' rain that followed the snow, vegetation is starting very slow. Even the grass in unsheltered fields does not start well; it is too spindling as yet to make good feed in the pastures. Onions, too, are suffering from the effects of the cold, wet weather, and some who sowed late are talking of the seed rotting in the ground.

At the rate that we are getting rain the tobacco beds will not suffer for the present, but those who have watched their beds for the last ten days and wondered if it would ever come good weather, will be surprised when the sun does come out for a few days, for such weather will carry the impression that the soil is not so moist as they had supposed it to be, and they must try the water cure upon their plants. What few plant beds I have seen will need quite a lot of work done on them very soon, when the weather gets a little moderated. In some places you can hardly see the tobacco plants or the ground, and that is one advantage that grass and weeds have over tobacco at least, for it seems sometimes that they took no rest, but worked night and day, at least if the plot of ground be a tobacco bed, and in a few days you must off with coat and vest, roll up the sleeves and get a lively gait, if you mean to win the race. If you have to grow tobacco for from 8 to 10 cents per pound, you will need to use all the brain and muscle you are possessed of.

A correspondent writes:

North Hatfield, Mass.: "There has been a sale of 10 cases, by Mr. Frank Jones, to Leslie W. Swift. Mr. Swift is filling his sweet rooms again, the most of it being furnished by local packers. I heard of one open tobacco bed where the plants came nicely, but one of the cold mornings froze the ground so it would hold up a man to walk upon the surface. Such beds are, as a rule, useless in our latitude, the plants on this bed having all vanished from sight."—Amer. Cultivator.

OHIO.

Arcanum.—There was a good tobacco delivery Friday, but it came over a wide territory, and was an earnest effort to secure the best of the remaining crops of Spanish. The tobacco market is pretty dead at present. Buyers are taking things very easy, and claim that the 1908 crop is not showing up well. Some of the packers who secured the crop are sick of their bargain.—Enterprise.

Portsmouth.—The tobacco acreage in Scioto county this year will be about six times as large as in former years. The growers are organizing under the American Society of Equity and indications are that about 90 per cent. of the tobacco grown this year will be pooled with the society.

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton, May 7.—Aside from an occasional purchase being made of the 1908 crop here and then the buying movement is practically suspended in all sections of the State. The last of the deliveries, too, are being gathered in and in the country districts matters are very nearly at a standstill. While the bulk of warehouse handling is over, a few firms have considerable work in sight that will furnish employment for labor at the packing points a few weeks longer.

We learn of a few trades in old leaf under consideration that may be closed at any time, but a general tendency towards a dull market is reported. Geo. Rumrill reports the sale of 155 cases of 1906 and 1907 goods.

Warm weather has come at last that gives promise of bringing along the seed beds, and if continued the delays of a backward spring will soon be forgotten. The beds laid during the week ought to respond quickly.

The shipments out of storage reach 1009 cases and 10 car loads of bundles. Since last report 13 car loads have been received from outside points for warehouse handling in this market.—Reporter.

HIGHER TAX ON TOBACCO.

Senator Beveridge Urges an Amendment Changing Internal Revenue Schedule.

Washington, May 14.

Senator Beveridge spoke in support of an amendment offered by him relative to the internal revenue tax on tobacco and its products, in the Senate to-day.

Contending that the Government has lost $184,000,000 in the last eight years through the report of the wartime tax of 1898, Mr. Beveridge undertook by this amendment to increase the present rate of internal revenue taxes on tobacco, snuff, cigarettes and cigars worth more than 10 cents. Mr. Beveridge declared that the Tobacco Trust, which, he said, was the American Tobacco Company, had derived great benefit from the enormous loss of revenue which, he said, was due to the law repealing the increased rate of 1898.

The law providing for the high rates of 1898 permitted the manufacturer to reduce the size of packages in which the tobacco is sold to the people, according to Mr. Beveridge. "In 1901, this increased tobacco tax was removed," he said, "but the short weight package of tobacco were continued by the very law that removed the tax. The manufacturer still collects the wartime tax from the people, but instead of paying it to the Government he keeps it for himself."

Mr. Beveridge declared that his amendment would not affect the cigarmakers of the country because, he said, it does not enhance the tax on any cigars except those which sell for 10 cents or more.

His amendment increases the present tax of 6 cents a pound on snuff to 12 cents a pound. On smoking and chewing tobacco the rate is increased from 6 cents a pound to 9 cents. On cigarettes the proposed rate is $1.50 a thousand on those selling at wholesale from $2 to $4 per thousand. On those selling from $4 to $8 per thousand the tax proposed is $3 per thousand and on cigarettes selling at over $8 a thousand the tax is increased from $1.08 to $4.50 per thousand. On cigarettes selling under $2 per thousand the present tax is 54 cents per thousand, and the war rate of $1.50 per thousand is restored.

A graduated scale is proposed for the tax on cigars. For those retailing at three for a quarter, or ten cents straight, the amendment increases the tax from $3 a thousand to $4.50 a thousand; upon those selling for from two for a quarter to fifteen cents straight it increases the tax from $3 to $6 a thousand, and upon those retailing at 20 cents and more it increases the tax from $3 to $9 a thousand.

Mr. Beveridge controverted the idea that the continuation by the law of the short weight wartime package after the war tax had been removed did not affect the plug tobacco business. "The law," he said, "does not fix the size of the cut that is sold, but the manufacturer of plug tobacco got the war tax on this article out of the people by selling a smaller cut than the plug, and this practice still continues. When a box of plug tobacco is sold by the Trust to the retail dealer there is marked upon each plug a place for the cut. By decreasing the size of these cuts very slightly the Tobacco Trust, through the retailer, gets the wartime price for a cut from a plug of tobacco by marking the cut a little smaller.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN DAYTON.

Two Hundred Girls Leave Heitman Cigar Factory in Perfect Order. Fire on Third Floor, but Stock Ruined.

Dalton, O., May 14.

Fire of uncertain origin attacked the building occupied by the Louis Heitman Tobacco Company, at 650 South Main street, shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The building is a 3-story brick and the blaze was first discovered on the third floor. An alarm was quickly sent in and the department promptly responded. Within a few minutes several streams were playing upon the flames. The building seemed to provide a typical fuel for the consuming element, and the fire was fast communicated from one portion of the building to the other. It first appeared as if but little if any part of the establishment could be saved from the ruin. The attention of the department was directed then to the surrounding buildings and that they prevented it from spreading to surrounding structures seemed little less than miraculous.

Fortunate, the flames were discovered in ample time to allow the employes, who consisted of about 200 girls, to escape. That a panic did not ensue and fatalities result is probably due to the fact that the girls had been thoroughly disciplined with frequent fire drills by Manager Daile Haupt, and they quickly formed themselves in line and marched out in perfect order.

It is estimated that the loss will aggregate about $50,000. The building was well filled with tobacco, upon which the employes were working, and the equipment was regarded as the most modern of any place of its kind in this section of the country.

The building and contents were well covered by insurance, distributed among 15 companies. At 3 o'clock the blaze seemed to be fairly well under control and the work of destruction seemed likely to be confined to the third floor. However, the torrents of water that were poured into the building and soaked down through into the lower floors and much damage resulted in this way. Much of the tobacco that had been saved from the fiames was practically ruined by the water.

MISSOURI'S CIGARETTE LAW.

Manufacture and Sale Prohibiting Bill Failed to Pass.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14.

The Cross House bill, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of cigarettes and cigarette paper in this State, was defeated in the Senate shortly before noon to-day.

The measure lacked three votes of passage, and as a consequence there will be no legislation of this character by the present General Assembly, for every friend of the bill in the Senate was in his seat and voted. The bill was defeated by the following vote:

For the bill—Senators Anthony, Booth, Bradley, Buford, Chinn, Dorris, Eads, Fields, Hall, McDavid, Oliver, Peck, Prendergast, Stark, Wilson—15.

Against the bill—Allee, Brogan, Dowell, Druuert, Gardner, Green, Grimes, Kinney, Lane, McAllister, Major, Mayor, Methudy—13.

Two years ago the Senate defeated practically the same bill.

Not a vote was cast in the Senate against the House measure introduced by Representative Rosenberger, of Montgomery prohibiting the sale of cigarettes and cigarette paper to minors. This latter measure, if Governor Hadley approves it, will become a law.

It imposes a fine of from $10 to $100 on dealers or persons who sell or give away cigarettes, or cigarette papers, to any person under the age of 18 years, and for the second offense not less than $50 nor exceeding $500, half of the fine to go to the complaining witness.

The act also makes it a misdemeanor for any person between the ages of 10 and 18 years to smoke cigarettes on any street, park or other lands used for public purposes, or upon any railroad train, street car or place of amusement. For this latter offense the fine is not to exceed $10.

BURLEY AGREEMENT RATIFIED.

Cincinnati, O., May 4.

The agreement entered into between members of the Independent Tobacco Manufacturers' Association at Cincinnati some time ago, pertaining to the disposal of 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco, which was subscribed for and not taken, has been ratified by the Burley Society, and the tobacco will be divided among several of the larger manufacturers. The meeting at which the deal was ratified was held in Lexington Monday, and the tobacco has been ordered shipped to Cincinnati, where it will be inspected and sampled. J. F. Walton, of Lexington, official grader of the Equity Society, will represent his organization at the inspection. The disposition of this tobacco practically cleans up the last of the pooled crop in the hands of the society.

WISCONSIN ACREAGE INCREASE.

Janesville Dealers Expect Slight Increase in Tobacco Acreage.

Janesville, Wiss., May 4.

It seems to be the general impression among the Janesville tobacco dealers that the amount of tobacco planted this year will not vary a great deal from last year's acreage, and if any variation is noted, it will be in the direction of a larger crop. Although the present season has been nothing to brag of from the standpoint of the dealer, it has not affected the grower to any great extent. Consequently, those farmers who put part of their land in tobacco last year will do so again this year, while a few who have not been raising the plant for some time have stated their intention of putting a few acres in tobacco. The sleet and general bad weather of last week as far as can be learned worked no appreciable damage to the seed beds, and with the present speel of good weather the plants should get a good start

At the present time almost all of last year's crop has been bought up and in Janesville at least, warehouse handling is almost at an end. There are now but three dealers who have yet to finish their work. Trade has been very light so far, but the confidence in the early revival of business which has been general during the spring still remains strong.

DOINGS IN OTTUMWA.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 15.

Although just barely entered upon the second year of its existence the M. P. R. L. Cigar Company is one of the lustiest infants in Ottumwa's large family of factories. The company was organized February 1, 1908, the firm being composed of James H. McKaig, William Potter, Jr., John Ramey and Frank Lewis, and with the surname initials of the four proprietors combined to form both the firm name and initial cigar brand the new concern placed its first cigar on the market, the "M. P. R. L."

Less than a month later, Mr. Ramey severed his connection with the factory and the three remaining members of the firm have conducted the business to date, retaining the original firm name, however.

Julius Fecht is just starting in this week making up his new importation of Havana tobacco, the 1907-08 crop. The stock was personally selected by Mr. Fecht from the Pinar del Rio districts on his trip to Cuba early in the year and was brought by him to Chicago in March, the first shipment arriving in Ottumwa recently. The tobacco will be used in the different sizes and shapes of the Universal cigar and will be on the market in a very few days.

The salesmen of the Julius Fecht factory left the city this morning on their regular weekly trips.

UNITED IN DES MOINES.

Des Moines, Ia., May 14

The United Cigar Stores company, which has stores in operation in 75 of the leading cities of the United States, have established one store in Des Moines and secured a lease on the room that is now occupied by the Des Moines National Bank at Fifth and Walnut streets, for another. The store now in operation is at the corner of Sixth avenue and Mulberry street. In New York alone this company has 192 stores, or as it is advertised, "Stores all over; one always in sight." Chicago has 45 stores under the United sign, San Francisco, 40, and Philadelphia, 18. The United Cigar stores are run on a co-operative plan, which permits the clerks to share in the profits. They participate in the success of the company.

A MANUFACTURER'S ARGUMENT.

The following arguments to "Consumers" is being distributed in the trade by the Marcus Feeder Cigar Company, of Cleveland, O., and presents certain theories as vouchsafed by Mr. Marcus Feeder, of that company, and who is well-known to the trade:

"Do you know when you buy a box of cigars and you are asked to pay from $6.00 to $10.00 per 100, that you are paying $3.00 to $5.00 for fancy wrappers, fancy packing, fancy bands, enticing premiums and for nonsensical attractions that appear fascinating to you but adds nothing to the quality of the cigars?

"Take your time and see whether our arguments don't appeal to you.

"Argument No. 1: Connecticut wrapped cigars are far superior in taste than a cigar wrapped with the best Sumatra. Sumatra tobacco, however, gives the cigar a finer appearance and for that reason alone you are asked to pay $1 per box more than you would have to pay had the same cigar been wrapped with a fine tasting Connecticut tobacco.

"Argument No. 2: Fancy shape cigars require three to five times the labor as our 'London Whiffs Imperials,' therefore the cost of labor must be three to five times higher and for which you are also asked to pay $1 more per 100.

"Ask yourself whether a fancy shape adds to the quality of a cigar.

"Argument No. 3: Fancy packing, fancy labels, fancy banding, costs the manufacturer $10 more per thousand than it costs us to make our 'London Whiffs Imperials.' This also costs you $1.00 more per 100.

"Ask yourself whether fancy printing adds to the quality of a cigar.

"Argument No. 4: Eliminating all unnecessary expenses, holding our 'London Whiffs Imperials' free from all enticing schemes and premiums, we are enabled to produce in crude form a cigar for 5 cents which cannot be equaled in quality in any 10-cent cigar. A fair trial will convince you of the fact."

WHITE BURLEY IN OHIO.

Eaton, O., May 15.

The fact that the raising of white burley tobacco will figure prominently among the farmers of Preble county during the coming season, has just become generally known.

To avoid the troubles connected with the raising and delivery of this crop in Kentucky, and to secure a yield of the normal amount, the American Tobacco Company has been operating, through its representatives, in this county for several months, in an endeavor to induce the farmers to adopt this particular crop. It is said that nearly one hundred Preble county farmers have agreed to raise this variety, and have accepted contracts furnished by this corporation, wherein it is promised that the crop will be taken at 8 cents a pound, or possibly more, as the demand may regulate.

GERMAN TOBACCO TAX ROW.

The Radicals and National Liberals Withdraw. Government is Hit.

Berlin, Germany, May 13.

The Reichstag Committee, which has been discussing the new tax bills, held an exciting session to-day on the subject of the tobacco taxes. Chairman Passche, National-Liberal, having been overruled on a point of order, resigned. The National-Liberals and Radicals then withdrew, declaring they would not participate in any further deliberations. The incident apparently is a death-blow to the government's "bloc." The withdrawal of the National-Liberals and the Radicals undoubtedly was caused by exasperation over the fact that the Conservatives recently have been acting with the Clericals.

OBITUARY.

Joseph A. Bremer.

At a special meeting of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade, held May 13, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, to take unto Himself our honored friend and fellow-member, Mr. Joseph Bremer, and,

WHEREAS, We recognize that his exemplary life has not only been of benefit to his close business friends and associates, but that it will always leave its impress on the business life of this city, and place him in the front rank of the great merchants of Philadelphia; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade bow in humble submission to the divine will, recognizing that He "who doeth all things well," has sufficient reason for the removal of our loved associate; and be it further

The Rainy Season Now Fairly Opened in Cuba

Consequently Preparation of the New Tobacco by Farmers Will Soon be in Order, and Dealers' Representatives will Start Inspection Tours. Owing to the Large Crop, Moderate Prices are Expected. Havana Leaf Market Quiet, as Visitors Desire to Learn the Quality of the New Leaf Before Buying.

Special Correspondence of The Tobacco World.

Havana, May 10, 1909.—At last the rainy season seems to have begun in earnest, as it has rained more or less in Havana for the last three days, but judging by the formation of the clouds the rainfalls must have been even heavier and widespread all over the island. Farmers can now begin work in earnest and take down the dried tobacco from the poles, bundle it and throw the matules in piles for the first fermentation process. The country buyers of our leaf dealers and packers will start for the tobacco regions, inspect the leaf, report about the general aspect, and if the asking prices of the veguros should not be too high, it is not likely that the buyers will pay high figures even for the best vegas; in fact, as the farmers have had at least three years in succession of good prices, it is now the turn of the buyers to make the figures in harmony with the view of manufacturers, who have had at least three years of losses to contend with. If the farmers should insist upon too high prices, it is likely that the majority of buyers will abstain from making any escojidas themselves this year, and let the veguros do their own packing.

Our market has been quieter again during the past week, as the German exporters only operated to a small extent. While quite a number of Tampa manufacturers have come here, it appears, however, that their principal object is to look over the situation of the new crop, although a few have purchased freely of the old Vuelta Abajo styles to supply their immediate wants. A couple small lots of new Partido were bought for export to Germany, evidently with the purpose in view to show the styles of this year's growth. One Key West manufacturer has purchased a vega of new Vuelta Abajo, consisting principally of libra de pie and the lowest grades of fillers. Most of our dealers are anxious to close out their old holdings, and some bargains could be found by any buyer who will come here and spend some time in hunting for them.

Sales last week sum up a total of 2272 bales, divided into 1249 bales Vuelta Abajo, 273 Partido, and 750 Remedios.

Of the above quantity 1672 bales were sold to American buyers, 250 to exporters for Europe, and 350 to local cigar and cigarette manufacturers.

dently having enough orders to keep them busy, while the smaller ones are less favored. The latter, however, are struggling hard to make both ends meet, and live in hopes of seeing a general revival in trade conditions later on this summer, after the new crop shall be in condition to work.

H. Upmann & Co. shipped 400,000 cigars during the past week. This factory is well supplied with orders and work goes on quite satisfactorily in the big H. Upmann factory.

Behrens & Co. are also well pleased with the present state of affairs, as orders for Sol and Luis Marx cigars are arriving in sufficient quantities to keep all hands busy.

Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Limited, is working in good shape since Don Gustavo Bock has the reins in hand again. The cigars made and shipped since that time have brought large orders.

BUYING, SELLING AND OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST.

Rz. Bautista & Co. sold 724 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Remedios during the past two weeks.

Harry Ehrlich was a buyer to the extent of 800 bales of leaf tobacco.

Bruno Diaz & Co. were sellers of 250 bales of Vuelta Abajo.

Jose Escalante made some very fine purchases of 1908 Vuelta Abajo, which, according to my information, reached at least 350 bales.

Sylvester & Stern were shippers of 460 bales of leaf tobacco last week, and have already made 300 bales of their new Partido packing at Santiago de las Vegas. The escojida after having been closed, owing to dry weather, started again with all hands to-day.

Muniz Hnos & Co. disposed of 200 bales of Vuelta Abajo colas to local cigarette manufacturers.

Angel Cuesta has made some purchases, but the exact quantities could not be learned.

Jose F. Rocha closed out 165 bales of Vuelta Abajo, 1907 crop.

Luis Marx has completed already 1000 bales of his famous Alquizer escojida, situated at 75 Zanja street, this city.

Sobrinos de A. Gonzales sold 150 bales of Remedios manchados.

Maurice Winter is credited with having purchased several vegas of Vuelta Abajo.

Avelino Pazos sold 150 bales of Vuelta Abajo and Partido previous to his departure for New York.

Walter A. Kaffenburgh, who arrived on Wednesday last, per S. S. Saratoga, left the same night by rail for Managua, where he intends to superintend the large escojidas made by I. Kaffenburgh & Sons every season.

Gonzales y Miguel disposed of 150 bales of Remedios.

A. M. Calzada returned from his trip of inspection in the Santa Clara Province, and is enthusiastic about the quality of this year's crop.

Manuel Menendez Parra was a seller of 100 bales of a very fine vega of Vuelta Abajo.

Good Jobbing and Retail Business at The Hub. Doings of the Hustlers.

Boston Bureau "The Tobacco World," 212 Hanover Street.

Boston, Mass., May 17.—Jobbers and retailers alike report a good week's business and the former, especially, have been very busy. The heated weather has helped the business considerably.

One of our cut-price druggists on Scollay Square tells me that Saturday's business broke all former records in every department, the cigar department alone showing a wonderful increase in business. Reports from New Bedford state that business is very good there. Four new cotton mills are opening up with seven to eight thousand operatives, which will create quite a boom in trade there. From other points in New England similar reports are coming in.

H. J. Hoffman has been engaged to do missionary work on the various brands made by the Turco-American Tobacco Company. Mr. Hoffman is a clever salesman and is also very good at making window displays, and will no doubt give a good account of himself.

Fred. Baker, a brother of Baker Bros., the Hanover wholesalers, has started in the wholesale and retail cigar business in Plymouth, Mass., on his own account. Fred has been working for the firm of Baker Bros. ever since they started in business, and knows the business thoroughly, and his many friends hope to see him do well now that he has started in for himself.

E. Curtney Perkins (Nestor Giancles Co.), has been working Fall River and New Bedford this week with good results. Louis Shapiro has been working the local trade. Steve Quirk has resigned from the staff of Nestor salesmen.

Al. Salaway, the popular cigarette salesman, has announced his engagement to Miss Evylen Flanders, a charming Brookline miss, who is highly accomplished in every respect. Al. is a hard worker and very popular with the trade here, who extend to him and his bride-to-be their best wishes in his latest undertaking, as Al. is deserving of getting a good side-partner through life.

Raphael Naherzig has resigned his position with the Surbrug Co., and is about to accept another position. Raphie made a good showing here on the Surbrug line of smoking tobaccos.

Bieringer Bros. Co. are giving away for a limited time a Porto Rico Panama hat to every purchaser of 250 of their Exporto—Porto Rican cigars. The cigar is said to be an extra good nickel cigar, and goes to the trade at $35 per 1000.

Rosenthal Bros., the wholesale tobacconists, are cutting quite a figure in the cigar business. They are already doing a nice business with their brand of high-grade Porto Rican cigars, "Lurido"—their own importation. These goods are equal or superior to many brands of clear Havana cigars. Many of our finest hostelries are selling same with good satisfaction.

TOBACCO TRADE NEWS OF GREATER NEW YORK.

New York Bureau of The Tobacco World
New York, May 18.

NEW YORK LEAF MARKET.

The leaf tobacco market during the past week was maintained on a firm basis so far as prices are concerned, notwithstanding there was a very limited demand for goods during that period of time. Even the routine of small sales for immediate use seems to have fallen off somewhat, but it has in no way had an alarming effect in the trade, because the dealers all expect a revival in the demand for goods as soon as the trade conditions among the manufacturers warrant, and they feel satisfied also that all the stock on hand will be needed to meet the demand for goods as soon as the expected revival sets in, which is bound to come sooner or later.

During a considerable portion of last week the marked exodus of leaf men who attended the National Convention in Baltimore had the effect of even greater quietude than might otherwise have been the case.

There seems to have been a continuing demand for Sumatra, and especially of the new goods, but no specially large sales have been reported. It is also stated that one of the importing houses has sold a considerable amount of its early purchases of the new goods.

The Havana market remains practically unchanged, and sales are being made only in moderate quantities. Prices are well maintained.

THE CIGAR INDUSTRY.

The cigar trade is not reviving with that degree of activity that has been long expected and hoped for, although some of the factories now report that out-of-town orders are coming in more freely. The city trade, however, has been dull, with no very bright prospects for immediate improvement. At this time of the year usually a considerable volume of business is drawn from summer resorts, but this year there also seems to be a lack of demand from that source. In consequence of the continued depression there has been a curtailment of forces of cigarmakers in some instances, while a few factories report an active demand and operations with a full complement of hands.

LOCKER CASE DECIDED.

At Albany last week the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the Appellate Division, Second Department, affirming that of Special Term, which dismissed the complaint of John A. Locker and another against the American Tobacco Company, the Metropolitan Tobacco Company, Adolph G. Bendheim and Arthur Stern.

It was claimed that the defendant "owned and controlled so large a share of the staple articles and kinds of tobacco marketed in the country that no general dealer or jobber could successfully do business without handling the merchandise owned and controlled by the American Tobacco Company; that the company had appointed the Metropolitan Tobacco Company its exclusive selling agent in New York and that the defendants refused to sell any of their goods to the plaintiffs, whereby their business was destroyed."

The opinion of Chief Judge Cullen shows how far the decision is from passing upon the main question of the right to combine in a substantial boycott, for he says: "While the complaint probably stated a good cause of action where it charged that the defendants combined and threatened to destroy plaintiffs' business and boycott them, these allegations were withdrawn at the opening of the trial."

Judge Cullen further says that "it is unquestionable that the owner of property may sell to whom he chooses, and equally he may control his agent. A refusal to sell to any particular individual becomes illegal only when it is done in pursuance of a combination with other owners to injure the individual with whom they refused to deal. In other words, it is the combination of several persons which makes that action illegal which if done by a single person without any agreement for joint action would be legal.

"It is contended, however, that a different rule should prevail where a single person or corporation controls substantially the whole production or output of a staple article. I do not think the extent of the business can affect the rights of the parties. If it is an inherent right of the owner of property to refuse to sell his property to any particular individual, he cannot be deprived of that right simply because of the magnitude of his business or his wealth.

"Nor do I see how the courts could well draw a line between individuals and corporations who may exercise their full right of property and those to whom on account of their wealth that right is to be denied. If the aggregation of enormous industries under a single control is economic evil, as to which I express no opinion, the evil can be easily cured by the Legislature."

TOBACCO PLANT FOR JERSEY CITY.

With the purchase of many acres of land in the Marion section of Jersey City on the banks of the Hackensack River, by Thomas P. Maloney, vice-president of the Lorillard Tobacco Company, it was announced yesterday that the entire Eastern equipment of the American Tobacco Company would be transferred to that city. Several big factories will be erected and 10,000 hands will be employed.

WOMAN SMOKES IN CAR.

A young woman, who was fashionably dressed, created a stir in an electric train between Jamaica and Brooklyn when she entered the smoking car.

She sat beside a laborer, who was smoking a pipe. After handing over her ticket, she took a cigarette from a silk-covered case and, lighting it, helped to fill the car with smoke.

President Cullman's Report

TO THE

Eleventh Annual Convention of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association, at Baltimare, May 10th and 11th, 1909.

Gentlemen:—

The Eleventh Annual Convention of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association meets at Baltimore most opportunely. The Payne bill is before the Senate, and we are but a short hour from the centre of tariff activities. In the past year the interests of the Association have been centred in tariff matters, and it shall be my object to briefly summarize the course our Association has taken and the situations that have confronted us. Besides, there are several matters of importance which I especially wish to call your attention to.

TOBACCO WAREHOUSE REGULATIONS.

No subject with which your officers have been called upon to deal has required more attention or greater vigilance than the regulations governing leaf tobacco warehouses. There are sound reasons why the Internal Revenue Bureau should endeavor at all times to impose and execute rules for the supervision of warehouses that may occasionally work hardship to the individual dealer. The revenues must be protected at all hazards and it is in the interest of honest dealers that the government should prevent unscrupulous persons from carrying on practices which facilitate illegitimate competition. On the other hand, there can be no justification for regulations adopted merely to relieve officials of labor or responsibility and which embarrass and annoy the reputable merchant, nor does the Government profit by such regulations, the logical effect of which is to restrict the operations of enterprising dealers and manufacturers of the highest integrity, thereby reducing the revenue derived from their output and placing a premium upon evasions of both rule and statute.

In my last annual report I was able to announce the very satisfactory conclusion of protracted negotiations with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue as the result of which the regulations governing leaf warehouses had been revised in a liberal spirit, but without in any way diminishing the safeguards upon the revenues. During last July, however, a ruling bearing the signature of the Commissioner was promulgated, which caused great annoyance throughout our trade and which made it necessary for me again to take up with the Internal Revenue Bureau the subject of the treatment of leaf warehouses. I have reason to believe that this ruling, though signed by the Commissioner somewhat hurriedly upon his departure for Europe, was the result in some degree of an inadvertence on the part of subordinate officials.

Chapter 2, page 13 of Regulations No. 8, in the framing of which I was consulted with results entirely satisfactory to our association, contains the following provision:

"Whereu a leaf dealer makes a sale to another leaf dealer, but holds the tobacco in his warehouse, subject to the order of the said purchasing leaf dealer, and at his risk, the original dealer making the sale shall enter the same in Book 59 at the time made, and the purchasing dealer shall make an entry of the purchase in his Book 59. When the tobacco is removed from the warehouse for shipment, the aforesaid purchasing dealer to whom it belongs shall enter in his Book 59 the names and addresses of the parties to whom shipment is made and the district to which the tobacco is sent."

Immediately following the above is this provision, applicable only to manufacturers of tobacco and cigars:

"The sale of leaf tobacco which has been contracted for in large quantities by a manufacturer of tobacco or cigars will be entered in Book 59 as sold on the date of shipment or delivery, and in quantity and kind shipped or delivered to the purchas r."

Under date of July 14, 1908, a ruling signed by the Commissioner was promulgated which contained the following paragraph:

"The sale of leaf tobacco which has been contracted for in large quantities to be delivered from time to time will be entered in Book 59 not as a sale of the whole quantity on the date of the contract, but on the date of shipment or delivery of each installment and in quantity and kind shipped or delivered to the purchas r."

You will observe that this paragraph is an almost verbatim reproduction of the language employed in Regulations No. 8 as to manufacturers of tobacco and cigars except that the very significant words "by a manufactur r of tobacco or cigars" are omitted. Notwithstanding the fact that the Regulations No. 8 were approved by the Secretary of the Treasury and could only be amended with his formal consent, collectors in certain districts proceeded upon the assumption that the standing regulation were modified by the ruling of July 14, 1908, and that leaf dealers had been deprived of the privilege specially accorded them by Regulations No. 8—a privilege guaranteed them by the law—of entering up sales and purchases at the time made instead of upon the delivery and receipt of each particular installment.

Certain other collectors took the position that a leaf dealer was deprived of the privilege specifically conferred by the provision of Regulations No. 8 above quoted if he were also a manufacturer of cigars, notwithstanding the fact that as a manufacturer he must qualify and keep a set of records entirely separate and distinct from his business as a leaf dealer and observe all the regulations intended to prevent the confusion of the two occupations. Inasmuch as some of the most prominent leaf dealers are also engaged in the manufacture of cigars, but on separate premises and maintaining separate records, this construction of the regulations imposed a very great and an entirely unnecessary hardship.

Upon the return to the United States of Commissioner Capers I took up with him vigorously the matter of the construction placed by collectors upon the ruling of July 14, 1908, and expressing confidence that it was his intention to have Regulations No. 8 executed in strict conformity with our understanding—as the result of which our trade with no little trouble and expense complied with the Department's request that packers should register at one warehouse in each packing district—I earnestly urged him to advise collectors throughout the service that Regulations No. 8 had not been amended with respect to the privileges enjoyed by leaf dealers and that all regularly qualified dealers should receive the same treatment whether also engaged separately in the manufacture of cigars or not.

The Commissioner very courteously gave his personal attention to the matter and after several conferences with our Washington representative promulgated the following order (T. D. 1428):

"The attention of this office has been called to the omission in paragraph 8 of Circular 729 (T. D. 3394) of the words 'by manufacturers of tobacco and cigars' as they occur in Regulations 8, page 13, fourth full paragraph resulting as alleged in a modification of the established regulation.

"It is stated that some collectors have so interpreted said circular as to require leaf-tobacco dealers who sell to other dealers in leaf tobacco to make entries of their purchases and sales in a manner different from that prescribed in Regulations 8. This was not the intention of this office.

"In order that the mode of entries shall be uniform for all leaf-tobacco dealers, it will be sufficient if the instructions contained in Regulations 8 are strictly complied with, and Circular 729 is hereby modified to that extent.

"The prime object of leaf-tobacco dealers' books is to afford a method of tracing leaf tobacco from its source to the manufacturer of tobacco, snuff or cigars, so that the taxes imposed on tobacco products may be secured.

"Any irregularies discovered in the handling of leaf tobacco by dealers therein or by manufacturers of tobacco, snuff or cigars will be promptly reported to this office."

In this connection I think it due the present Commissioner of Internal Revenue to state that he has at all time received our representations with courtesy and has personally investigated every matter we have brought to his attention, and in practically every instance has removed all cause of complaint. The methods of the Bureau under his administration have been transformed from bureaucratic to business-like and I do not doubt that the revenues have been benefited thereby to a material extent. In view of the Commissioner's liberal policy, I bespeak from the members of this association a careful observance of the regulations, and especially of these provisions relating to leaf warehouses, which have been adopted as the result of conferences with your officers.

BANKRUPTCY LEGISLATION.

In conformity with the policy of this asscelated I have during the past year co-operated with the movement in Washington to prevent the repeal of the Federal bankruptcy law and to strengthen such of its provisions as experience has shown to be inadequate or inefficient. Certain interests, including a few large business concerns, which employ legal representatives in every State, and thus secure important advantages over smaller creditors, and organizations of retail merchants, who are opposed to the statute on the ground that its provisions are drastic and favor the creditor at the expense of the debtor, have labored industriously to bring about the repeal of the law, but I am glad to be able to report that the House Judiciary Committee has voted down all such propositions by a very decisive majority and there is now no apparent danger that the law will be stricken from the statute books in the near future.

During the last session of Congress which expired in March the influence of the association was exercised to assist in the passage of the bill introduced in the House by Representative Sherley, of Kentucky, which was favorably reported by the Judiciary Committee and passed by the House, failing to receive the indorsement of the Senate only because of lack of time for the adequate consideration of its provisions. The bill was most carefully drawn by lawyers experienced in bankruptcy litigation and was intended to remedy a number of defects which have developed during the nine years since the original Torrey bill was enacted. It will be reintroduced in the current Congress and will probably become a law in the near future. It is perhaps unnecessary for me to describe this measure further than to say that the character of the amendments provided may be gathered from the modification made in the provision of the statute regarding the granting of discharges to bankrupts. These amendments provide that trustees shall be regarded as sufficiently parties in interest to object to a discharge when duly authorized at meetings of creditors and that false mercantile statements, if made to the trade and relied on by the creditor, shall be an available objection to the debtor's discharge. The first of these changes merely settles differences which exist between Federal Courts as to whether a trustee can object to a debtor's discharge, although it is highly desirable that he should, as thereby the expenses of the proceedings will be spread over all of the creditors and not borne by a single creditor who may file objections. It is still an open question whether a false credit statement to be available as an objection to a discharge must not have been made to the creditor who extended the credit and at the time of the extension of such credit. The change accomplished by the amendment is simply one which makes available to any creditor any materially false mercantile statement on which the debtor has obtained money or property on credit and irrespective of whether such statement has been given to the creditor objecting or has been communicated generally to the trade.

THE FREE LEAF BILL.

Within a few days after our last convention I was called to Washington to appear before the Senate Finance Committee in opposition to the so-called free leaf bill, a measure that has been a source of annoyance and anxiety to the leaf trade since its first appearance in Congress half a score of years ago. As this measure is now again before Congress in the form of a House amendment to the Payne Tariff bill, I deem it important that the Association should understand its provisions and appreciate the injury that would result from its enactment, especially as I have been surprised to find in the leaf trade otherwise well-informed merchants who have expressed the opinion that the bill is a matter of no special concern to our branch of the tobacco industry.

As I had occasion to state in addressing the Senate Finance Committee, this bill which was originall drafted by Representative Gaines, of Tennessee, was evidently drawn without the slightest consid ration of conditions in the cigar Leaf trade, which are wholly different from those prevailing in Kentucky, Tennessee or Virginia, and yet its provisions apply in all particulars to cigar leaf as well as to leaf produced for the manufacture of ch wing and smoking tobaccos and cigarettes. Briefly, the measure proposes the amendment of the law regarding the sale of leaf tobacco in such a manner as to permit any person to buy or sell the commodity in which we deal without a license, without registering and without any obligation to keep records for the inspection of the Government. The sale of leaf tobacco direct to the consumer by unregistered, unlicensed parties would, of course, make heavy inroads upon the revenue now derived from the sale of tax-paid smoking and chewing tobacco, cigarettes, etc., and in this phase of the subject we have the important interest of taxpayers called upon to bear far more than our share of the burdens of the Government. Our more immediate interest, however, concerns the application of the bill to the sale of cigar leaf tobacco and its manufacture into cigars. As to the menace to our trade involved in the Gaines bill, I can perhaps make no clearer statement than in the following extract from the argument which I had the honor to present to the Senate Finance Committee:

For many years the internal revenue authorities have found it necessary to closely supervise the handling of leaf tobacco from the time it leaves the grower until the tax is paid thereon, and the present internal revenue laws and regulations provide an elaborate system for this purpose, including the keeping of costly records by every leaf dealer and manufacturer in the country. An important exception is made by these laws in favor of the grower, who may sell his tobacco not only to a consumer or to a dealer, but also to a manufacturer, without making any record whatever of the transaction. The internal revenue officials have found this exemption in favor of the grower to be a constant menace to the revenues, for if an unscrupulous manufacturer of cigars, for example, desires to dispose of a part of his product without paying tax thereon he can easily force a balance in his material account by buying direct from a grower and omitting to record the purchase on his revenue book. Even under these conditions, however, revenue officials have been able to keep fraudulent transactions within reasonable bounds, as tobacco growers are easily identified as such as may at any time be called upon to give information as to the parties to whom they have sold their product.

The pending bill, however, abolishes all these safeguards with a stroke of the pen. Under its terms any one may buy a farmer's crop of tobacco, or any part thereof, and store it wherever he pleases, without making any record of the transaction or furnishing any information thereof to the internal revenue officials. He may also sell such tobacco in bulk or in part, as he may desire, without making any record unless he sells to a manufacturer; but it is obvious that this slight restriction affords no protection either to the Government or to the competing registered leaf dealer, for no one would have any knowledge of the transaction except the buyer and seller, and if the manufacturer purchasing the leaf intended to defraud the Government by omitting to pay the tax on his product he would make no entry on his material account and there would thus be no evidence in existence with which to trace the leaf to the seller. Further, a manufacturer could buy leaf as a dealer and transfer it to himself as a manufacturer without recording it. It is thus perfectly clear that the passage of this bill would serve merely as an invitation to dishonest manufacturers to expand their fraudulent operations and the Government would lose more revenue in the direction described.

The effect of such conditions upon the legitimate registered leaf dealer, whose operations are supervised by the Internal Revenue Bureau and who is obliged to record every transaction, not only with the manufacturers but with other leaf dealers and even with the growers, can better be imagined than described. He would not only suffer from the competition of irresponsible parties temporarily engaged in the buying and selling of leaf and having neither place of business nor commercial credit, but he would necessarily be subjected to untold annoyance at the hands of the revenue officials who, under such a system, would be called upon to trace countless fraudulent transactions. The starting point in such an investigation would be the revenue records of the manufacturer, which would disclose all his transactions with legitimate leaf dealers, whose books, in turn, would require to be carefully examined before other lines of inquiry could be taken up. Every dealer who has sold a pound of leaf to a manufacturer suspected of having defrauded the Government would immediately be brought under suspicion, even though the authorities might be morally certain that the real culprit was one of the army of commercial freebooters that would be brought into existence by the enactment of this bill.

I am satisfied that the tobacco growers would receive no permanent advantage from this measure and it is significant that those who raise cigar leaf have viewed the measure with indifference. A crop of the magnitude and value of the tobacco produced in the United States can only be marketed through legitimate commercial channels and any attempt to demoralize the branch of the industry engaged in distribution must result to the great injury of the producer himself.

I am glad to say that the Senate Finance Committee, immediately after the hearing referred to, indefinitely postponed the free leaf bill, which was not again heard from during the last Congress. In the closing hours of the debate on the Payne Tariff bill on April 9 last, however, the Ways and Means Committee was induced to report the Gaines measure as a committee amendment and it was put through under the gag and spur without explanatory statement or debate. I am advised that the purpose of the committee was to placate certain advocates of this legislation in the hope that they would support the Payne bill. This hope was not realized, however, and I am disposed to believe that the Ways and Means Committee will not insist upon the amendment when the pending Tariff bill goes to Conference Committee. The Senate Finance Committee having consistently opposed a measure that would probably cost the Government ten or twelve million dollars annually in reduced revenues has rejected the Gaines amendment and has successfully withstood the efforts of Kentucky Tennessee and Virginia Senators to cause it to be added to the bill on the Senate floor.

GENERAL TARIFF REVISION.

As fully foreshadowed in my last annual report, the revision of the Dingley Tariff act was undertaken last November and is to-day the most important as well as the most disturbing issue confronting the business community. The fact that it was not practicable at our last convention to adopt a definite policy with respect to the details of the proposed revision of the tobacco schedule has made the task of your officers one of considerable difficulty and requiring the exercise of tact and diplomacy, but I have deemed it incumbent upon me in representing our organization before the Congressional committees charged with the duty of revising the Dingley act to describe the conditions in our trade fully and accurately, and also to point out what appeared to me to be certain conclusions which must inevitably be drawn therefrom. In the representations I have made to the committees I have been guided by the expressions of the Board of Directors of this association at a meeting which I called as soon as I was formally advised of the proposed hearing at Washington.

The first official steps looking to the revision of the tariff were taken by the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, which early in November, 1908, began a series of hearings upon the several schedules of the Dingley law. The tobacco schedule was reached on November 13, when, in company with a delegation representing various branches of the industry, I had the honor to appear before the committee.

The oft-repeated declarations of this association respecting the desirability of a uniform rate of duty on Cuban tobacco seemed to me to call for a statement in relation thereto. I pointed out the discrepancy between the number of pounds of Havana tobacco paying wrapper duty and the pounds of wrappers necessary to cover our clear Havana production. A sentiment favorable to a moderate reduction in the duty on wrapping leaf gained ground rapidly during the last summer and autumn and has since been voiced by large numbers of cigar manufacturers employing imported leaf. In addressing the House Committee I called attention to the quantities of various wrappers used for our annual cigar production, their general market price, and their various costs per thousand cigars.

Following the public hearing on the tobacco schedule, many cigar manufacturers addressed the committee by letter and telegram urging a reduced rate on wrapper leaf. When the executive sessions of the Ways and Means Committee began, I was called to believe that Chairman Payne and his colleagues would see their way clear to a moderate cut in the leaf schedule, but at this juncture a factor not fully foreseen entered into the calculation, namely; the continued heavy decline in both customs and internal revenue receipts, which was emphasized by an official estimate prepared by the Secretary of the Treasury showing an unprecedented probable deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909. The presentation of these figures to the committee resulted in many changes in the details of plan of revision and from that date up to the present time the leaders of both the House and Senate have scanned the schedules with the chief object in mind of gaining revenue from every possible source and of preventing losses that might be sustained as the result of even the most moderate reductions. As the result of this policy the average ad valorem duty of the Payne bill as reported to the House was slightly greater than that of the Dingley law, notwithstanding the fact that when the revision was undertaken it was assumed that its primary object was the reduction of taxation. It is interesting to note in this connection that wrapper tobacco is subject to the highest ad valorem duty (185 per cent) of any generally consumed commodity.

Under these conditions it is perhaps not surprising that the leaders of the Ways and Means Committee decided not to reduce any of the rates of the Dingley tobacco schedule, especially as it had been determined to provide for the free entry of considerable quantities of leaf and cigars produced in the Philippines. The tobacco schedule is counted upon for approximately $24,000,000 in customs revenue and with respect to the duties paid on Sumatra wrappers and on fillers from Cuba and elsewhere is collected at a minimum of expense. To curtail these receipts, in the opinion of the House Committee, would have been exceedingly unwise and the leaders were unwilling to believe that a moderate reduction would sufficiently stimulate importations to produce substantially the same revenue; in fact, certain members of the committee were opposed to any change in rates that would in any degree increase importations.

The proposition to amend the administrative features of the Dingley act by providing that tobacco and other products should pay duty on the basis of weight on withdrawal rather than upon dock weight, was opposed, partly because it was feared that the change might result in the pilfering of leaf while in bonded custody, but more especially because of the revenue involved. When the dock weight provision was added to the Dingley bill it was frankly stated by those who secured its incorporation that it was equivalent to an increase in the wrapper rate from $1.85 to $2.40, and to a proportionate gain in the duty on fillers. Whether this estimate is accurate or not, the Ways and Means Committee has taken the position that the provision is an important factor in the revenue problem which it would be unwise to disturb under existing conditions.

In considering the question of a uniform rate of duty on Cuban tobacco, the Ways and Means Committee, recognizing the necessity of making such a provision by treaty rather than by statute, in order to prevent its application to Sumatra wrappers, concluded that it would be necessary to fix in the tobacco schedule a rate on wrapper leaf equal to the present wrapper duty, thus laying the foundation for a reasonable uniform rate on Cuban leaf by a treaty concession of approximately 80 per cent. While to the average business man this project would appear to be entirely feasible, it was so unlike any departure from the policy of Congress with respect to the treatment of the tobacco schedule and the exercise of the reciprocity principle, that the Ways and Means leaders could not bring themselves to consider it with favor. Especially potent has been the fear that the adoption of a flat rate on all tobacco equal to the present wrapper duty for the confessed purpose of establishing a basis for an enormous concession to a single country would be regarded by the Netherlands, Mexico, Germany, Turkey and other countries from which tobacco is imported in greater or less quantity, as an intentional discrimination that would be followed by prompt reprisals that might ultimately lead to disastrous tariff wars.

W. J. LUCASWITZ
Delegate from Dayton

Since there are such legislative and diplomatic difficulties in the way of adopting a uniform rate and we have been unable to have our legislators look on same with favor, we should strive to modify as far as possible present evils in our filler duty. An exact determination of the wrapper possibilities of a bale of tobacco seems as much dependent on the kind of cigars to be wrapped as upon the nature and texture of the tobacco itself. Further, a definite conclusion as to the percentage of wrappers in a bale of tobacco by the inspection of three dry carots is as uncertain as May forecasts of September harvests. The Havana importer and clear Havana manufacturers complain of the lack of uniformity in appraisement. Under our Constitution we are guaranteed, as citizens, equal rights. Does that not mean equal administration of our tariff laws in all sections of our country? Should wrapper suitability become a matter of geography?

FRANK INKSATER
Delegate from Elmira

An expert board of tobacco appraisers, with definite registration and identification of bales at the original port of shipment, might insure more uniform administration. I believe this Convention should take such definite action in this matter as will lead to some legislative relief. Centralization of appraisement and hearty, active co-operation of Havana importers and clear Havana manufacturers will do much to diminish present abuses.

The only change made in the tobacco schedule of the Dingley act by the House of Representatives was the incorporation of an amendment, of no direct interest to the cigar leaf trade, increasing to 75 cents per pound the duty on unstemmed fillers when imported from countries which prohibit importations of American leaf. This provision was added as a sop to the producers in this country of certain types of cigarette tobaccos who claim to have been injured by the importations of Turkish leaf. This provision, however, was stricken out by the Senate Finance Committee and the tobacco schedule as reported by Chairman Aldrich is in all respects identical with the existing law.

It is vitally interesting for us to note the concentration of cigar production since 1896 to 1907, and to speculate on what same prognosticates. In 1896 there were 34,041 factories, with an average factory production of 129,000 and a total production of 4,048,463,306. In 1907 there were only 25,882 factories, with an average factory production of 305,100, and a total production of 7,392,029,841. To my mind, many factors have contributed to this concentration. The wrapper duty is the most patent and readily accessible cause and while there is no doubt that same has had a marked influence, I don't believe it has been as potent a factor as modern industrial development. Corporative and co-operative enterprise, combined with manufacturing machinery, replacing individual capital and labor, with consequent cheaper production, telephone, telegraph and rapid railroad communication, delocalizing our cigar manufacturing industry, have made it possible for capitalistic enterprise, with its advantages, to enter all points of distribution.

Centralization and capitalization are normal tendencies which cannot be legislated against or checked. It is modern development. An equal compliance with the law and the use of legitimate competitive methods by corporate and capitalistic enterprise must, however, be insisted upon. In the last few years prohibition has added its might towards centralization and has deprived the local manufacturer of the natural outlet for his production. There may be a day in the near future when the cigar manufacturing industry will be so concentrated that operatives will have but little choice of employment, the farmer but few buyers for his product and the consumer but limited selection. While the wrapper duty and prohibition may only be secondary causes no opportunity should be lost to eliminate them as contributory factors of centralization.

TARIFF ON PHILIPPINE PRODUCTS.

The question of the tariff treatment of Philippine products, especially tobacco and sugar, entering the United States, which has been in controversy throughout the past three Congresses, will probably be settled before the end of the current fiscal year on a basis as permanent as the tenure of the present administration. I regret that I can not say that the settlement will be wholly satisfactory to our trade, but I am fully justified in the statement that when all factors in the problem have been fairly considered the outcome will be much more acceptable to all the branches of our industry than we have had reason to hope for. The labors of your officers in this campaign have been unremitting and we shall endeavor up to the last moment to obtain every possible additional concession.

When the Philippine problem first confronted us, our Association opposed vigorously free trade with the Islands. As unnecessary and harmful as the free admission of the product of the Philippines at that time seemed, it appeared to your Association indeed unjust that we should have not only to shoulder that burden but also sacrifice domestic growth and production for the benefit of the Philippines, as their increase in tobacco growth and cigar manufacture was in direct ratio to the injury we would sustain from the free admission of their possible increasing production. The arguments of our growers, packers and manufacturers before the Ways and Means Committee in 1905 were along these lines. It was then that our Association took the stand that if some concessions were to be granted we should be guarded against further demoralization than the free admission of a limited importation would subject us to. We have consistently maintained such an attitude and have been able to make the justice of our position prevail.

Notwithstanding the fact that during the hearing on the tobacco schedule last November the Ways and Means Committee gave us no intimation whatever of their intention to deal with the Philippine question in the general tariff bill then under consideration, when the measure was made public it was found that a provision had been incorporated authorizing the free entry of 300,000 pounds of wrapper leaf, 3,000,000 pounds of fillers and 150,000,000 cigars. Admitting for the sake of argument that an additional outlet for the manufacturing industry in the Philippines is desirable, it is at once apparent that the limitations prescribed by the House provision are out of all proportion to the magnitude of the trade of the islands and completely discredit the oft-repeated contention of the champions of the Philippines that the tobacco industry of the archipelago, owing to the limited area suitable for the cultivation of leaf and to the great scarcity of labor, can never hope to greatly exceed the present volume of production.

The proposition to admit to the United States the quantities of leaf tobacco specified in the House bill is directly antagonistic to the interests of the cigar manufacturers of the Philippines and has caused them to protest bitterly to official quarters. In my last annual report I stated that the leading dealers in Manila had advised the Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the Philippines that they could sell much larger quantities of cigars to consumers within the Islands if it were practicable to have their products put up promptly by the local factories, while the manufacturers' sole complaint was that they would not obtain the necessary profit in view of the competition of the leaf exporters. I am now able to quote the last annual report of the Commissioner for the year 1908, in which he states that "for the past seven years the demand for leaf tobacco suitable for the manufacture of cigars for export has exceeded the supply." It is obvious, therefore, that the sole effect of providing a free market in the United States for a considerable quantity of the best wrappers and fillers will be to enhance the cost of such leaf to the Philippine cigar manufacturer, an injurious tendency which can only be fully appreciated by those who have had practical experience in the manufacture and marketing of cigars.

The proposition to admit 150,000,000 cigars free of duty as a "healthy stimulus" to an industry which, after eight years of peaceful progress under the protection of the American flag, has reached a total output of only 198,000,000 cigars, of which approximately 116,000,000 are now absorbed by foreign customers, chiefly in the Orient, is so illogical as to be difficult of proper characterization. In considering the effect of this provision, I am confronted by the undeniable fact that the Government experts are diametrically opposed to each other on this point. I am informed that the experienced collector of customs at Manila expresses the opinion that few, if any, cigars will be shipped to the United States, and that the chief result of the concession will be an important increase in the price which the Manila manufacturers can secure both at home and in their Oriental markets because of the fact that the ports of the United States are open to all goods that cannot be sold on a satisfactory basis elsewhere. The equally experienced Commissioner of Internal Revenue for the Philippines, however, is of the opinion that within a reasonably short time practically the entire quota of 150,000,000 cigars will be exported to the United States. I am strongly inclined to believe that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is correct in his assumption that an open market in this country will soon attract maximum importations and that our manufacturers must prepare to meet this competition, which, in the nature of things, will probably be most strongly felt by the domestic producers of clear Havana goods of the medium and lower grades, because of the foreign and tropical origin of the leaf of which the prospective importations will be composed.

With these considerations in mind, your officers, immediately upon the publication of the House tariff bill, took up with the Senate leaders and with the special representatives of the administration in Philippine affairs the desirability of curtailing the limitations placed on free imports of tobacco products and the necessity for providing safeguards to prevent the importation of goods made in part, at least, of tobaccos grown elsewhere than in the Philippine Islands. I am glad to be able to record the fact that the Senate Finance Committee, with that consideration for the great industries of the country which has always characterized its policies and which is in such striking contrast to the indifference displayed by the Ways and Means Committee of the House, amended the Philippine provision of the Payne bill in a number of most important particulars, thereby greatly reducing the injury to our trade which may result from this ill-advised legislation.

The State Committee, in the first place, reduced the limitation on the free imports of fillers from 3,000,000 to 1,500,000 pounds. In the second place, the Senate bill specifically provides that "the aforesaid exemptions of tobacco and cigars from duty shall become effective when and continue only so long as there shall be levied, collected and paid upon tobacco and cigars imported into the Philippine Islands from any foreign country the same duties as are required by this act to be levied, collected and paid upon tobacco and cigars imported into the United States from any foreign country." The importance of this provision will be fully appreciated when it is remembered that the present tariff on leaf tobacco entering the Philippines, whether wrappers or fillers, is but 2½ cents per pound, which would enable the Manila cigar manufacturers to import the best grade of Sumatra wrappers at less than one-eighth the duty levied upon the same product imported into the United States. The officials of the Bureau of Insular Affairs have been prompt to recognize the necessity of this safeguard and have incorporated in a bill providing a new tariff law for the Philippine Islands, which will undoubtedly be passed and go into effect simultaneously with the new Payne tariff law, the complete schedule of import duties on tobacco as proposed in the Payne bill, which are substantially the rates of the Dingley law. The Senate bill also provides that all Philippine cigars imported into the United States shall pay the same internal revenue tax as would be levied thereon were they manufactured here or imported from a foreign country.

While the Philippine provision, even as modified by the Senate Committee, is not altogether satisfactory, we should not lose sight of the fact that for the past six years our industry has been menaced by absolute free trade with the Islands, a condition that would have tempted vast amounts of capital to embark upon the growing of leaf and manufacture of cigars in the archipelago, flooding our markets with the products of the cheap labor of the Orient and ruining our growers and manufacturers alike. It is but a short time since we were warned, in a statement made before the Ways and Means Committee by Mr. Taft, then Secretary of War, that we must "put our house in order" in preparation for absolute free trade. Mr. Taft is now President of the United States, an it is at his instance that the comparatively conservative Philippine provision has been included in the tariff bill. I violate no confidence in saying that, in the opinion of our most loyal friends in Washington, its elimination would be followed by a veto of the bill which, in view of the unsettled conditions in the business community, would be little less than a national calamity. Our allies in this arduous campaign, the domestic beet sugar manufacturers, have suffered a far heavier blow than that sustained by us, for with a production in the United States of only 465,000 tons of sugar, the Philippine provision authorizes the free entry of no less than 300,000 tons. The value of this competitive importation is not less than $18,000,000 or probably ten times that of the exempted tobacco products. The only consideration that has reconciled the domestic sugar producers to this outcome is the fact that it means an end to the long period of uncertainty during which no prouncer has been justified in adding a dollar to his invested capital or in attempting to increase his output or extend his market. This consideration must also apply to us and in view of the dangers that we have escaped and of the comparatively permanent character of the prospective legislation, I feel fully justified in heartily congratulating the members of this association.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY TREATY.

In my last annual report I called attention to the fact that the existing reciprocal trade arrangement with Cuba would expire in December, 1908, and I also stated that, unless modified in six months before the date of its expiration, it would continue in effect automatically until six months after due notice should have been given either by the United States or Cuba of a desire to terminate the arrangement. Up to this time no notice has been given by either of the contracting parties and the treaty must therefore remain in force at least for another six months. That it is the intention of the leaders of the House of Representatives to continue the convention in force indefinitely is obvious from the provision of Section 6 of the House tariff bill to the effect that "nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of the treaty of commercial reciprocity concluded between the United States and the Republic of Cuba on the 23d day of December, 1903, or the provisions of the act of Congress heretofore passed for the execution of the same."

We may expect in the near future, however, that certain foreign countries will endeavor to bring about the abrogation of the treaty with Cuba on the ground that it contains concessions which we are unwilling to make to other countries which give us the benefit of their lowest tariffs and extend to us in all other respects what in the language of diplomacy is described as "the most-favored-nation-treatment." In the new general tariff bill now pending in the Senate there is a provision known as the maximum and minimum clause, the spirit of which is that we will give to all nations our minimum duties in exchange for corresponding concessions and there may be some ground for the contention that the continuance of the present Cuban arrangement would violate this provision, as we do not stand ready to give to all countries the special reductions we have conceded to Cuba. I am satisfied, however, that as Cuba is an international sense is a ward of the United States, and as the maximum and minimum clause of the tariff bill recognizes the right of foreign countries to make special concessions to dependencies occupying relations similar to that of Cuba to the United States, the State Department will be able to defend the Cuban reciprocity treaty and prevent its abrogation as long as it shall seem advantageous to maintain it. It is among the possibilities that the present agreement with Cuba may be revised for the purpose of securing greater concessions in the Cuban duties on certain American products, as the agreement is now far more advantageous to the island than to the United States, but I do not expect to see any additional concessions in the rates on Cuban products entering the United States.

ANTI-COUPON LEGISLATION.

The effort to secure Federal legislation to prevent the use of redeemable coupons and other gift schemes in the sale of tobacco products has continued throughout the past year and has been participated in by this Association on both moral and business grounds, although the question is one of more immediate importance to manufacturers in the tobacco trade.

When the Ways and Means Committee recently reported the Payne Tariff bill much satisfaction was expressed at the restoration therein of the provision of Section 10 of the Dingley Act forbidding the packing of coupons in statutory packages, but it was soon learned that the committee had included this provision as the result of a clerical error, the compiler of the bill having intended merely to re-enact the existing law. Subsequently the House adopted an amendment striking out the anti coupon clause and restoring the so-called Grosvenor provision, which is identical with the existing law. Lest the action of the House in this regard should be taken as indicative of the sentiment in Congress respecting anti-coupon legislation, I would say that I am reliably informed that the House would have voted down the Grosvenor provision and restored the Dingley anti-coupon clause by an overwhelming majority but for a parliamentary complication as the result of which Representative Tawney's demand for a vote by tellers was ruled upon as having been made too late to receive consideration. I am glad to state that Mr. Tawney, who has always been a consistent champion of the independents in our trade, is in no wise discouraged by his lack of success in securing the passage of a well considered anti-coupon law.

SALE OF SEIZED GOODS.

At our last annual convention the Association adopted a resolution advocating legislation to prevent the sale of seized or abandoned goods at less than the duty thereon, such sales being highly injurious to dealers upon whose goods, purchased at full value, the duties prescribed by law have been exacted. We have taken the matter up at Washington in connection with the administrative features of the pending tariff bill and have endeavored to secure the endorsement of our resolution by the customs officials of the Treasury Department. These officials are now giving careful consideration to the matter and we trust that the position to be assumed by them will make it practicable to obtain their co-operation in seeking this legislation. I am advised that if the officials can see no serious objection to applying the principle described to tobacco products, but inasmuch as they contend that any law must apply to every kind of seized goods and fear that in some instances heavy loss to the Government would ensue, it may not be practicable to secure the adoption of the provision suggested until the revenue producing capacity of the new tariff bill has been demonstrated. To my mind, however, the sale of merchandise seized for less than the duty deprives the Government of revenue on imported merchandise which those sold at public auction for less than the duty assessed thereon replace.

Mr. W. L. Crouse has done yeoman's service for our Association, and, by tact and indigenity, accomplished results which are of paramount importance. Despite trying circumstances, he has given us cheerful, tireless attention, and has been of invaluable assistance. The results that your Association have attained at Washington have been due in no slight degree to his efforts. I most earnestly urge the retention of his services.

I wish to express my deep appreciation of the honor which you have bestowed upon me. I have sought to ascertain your aims and ambitions and with earnest faithfulness carry out the policies of our Association and strive to enlarge its usefulness. It has been my endeavor to maintain the honor and prestige of our Association, and act on all questions with careful consideration of all our interests. We can only prosper by united action. Let us, therefore, ever possess the spirit of accord. Don't let our deliberations be circumscribed by the present. Let us have eyes for the future and its possibilities.

CONVENTION IN A NUT SHELL

In a nutshell, the results of the Eleventh Annual Convention of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco Association are these:

A power was conferred upon certain committees to perform certain desired duties that will result in more expedient and yet more effective work. The troublesome tariff question was placed in such a way that it is no longer likely to cause confusion, if not possible dissension, by a small majority vote. Also the troublesome Philippine agitation has been safely circumvented. The Association's attitude in the dock-weight matter has been reiterated. Steps have been taken to provide for an internal revenue district to be composed of the Island of Porto Rico. A more aggressive campaign for a reduction of insurance rates and general betterment of conditions is to be undertaken. The free leaf bill is again condemned. Last, but not least, the spirit of comradeship was greatly increased through the royal hospitality of Baltimore. It is not alone in the elaborate preparation for the formal functions of the convention and banquet that this hospitality was manifested, but during the two days in which delegates were in Baltimore there was continual entertainment at luncheons that was almost a banquet and in an excursion to the historic capital, etc., so that, taking into consideration the influence of all these factors, the delegates had full opportunity to meet each other, and everybody mixed in so that men were drawn closer together and friendships established and the spirit of comradeship intensified, which in an association like this is one of the most necessary and essential things that could have been accomplished.

AFTERGLOW

Excellent as every appointment of the convention was, there was after all a joker, unwittingly played perhaps. It was discovered by the captain of the steamer Latrobe as she was about to effect a landing at Annapolis, that the flag on the rear mast was hoisted upside down, and that the trip had been made under virtually a signal of distress.

A slight mishap—a broken spring—detained a party of tobacco men from Lancaster who made the trip to Baltimore in an automobile, until almost the "wee hours of the morning" on Sunday night. The party consisted of Charles A. B. Zook, B. F. Good, Mr. Brimmer, Jr., Raymond A. Heil and Milton Shirk.

A delegate the other night thought some action might be taken to aid the liquor people in their fight against local option, and another member moved for an immediate adjournment that it might be done, but the motion did not prevail—not just then.

The Lancaster trade made a stronger showing than any section of the country, so far as numbers are concerned, excepting possibly the trade of Baltimore. There were from twenty to twenty-five members of the Lancaster trade present.

Mr. Ellison, of the United States Tobacco Journal, was permitted to vent his feeling without having to fear investigation, or even criticism, at the hands of the Committee on Journalism.

The cigars distributed during the sessions of the convention and the steamer trip down the bay were of local manufacture, and every one will attest to their excellent quality.

By the way, no report was heard from the Committee on Journalism nor has another committee been named for the coming year. Guess they adjourned sine die.

Ex-Sheriff Hershey, of Lancaster, declares there was no distress aboard the boat, and that, while a distress signal was flying, relief was not needed.

Perhaps the dullness of trade had something to do with the fact that there was no "talking shop" this time during the pleasure hours.

While the banquet on Tuesday evening was an affair of general jollification, it was devoid of the conventional general speechmaking.

Jack Kinney, with A. Cohn & Co., and L. F. Mueller, with Cullman Bros., were interested spectators at all sessions.

It is stated that Louis Kramer, of Lancaster, sold out his holding (?) the other day at a handsome profit.

M. E. Stern, an active leaf broker of Dayton, O., was among the visitors to the convention.

John Dellevie is about the only man who can draw a royal flush.

The witticism of Schatzmeister Cranz was surely missed this year.

Jack Merriam was there with real bull dog tenacity.

F. W. Miller, leaf tobacco broker of Cincinnati, was visiting the leaf market here last week after the Baltimore convention.

Henry M. Duys, of H. Duys & Co., made considerable purchases of Sumatra tobacco for his firm at the inscription of Friday last.

LITTLE DOING AT LANCASTER.

No Movement Reported in Leaf Market. Factories are also Very Dull.

Lancaster, May 17.

There is still little if any improvement in the leaf tobacco market in this city. During the past week there were no out-of-town visitors, and besides a considerable portion of the week was given over to attendance of the convention at Baltimore, and in which members of our trade took an active interest.

The past week was very favorable to the plant beds and the young plants made good progress, and unless some unforeseen setback occurs it is yet possible that the new crop may be planted rather early this year—a very desirable object. There is little talk of acreage, it being the generally accepted idea that it will be at least as large as last year, if not slightly increased in certain sections.

The cigar industry is, generally speaking, dull, although it is reported here that one large factory in this city last week received in one day orders aggregating 200,000 cigars, and that at least was encouraging. In the vicinity of Akron it is also reported that the industry shows some signs of improvement. C. Ruppin has increased the force of cigarmakers, and several other factories there are working on full time.

C. H. Spitzner & Son, New York leaf tobacco packers, last week issued execution for $305.62 against Ezra Hackman, of Conestoga Centre.

A party of leaf men were conveyed to Baltimore last week in an automobile by C. A. B. Zook, son of the late J. Gust Zook. The party consisted of Mr. Zook as host, Milton Shirk, of Stevens; B. F. Good, of this city; Raymond A. Heiland, with John F. Heiland & Co., brokers, and Mr. Brimmer, son of John F. Brimmer, leaf packers, of this city. A slight mishap occurred to the machine when the party was about passing through Manchester, Md., and a spring snapped. Little daunted, however, temporary repairs were made, and the party proceeded to Baltimore, arriving at the Hotel Belvedere sometime after midnight. The next day the machine was sent to a garage for necessary repairs.

QUIET RULES IN YORK COUNTY.

Delay of Tariff Settlement is Generally Blamed for Continued Dullness.

York, Pa., May 17.

Trade conditions here are still quiet and every one is waiting for further developments. A great deal of the present dullness is attributed to the tariff agitation and the consequent unsettled conditions which necessarily result from it. Once that the tariff question becomes settled it is believed there will begin a revival in the trade all around.

Robert M. Granat, of this city, was the only member of the trade here who attended the Leaf men's convention in Baltimore last week, and undoubtedly he had a thoroughly enjoyable time. It is reported that every one had who attended the function.

Miller Bros., cigar box manufacturers at Red Lion, have installed a number of additional machines in their factory. Among the improvements is a drying kiln which has a capacity of 2500 feet of lumber which can be dried by this method in a very short time. The aggregate cost of the improvements is placed at about $15,000.

Michael Hose, of the Dallas Cigar Co., and proprietor of the Hose Cigar Box Factory, is making very extensive improvements to a new residence immediately adjoining that of his father, in Dallastown, and which will make it one of the handsomest places in that town. Possession is to be taken about June 1st.

The Imperial Cigar Co., of McSherrystown, has issued the following letter to the trade:

"TO THE TRADE:

My attention has been called to the fact that throughout the Trade the cry has been and now is—where to secure Cigars of Quality—the same as were made in former years. At present the cry continues without any apparent key to the problem Until S. L. Johns, the Veteran Leaf Tobacco Dealer, who for the past two years, has been operating the Imperial Cigar Factory, in McSherrystown, Pa., on a small scale with Charles H. Busbey as Superintendent.

S. L. Johns has decided to increase his force of workmen, thereby making it possible for others to buy CIGARS OF GUARANTEED QUALITY. Frequently my mail contains letters from my old customers and friends who know quality, requesting me to again return to manufacturing, and supply them with the old-style quality goods.

I am thankful and grateful to the Trade for their confidence, and I do assure them, it will not be amiss. My motto shall be in future as in past—QUALITY.

I am also pleased to state that THOS. F. JAMES, who was employed by me for 18 years, has again joined forces with my interests. You can rest assured we will put forth every effort to the renewal of our business relations by making goods that will and do duplicate.

Trusting we will be able to serve you in the future as we did in former years, we remain, Sincerely yours,

S. L. JOHNS."

PHILADELPHIA, MAY 19, 1909

Notwithstanding the reports to the contrary in a recent issue of a contemporary, the leaf tobacco trade in this city does not show much progress so far this month. And in fact, the dealers are not expecting a great deal for several weeks to come, excepting possibly the usual amount of routine business. The tariff question is regarded as of paramount importance and although it may not be decided in a way that is favorable to the desires of the trade here, its very settlement is likely to help along the trade conditions at any rate, and therefore it can not come any too soon.

A special meeting of the Philadelphia Leaf Tobacco Board of Trade was held last Thursday afternoon, at the brokerage office of J. S. Batroff, when a set of resolutions of regret was passed in consequence of the death of the late Joseph A. Bremer. The resolutions are published in full elsewhere.

The meeting being attended by Messrs. Young and Eckerson, who were among the delegates representing this city at the Convention in Baltimore on Monday and Tuesday, an informal report was made of the actions of that meeting, and they were complimented upon the active interest they had taken in the meeting.

A. C. Weigner, a cigar manufacturer for a number of years in the business at 29th and Nevada Streets, died last Thursday morning at the State Hospital at Norristown, of paralysis of the brain. Mr. Weigner had been in poor health for several years, having suffered a stroke, but subsequently recovered sufficiently to resume his usual occupation. Later he was again stricken, and was removed to Norristown for treatment, but all efforts proved unavailing.

He was well known in the leaf district down town as an old-time manufacturer, and as a man of sterling integrity. The sympathy of the entire trade is extended to the bereaved family.

B. Lipschutz, the popular manufacturer of the 44 cigars, last week sent a gift to President Taft, consisting of a handsome case, satin-lined, and containing a pipe made entirely of cigar leaf tobacco, the handicraft of Mr. Lipschutz. The case also contained a half dozen or more very fine cigars, in various sizes and shapes. On the inside of the case was inscribed the words "To our President, Wm. H. Taft. Compliments of B. Lipschutz, Philadelphia."

At the same time Mr. Lipschutz also addressed to the President the following letter:

May 8, 1909.

His Excellency, William H. Taft,
President of the United States,
Washington, District of Columbia.

Honored Sir:—

I am taking the liberty of sending you by express a solid tobacco pipe, capable of being smoked the same as a cigar. This pipe I have personally made for you, of the very best selected tobacco, same being wrapped with the largest American wrapper, and I trust you will derive as much real pleasure in the smoking of it as I had in the making of it for you.

I am pleased to inform you that your able administration of the high office you occupy—the real reason for our rapid recovery from the recent depression—is reassuring and pleasing not only to the people of Pennsylvania, but of the entire United States.

Wishing you continued success and prosperity, and assuring you that you will always have the hearty support of the writer and his many friends, workmen and fellow-citizens, I am

Yours very respectfully,
B. LIPSCHUTZ.

Last week the Quaker City Cigar Manufacturing Co., of this city, accepted the resignation of Mr. A. A. Levitt, one of their instructor-superintendents, who has made a promising connection with the cigar manufacturing firm of F. B. Richards & Co., of Binghamton, N. Y. Mr. Levitt made many friends while with the Quaker City Cigar Manufacturing Co., and left them with the best wishes of all for his future welfare.

This is not the first instance of a Philadelphian going to Binghamton and making a decided hit. The other instance is that of Mr. Freschie, now a member of the firm of Barnes, Smith & Co., of Binghamton, and who was formerly a Philadelphian, where he was associated with his father, M. S. Freschie, and who is still in the business in this city.

We also extend our best wishes to Mr. Levitt.

Antonio Roig, member of the cigar manufacturing firm of Antonio Roig & Langsdorf, at 317 north Seventh Street, this city, died at the Hotel Walton on Monday night, after a short illness.

His wife and three children were with him at the last moments. He was attacked with pneumonia three days ago, but his illness did not appear serious until Monday at noon. Mr. Roig was 58 years of age and known throughout the country because of his many years' connection in the tobacco business.

We are advised that Jacob Labe, of the leaf firm of B. Labe & Sons, has advised his firm that he had purchased at the Inscription held at Amsterdam, on Friday last, 200 bales of Sumatra tobacco, which will be forwarded to Philadelphia at once.

The Fearon Cigar Banding Machine Co., at 1026 Filbert Street, announces that their new machine is now attracting widespread attention among cigar manufacturers, and that a number of factories have already adopted the use of the machine for banding cigars. Mr. T. E. Fearon is giving a great deal of his time to the New York office and in making daily demonstrations of the practicability of the machine.

M. Leventhal, a cigar jobber, at 802 Vine Street, recently purchased the right and good will of Fred. Zech, of 230 W. Girard Avenue, to the brand called "squirrel," which has been selling at retail at three-for-five cents. Mr. Lowenthal will continue the brand, but on a wider scope, and proposes to place it thoroughly throughout this city and adjacent territory. The quality of the goods, he stated, will be kept at the highest standard and will furthermore be attractively packed.

THE CHRONICLES OF BEN ALI.

Concluded from p. 9.

Lurido is being offered in ten different ferent sizes.

The Venus Cigar Co., 41 Washington street, manufacturers of the well-known nickel cigar, Modjeska, have recently come out with a new ten-center called Gimlet Club, the name being picked from a certain funny cartoon appearing in the Boston American. The Gimlet Club is at present being made up only in the perfecto shape, and the quality is A-one.

The Venus Cigar Company not only has a good local trade, but makes up a great many cigars for the George C. Shaw Co., of Portland, Me.

Mr. Davis, representing Max Gans & Son, N. Y., leaf tobacco dealers, was here calling on our large cigar manufacturers.

M. Gideon, of New York, manufacturer of clear Havana cigars, made his initial trip to the Hub and called on the jobbing trade.

Henry Weiss, general sales agent for E. G. Perez & Co.'s Porto Rican cigars is expected here this week.

Ralph M. Gans, of Gans Bros., manufacturers of the well-known William the Fourth cigars, is in town looking after the sale of same. He booked a large order from Rosenthal Bros., who job this brand here.

Advance cards have been received from D. B. Bendheim, of the Metropolitan Tobacco Company, stating he will be here this week.

Julius Weiss (Kaufman Boos & Bondy) was at the American House this week showing up a nice line of samples of briar and meerschaum pipes.

William Carter, sales manager of the Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co., Norfolk, Va., was in town several days going the rounds with R. D. Carnes, the local representative. Mr. Carter expressed himself as feeling highly gratified at the rapid progress the Lynnhaven cigarettes are meeting with in the Eastern market.

The Mentor Co., here, manufacturers of the well-known Ramly cigarettes, has notified the jobbing trade that the gratis deal ends on May 31. It is said that the Mentor Co. will then spend a lot of money advertising the Rably brand by the use of printer's ink.

Baker Bros., cigarists, at 834 Washington street, have sold their business to Olson & Iverson.

H. Waldstein, proprietor of the cigar privilege in the Boston Bowling Alley, on Washington street, near Adams Square, has sold out to S. Liffman, who will continue on the old lines.

H. J. Mandle has sold out his interest in the cigar stand recently opened in the London Importers' Grocery Co., corner Hanover and Union streets.

Sam Solar, the prominent Lynn, Mass., cigar dealer, was a buyer in this market on Thursday.

Louis Natelson is now the general representative here for the Turco-American Tobacco Co., N. Y., being the successor to Sam Marcuson, who resigned recently to embark in the newspaper business in Syracuse, N. Y., on his own account. Mr. Natelson looks to be a worthy young man who can make good, as he has the necessary push and gumption about him that tends to make a successful salesman.

MAIL POUCH FACTORY CLOSED.

Bloch Bros' Big Plant Closed Down for Couple of Weeks.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 14.

The Bloch Brothers tobacco plant on the South Side suspended operations Saturday evening. The plant will probably be off for two weeks or ten days. It is reported that the cause of the suspension was that there was at present an overstock of their product on hand. The company, it is said, is permitted to keep a surplus of only a certain number of hundreds of tons after which it shuts down unless some of the surplus is shipped.

It is currently reported on the South Side that during the suspension fifteen automatic tobacco packers will be installed, twelve, it is said, for the small sized packages and three for the larger ones. An effort was made to ascertain through an official of the company the reliability of the report that machinery was to supersede girls as packers, but he refused absolutely to deny or confirm anything.

Red Wing, Minn.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against H. E. Ulm & Co., cigars, tobacco, etc. It is alleged that he has been selling at less than cost, converting the proceeds to his own use.

Palmyra, Mo.—A new cigar factory is being opened on South Main street by a Mr. Schaeffer, of Springfield, Ill.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Geo. E. Murphy has engaged in the cigar business at 722 S. Division street.

Business here has been little better han fair. None of the local dealers are omplaining, but they admit that trade as been better.

At Steve Surman & Co., Mr. Baker, ormerly with Leo Abraham, at Third nd Grand Avenue, can now be seen beind the cases. Collections are reported o be good.

At the new store of Fay Lewis & Bro. Co., in the Wells Building, the igars have been going quite lively, owng to the fact that Ralph Wettstein, in harge, was "son" struck last Monlay. The new manager weighed nine ounds.

The Wright Drug Co. are now displaying the Julia Marlowe cigar. They eport trade in all lines quite good.

At Abraham's the Charter still holds he place of honor in the window display, at the Third street store, an imiation auto is spinning along over counry roads advertising that brand.

The local jobbers are all doing their usual business, and the local manufacturers are all working all hands.

C. R. Wirtz, who for many years conducted a retail store and small manufacturing business on Chestnut street, has discontinued there.

Mr. Tripp, of the American West Indies Trading Co., was in town this week, which may account for the display of La Flor de Alphonso, which Surman is displaying.

Charles G. Cameron, of H. Upman & Co., was also a trade visitor this week.

At Dadd's, the La Preferencia is on display this week, while McGuire is making a display of La Orihenal.

Meister reports business good, and Allen & Langemo are doing well at the Norman building stand.

At Sheboygan, Wis., the new cigar firm know as the Terminal Cigar Company, are doing a very nice business, while at Beloit the cigar business must be on a boom, another new store having started up. Knute Stavn has engaged in business, while last week a party by the name of Tousley located here and opened up in the cigar business. S. Florey, however, is closing out his stock and will discontinue from business.

At Racine, Wis., the dealers make no complaint, business being quite good.

Leaf Tobacco Markets

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

What a change has cover over the early vegetation. Last week everything took on the blue cast, like the Irishman's oats—they were so black they were blue. But this week the gentle green has adopted all vegetation, and it is the hope of the writer that the green wins out for the balance of the season. After passing through the blue season of selling tobacco at from 6c. to 10c. we have had enough blue to satisfy all that I am acquainted with. So may the green predominate the rest of this season, and enable us to look green at any who shall dare to offer us less than 12c. per pound for the crop of tobacco that we are about to start, and may we escape either the blue or green when we talk about the crop next season.

Speaking of the price, I still believe that we can make more money with 12c. per pound for our tobacco than we can with any other crop. If this were not so why do so many of our farmers calculate on growing so many acres, especially when following so closely upon the heels of the two seasons just passed with an average price of, say, 8c.? Perhaps, is it in the hope of even the old-time prices of from 16a20c., or is it that they have made up their minds that the crop can be successfully grown for an average price of, say, 10c. per pound in the bundle?

It is quite a question among the farmers. Some assume that tobacco cannot be grown for less than 12c., while there are a few that claim the cost to be around 15c. Which is right? I should hate to decide, although very few claim tobacco can be grown for 10c. and under.

There are a few men who will set a little tobacco this week, and after the 17th we shall see quite a number of setting machines at work, and by the last week of this month transplanting will be general, providing we have favorable weather. Everything is being pushed forward with that end in view. One neighbor has transplanted a very few and will be hard at it in a week. I presume this man is not alone in having plants that will answer. Most of the tobacco land is plowed. About the average acreage will be planted to tobacco this year, and from what I have seen and heard the farmers will fertilize as heavily as usual, in some cases using more commercial fertilizer than ever before.

A correspondent reports:

Wethersfield, Ct.: "The tobacco plants are all coming along nicely with the frequent showers. E. J. Bulkley has sold his 1908 crop to Fuller, of Hartford, about seven acres, at private terms."—American Cultivator.

WISCONSIN.

Edgerton.—Aside from the gathering in of a few straggling lots there seems to be practically nothing doing toward lifting the remaining fraction of the 1908 crop. Warehouse handling is yet progressing at a few of the packing points and is likely to continue until stripping is started later.

The market for old leaf is developing some encouraging features. There is a better inquiry for samples, and some transactions have taken place and a number of trades are under consideration that may lead to fair-sized deals. A 250-case lot of '07 at Janesville has changed hands, as well as a 200-case lot among local packers the past week.

The plant beds have been making some progress during the week, though the weather is yet too cool for rapid growth. The plants on the early-sown beds where properly protected seem to be showing up well. A few reports of damage from the freeze are heard, though it is not believed the injury was general. The season, however, is so late that growers think there is time yet for the beds to be in readiness for the fields later on.

The shipments out of storage reach 805 cases and 3 carloads from this market to all points for the week. Since last report 11 carloads have been received for warehouse handling.—Reporter.

POOLING THE 1909 CROP.

General Manager of Stemming District Association Advises that Course.

Madisonville, Ky., May 20.

William Elliott, general manager of the Stemming District Association, has written an open letter to the members of this society, and discusses the tobacco situation. The article deals with the proposed admittance of the members of the Planters' Protective Association into the Stemming District Association. In reference to pooling the crop, he says:

"It is imperative, as I see it, that the members of the Stemming District Tobacco Association pool their tobacco as soon as possible, and let the tobacco world realize that they are in a position to protect that part of the 1908 crop which is now unsold. There will be some four thousand hogsheads of strips yet to be placed, and the members of our association had as well realize now that unless they do pool the 1909 crop their present holdings will not sell as well. I advise Hopkins county, together with Henderson, Webster, Union and Crittenden counties, which now form the Stemming District Tobacco Association, so soon as possible to line up and pool entire intended planting for coming season, for, as said above, if they do not they may as well expect to make a sacrifice in prices on the four thousand hogsheads now held by them."

BUYS BUSINESS IN KANSAS CITY.

Indiana Manufacturer Thereby Secures New Outlet for His Product.

Monticello, Ind., May 20.

A. A. Anheier has returned home from a prospecting trip through Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, the trip being extended over into Old Mexico. He was accompanied by the Marsh brothers, formerly of Burnettsville. In Texas they visited San Antonio and Dallas and thence to Brownsville, near the mouth of the Rio Grande, where they crossed over for a short trip in Old Mexico.

During the trip they purchased the Independent Tobacco Company's business in Kansas City, Mo., and the Marsh boys are there in charge. The cigars handled by this house in Kansas City will be manufactured in the Anheier factory in Monticello.

RE-HANDLING HOUSE BURNED.

The tobacco rehandling house of L. M. Buford, at 1142 South Sixth street, Louisville, Ky., was burned on the night of May 16. The damage was estimated at $1200, and was largely on the tobacco that had been wet down. The barn was damaged to the extent of $400. Both owners were partially insured.

On the largest tobacco farm in the world, a 250,000-acre affair, near Amsterdam, Ga., is grown about a third of all the Sumatra tobacco used for cigar wrappers in the United States.

WHEELING STOGIE OUTPUT LARGER

A Big Gain in April Shown by Internal Revenue Returns.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 19.

The local internal revenue returns for April indicate that the stogie trade of this district is having somewhat of a boom, the sales of stamps indicating an increase of 2,000,000 stogies for the month of April as compared with the output of March.

During the month of April, 1908, the sales for stogies was $25,289, or a total of 8,427,660 stogies. For April 1909, the sales of stamps were $31,877, making a total of 10,625,660 stogies for the month just closed. The total sales for combined beer, tobacco and cigars for April, 1908, were $72,517, as compared with total sales for April, 1909, or $81,304.

B. G. Jackson, who recently increased the equipment and capacity of his stogie factory, intends to introduce and place on the market in the near future a favorite to be known as the "Little Dutch Gem." Popular products of his factory at this time are "The Leader" and the "White Band."

MARYLAND'S 1908 CROP.

Baltimore, May 20.

At the annual meeting of the Leaf Tobacco Association of Baltimore, President J. S. Rawlings submitted his annual report. He said in part:

"The Maryland crop was larger than estimated, total receipts up to December 31 including 1090 hogsheads upper county tobaccos and 1246 groundleaves of the new crop, amounting to 26,981 hogsheads, as compared with 21,363 hogsheads in the proceding year.

"The demand was brisk throughout the year, and as the offerings met with a ready sale there was at no time a noticeable accumulation of stock in sellers' hands. Prices, which ranged from 4 cents to 15 cents, were not only from 1 cent to 2 cents higher than in the preceding year, but were also the highest average prices which have prevailed for a Maryland crop for a long period."

TO GROW TOBACCO IN ALABAMA.

Gadsden, Ala., May 19.

Some three hundred farmers of this country have taken contracts to raise a trial tobacco crop, and it is expected that their experience will pretty thoroughly demonstrate the possibilities of the soil of this vicinity in tobacco culture. Tobacco of a good quality has long been grown here on a small scale by the farmers for their own use, but this is the first time that any attempt has been made to grow it on a commercial scale. E. S. Rogers, a hardware merchant, who came here last year, is the mover in the new agricultural enterprise.

S. & W. CIGAR CO. IN MONTGOMERY

Tampa Concern Will Soon Begin Work in Alabama City.

Montgomery, Ala., May 20.

Having reached the decision to locate in Montgomery, S. T. Wilson and E. M. Smails, cigar manufacturers, of Tampa, were in Montgomery lately in conference with Secretary Weever, of the Commercial Club. The two are looking over the city in quest of a site on which to establish their plant.

They are members of the firm known as the S. and W. Cigar Company, and have been located in Tampa, Fla., for some time. Their work in Montgomery will begin within a month, it is thought.

IRISH TOBACCO NOT PAYING YET.

According to the United States Consular Reports, experiments in the growing of tobacco in Ireland have been carried on since the year 1900. In the earlier years the experiments were, for the most part, conducted on small plats widely distributed, and the curing of the leaf was effected under great disadvantages. The results obtained showed that tobacco could be grown and cured successfully in Ireland, and that a leaf suitable for blending in smoking mixtures could be produced. Since the beginning of the year 1904 experiments have been conducted on a commercial scale. This involves the planting of a considerable area as well as provision at each experimental centre of equipment for curing and finishing the leaf. In 1904 tobacco was grown on twenty acres at one centre. The number of centres and the area under tobacco were subsequently increased, so that during the year 1908 experiments were conducted at eleven centres in the following seven counties: Louth, Meath, Kings, Kilkenny, Wexford, Tipperary, and Limerick, the total area cropped being almost 100 acres. The object of these experiments is to determine the possibilities of tobacco as a paying crop for the Irish farmer.

The quantity of tobacco sold and the average price at which it was sold in each of the years 1904 to 1907 inclusive were as follows:

	Pounds.	Cents per pound.
1904	7,984	10
1905	27,566	9
1906	66,714	9½
1907	55,194	8½

There does not appear to be any real difficulty in obtaining 1000 pounds per statute acre, which may be considered an average crop. The cost of production is high, being not less than $97 per acre.

VIRGINIA ASSOC'N AT OLD POINT.

The Virginia Tobacco Association will meet in annual session at Old Point on June 6, for a three days' session.

EXTENDING HIS LINES.

Buffalo Cigar Man Has Opened Another Store in that City.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 20.

Joseph T. Snyder has opened another new cigar store in this city. The new store is located at 512 Main street, and is a model store for this kind of business. One of its features is an all-cedar humidor with a capacity for 3,000,000 cigars. It is said to be the largest humidor of its kind in existence.

Mr. Snyder owns cigar stores in Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Rochester. All of them are model stores, but the new one contains all the latest features for the proper handling of cigars.

In celebration of the opening of the store, 100 balloons were released at noon on the opening day from the new place of business. To twenty-five of these balloons tags were attached, each tag being good in exchange for a box of two-for-a-quarter cigars. The tags are redeemable at any of the Snyder stores. Souvenirs were given away on that day to all buyers at the new stand.

DEATHS OF TOBACCO MEN.

Bedford City, Va., May 19.
